ENGLISHMAN WRITES REGARDING MEETING

Takes Exception to Part of Rev. Father McColl's Reference.

To the Editor of "The Examiner":

Dear Sir,—After reading the advice given by Rev. Father McColl to the unemployed at Central Charity Board meeting, in which he said that when he was in England he noticed that beer and whiskey seemed to be considered a necessity, and that wages in England were about three times lower than in Canada. I am forced to come to the conclusion that the reverend gentleman must have travelled in rather poor districts while in England, for in my native county beer and whiskey are not considered necessities, neither are the wages as he states. I admit in most trades the wages are a little lower, but in some they are higher. If the wages were three times lower, the average labourer in England about 45 cents per day, while the average mechanic would earn about 70 cents, whether they get any more than this or not, I will leave your readers to judge, thanking you for the space in your valuable paper, I remain,

Yours truly,
ANOTHER BRITON.

JIM HILL AS A CAIN RAISER.

(Kaslo Kootenian.)

With a great blare of trumpets and bang of cymbals the Vancouver press has announced that Jim Hill is going to connect up a number of stray railroad links from Galveston to Vancouver, put on a five-day passenger service between these cities and make the latter a cotton export point. Oh, yes, Jim Hill is always going to raise Cain. It is Jim Hill who is always planning to put on a limited train between St. Paul and the Pacific Coast that will knock all existing speed records into a cocked hat. It is Jim Hill who is going to collar the trans-Pacific trade with a huge fleet of ocean going steamships. Some years ago when the Kaslo & Slocan Railway was added to the Great Northern, it was predicted that the line would be standard gauged and extended from Sandon to Slocan City by way of New Denver and Silverton. The projected programme was not only not carried out but the original Kaslo & Slocan has been lopped in two and the service cut down to tri-weekly. Yet it was Jim Hill who was going to make a great line for traffic betwen the Kootenays and Spokane, out of the Kootenay Valley line, extending from Bonner's Ferry to Kootenay Landing. The service on that is now a tri-weekly one also. Jim Hill was going to push the V. V. & E. through to the coast in record order and smash all existing freight rates to Gehenna, open up the Similkameen and develop the country thereabouts. Just now the people of that neighbourhood are wondering whether the crack of doom or the V. V. & E. will come along first, but are now beginning to suspect that it will be the former.

MASONIC FUNCTION A DELIGHTFUL EVENT

The Knights Templars and Royal Arch Masons Entertain Their Guests in the Masonic Temple.

The committee of the Masonic "At Home," which was held last night in the Maasonic Hall, under the joint auspicious manage ment of the Knights Templars of Moore Preceptory and the Royal Arch Masons of CorinthianChapter, earned the hearty congratulations of their guests upon the delightful evening which was enjoyed. Among the one hundred and fifty which composed the attendance, were numbers of our best known citizens, all of whom seemed to be impressed with the genuine fraternal and social nature of the gathering, as well as with the somewhat mystic air and environment with which they were surrounded. An excellent programme had been provided for the entertainment of their guests, which consisted of music, singing, orchestra, etc.

H. R. H. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate Institute, was the chairman of the evening. In his introductory address of welcome he unfolded in beautiful fac and similitude what were some of the true points to know a genuine Freemason by his rare gift of memory and metaphor combining to make the delivery of his masterly address to be listened to with marked attention.

Mr. Kenneth Shook was then called upon for a song. This was followed by a well received recitation from Mr. R. W. Moore, entitled "The Song in the Market Place," and for an encore he gave "When the Corn Comes Hot." The next number was a song by Miss Davies which displayed the clarity and richness of her voice. Mr. Parke, of the Normal School staff, gave a difficult violin solo—a charming composition—with a distinct atmosphere of romance and sentiment in it. Mr. Shook again favoures the audience with a military song, "Sons of the British Empire," Mr. Moore rendered the amusing story of "The Courtship of Larry O'Dee." The programme ended with "Bonnie Mary of Argyle," by Miss Davis.

The guests were then invited to partake of refreshments which had been prepared in the Masonic dining room down stairs. The hall presented a very pretty and attractive appearance. Throughout were arranged small ornamented tables, seating four guests each. The tables were covered with dainty ornamental covers appropriate to the occasion. The ceiling and walls of the hall were profusely decorated with bunting and flags and shields, while on each side of the hall hung many large framed portraits of Past Masters and other well-skilled members of the craft.

The refreshments were served in "due and artistic style" by the special steward of the evening, who discharged their duties in full dress costume and with well-skilled art.

Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the caterer, Mr. Thos. Hooper, who excelled himself on this occasion. Particularly worthy of mention was the emblematic table napkins supplied each table, which displayed on the four corners the insignia of the different degrees of the craft. On the icing of the cake, too, was depicted the emblem of the square and compass, in appropriate design.

After refreshments the hall was cleared and dancing followed, which was heartily enjoyed until after midnight. The Opera House Orchestra, under Mr. Devey, supplied the music.

The arrangements for receiving the guests were especially to be commended and reflected credit on the reception committee.

She was very well known in Peterborough, and the intelligence of her death will come as a shock to those who knew her. She is survived by one brother, Mr. Louis Croly, and an aunt, Miss Croly, both residing in New York.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(Furnished by J. N. Barber.)

New York, Feb 23rd—Special—The worst break that the stock market has had in a long time came this week. First the authoritative announcement that a drastic cut will be made in steel prices—tariff or no tariff—unsettled matters. Then came a report from London that E. H. Harriman was at the point of death.

This was known to be untrue here but it caused some anxiety in London and London sold between 50 000 and 60 000 shares of stocks in New York. This with heavy selling by Pittsburg one New York firm with Pittsburg wire connections selling 25 000 shares of steel common and 20 000 of Union Pacific caused steel to lead the decline. The steel and iron business in now in a bad way. The plants of the steel corporation are running at 57 per cent. of normal as against 62 per cent. eight weeks ago. The falling off in business is due to the tariff agitation. Consumers refuse to place orders and they know just how much the schedule will be cut. The copper trade has shown some slight improvement although prices of the metal have been reduced. This has stimulated some slight buying, but has not helped to reduce the excess of supply over the consumption

CHURCH LEAGUE SEMI-FINAL GAMES AROUSING INTEREST

Great interest is being taken in the Church League Semi-Final games at Brock street Rink to-morrow night, and there promises to be a big crowd of fans on hand to see the double-header for which the prices have been fixed at the regular City League figures, 15c and 10c. George street meet Knox Church in the first game, while Park street and St. Andrew's come together in the second. A win for St. Andrew's and Knox Church will leave them tied for the championship, while on the other hand a defeat for one and a win for the other will mean the championship for the successful team. Two good games are sure and the weather man has decided to call a halt to the mild weather, and will hand out some frigid stuff for to-morrow night. Some surprises may be sprung as the tail end team promises to make things interesting for the leaders.

HAVEN'T MONEY FOR SURETY FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP RUGBY CUP

The Lindsay Rugby Team won the Junior O.R.F.U. Championship, but the chances for having the mug emblematic of the said championship right here in Lindsay look pretty slim.

Why? Just because the club has to make a surety of $500 in order to secure possession of the silverware.

The Lindsay Watchman Warder says: Five hundred bucks!

Whew!

The club itself was in the hole despite the fact that the team was a winning one when the season concluded, and an extra effort had to be made to meet the expense of the final trip to Toronto to play the Interprovincial champions.

Where will the 500 greenbacks come from?

Echo answers "Where"?

JOHNSON WILL MEET ANYONE

Includes Jefferies or any Other Heavyweight in the Game.

Melbourne, Feb. 20.— "I am willing to fight James J. Jeffries, Tommy Burns or any other man alive, in England, America, Australia or any part of the civilized world where sufficient inducements are offered."

This was the farewell message of Jack Johnson, the champion heavyweight pugilist, on the eve of his departure for Sydney to catch a steamer that will take him across the Pacific en route to the United States. A fight for the championship must, however, be deferred for some months, as it is Johnson's purpose first to fill a theatrical engagement in London and go on for a limited round bout before the National Sporting Club in that city with Sam Longford. Johnson's statement was clear and concise—the element of bluff was entirely absent. He declared that he was out for business and barred nobody from seeking the honours he wrested from Tommy Burns at Sydney, on December 26th last.

Johnson expects to reach Vancouver about March 12 and will proceed to Galveston, Tex., for a week with his parents.

"I will do no boxing on other business in the United States when I arrive there, and have given no authority for the statement that was published that I will then fight Stanley Ketchell," Johnson said. "I understood that Jeffries had definitely said that he never again would enter the ring. If, however, Jeffries has decided to accept the purse of $7,500 offered by Sam Allen of Melbourne for a match in Australia with me, I am willing to return here in 12 months time and give him a chance to win the title he once held."

The Port Hope basketball team will play the local intermediates in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium to-morrow night in a game for the championship of the Midland district. Mason & Risch Piano

Will be used at the Toronto Symphony Club's Recital next Friday evening.

Mr. Frank S. Welsman

Musical Composer and leader of the Toronto Symphony Club writes of the Mason & Risch Piano as follows:

THE MASON & RISCH PIANO CO.

Gentlemen: Allow me to thank you for the Grand Pianos you have supplied for my recitals during the past season. The instruments have very materially assisted me in interpreting to my own satisfaction the compositions my programmes have called for. Not only have your instruments a large volume of tone, but have what I might call a pervading quality, which I have found in no other piano.

The lightness and perfect repetition of the Action permits one to bring out the tonal qualities referred to above with such ease that it is with the greatest of pleasure I have used the Mason & Risch Pianos.

It is gratifying to find that it is not necessary to go outside our own country to secure an instrument of the highest excellence.

Yours sincerely,

FRANK S. WELSMAN

Mr. Welsman is the young musician who has made such a sensation in Toronto for some seasons past with his Symphony Orchestra.

A MOST ENJOYABLE EVENING WAS SPENT

The Boys' Annual Oyster Supper of Colborne Street Sunday School, Otonabee, was held last night. It was a financial and social success, notwithstanding the fact that the weather and the roads were very unfavourable. This year it was held in the hall instead of in one of the neighbours homes, as has been the custom in former years.

The entertainment in connection with the supper consisted of moving pictures and illustrated songs given by Mr. Herbert Peters, one of the Sunday School boys. Songs were also sung by the girls of the school.

Summers got the decision over Britt at London in 20 rounds. FRED SIMPSON TO RACE DORANDO

According to a despatch from Toronto Fred Simpson who has returned from the south has been matched with Dorando to run at Pittsburg next month. Simpson is in great form at present and should make the Italian move himself. Fred is now at his home.

Fred Simpson, the Ojibway Indian of Hiawatha and his manager and trainer, Tom Eck, arrived in Toronto this morning from Savannah, Ga., where Simpson has been training the past three weeks. Simpson was to have run in a 12 or 15 mile here in Toronto at the Riverdale rink Wednesday night against two local runners, but somehow the telegrams got mislaid and the race was postponed. But as Simpson has come so far for this race, the manager of Riverdale rink has arranged for Simpson to run a 10-mile exhibition Wednesday night, and will attempt to establish a Canadian 10-mile indoor record, and at the same time put up a 10-mile professional Canadian record.

Dorando's Time

Dorando's 10 mile time at Buffalo was 56.30 1 5 sec., which is the best American professional record indoors or out doors. Simpson is looking to be in fine condition, and Tom Eck says he is the man who will represent Canada in the big races from now on. He takes great care of himself and is out for the championship.

Run Anybody

Eck says Simpson is ready to meet Longboat, Shrubb, Dorando, or Hayes at any time, any distance from 15 miles to the full Marathon distance of 26 miles 385 yards. In Simpson's work outs at Savannah he has run up to the American record several times, and he has developed some speed which he never showed before. He will start on his ten-mile trial at about 9.30 p.m., after the skating session. The raised turns will be put in by the rink management, and no doubt Simpson will give a good account of himself.

Eck is trying to get the Buffalo managers to substitute Simpson for Longboat in Thursday night's race against Shrubb.—Telegram.

WAS AFRAID OF DOUBLE WEDDING

Superstitious Woman Postponed Her Own for a Few Hours to be on Safe Side

Columbus, Ind., Feb. 24.—Plans made for the marriage at the same time of Miss Cora McCoy to John W. Clark and Miss Delia McCoy, her sister, to William K. Galey had to be rearranged because of Miss Cora's objection.

The young man and the sisters went to the office of the County Clerk together, and wishing to have matters attended to at once, it was suggested that the marriage ceremonies could be performed then and there. Miss Delia McCoy was willing, but Miss Cora was not. She said she had always heard that double weddings brought bad luck, so she declined to take any part in a double wedding. A justice was called and performed one ceremony, but the other was delayed until nightfall.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide is in Giving it a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the roots of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clean pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two Sizes 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury, and Payne's Drug Store, Special Agents.

SAYS FRIEND LED HER TO BECOME A THIEF

Stenographer Arrested for Shoplifting Insits That the Fault Was Her Own.

New York, Feb. 24.—Declaring that she had been enticed into shoplifting by a girl friend, a fashionably gowned young woman was arrested in a Sixth avenue department store yesterday. The pockets of her coat bulged with small articles pilfered, it is alleged, from three stores.

She said she was Ella Van Ness, a stenographer, twenty-two years old, of Caldwell, N. J. To Detective Van Twistern, who made the arrest, the prisoner is alleged to have said:

"I never did a dishonourable thing in my life until last December. Then I weakly yielded to the coaxing of a girl friend. She pictured the ease and safety with which little things could be taken from the counters in crowded stores. At first the idea shocked me. But in the end I yielded to temptation and committed my first theft. Since then I have been stealing."

The woman would not reveal the name of the false friend.

"No," she said. "The sin is mine. I do not seek to shift the fault to another."

Two more alleged shoplifters were arrested in the same store later in the day. They were seventeen-year-old girls who described themselves as Minnie Schwartz, of No. 23 Orchard street, and Rose Gilman, of No. 202 Broome street.

The prisoners, who were shabbily dressed, insisted that they were out of work, hungry and penniless.

They were arraigned in the night court.

CONDUCT OF SPORTING EDITOR WAS NOT DISORDERLY, DECIDES MAGISTRATE IN HAMILTON CASE

Hamilton, Feb. 24.—The case of F. C. Mills, sporting editor of the Times, against M. M. Robinson, sporting editor at the Armoury rink last Friconduct at the Armory rink last Friday night was dismissed by Magistrate Jelfs this morning, but not before his worship had given both sporting men a gentle roast on their conduct toward each other. His worship found that Mr. Robinson was not disorderly in trying to get into the wrestling match which Mr. Mills and several others were conducting. The complainant, at the conclusion of the case, stated that he would appeal, and George S. Lynch-Staunton, who acted for Mr. Robinson, announced that he would prosecute Mr. Mills for malicious prosecution. A.M. Lewis acted for Mr. Mills.

Mr. Mills said he rented the Armoury rink for last Friday night, and that on the afternoon he telephoned the city editor of the Spectator informing him that Mr. Robinson would not be admitted to the rink if he was sent down, because he had criticised a previous affair of the kind held by him. He sent over three complimentary tickets to the Spectator, but they were returned. On the night of the bout Mr. Robinson appeared at the rink, and after buying a ticket tried to force his way in. Mr. Mills said he had previously instructed the doorman to refuse Mr. Robinson admittance, and he also posted a notice in the hallway to the effect that the management reserved the right to refuse admittance to any objectionable persons.

Fred Porteous, who owns the rink, swore that Mr. Mills and others engaged the rink for the wrestling bout. He did not see anything objectionable in Robinson's conduct.

Sergt. Bainbridge gave the best evidence for the defence, and practically settled his worship's mind in the matter. He said Mr. Mills refused to admit Robinson, and offered him his money back. The witness ordered Mr. Robinson out, but merely shoved him away from the door. He said Mr. Robinson was perfectly quiet, except that he argued his point.

"Do you think from the condition of things that Mr. Robinson acted disorderly? You have had considerable experience; if anything had not happened between the men would you have thought of arresting him for disorderly conduct?"

"I would not," replied the officer.

Fred Shaw, the ticket taker, saw no misconduct on Mr. Robinson's part.

William Mullins, city editor of the Spectator, was examined by Mr. Lewis. He was asked if he assigned Mr. Robinson to cover the wrestling match and he said he did not, nor did he advise him to go there, but gave him Mr. Mills' message about his refusal to admit him.

Cross-examined by Mr. Staunton, Mr. Mullins said Mr. Robinson could have been sent by Mr. Kirkpatrick, the news editor.

"You haven't made out a case, Mr. Lewis," said the magistrate.

Mr. Lewis then endeavoured to convince his worship that Mr. Robinson was at fault in going to the rink when he had been warned not to. He said there was bad blood between the two because of the libel action.

His worship insisted that he could not find the defendant guilty within the meaning of the vagrancy act or by-laws.

Mr. Lewis argued that the man who was with Mr. Robinson kept urging him on.

"But the other man is not charged and you cannot blame Mr. Robinson for what he did," said his worship.

"There is no reason why Mr. Robinson should escape because leniency was shown to his friend," contended Mr. Lewis.

"The action of Mr. Robinson in going to the rink was very indiscreet, and if anybody above him in the Spectator encourages that they do wrong. I think the Spectator people ought to tell this young man to stay away while this feud is on. If I were running these institutions I would tell both these men that their usefulness would be at an end if they followed this course," said his worship in conclusion.

Wishes He Had Been Killed On The South African Veldt

Veteran Went to New York From Canada and Was Unable to Procure Work—Attempted Suicide by Taking Belladonna—Unemployed Treated Like Dogs in New York.

LETTER TO HIS MOTHER.

New York, Feb. 24.—Despondency over his inability to get work, is the reason ascribed by the police for the attempted suicide of Abraham Isaacs, a well groomed young man, who was found unconscious in the streets of Brooklyn early yesterday. A letter addressed to his mother by the would-be suicide is all that there is to explain his man's act.

Isaacs was removed to the hospital and the physicians say that he has a fair chance of recovery. The surgeon says he had taken belladonna.

The letter to the man's mother, which was undressed and in the man's pockets, read:

"Dear Mother.—I hope you are getting on well. I have not yet found work. I feel miserable and don't know what to do. I feel sorry that I took your advice and came to New York from Canada. Here the unemployed are treated like dogs of the road.

"I wish I had met the fate of my chum, Sergeant Kenslow, at the battle of Paardeberg, in South Africa. I remember well during the battle when he was shot down and I picked him up. As I carried him back to the rear he told me to let him drop and protect myself from the hail of bullets being poured on us by the Boer sharpshooters. Kenslow said he was no more good and asked only that I take back a message to his sweetheart. When I got him back to the field hospital he was sure dead. Twenty bullets had struck him and I didn't know he was being hit and I staggered along with him on my shoulders.

"I now feel very much shot to pieces, and as if I am now not much use in this world. Your loving son.

"ABE."

Isaacs was evidently an Englishman. He had been living for some time at 118 East Eleventh street, Manhattan, where, however, nothing was known of him.

THE WEATHER

A great change has taken place in weather condition during the past 24 hours. Yesterday morning we had a warm heavy rain, with a temperature up to 46 degrees, the total rainfall being 1.33 inches on the level. This morning the mercury stood at 5 degrees above zero, with a biting north-west wind.

SEEING IS BELIEVING!

A United States agency that is selling books has a man who ought to write folders. Here is a sample:

"A tour of the world! What a fascinating prospect these magic words conjure up! A tour of the world! The first enchanting glimpse into the lands that lie beyond our doors; the mingling with entirely new peoples, the viewing of strange scenes and customs; the phenomenal mind broadening it effects; the liberal education it conveys. Perhaps you have longed many times to make this marvellous trip yourself, only to be obliged to dispel the idea because of business, health, family ties, or the question of finances. Is this so?"

Our answer to the question is, call upon Mr. W. McElroy, city passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, get the tickets and see the the things as they are, instead of staying at home and thinking how they may be. One thing is certain, wherever you want to go, whatever part of the continent or of the world, no company can take you as far or look after you as well as the C. P. R. 3d-46

RICH MAN STOLE LOAF OF BREAD

John Shea, Reputed Worth About $50,000, Held to the Grand Jury in Montclair.

New York, Feb. 24.—John Shea, of Montague place, Montclair, N.J., reputed to be worth nearly $50,000, was held in $300 bail for the Grand Jury yesterday by Recorder Yost, of Montclair, on a charge of stealing a loaf of bread from a box in front of a grocery store in that town.

Shea admitted the theft, saying he did not have the money to buy the bread. He is a widower and resides with his married daughter. He owns a block of buildings in Montague place on which there is no debt and which brings in large rents, and he is employed as night watchman at the new Church of the Immaculate Conception now in course of erection.

For several weeks past bread has been missed from the box in front of the store of W. L. Doremus in Montclair Centre, where it is left early every morning by a Newark baker. Several persons have been arrested on suspicion. Yesterday morning John Perrin, a policeman, saw Shea take a loaf from the box, and arrested him.

Chief of Police Gallagher, told the Recorder at the hearing that Shea was a miser. Bags of breakfast rolls and bottles of milk had been habitually stolen from residences in the same neighborhood, he said.

WHICH MAN IS HER HUSBAND?

Court Must Decide Divorce's Legal Relationship.

St. Louis, Feb. 24.—Mrs. Josephine Moehring-Maulhardt-Meyer wove a tangled web when, according to her testimony in Circuit Judge Grimm's court, she deceived Joseph Moehring, No. 1856 Meramec street, into believing he was her husband. She is now trying to disprove the relationship.

If the court decides against her in the divorce suit instituted by Moehring she will not only lose custody of her child, Helen, twelve years old, but her marriage to Henry G. Meyer, of Granite City, Ill., will be rendered invalid. It will mean that she was Moehring's wife when she married Meyer.

In January, 1905, Mrs. Moehring obtained a divorce from Moehring. On Feb. 6 of the same year she accompanied him to St. Charles, Mo., and took out a marriage license. The license was not used, but Moehring says the woman agreed to live with him, and that they did live at No. 1931 Lami street. She left him, he says, in a few days, and was married to Emil W. Maulhardt, of No. 1906 Cherokee street, March 15, 1905.

Subsequently Maulhardt sued for divorce, alleging that his wife had another husband, and was granted a decree in 1906. On Oct. 2, 1907, Mrs. Maulhardt was married to Meyer. Soon after this marriage Moehring went to Granite City and saw Meyer.

"Your wife is not your wife," but my wife," Moehring told Meyer. He demanded custody of Helen. On being refused he returned to St. Louis and instituted divorce proceedings in which he asked possession of the girl.

The woman's defense is that she did not agree to live with Moehring as his wife after she obtained a divorce from him. "Why did you secure the marriage license at St. Charles?" Judge Grimm asked. The defendant admitted it was her intention to deceive Moehring.

She claimed Maulhardt was involved in the plot with her. She said that the scheme was for Moehring to buy a lot of furniture, believing she was his wife, and then the furniture could be used by her and Maulhardt. Following this admission she implored the Court for mercy.

"Judge, I know it was wrong, but I am sorry now," she declared.

Maulhardt, who was a witness for Moehring, was put back on the stand to deny he had any part in the plot.

....The.... Singing Lady.

By MARTHA C. SANFORD.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

John Tyndal Seymour, Jr., had been tucked into his little shining brass bed at precisely 7 o'clock.

Being "tucked in," however, does not necessarily shut out the wonder world of lights and laughter and singing. John junior had discovered this all by himself, for often, as tonight, after calling to his nurse and getting no answer, he had crawled out with confidence from under his tight covers and stood by the window watching the grownups in the houses across the air shaft.

He had just climbed back for the third time by actual count when the singing began. John junior loved that singing more than anything else in the world.

He lay very still and flat on his little back, because he had found out that if one ear was buried in the pillow he could not catch all of the notes, especially the soft, low ones.

He had not been listening very long when he heard the hall door open and shut, and then he knew that his father had gone out. Perhaps he was going to find the beautiful singing.

John junior wished so hard that he might go too. He sat up in bed, half determined to follow. But, then, hearing the click of the elevator door, he knew that it was too late, and so lay back again with a sigh.

Suddenly, right in the middle of a note so high and sweet that it made John junior hold his breath in an ecstasy of happiness, the voice stopped. And for a long time it did not go on again. What had happened? Perhaps his father—no. If his father had found the singing, he would have just hid behind a curtain somewhere and listened. Of that John junior was sure.

At length, quite as suddenly as it had stopped, the singing began again. With a bound John junior was at the window. This was the song he loved best of all. He could hear the words quite clearly as they came floating up from the window far below:

Sweetest little fellow
Everybody knows.
Don't know what to call him,
But he's mighty like a rose.

And little John junior, who had known no lullabies or mother's croonings in his lone babyhood, felt that he must follow and find where the beautiful voice came from.

After some groping he found his small woolen slippers, and after pulling them on very slowly and carefully he climbed out of the window and began the perilous descent of the fire escape.

The wind blew right through his nightgown, and the iron steps were very cold, but he kept bravely on, afraid only that the grownups in the flats across the air shaft might suddenly peep out from the curtains and see him.

The window at the foot of the long ladder stairs was open, just as John junior expected it would be, so he climbed in softly. The voice was still again, but he was sure he must be very near it.

By the light that came into the room through the transom he could see a big bed, with the covers all turned down as if waiting for some one to creep in, and so, as John junior felt quite shivery, he crept in himself.

He had no sooner drawn himself up into a snug little bunch than the singing began again, and so near that it made his heart thump hard. It came right in over the transom.

When the last sound of it had died away he heard a man's voice—his father's voice! So his father had followed the singing, just as he thought.

In a flash John junior was out of the big bed, had opened the door and went pattering down the hall toward the lights and laughter and singing.

Between the two big curtains he paused and gazed into the wonderland of the grownups. John junior waited until the song was over and then tiptoed in very softly.

"Please," he begged, "won't you sing about the 'little fellow' once more?"

And then weren't the grownups startled! John junior would never forget it. But at last the beautiful singing lady just gathered him up in her arms, and, her cheeks all pink and her eyes all shining, she sang the song he loved

And after that John junior never knew exactly what happened, for he went fast asleep.

"Mighty like a rose," murmured the singing lady, looking tenderly down on the little flushed face nestled against her arm.

"Like a rose," repeated John junior's father reverently. And the singing lady, looking up, found the man's eyes not upon the child, but upon her.

"Take him," she urged, the quick tears springing to her eyes. "And don't, don't make it any harder for me, John."

Then for many nights John junior did not again hear the singing lady's beautiful voice after his nurse had tucked him in bed, although he lay flat on his back and listened hard with both ears.

He questioned his father about it, but got only foolish answers which he knew were not true. The idea of the singing lady going away to learn to sing more beautifully! That was nonsense! Who could teach her anything? And it was just as silly to tell him that when she came back she would not sing for them any more, because lots and lots of people would expect her to sing for them in a big parlor. John junior knew better than that too. There were plenty of people to hear her in their house and in the houses across the air shaft.

At last John junior declined to be trifled with any longer.

"Why don't you write and ask her to come back?" he demanded.

"I have, dear," his father admitted, smiling a little wearily.

"And she won't come?"

John senior shook his head.

"Then why don't you go find her and bring her back?" urged John junior. "I'll go with you."

The more John junior's father thought about this plan the more it appealed to him. Finally one memorable day he put it into execution.

Once more John junior found himself in the wonderland of grownups—so many, many grownups—with millions of twinkling lights.

Suddenly out of the babel about him he heard a voice—the singing lady's voice. And there she was, more beautiful than ever, with her pink cheeks and her shining eyes!

It was very, very quiet while she sang, but when she had finished everybody applauded. John junior clapped too. Then out she came again, and this time she sang about "the sweetest little fellow."

And when, bowing and smiling, she walked quite out of sight she tossed one of her roses straight over to where John junior sat with his father.

"We've found her! We've found her!" he cried. "Come, daddy, let's go get her."

But the singing lady came to find them behind the velvet curtains, and as she gathered John junior into her arms and snuggled him up to her close, just as she had that other happy time, she heard John senior saying, "Mighty like a rose," and, looking up, she found his eyes upon her as before, full of love and unspoken admiration.

And, as before, she said, "Take him," but, with infinite sweetness, added, "and I will come back to him soon—and to you."

Nigerian Superstitions.

"The natives of southern Nigeria, Africa," says a traveler, "are extremely superstitious. Most of the people wear some kind of charm around their neck or waist in the belief that they are thus protected from illness or death from their enemies. When, however, the talisman has lost its supposed power and its wearer feels the hand of death upon him he submits to his fate—he is wanted by the fetich. To many places and things they attach a superstitious veneration. The rock found at the source of the river Imo is considered sacred and as such is safely guarded. Every village has its sacred grove, surrounded by human skulls, chatties and rotten eggshells on sticks.

"They believe that a spirit haunts the locality of a murder or the sacred grove at night, and no native would pass near such a place during the darkness. Any unusual phenomenon is by them attributed to a supernatural agency. Not only has a village its good spirit, but also its evil spirit, and when any misfortune of any kind overtakes a village a process of driving out the latter is indulged in with the help of much noise and every one beating the walls of the huts with sticks."

Parrots.

There is an idea that the brilliantly colored parrots do not talk. There is no reason why they should not, and many possess the imitative instinct. One of the most richly colored of all is the purple capped lory, from the Moluccas. Its whole body is crimson and rose, its wings are green, and its crest is purple. It is a thickset bird, like a big bullfinch, and can be highly educated. It is tame and gentle, an excellent "linguist" and mimic, never shrieks and is very amiable. It is also a ventriloquist. It is worth noting that some of the lories, which are very fond of flowers, have been poisoned by being given laburnum blossoms. There is a belief that parrots should not be allowed water to drink, but only sopped food. We believe that this is a mistake, which causes them great misery. They are not great water drinkers, and some species can go without it for a considerable time. But in their native state most of those that have been observed come regularly to the water holes to drink.—London Express.

A Minute at Panama.

Every two minutes a ton of coal is burned up at Panama, every minute twelve carloads of rock and gravel are torn from the earth, every hour 1,066 pounds of dynamite are exploded in mountain and jungle, every minute $124 is spent for labor.—Putnam's Magazine.

DOES MUSIC PAY?

Modern Earnings Compared With Old Time Prices.

Lewis M. Isaacs has an interesting article in the Bookman on the earnings of musicians and publishers. Times have changed. Schubert sold his best songs for 20 cents each, and Mozart got $100 for each of his two best operas. "Today the tales of royalties paid composers make the profits of a Wall street broker seem small by comparison. And if it is not strictly true that George Cohan makes $5,000 a week or Victor Herbert $500,000 a year out of his music the actual figures are big enough to give color to the story. It has only just been announced that the Rome, Turin and Milan opera houses have each paid Richard Strauss $4,000 for the bare right to produce his opera 'Elektra,' a work not even yet completed and of the success of which there cannot be any present assurance whatsoever. Oscar Hammerstein is reported to have paid the composer $10,000 to secure the American rights of performance. Strauss is certainly taking revenge for the treatment accorded musicians of the past. Mascagni's one act opera, 'Cavalleria Rusticana,' brought the composer $90,000, besides winning the Sonzogo prize. Hansel und Gretel' brought Humperdinck $50,000 in a single twelvemonth, while Puccini's earnings from his operas, while difficult to estimate, accumulating as they do from so many sources, must be conservatively $50,000 a year." Does music pay?

Origin of the Club Sandwich.

Afun Johnstone is said to have originated the famous club sandwich, and the story runs that on going to the club one night between midnight and daybreak he found the cafe closed, the cooks gone, and, being nearly famished, he invaded the larder, toasted himself some thick slices of bread, sliced them through, buttered them while hot and laid thereon everything he found in the refrigerator—cold chicken, ham and lettuce, with a spoonful of mayonnaise. The result was such an epicurean discovery as is not often made, but the story was too good to keep. He confided the recipe to his cronies, and it straightway became one of the popular dishes of the club menu, and so the father of the club sandwich, so deservedly popular, is the present British minister to Copenhagen.—Washington Herald.

Circus Daring Due to Heredity.

Alfred T. Ringling says that nine-tenths of the leading performers before the public can be included in thirty families. As sharply defined as any old English lineage, they can be traced backward in some instances more than two centuries, each generation accepting without question the heritage of spangles and tights. The circus daring and the circus muscles and the circus restlessness have descended from father to children and thence to children again. The thrill of the sawdust ring has got into the blood. From the parent trunk branches have crossed and crisscrossed until, as in the case of the Clarkonians and the Demotts and the Siegrists Florenzes, great circus lines have been built up and guarded with the zealous care of a royal genealogy.—Bohemian Magazine.

So Near and Yet So Far.

"I've lived for twenty years in New York apartments," said a man who would rather pay rent than shovel snow around his own home, "and I've encountered some extraordinary wrinkles in that form of existence. But the queerest thing of all happened a few days ago."

"Rent reduced?" asked an alleged humorist.

"No. In the apartment over me has lived for four years a family which I came to know pretty well. While not on visiting terms, we met often and agreeably. The head of the house was a fine fellow, for whom I entertained a sincere liking.

"Well, sir, this man, a familiar acquaintance, living in the same house with me, died suddenly and had been buried nearly two weeks before I heard of his death, and then I learned of it quite accidentally through a chance remark by the elevator boy.

"A neat commentary on New York life, isn't it? I wonder what they'd think of it down on the old farm?"—New York Globe.

A Canine Marvel.

A contemporary relates an extraordinary story of the strength of a dog's jaws, which, as it is given with full details, we accept in good faith. The strength of a dog's jaws and teeth were never more exemplified than in the case of a Ross-shire gamekeeper, whose collie was unfortunate enough to be caught in a steel vermin trap. The gamekeeper, gun in hand, was soon on the scene, but in the short time the dog had become quite infuriated with pain. Having nothing suitable for muzzling the animal and fearing to place his foot upon the trap spring with the dog's jaws free, the gamekeeper placed the gun barrels in the dog's mouth and held them there while easing the spring. With a vicious snap the teeth closed on the cold steel ere he regained his freedom. The barrels, which are of steel, were holed through—an almost incredible performance—and were examined shortly after.—London Graphic.

German Humor.

New Year's cakes in various grotesque forms were added to the regulation kind with which bakeshops and New Year's tables in Germany are decorated every year. Among those which attracted the most attention and sold best were the kaiserkuchen which represented the German emperor with his mouth closely bandaged; Chancellor Bulow, as a jack in the box; President Roosevelt, rifle in hand with a slain elephant on his back, and a Zeppelin airship carrying the British islands away into space.

WHAT THE COLD DOES.

Effects of Low Temperatures on Metals and Water.

Now that the cold weather is here everything is getting smaller. The iron bridge you walk over isn't as big as it was last Fourth of July, and the knife that you sharpen your pencil with has shrunk, though so slightly that you would need a microscope to see the difference. If you live near a big iron bridge you can find the place that the builders have allowed for this shrinkage. It is an arrangement of overlapping iron plates. If the bridge were made solid it would break or get out of shape as the seasons changed.

You can see a metal expand quite quickly if you like by holding your finger over the bulb of a thermometer. Mercury, or quicksilver, expands and contracts more than other liquids, and that is why we use it in thermometers. Besides, it does not freeze unless it is very, very cold.

The strange thing about water is that as it gets colder it contracts like most things, but as soon as it freezes it expands again. If you fill a tumbler of water full to the very brim and set it out to freeze you will find that when it has frozen solid the ice extends above the rim of the glass. Only if you make this experiment use an old tumbler or glass, for it may possibly crack.

It is a very good thing that water does expand when it freezes, for that makes it light, so that it floats. If it were heavy and sank, our lakes and streams would get frozen solid in winter, and it would take a long series of warm summer days to melt them again, and all the fish would be killed. —Philadelphia Record.

DUCK UNDER THE WATER.

An Old English Game That Is Full of Life and Motion.

In playing this game each child chooses a partner and they form in couples, standing one pair before another till a long line is made. Each couple holds a handkerchief between them as high as they can, to form an arch. The couple at the foot of the line run through the arch, stopping just beyond the last couple standing at the head. There they stand still and hold up their handkerchief, thus forming another arch. This is repeated by every couple left at the foot in succession, so that there are always the same number of arches. The line may be straight or curved or in a circle, according to fancy or the space in which the game is played.

This game is very pretty, with its quick motions and changing arches. It is an English game, played in Northamptonshire. Formerly in the northern part of the county even married women played it on May day under the May garland which was hung from chimney to chimney across the village street.

CORN AND BEANS.

A Game in Which Alertness Wins the Prize.

The game of corn and beans may be played by any number of persons, one of whom, called the professor, reads questions from a card, while the others hold cards bearing answers. The professor's card holds any number of questions, usually about forty, on historical or any other subjects chosen, and there are the same number of other cards, each one containing the answer to one question. These should all be prepared in advance.

After a professor has been chosen the answer cards are distributed equally among the players. A quantity of corn and beans for use as counters is also equally distributed. The professor begins by reading any question he chooses. (Questions and answers should be correspondingly numbered.) The holder of the answer should cry "Corn!" and all the others must cry "Beans!" If the holder calls first he reads the answer and hands the card to the professor.

If one or more cry "Beans!" first he must give each one so calling a corn or bean and hold the answer card till the question is asked again.

If any one cries "Corn!" or "Beans!" wrongly he must give a corn or bean to each one of the others.

If the professor asks a question which has already been answered the first one to discover the mistake cries "Corn and beans!" and changes places with the professor, who becomes an ordinary pupil.

The game lasts until the professor has all the answer cards. Should any one pay out all his corn and beans he must borrow of a neighbor. The first one to dispose of his answer cards is called the "model scholar." The first one out of corn and beans is the "bankrupt," and the player having the most corn and beans at the close of the game is the "millionaire."

Shouting Proverbs.

A game of proverbs in which at a signal from the guesser all the players call out the words that have been assigned them at the same moment. This may be repeated any number of times agreed upon beforehand. If the guesser tries to listen to all the words at once he will find it very hard to understand any of them, but if he stands near one player at a time and listens only to him the proverb is easy to catch. For this reason the guesser may be required to stand at an equal distance from all the players. They may sit in a circle while he stands in the middle.

Convective Currents.

Doubtless there are many boys and girls who do not know what a convective current of air is, says Chicago News. It is a current that has been heated and in rising carries the heat with it. Colder air at once takes the place of the heated air, and that in its turn, is heated and rises. It is by convective currents that the earth's atmosphere is heated. The sun imparts little or none of its heat to the air. It is the earth's surface that it heats. The surface throws off that heat in convective currents, and the air receives and retains it.

THE IDEAL NURSERY.

What Decorations Should Be Used Necessary Sanitary Precautions.

In arranging the nursery it should be borne in mind that this room of all others should have an eastern or a southern exposure, where the little newcomer, who is always an early riser, up and dressed long before other members of the family, can be a privileged character and enjoy the morning sunshine, both of which make for health and happiness. The furnishing may be artistic and yet suggest simplicity. White woodwork throughout with an enamel finish which wears well, though the dull is more pleasing to the eye, is the best to choose. With this finish use a "sketch scenery" nursery paper in delft blue and white. The furniture should be painted white to match the trim, and the small bureau, the chest of drawers having glass knobs, as well as the chairs, tables, bassinet and baby basket of wicker should be in pure clean white.

A bathroom connecting with the nursery is a luxury, but not a necessity where expense is considered. The enameled nursery toilet sets can be bought for a small sum and are very convenient. Some of the sets decorated with flowers are charming.

In these days the sanitary conditions are of such important consideration it is well to instill in the mind of the nursemaid the old saying "Cleanliness is next to godliness" and to have this room furnished and arranged so that it can be easily kept clean. Have a hardwood stained floor, with one large rug of blue and white coloring, allowing an eighteen inch border. Bookshelves built in the corner spaces of rather simple design will be found both useful and ornamental for the nursery books and toys, which collect so fast that one is glad to have a place for them. The nursery thermometer should always hang in a most conspicuous place. This is important, as the temperature should never be over 68 or 70 degrees. Mothers must not make "hothouse plants" of their children, but instead give them plenty of fresh air and exercise.

The window hangings should be of simple design. Little plain white Swiss Dutch sash curtains, made with a two inch ruffle down the front and lower edge and run on a rod, with an inch and a half heading above the rod, are pretty for the top and middle sash. Altogether this makes four little curtains at each window. If liked the middle curtains can be of chints in blue and white to match the paper and hung just to the sill at either side, with a valance across the top.

PADS FOR WRITING DESK.

These Are Very Convenient and Not Expensive.

The woman who has a large correspondence has taken to using what is known as the hasty line pad. By "correspondence" one doesn't mean letters. This form of exchanging courtesies has almost gone out of style. Few people receive letters any more in the true sense of the word.

Intimate members the family write each other at or less frequent intervals to exchange family news or ask and answer questions.

The modern definition of "correspondence" is a mass of notes, answers to invitations, letters on business, charity, philanthropy and appointment making.

One's best embossed paper with monogram and street number is too expensive to use up by the quire a week in this fashion. On the writing desks of women who live a wide life there are stacks of small pads which are inclosed in colored morocco. These are of good paper with a strong edge and are detached without giving the look of being torn off. They are used for everything except long family letters and formal occasions.

They will not serve for answering invitations to weddings or formal dinners or any of the affairs for which engraved invitations are sent out, but they do for a multitude of other things and are a great convenience and a saving of money.

There is also an oblong card made of slightly thicker paper, which may bear the street number if one wishes to go to that expense. These are also convenient. They slip into the envelope without the necessity of folding. They are used for answering all informal invitations, thanking persons for gifts, especially bridal gifts, and sending expressions of sympathy or congratulation.

MOON'S LIGHT STREAKS.

Due to Salts of Various Minerals, Says an Astronomer.

The radiating light streaks on the moon's surface are explained in a new way by H. G. Tomkins, an English astronomer, who suggests that they are due to the salts of various minerals brought to the surface by evaporation, just as they are in arid alkali tracts in many parts of the earth.

When beds of solid salts or strata partially filled with salt exist below the surface they often dissolve in subsoil water, which rises to the surface and dries, leaving a white efflorescence.

The radial arrangement Mr. Tomkins accounts for by supposing molten matter to be thrown up from below, breaking the crust in radiating cracks and upheaving the strata around the center of pressure. Saline strata would be pushed upward with the others and might thus bring them within reach of evaporation, the efflorescence on the surface thus following the direction of the radial cracks.

On the moon the conditions are just right for such a series of occurrences. Though water in a free state does not now exist on the moon's surface, it probably did so exist at some time, and the salty deposits that would form by evaporation would be very heavy because of absence of rain to wash it away. If rain should cease on our own planet a similar state of things would doubtless ensue.

A curious fact about the moon's "rays" is that they disappear when the sun's altitude is low. This the advocate of the new theory explains by supposing that a fair amount of illumination is necessary to bring out the slight difference in whiteness between the streaks and the surrounding country.—New York Herald.

Do We Bathe Too Often?

The evils of the daily bath and an urgent plea to return to the old fashioned Saturday bath night are set forth by Dr. John H. Clarke in his new book, "Vital Economy."

Dr. Clarke points out that the skin when dry is a nonconductor and prevents the escape of body electricity. When wet in the bath the skin is deprived of some of its insulatory powers and rapid waste of body electricity, which persons who are not robust can ill afford, takes place.

"Children and especially babies," says Dr. Clarke, "are great sufferers from the bathing fashion. Delicate babies are kept perpetually delicate or are washed away altogether because their nurses or parents think it absolutely essential that they should be dipped in water once if not twice a day."—London Mail.

First Governor of Borneo.

Sir William Treacher, whose daughter, Miss Daisy Treacher, has been married in London, enjoys the distinction of having been the first governor of British North Borneo. Born in Wellington, Somerset, in December, 1849, he went out to Labuan as a police magistrate when he was 22, and went ahead rapidly. After successfully governing British North Borneo for seven years—he possessed a happy knack of getting along smoothly with the natives—Sir William was transferred to Perak, a strong man being needed there at the time, and for some years he had control of the interesting combination, formed under treaty in 1895, known as the Federated Malay States.

The Household Fairy.

Have you heard of the household fairy sweet
Who keeps home so bright and neat,
Who enters the rooms of boys and girls
And finds lost marbles or smooths out curls,
Who mends the rent in a girlie's frock
Or darns the hole in a tomboy's sock?
If you don't believe it is true, I say,
You may search and find her this very day
In your home.

You must not look for a maiden fair
With starry eyes and golden hair.
Her hair may be threaded with silver gray,
But one glance of her eyes drives care away,
And the touch of her hand is so soft and light
When it smooths out a place for your head at night.
If you know of some one just like this,
My household fairy you cannot miss—
It's mother!

A Grateful Boy.

A gift always opens the door of an Eskimo heart, declares Knud Rasmussen in "The People of the Polar North," and then tells the story of a little orphan boy whom he ran across in his travels.

I had a little pocketknife in my pocket, and I presented it to him in order to establish our acquaintance.

It was apparently the first time in his life that the boy had ever had such an experience as to receive a present. I assured him that I really meant it. Then, without a change of expression, he snatched the knife out of my hand and ran off. I did not think that I should see any more of him and was just going into our tent when he came running up with a piece of walrus meat, which he pressed into my hand.

"Thou gavest, see; I give, too," said he, and his face shone with grease and pride. But from that day forth we were friends.

Kajoranguaq had no relatives at all to look after him. He was everybody's drudge and slept in an old ruined building, where he said he was very comfortable. He could not have been more than ten years old at the outside, although there was little of the child about him, but after he came to live in our tent we noticed that he began to sing when alone, and after awhile he would beat time to his singing on a little tin box, so in spite of a life of neglect he got a little joy now and then.

An Essay on Man.

Man that is born of woman is small potatoes and few in a hill. He rises up today and flourishes like a ragweed, and tomorrow or next day the undertaker hath him. He goeth forth in the morning warbling like a lark and is knocked out in one round and two seconds. In the midst of life he is in debt, and the tax collector pursues him wherever he goeth. The banister of life is full of splinters, and he slideth down with considerable rapidity. He cometh home at eventide and meeteth the wheelbarrow in his path. It riseth up and smiteth him to the earth and falleth upon him and runneth one of its legs into his ear. In the gentle springtime he putteth on his summer clothes, and a blizzard striketh him far from home and filleth him with cuss words and rheumatism. He buyeth a watchdog, and when he cometh home from the club the watchdog treeth him and sitteth near him until rosy morn. He goeth to the race course and betteth his money on the brown mare, and the bay gelding with a blaze face winneth. He marrieth a red headed heiress with a wart on her nose, and the next day the parent ancestor goeth under with a crash and great liabilities and cometh home to live with his beloved son-in-law.

HER FLOW OF WIT.

Her voice is very sweet to me,
Though others think it rasps a bit,
While peevish critics frequently
Complain that she has little wit,
I listen gladly and am stirred
Most deeply by her every word.

The drama seldom is her theme.
She wastes no time discussing art.
The classic muse she does not deem
A fitting subject, bless her heart!
From science she discreetly turns,
And politics she sweetly spurns.

Though others think her dull, I sit
And listen with supreme delight.
It seems to me her flow of wit
Is always beautiful and bright.
Her constant topic is, you see—
Well, if I must admit it, me.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Is without an Equal for COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS and all Affections of the THROAT and LUNGS.

All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs and the bronchial tubes, are in the beginning but colds or coughs. Too much stress cannot be laid on this fact, and neglect to cure the cold very often causes years of suffering and in the end comes "Consumption." Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup combines all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth, and is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe.

Mr. J. L. Purdy, Millvale, N.S., writes:—"I have been troubled with a hard, dry cough for a long time, especially at night, but after having used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, for a few weeks, I find my cough has left me. To any person, suffering as I did, I can say that this remedy is well worth a trial. I would not be without it in the house."

So great has been the success of this wonderful remedy, it is only natural that numerous persons have tried to imitate it. Don't be humbugged into taking anything but "Dr. Wood's." Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 35 cents.

"USELESS JIM."

By WILLIAM J. LAMPTON.

Jim Doty was the son of industrious and thrifty parents, but he was no exemplar of the doctrine of heredity. As a boy he had gone to school because if he had not gone there the truant officer would have made existence elsewhere uncomfortable for him, and Jim dearly loved to be comfortable. At school it was easier to remain at the foot of his class than higher up, so he philosophically chose the easy thing and stuck to it. Jim was not a mischievous boy or a bad one in any sense, because those attributes require effort to maintain them. As somebody had to be at the foot of the class and there were those who were discontented there, the teacher accepted Jim as a special providence and made the most of him.

"It's beyond me about Jimmie," his mother was wont to say. "He ain't a bad boy nor up to no mischief, and you'd think when he went to school he'd learn his lessons just because he didn't want to learn nothin' else, but he won't learn a single thing, good or bad. He just seems to be everlastin' do less—settin' around and settin' around and settin' around. And I'm sure he don't get it from the Anderson side of the house neither."

Mrs. Doty was an Anderson, and this conclusion of hers was an unsupported animadversion upon Mr. Doty because that worthy man not only made a very comfortable living, but owned a small farm and had money laid away for a rainy day.

When Jim was old enough to go to work his father secured a place for him to learn the carpenter trade, which was rather a surprising selection, as success in that depended upon a skill which did not appear to be one of the characteristics of the young apprentice.

"I put him at that," Mr. Doty explained to an inquiring friend, "because I've seen that boy set on a soap box in the shade and whittle fer six hours hand runnin'. Of course he never whittles nothin' out of the wood he uses up, but I kind of thought maybe he would learn to if I put him at 'arpenterin'."

Time, and not a very long time either, proved the speciousness of Mr. Doty's logic, and Jim was no longer seen about the shop where he had essayed to handle the drawknife and the saw.

After this attempt to make a skilled laborer of his son Mr. Doty thought possibly there might be an undeveloped instinct for agriculture in the youth, and Jim was sent to a farm not far from the village. His usefulness in that field was manifested within three days by his return to the parental roof.

"What's the matter now?" inquired his father when Jim walked into the house at supper time and calmly took his accustomed place at the table as if he had not missed a meal.

"Dunno," replied Jim unconcernedly. "Old man Sparks said he reckoned the mortgage on the place was about all the load it could carry at present, and he told me I could go."

Mr. Doty smiled. He couldn't be very harsh with his only son, because while he did nothing to add to the glory and honor and wealth of the name of Doty he did as little to bring shame or sorrow upon it. Mr. Doty recognized in Jim a negative blessing, and many fathers would be only too glad if they had such sons.

By the time Jim had reached his twenty-fifth year he had tried his hand at every kind of work the village and vicinity had to offer, and he had acquired nothing except the title of "Useless Jim." But Jim did not worry. He was a philosopher, and his good nature was imperturbable.

"Why the dickens don't you go to work, Jim?" said Hanks, the groceryman, one day as Jim sat on a salt barrel in the shade chipping away at the shine with his knife.

"Got a job you'd like to give me?" responded Jim in a willing tone, and the groceryman disappeared. He might be anxious enough to see Jim have a job, but he did not care to assume the relationship of employer.

As nothing else of a permanent character offered itself, Jim concluded, entirely on his own volition, to fall in love. They say an idle brain is the devil's workshop, and surely he found a fine place for his business in Jim. Why Jim ever fell in love nobody could say, and he did not know himself, nor did he think it worth the effort to discover. It was enough for him that he was in love, and he was serious about it, too—so serious, indeed, that he wanted to marry the object of his choice forthwith, thereby displaying a wholly unsuspected energy.

This object was Mary Canby, the blacksmith's daughter and also the village schoolteacher. She was pretty and bright, and she liked Jim because, although disinclined to bodily exertion, he was not slow of wit and he could talk well.

"For goodness sakes, Jimmie," said his mother—she called him Jimmie, as if he were still a boy—"whatever do you want to marry for? You can't support yourself, much less a wife and family, and married women can't school teach to support their husbands."

"I dunno, mother," replied Jim, whittling a stick down to a fine point.

"Well, you ought to know," she said, letting her temper show itself. "You just can't marry, that's all. You're the useleseest thing on earth now, and married you'd be worse."

"I guess there's some use for me in the world, mother," Jim contended. "If there hadn't 'a' been what do you s'pose the Lord put me here for?"

She looked him over as he stood in the doorway the very picture of careless indifference and shiftless good nature.

"Well," she replied, "he's the only one that knows, and he ain't told yet."

When Mary Canby discovered that Jim was beginning to "act foolish" she promptly but kindly told him of the utter uselessness of his suit.

"Why don't you want to marry me, Mary?" he asked in a dull, dazed way, as if not comprehending the full purport of her decision. "We've always been friends, and you know you like me."

"I know, Jim," she said gently, "but like is not love, and one cannot marry without love."

"Do you love anybody else?" he asked, quickening a little. "I've heard that you thought a good deal of Jack Murfin and him of you."

Mary Canby was not coquetting with Jim Doty.

"Yes, Jim, I do," she answered frankly, "and Jack and I are to be married as soon as school closes for the summer."

Jim choked, and the tears came to his eyes.

"Mother said I wasn't any use in the world, and I guess I ain't," he said bitterly, hopelessly.

"Oh, yes, you are, Jim," she encouraged him. "Your chance hasn't come yet, but it will."

"I dunno," he sighed despairingly, and, turning away, he walked slowly homeward alone.

The village knew what was the matter with Jim for the next month or more, but it was considerate of his suffering, and he heard no jeering word nor the laugh that hurts.

Two weeks before the school closed Jim was down at the railroad shops, where Jack Murfin was foreman. He was there chiefly because he did not happen to be elsewhere at the moment, and he was sitting in the shade whittling. Possibly he was somewhat more active than usual and was thinking, for he had just seen Jack Murfin walking across the yards toward a gap in the fence, and he knew the date of Jack's wedding day. They were not friends in the sense of associates, but Jack did not care how much Jim enjoyed himself about the place so long as he did not interfere with business, and Jim had never been given to interfering with business if it did not interfere with him.

Intent upon his thoughts, Jim continued whittling until presently he was recalled to his surroundings by a shout of alarm. It was Jack's voice, and, looking through the gap in the fence, he saw Jack lying across the rails with his leg twisted under him and his foot fast in a frog. He had passed out to the main tracks, and Jim heard a train coming. Quicker than he had ever moved before in all his stagnant life he cleared the space between them and stood in the track over his rival's body. The heavy engine coming down had been reversed, but too late, and no power on earth could stop it. But Jim never faltered. Lifting the prostrate man to a sitting position, he wrenched his foot from the fatal clutch, and with a giant's strength he flung him outside the rails.

When Jim's body was picked up a few minutes later a little life remained—just a fluttering spark, but enough to give the light that never fades.

"Jim! Jim!" cried Murfin, taking him in his arms.

"It's all right now, Jack," whispered Jim, opening his eyes and smiling. "Mary said I was some use in the world and my chance would come some time. Tell her"—

His words had come painfully and in gasps, and they stopped with the sentence unfinished. But Jack knew what to tell Mary.

Character in Speech.

Of course the broad view of the question that language is life only applies to those who have the elements of the language well under control. But in a lesser degree, even among the unread and unskillful, the life of the man or woman will always protrude through his speech. His language will always to some extent be an indicator of his life. If you will go from Spenser and Shakespeare to Massinger and Fletcher and Webster in English literature, you will find that the fall in language was accompanied also by a fall in life. If you will read Milton and then Pope, you will find the grandeur and repose of Milton in his life as well as in his language. You will find the hypocritical filthiness and self satisfaction in the life of Pope as well as in his language. Milton's was the righteousness of conscience, and you read it in his lines. Pope's was the righteousness of geometry, and you will find it mirrored in his stiff little verses.—North American Review.

Where a Miser Hid Her Coins.

A death in a poor part of Budapest has just brought to light an extraordinary story of a woman's double life. She had lived apparently in poverty and semistarvation, subsisting partly on charity, but a search of her rooms, which were in a terrible state of neglect, revealed that she was worth more than a million kronen, chiefly in house property. A number of stuffed cats in her room were full of coins. The woman was well known in the better part of the city, where she owned several blocks of flats, the rent of which she collected herself.—London Globe.

Other Times, Other Manners.

Sir Algernon West strikes a curious note on the ear of the present generation in the course of a book of reminiscences, "One City and Many Men," when he states that in his youth it was considered highly improper for a wife to address her husband by his Christian name or for a son to address his parents without saying "sir" or "ma'am."

"I never heard my mother call my father by his Christian name," he writes, "and I recollect distinctly that the fame of a very fashionable and brilliant woman was seriously imperilled because after some great man's death a letter from her to him was discovered beginning with his Christian name.

"The formal 'sir' was current everywhere. At Eton we never recognized any departure from this practice, and letters between boy friends began, 'My dear sir.'

"A friend of mine dining with Lady Jersey heard her say she never recollected her father, Lord Westmoreland, though specially attached to her sister, Lady Lonsdale, calling her anything but Lady Lonsdale. And Henry Greville, who was present at the same dinner, said that he remembered his mother, Lady Charlotte, and her brother, the Duke of Portland, meeting in the morning at Welbeck abbey, when the salutations were:

"'How is your ladyship this morning?'

"'I am quite well. I am obliged to your grace.'"

He Didn't Say It.

He was a good little boy, and he lived not many miles from Boston. He never disobeyed his mother, he never called her names when her orders were not his wishes, and he had the face of an angel. Next door lived little Rosy, a girl who proved the proverb about small pitchers. One day Harry was allowed to go over to play with Rosy, but with strict orders not to take off his hat and coat to go in the house if Rosy could not come out into the yard.

Rosy could not come out, but would not Harry take off his things and play inside? Harry quoted sadly his mother's injunction.

"Your mamma is a silly," said Rosy crossly.

Harry went home and told his mother what Rosy had said. "She is a very naughty little girl," his mother declared. "You must never say such a word."

"No, mamma, I won't," said the dutiful Harry.

A few days later he was again forbidden to do something which he greatly desired to do. "Mamma," said he, lifting to hers his angelic face, "do you remember what Rosy said about you?"—New York Tribune.

Doctors Thick in New York.

The proportion of physicians to the general population is probably greater in New York city than anywhere else in the country. In the United States, for example, taking the estimated population of the census bureau for 1908 as a basis, there is one licensed physician to every 709 persons; in New York state there is one to 672 and in New York city one to only 658. It has been estimated that the physician in general practice must have a clientele of 750 persons, or 150 families, to support himself and his family in comfort, so if this estimate is accurate the New York doctor is short an average of a hundred patients, and many, of course, are further behind than that.—Medical Record.

Sardou's Way.

In the magnificent palace, near Paris, where lived the late Victorien Sardou, playwright, was a huge chest that contained numberless little boxes duly labeled. In these cardboard receptacles were notes jotted down at any time in any place, newspaper cuttings, epigrams and aphorisms of his own—a chest of ideas and plots. Sardou saw life and all events as plots and thought that the richest and wildest imagination could invent nothing so thrilling, so fascinating and truly dramatic as the incidents daily recorded in the

A BASS BOTTLE-WASHER.

Daughter of Famous Brewer Has Frank Reply For Young Noble.

One of the best stories told about Lord Burton, who was to have entertained the King at Rangemore, near Burton-on-Trent, recently, but which visit had, at the last moment, to be postponed, owing to His Majesty's slight indisposition, has to do with a situation offered him. One day, while traveling in a train, an affable stranger entered into conversation with him, and discovering that he appeared to have a splendid knowledge of brewing, the stranger offered him the post of manager at a small brewery of his. The future Lord Burton was impressed with the magnificence of the offer, but told his fellow-passenger he felt obliged to decline, because he, too, did a little in the brewing line at Burton-on-Trent!

Lord Burton was had a narrow escape from drowning. With the late Lord Hindlip he went out on a loch in a light skiff, when the craft overturned, and it was some time before they were rescued. As Mr. Michael Bass, Lord Burton sat for many years in the House of Commons.

He was created a baronet in 1883, and four years later was raised to the peerage. His greatest hobby is collecting pictures and works of art, and at Rangemore he has some of the finest tapestries in England. The heir-presumptive to the barony is Lord Burton's only daughter, Mrs. Baillie, of Dochfour, about whom some pretty stories are unfolded, for she was always frank and unconventional.

Once, during a dance, some of the old folk present were a little shocked at the enthusiasm with which the younger ones entered into the spirit of the gathering. "Hardly the manners of a Vere de Vere," said an old general, as Miss Bass flew past him. "No," replied the young lady, dropping a saucy curtsey, "they are the manners of Beer de Beer—and jolly good beer it is too."

Even more frank still was her acknowledgment to a young nobleman that she had never heard of his great-great-grandfather, who fell at Malplaquet. "You see," she added, "my great-great-grandfather was a bottle-washer!"

Soldiers' Search For Singer.

Mr. Charles Manners, the famous bass singer, who holds that so far as music is concerned, Shakespeare is more honored on the Continent than in his own country, was brought up with the idea of his becoming a solicitor. But the law had no fascination for him. He tried two years at a crammer's with a view to getting into the army. Then he took up civil engineering, and later went into a stockbroker's office. It was while here he decided to become a professional singer, and his first engagement in London was as a chorister in the comic opera called "Claude Duval." Eighteen months later Mr. Manners became a principal, and he has humorously related that he got the chance through his having a dress suit in his box, and by promising to use it when he got the part. Mr. Manners, son of the late Col. J. C. Manners, Royal Horse Artillery, is 6 feet 4 1-4 inches in height, and the smallest of five sons. He numbers an incident in Malta among his earliest recollections. He was then six years old, and his father a captain in the Garrison Artillery. A soldier's funeral was passing the quarters, and young Charles decided to stick to the big drum all the way to the cemetery and back again. On the return journey he was promptly pounced upon by the irate father and tearful mother, and after being well shaken he was put to bed. After remaining there twenty-four hours he learned that half the battery had been hunting Valetta for him.

"I have taken Scott's Emulsion for six weeks and have found it a wonderful remedy. Before I took the Emulsion I had no appetite; was weak; had lost nearly fifty pounds of flesh, and now I eat well and am gaining every day. I find Scott's Emulsion to be very easily digested and a good food for all weak people."—FLORENCE BLEEKER, No. 1 Myrtle Avenue, Bridgeton, N. J.

This is only one of thousands of cases where has given an appetite. It's so easily digested that it doesn't tax the digestive organs and they rest; yet the body is wonderfully nourished and built up. The digestion is improved—then ordinary food is sufficient.

Growing boys and girls, who need so much food to keep them well and strong, and also growing, should be given a bottle of SCOTT'S EMULSION every few weeks. It does wonders for them. It prevents their getting run down and spindly. Nothing does them so much good.

ANNIVERSARY OF MOUNT PLEASANT CHURCH

Examiner Special.

Mount Pleasant, Feb. 25.— The anniversary of the Mount Pleasant Presbyterian Church was conducted by the Rev. H. V. Mountcer, of Cannington, on Sunday the 21st February, 1909.

The subject of the morning's discourse was the proposal of King David to build an house for the Lord, and His refusing to allow him to build it.

The subject chosen for the evening service was "The First King Chosen," and that only the few whose hearts the Lord had touched, followed the King. It cannot be said of Mr. Mountcer that he is content to accept aids and work out nothing for himself.

The church was filled at the evening service, and all were well pleased with both the morning and evening sermons which were full of thought and intellectual ability. The weather was all that could be desired for the Sabbath Services, and the Tea and Social which was held on the Monday following.

CLASH INEVITABLE.

Russia Is Pessimistic Over Austro-Servian Situation.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 25.—The pessimism with regard to the Balkan crisis is steadily deepening in diplomatic circles, where it is believed that Austrian action against Servia may be expected within a fortnight, unless a solution to the present grave problem is soon arranged.

Foreign Office officials state that Russia is not disposed to consider an invasion of Servia alone as a casus belli, but there is fear that the Government's hand may be forced under such circumstances by popular feeling. The beginning of hostilities would throw thousands of Russian volunteers into the Servian ranks.

The Duma leaders, who visited the Foreign Office yesterday, expressed themselves as convinced that war is inevitable. Information received from Kiev yesterday indicates that no military measures have yet been undertaken on the southwestern frontier, but all applications of officers for leave of absence have been refused, and the Kiev department is ready for instant mobilization.

Britain Not Disturbed.

London, Feb. 25.—The British Government is not so apprehensive regarding the situation in the Balkans as are some of the other Governments of Europe, judging from the indications in despatches received here from various continental capitals.

The Foreign Office of course recognizes that an undue prolongation of the tension between Austria-Hungary and Servia is dangerous, but it is hopeful of an early relaxation in the situation.

So far as is known officially here Germany has not declined to participate in a joint action and negotiations still are going on with the view of a proffer of good offices.

Four Accused of Murder.

Prince Albert, Feb. 25.—Four men, Robert Umphreville, John Turner, Alex. Dubois and Tom Ballantyne, are held at the Mounted Police barracks here, charged with the murder of J. Anderson last November at Kinistino. The five were drinking together and left for home. Later Anderson's body was found with the head battered in. The four were arrested and will have a preliminary hearing on Friday.

Every Little Bit—

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—The last volume of the Auditor-General's report gives the sums paid for printing and advertising in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1908.

For advertising $287,167 was paid, and for printing and lithographs, $800,413.

The Toronto Globe got $6,493 for advertising, and The Toronto Star $4,977.

British Capital In Canada.

London, Feb. 25.—C.A.P. Cable.)—The Chronicle says that in 1908 exclusive of conversion loans nearly $150,000,000 of British capital went to Canada, and remarks it is odd that tariff reformers who effect so much keenness upon colonial preference, should shed tears at the investment of British capital in colonial development.

BAD FLOODS IN ONTARIO

Great Damage Is Occasioned by the Sudden Freshets.

DEATH NEAR HAGERSVILLE

Farmer Is Caught In River and Dies From Cramps — Port Hope Suffers Loss of $25,000, and Streets Are Flooded — District Around St. Thomas Under Water—Many Narrow Escapes Reported.

Port Hope, Feb. 25.—The usually picturesque little Ganaraska river, swollen by the recent rains, overflooded its banks yesterday afternoon and caused damage that will run up close to $25,000.

A slight rise toward noon gave little indication of a serious flood, but between 2 and 3 o'clock the river had changed to a torrent and had torn out the Canton bridge, to the north; Helms' dam, the electric light plant footbridge, the Barrett's Mill bridge and the G.T.R. foot bridge, besides ripping away the north side of the heavy cement ridge on Walton street, Port Hope's main thoroughfare.

The Ontario House was swamped, part of the barn torn away and several cutters lost; the Royal Hotel had its new balcony destroyed, and Walton, Queen, Mill, Cavan and John streets were flooded two feet deep.

Thousands of heavy blocks of ice swept down the streets and presented an awe-inspiring sight. In the south side of Walton street bridge the ice filled The Times' office, Tom Lee's laundry, Putnam's shoe store, Smith's barber shop, Wells' bakery, Shaw's store, Moore's restaurant and two empty stores. The laundry, shoe store, barber shop, bakery and the empty stores were almost wrecked, the windows breaking in.

The Toronto Bank and McLean's piano store were flooded, but not damaged. Hayden's foundry, Chalk's carriage works and G. N. Pattison's lumber yards were also sufferers, the latter losing $1,500 worth of timber.

The girls in the Ideal Clothing factory had to escape by ladders, and Ken Runnells, insurance agent, had a narrow escape from drowning, his rig and horse falling with the G.T.R. bridge.

It was said that a Cantan man lost his life, but a telephonic communication fails to confirm this.

Large gangs of men are at work removing the ice blocks from the streets.

J. G. Elliott, foreman of The Times, actually caught two fish in The Times office during the flood.

Thirty-one years ago Port Hope had just such another flood, and a smaller one four years ago.

Lives Endangered.

St. Thomas, Ont., Feb. 25.—The worst flood in 35 years has been raging on the outskirts of St. Thomas all day, and one man almost lost his life.

Kettle Creek broke loose and flooded adjoining lands early yesterday morning, in many cases completely surrounding barns.

To his father's barn on the London and Port Stanley gravel road, Jimmy Alexander, machinist at the P. M. shops here, waded yesterday, but before he was ready to return the water was so deep he had to swim. He had to be rescued by his brothers, and when taken from the water was unconscious. Two doctors soon succeeded in reviving him.

The water was so high around the waterworks it broke over the high wall into the reservoir.

The family of Charles Murphy, south of the city, were rescued in the nick of time yesterday morning, being warned by neighbors.

Turville's dam, a few miles down the creek, broke, and farmers residing near there had great difficulty in rescuing Mrs. Hampton. Her position was a perilous one and she couldn't be reached without crossing the flood. A horse was brought to her assistance, thinking that she might be taken out on the animal's back, but the poor brute was swept down the stream and it was with difficulty that the owner saved it. Finally the men obtained ropes and going to the house carried her out on their backs, although they were in water above their waists.

Rain at Belleville.

Belleville, Feb. 25.—This city was visited by one of the biggest rainstorms experienced for years during the winter period.

It began to rain Tuesday afternoon and continued incessantly till ten o'clock yesterday, coming down in torrents during the night.

The rolling mills plant had to close down owing to the premises being flooded, while many furnaces were put out of business by the high water. Hundreds of cellars were flooded, involving much loss.

Several streets are impassable, and in very many cases householders have had to be assisted from their homes.

Yesterday afternoon water was running a foot deep over Coleman street, and employes in the factories have to be driven to and from work.

Upset by Flood.

Hagersville, Feb. 25.—A fatality occurred yesterday about two miles from Hagersville, as a result of the heavy rains.

William Boyle and his son were returning home from Hagersville about noon. They had to pass over the Spring Creek on the reserve, where they found the road for nearly a quarter of a mile under water. They attempted to cross, but missed the bridge, went over the embankment into deep water and sank.

The team was drowned and Boyle is supposed to have been seized with cramps. He was unable to get out of the water. His son reached land and called for help and two men succeeded in getting Boyle out, but he died almost immediately.

Wireless on Balloons.

Boston, Feb. 25.—A new venture in aeronautics and wireless telegraphy is to be attempted by members of the Aero Club of New England in the fitting out of the new balloon Massachusetts, and the new dirigible of the Boston and New York Air line, with wireless apparatus.

TUBERCULOSIS BILL BROUGHT IN

Cases Must Be Reported by Mr. Downey's Proposed Bill.

TO RAISE SHERIFFS' PAY

Mr. Foy Proposes Increase to About $1,200—No Placarding Will Be Demanded In Cases of Consumption —Hamilton May Vote on Power at Any Time by Premier's New Bill — Milk Commission.

Toronto, Feb. 25.—Yesterday was another busy day in the Legislature, which sat assiduously all afternoon, passing fourteen bills through committee. These were some of the revised statutes already reported.

One of the bills passing committee, and which may be given a third reading to-morrow, Premier Whitney explained, would enable Hamilton to refer the power bylaw to the vote of the people at any time instead of waiting till next January. The mayor and council had asked the Government to aid them in the matter, and he had felt it his duty to do so.

Hon. J. J. Foy has prepared a resolution which will commit the Government to an increase of the salaries of sheriffs, who now depend on fees to a minimum unstated, but probably of $1,200, to be made up by the Government where the fees do not reach that sum.

Bills were introduced respecting the publication of official notices, by Hon. W. J. Hanna, and to amend the Assessment Act, by A. E. Fripp.

Josepeh Downey's bill, respecting the notification of tuberculosis, will not involve any public placarding. The notification will be confidential, a fine being imposed for unauthorized disclosures. The intention is simply to enable the authorities to take steps to educate people as to the proper treatment of patients.

W. K. McNaught will move a resolution next week, having in view the appointment of a provincial commission to deal with the supply of pure milk.

The following sixty members were placed upon the private bills committee: Sir James Whitney, Messrs. Beck, Bowman, Bradburn, Brewster, Brower, Calder, Carrick, Carscallen, Clark (Bruce), Clarke (Northumberland), Craig, Downey, Duff, Elliott, Ferguson (Grenville), Fisher, Fox, Foy, Fraser, Fripp, Gallagher, Gamey, Godfrey, Gooderham, Hanna, Hearst, Hendrie, Hoyle, Innes, Jamieson, Jessop, Konler, Lennox, Lucas, MacKay (Grey), Mahaffy, Matheson, McCowan, McCart, McDougall, McGarry, McKeown, McNaught, McPherson, Nickle, Preston (Durham), Preston (Lanark), Pratt, Prondfoot, Racine, Reed (Wentworth), Ross (Middlesex), Shaw, Smellie, Sulman, Thompson (Simcoe), Torrance, Tudhope and Whiteside—60.

W. H. Hoyle has been chosen chairman of the standing orders committee. I. B. Lucas will again be chairman of the private bills committee.

Bills will be introduced by Mr. Brewster, to amend the insurance law; Mr. Torrance, to amend the Assessment act; Mr. Downey, to prevent the spread of pulmonary and other forms of tuberculosis; Mr. Craig, to amend the Municipal Act; Mr. Racine, to amend the Separate Schools Act; Mr. Macdiarmid, to amend the Municipal Act.

Brakemen Are Let Go.

Guelph, Feb. 25.—The three other Grand Trunk trainmen against whom a true bill for criminal negligence in connection with the Harriston wreck was returned by the grand jury at the Assizes here, were tried yesterday. Burgman and Alexander pleaded guilty, and were released on suspended sentence. Jackson pleaded not guilty, and his case was laid over for the next Assizes.

Train Topples Over Cliff.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Feb. 25.—A passenger train on the main line bound north was yesterday thrown over a cliff 100 feet high, at a point near Rio Bamba, and crashed to the bottom of the ravine. All the cars were practically demolished. Twenty-five persons were killed and 40 were wounded.

The accident was caused by a displaced rail.

Canada as an Example.

London, Feb. 25.—In a House of Commons debate on Ireland, John Redmond said Canada furnished a striking example of the result of throwing responsibility for government on to the shoulders of the people. He honored Lord Durham for the trust he had placed in the Canadian people.

Premier Bond to Resign.

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 25.—Following the issuance last night of a proclamation by Governor MacGregor postponing the opening of the Legislature from to-day until March 4, Sir Robert Bond, the Premier, informed his followers that his resignation would be handed in in a day or two.

Big Shed Collapsed.

Preston, Feb. 25.—A large shed, 80 by 160, in course of erection, adjoining the Preston Car & Coach Co. works, collapsed yesterday. A number of men were at work, but all escaped. The damage will be about $200, the loss of the men's time to the work that had been done.

Assaulted by Negro.

Montreal, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Raoul St. Jacques, who resides at 549 Cowan St. Boulevard, St. Denis, is in the Hotel Dieu in a critical condition as the result of an assault Tuesday night by an unknown negro.

Mrs. St. Jacques was found lying on the street by neighbors in a bleeding condition.

Kingston Bailiff Arrested.

Kingston, Feb. 25.—Charles G. Clark, a bailiff, was arrested yesterday on a charge of converting goods for his own use, on complaint of the Metropolitan Co., Limited, of Toronto. The case arises out of goods sent to Kingston dealers and being seized by Clark.

ANNIVERSARY OF MOUNT PLEASANT CHURCH

Examiner Special.

Mount Pleasant, Feb. 23.— The anniversary of the Mount Pleasant Presbyterian Church was conducted by the Rev. H. V. Mountcer, of Cannington, on Sunday the 21st February, 1909.

The subject of the morning's discourse was the proposal of King David to build an house for the Lord, and His refusing to allow him to build it.

The subject chosen for the evening service was "The First King Chosen," and that only the few whose hearts the Lord had touched, followed the King. It cannot be said of Mr. Mountcer that he is content to accept aids and work out nothing for himself.

The church was filled at the evening service, and all were well pleased with both the morning and evening sermons which were full of thought and intellectual ability. The weather was all that could be desired for the Sabbath Services, and the Tea and Social which was held on the Monday following.

CLASH INEVITABLE.

Russia Is Pessimistic Over Austro-Servian Situation.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 25.—The pessimism with regard to the Balkan crisis is steadily deepening in diplomatic circles, where it is believed that Austrian action against Servia may be expected within a fortnight, unless a solution to the present grave problem is soon arranged.

Foreign Office officials state that Russia is not disposed to consider an invasion of Servia alone as a casus belli, but there is fear that the Government's hand may be forced under such circumstances by popular feeling. The beginning of hostilities would throw thousands of Russian volunteers into the Servian ranks.

The Duma leaders, who visited the Foreign Office yesterday, expressed themselves as convinced that war is inevitable. Information received from Kiev yesterday indicates that no military measures have yet been undertaken on the southwestern frontier, but all applications of officers for leave of absence have been refused, and the Kiev department is ready for instant mobilization.

Britain Not Disturbed.

London, Feb. 25.—The British Government is not so apprehensive regarding the situation in the Balkans as are some of the other Governments of Europe, judging from the indications in despatches received here from various continental capitals.

The Foreign Office of course recognizes that an undue prolongation of the tension between Austria-Hungary and Servia is dangerous, but it is hopeful of an early relaxation in the situation.

So far as is known officially here Germany has not declined to participate in a joint action and negotiations still are going on with the view of a proffer of good offices.

Four Accused of Murder.

Prince Albert, Feb. 25.—Four men, Robert Umphreville, John Turner, Alex. Dubois and Tom Ballantyne, are held at the Mounted Police barracks here, charged with the murder of J. Anderson last November at Kinistino. The five were drinking together and left for home. Later Anderson's body was found with the head battered in. The four were arrested and will have a preliminary hearing on Friday.

Every Little Bit—

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—The last volume of the Auditor-General's report gives the sums paid for printing and advertising in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1908.

For advertising $287,167 was paid, and for printing and lithographs, $800,413.

The Toronto Globe got $6,493 for advertising, and The Toronto Star $4,975.

British Capital In Canada.

London, Feb. 25.—C.A.P. Cable.)—The Chronicle says that in 1908 exclusive of conversion loans nearly $150,000,000 of British capital went to Canada, and remarks it is odd that tariff reformers who effect so much keenness upon colonial preference, should shed tears at the investment of British capital in colonial development.

BAD FLOODS IN ONTARIO

Great Damage Is Occasioned by the Sudden Freshets.

DEATH NEAR HAGERSVILLE

Farmer Is Caught In River and Dies From Cramps — Port Hope Suffers Loss of $25,000, and Streets Are Flooded — District Around St. Thomas Under Water—Many Narrow Escapes Reported.

Port Hope, Feb. 25.—The usually picturesque little Ganaraska river, swollen by the recent rains, overflooded its banks yesterday afternoon and caused damage that will run up close to $25,000.

A slight rise toward noon gave little indication of a serious flood, but between 2 and 3 o'clock the river had changed to a torrent and had torn out the Canton bridge, to the north; Helms' dam, the electric light plant footbridge, the Barrett's Mill bridge and the G.T.R. foot bridge, besides ripping away the north side of the heavy cement ridge on Walton street, Port Hope's main thoroughfare.

The Ontario House was swamped, part of the barn torn away and several cutters lost; the Royal Hotel had its new balcony destroyed, and Walton, Queen, Mill, Cavan and John streets were flooded two feet deep.

Thousands of heavy blocks of ice swept down the streets and presented an awe-inspiring sight. In the south side of Walton street bridge the ice filled The Times' office, Tom Lee's laundry, Putnam's shoe store, Smith's barber shop, Wells' bakery, Shaw's store, Moore's restaurant and two empty stores. The laundry, shoe store, barber shop, bakery and the empty stores were almost wrecked, the windows breaking in.

The Toronto Bank and McLean's piano store were flooded, but not damaged. Hayden's foundry, Chalk's carriage works and G. N. Pattison's lumber yards were also sufferers, the latter losing $1,500 worth of timber.

The girls in the Ideal Clothing factory had to escape by ladders, and Ken Runnells, insurance agent, had a narrow escape from drowning, his rig and horse falling with the G.T.R. bridge.

It was said that a Cantan man lost his life, but a telephonic communication fails to confirm this.

Large gangs of men are at work removing the ice blocks from the streets.

J. G. Elliott, foreman of The Times, actually caught two fish in The Times office during the flood.

Thirty-one years ago Port Hope had just such another flood, and a smaller one four years ago.

Lives Endangered.

St. Thomas, Ont., Feb. 25.—The worst flood in 35 years has been raging on the outskirts of St. Thomas all day, and one man almost lost his life.

Kettle Creek broke loose and flooded adjoining lands early yesterday morning, in many cases completely surrounding barns.

To his father's barn on the London and Port Stanley gravel road, Jimmy Alexander, machinist at the P. M. shops here, waded yesterday, but before he was ready to return the water was so deep he had to swim. He had to be rescued by his brothers, and when taken from the water was unconscious. Two doctors soon succeeded in reviving him.

The water was so high around the waterworks it broke over the high wall into the reservoir.

The family of Charles Murphy, south of the city, were rescued in the nick of time yesterday morning, being warned by neighbors.

Turville's dam, a few miles down the creek, broke, and farmers residing near there had great difficulty in rescuing Mrs. Hampton. Her position was a perilous one and she couldn't be reached without crossing the flood. A horse was brought to her assistance, thinking that she might be taken out on the animal's back, but the poor brute was swept down the stream and it was with difficulty that the owner saved it. Finally the men obtained ropes and going to the house carried her out on their backs, although they were in water above their waists.

Rain at Belleville.

Belleville, Feb. 25.—This city was visited by one of the biggest rainstorms experienced for years during the winter period.

It began to rain Tuesday afternoon and continued incessantly till ten o'clock yesterday, coming down in torrents during the night.

The rolling mills plant had to close down owing to the premises being flooded, while many furnaces were put out of business by the high water. Hundreds of cellars were flooded, involving much loss.

Several streets are impassable, and in very many cases householders have had to be assisted from their homes.

Yesterday afternoon water was running a foot deep over Coleman street, and employees in the factories have to be driven to and from work.

Upset by Flood.

Hagersville, Feb. 25.—A fatality occurred yesterday about two miles from Hagersville, as a result of the heavy rains.

William Boyle and his son were returning home from Hagersville about noon. They had to pass over the Spring Creek on the reserve, where they found the road for nearly a quarter of a mile under water. They attempted to cross, but missed the bridge, went over the embankment into deep water and sank.

The team was drowned and Boyle is supposed to have been seized with cramps. He was unable to get out of the water. His son reached land and called for help and two men succeeded in getting Boyle out, but he died almost immediately.

Wireless on Balloons.

Boston, Feb. 25.—A new venture in aeronautics and wireless telegraphy is to be attempted by members of the Aero Club of New England in the fitting out of the new balloon Massachusetts, and the new dirigible of the Boston and New York Air line, with wireless apparatus.

TUBERCULOSIS BILL BROUGHT IN

Cases Must Be Reported by Mr. Downey's Proposed Bill.

TO RAISE SHERIFFS' PAY

Mr. Foy Proposes Increase to About $1,200—No Placarding Will Be Demanded In Cases of Consumption —Hamilton May Vote on Power at Any Time by Premier's New Bill — Milk Commission.

Toronto, Feb. 25.—Yesterday was another busy day in the Legislature, which sat assiduously all afternoon, passing fourteen bills through committee. These were some of the revised statutes already reported.

One of the bills passing committee, and which may be given a third reading to-morrow, Premier Whitney explained, would enable Hamilton to refer the power bylaw to the vote of the people at any time instead of waiting till next January. The mayor and council had asked the Government to aid them in the matter, and he had felt it his duty to do so.

Hon. J. J. Foy has prepared a resolution which will commit the Government to an increase of the salaries of sheriffs, who now depend on fees to a minimum unstated, but probably of $1,200, to be made up by the Government where the fees do not reach that sum.

Bills were introduced respecting the publication of official notices, by Hon. W. J. Hanna, and to amend the Assessment Act, by A. E. Fripp.

Josepeh Downey's bill, respecting the notification of tuberculosis, will not involve any public placarding. The notification will be confidential, a fine being imposed for unauthorized disclosures. The intention is simply to enable the authorities to take steps to educate people as to the proper treatment of patients.

W. K. McNaught will move a resolution next week, having in view the appointment of a provincial commission to deal with the supply of pure milk.

The following sixty members were placed upon the private bills committee: Sir James Whitney, Messrs. Beck, Bowman, Bradburn, Brewster, Brower, Calder, Carrick, Carscallen, Clark (Bruce), Clarke (Northumberland), Craig, Downey, Duff, Elliott, Ferguson (Grenville), Fisher, Fox, Foy, Fraser, Fripp, Gallagher, Gamey, Godfrey, Gooderham, Hanna, Hearst, Hendrie, Hoyle, Innes, Jamieson, Jessop, Konler, Lennox, Lucas, MacKay (Grey), Mahaffy, Matheson, McCowan, McCart, McDougall, McGarry, McKeown, McNaught, McPherson, Nickle, Preston (Durham), Preston (Lanark), Pratt, Proudfoot, Racine, Reed (Wentworth), Ross (Middlesex), Shaw, Smellie, Sulman, Thompson (Simcoe), Torrance, Tudhope and Whiteside—60.

W. H. Hoyle has been chosen chairman of the standing orders committee. I. B. Lucas will again be chairman of the private bills committee.

Bills will be introduced by Mr. Brewster, to amend the insurance law; Mr. Torrance, to amend the Assessment act; Mr. Downey, to prevent the spread of pulmonary and other forms of tuberculosis; Mr. Craig, to amend the Municipal Act; Mr. Racine, to amend the Separate Schools Act; Mr. Macdiarmid, to amend the Municipal Act.

Brakemen Are Let Go.

Guelph, Feb. 25.—The three other Grand Trunk trainmen against whom a true bill for criminal negligence in connection with the Harriston wreck was returned by the grand jury at the Assizes here, were tried yesterday. Burgman and Alexander pleaded guilty, and were released on suspended sentence. Jackson pleaded not guilty, and his case was laid over for the next Assizes.

Train Topples Over Cliff.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Feb. 25.—A passenger train on the main line bound north was yesterday thrown over a cliff 100 feet high, at a point near Rio Bamba, and crashed to the bottom of the ravine. All the cars were practically demolished. Twenty-five persons were killed and 40 were wounded.

The accident was caused by a displaced rail.

Canada as an Example.

London, Feb. 25.—In a House of Commons debate on Ireland, John Redmond said Canada furnished a striking example of the result of throwing responsibility for government on to the shoulders of the people. He honored Lord Durham for the trust he had placed in the Canadian people.

Premier Bond to Resign.

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 25.—Following the issuance last night of a proclamation by Governor MacGregor postponing the opening of the Legislature from to-day until March 4, Sir Robert Bond, the Premier, informed his followers that his resignation would be handed in in a day or two.

Big Shed Collapsed.

Preston, Feb. 25.—A large shed, 80 by 160, in course of erection, adjoining the Preston Car & Coach Co. works, collapsed yesterday. A number of men were at work, but all escaped. The damage will be about $200, the loss of the men's time to the work that had been done.

Montreal, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Raoul St. Jacques, who resides at 549 Cowan St. Boulevard, St. Denis, is in the Hotel Dieu in a critical condition as the result of an assault Tuesday night by an unknown negro.

SUFFRAGETTES AT WORK.

Some of Britain's Most Notable Women Involved in Raids.

London, Feb. 25.—Every effort of the woman suffragettes to force the hand of the Government becomes more determined, and it is increasingly difficult to predict how their demands may be successfully parried.

The situation has taken on an embarrassing aspect for the Government, owing to the high social position of many among some 30 or more women arrested last evening, these including Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, Lady Constance Lytton, sister of Lord Lytton, and daughter of the former Viceroy of India; Miss Stratford Dugdale, daughter of Commander Dugdale, and cousin of Hon. William R. Peel, who was elected Tuesday in the bye-election as member of the House of Commons for Tauton; Miss Daisy Solomon, daughter of the ex-Premier of Cape Colony, and Mrs. Catherine Elizabeth Corbett, an aristocratic supporter of suffrage movement.

Both sides were well prepared for last night's attempt on the part of the suffragettes to force themselves on Premier Asquith, who on Tuesday declined by letter to receive the deputation. The women held "parliament" at Caxton Hall, and a number of them started on "danger duty" in a solid phalanx, led by Mrs. Lawrence.

The police, abandoning former tactics of barring the approaches to the House of Commons, adopted the new plan of breaking up the procession close to Caxton Hall. They permitted the suffragettes to proceed simply by couples, escorted by small parties of spectators. The women were thus not given much chance to create a disturbance, although they were allowed to come within close proximity of Parliament. The police, however, kept them continually on the move and none was allowed access to the building.

Miss Solomon, in returning from the first expedition, apologized to the meeting for her failure to get arrested. She said she had done her best, and would lead another attempt. All the expeditions were given musical honors when they set forth, the band playing the Marsaillaise.

MALONE GETS LIFE SENTENCE

Wilkins' Assailant is Given the Limit of the Law.

WEEK TO SETTLE AFFAIRS

Chief Justice Mulock Finds No Extenuating Circumstances in Case of Sincere Chief of Police and Imposes the Maximum Penalty for Attempt to Murder—Wilkins Clay in the Chief's Hands.

Sudbury, Feb. 25.—Imprisonment for life in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence imposed last night by Chief Justice Mulock on Archibald W. Malone, found guilty by a Norfolk County jury of attempting to murder his fellow constable, William Wilkins, on the morning of Dec. 1 last.

The jury were out two hours and ten minutes, and returned to the court-room about 7.35.

"Have you agreed upon a verdict?" asked the clerk.

"We have," said the foreman. "Guilty."

W. E. Kelly, K.C., counsel for defendant, asked that the jury be polled. Every man of the twelve said "Guilty" in a clear voice.

"What have you to say, Malone, why the sentence of this court should not be passed on you?" said his lordship.

"My counsel will speak for me, my lord," said the prisoner.

Mr. Kelly merely pointed out that his client had four children, that his record had previously been good, that he had served in South Africa, and had soldiered for Britain eight years in all.

His lordship said he did not wish to add to the burden being borne by the prisoner, but he felt it necessary to make a few remarks.—

"It gives me very great pain," said the chief justice, "to be obliged to perform my duty at this stage of this regrettable affair. But others in the earlier stages have done their duty, and I must do mine now.

"You have had very able counsel, and your case has been presented with remarkable ability. I myself have offered you such protection as I could. The evidence was conclusive, and I must say that I came to the same conclusion myself on the testimony put forward.

"You have been found guilty, and the question now is what punishment will fit the crime. It is not my wish to add to your burden, that is great enough already. I think it advisable for the information of the public to show that the crime justifies the sentence that I am about to impose.

"I entertain no doubt of the correctness of Constable Wilkins' evidence. You were employed and trusted as a police officer, sworn to protect the people of this town, their property and their lives. Shortly after your appointment to the force you proceeded to your career of crime. You engaged Wilkins as your assistant. He says your first crime was the entrance to Madden's shop. That evidence is not contradicted. Wilkins had no idea then what you were about to do.

"Through some way you obtained a mastery over him. Your mind was apparently the stronger; it was not unnatural that he should feel to some extent compromised by what he had done. His duty was to report to the authorities; he did not do so. From that moment he seemed to become clay in your hands.

"Nothing but a kind Providence prevented his death and saved you from appearing before the bar of justice as a murderer to-night. You sought to take the life of the man you had made a criminal, and sought to send him to eternity without a word of warning.

"You are the last man in the world who should have made such an attack. I much regret to say that of all these facts there seems to be no extenuating circumstances."

His lordship then passed sentence of life imprisonment.

Malone didn't turn a hair while sentence was being passed. His lordship had kindly asked Mrs. Malone if she would care to retire while sentence was being pronounced. She said "No," she would stay. She knew he was not guilty, she said. She broke into tears when the sentence was pronounced.

Mr. Kelly asked about the plea for a reserved case.

"I have carefully looked into all the arguments and find I cannot entertain the proposition," said the chief justice.

The prisoner pulled his lawyer's coat and whispered something.

"I want to ask a favor of your lordship," said Mr. Kelly. "The prisoner would like to stay here for a few days to arrange his family affairs." Then Malone spoke up himself.

"I would like a week at least, my lord," said he. "I want to arrange for the care of my wife and children. It wasn't my wife's fault, my lord."

"I'm sure it wasn't," said his lordship. Even the chief justice had a tremor in his voice by this time, and there was scarcely a dry eye in the court-room.

The prisoner manifested considerable bitterness when the court had been adjourned.

"Why didn't he tell them to hang me?" he said to his wife and curious ones who crowded around the dock.

"Don't say that," said the unfortunate wife.

"I'll be in the insane asylum in a few weeks," said Malone, but when he was led out to his cell he spruced up and said good-bye to his acquaintances.

The entire last day of the proceedings was taken up with addresses of the lawyers and the judge, the defence offering no evidence. Mr. Kelly made an impassioned plea for the prisoner, but he was in a losing cause.

Huge Gas Well.

BALFOUR COLONIAL PLAN.

Must Suit Own Needs First, Then Show Fellowship.

London, Feb. 25.—In view of Balfour's evident adhesion to principles of tariff reform policy as enunciated by the tariff commission and his possible return to power at an early date, importance is attached to a statement a Hawick by Hewins, secretary of the tariff commission. He was asked how far the Ministry had justified the faith expressed by Laurier in the Canadian Commons Feb. 18, that in Government contracts the British Government would, whenever possible, favor British in preference to foreign countries.

Hewins added that tariff reform had two great principles in view, first to safeguard the self-governing powers of the different states of the British flag; the other, [illegible] that all the states of the Empire should minister to each other's development by closer reciprocal connections. One great advantage of the proposed system of imperial preference would be that it secured both these ends. Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa had shown the way in regard to the general principles which should actuate the United Kingdom in adopting the preferential scheme. The idea at the bottom of it was not haggling about details, certainly not fiscal subordination in any sense term, but that in the spirit of Imperial good-fellowship, to adopt Balfour's phrase, all states of Empire should, after arranging their own tariffs to suit their needs as individual states, each do the best they could to increase trade between these states and build up the Empire in which we had a common interest.

TWO ESCAPE FROM "PEN."

"Bill Miner's" Late Abode Yields Up Two More.

Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 25.—A daring and sensational escape was made from the penitentiary at New Westminster yesterday morning, the fugitives being a French-Canadian named Labourdette and a Britisher named Stanton, both serving terms for burglary.

The night guard made his usual round at 6 o'clock in the morning dropping the bars off the cells preparatory to letting the occupants out to work. Labourdette and Stanton had evidently tampered with the lock and when the guard's back was turned after the bar had been dropped all they had to do was to push the door open and sneak away.

Stanton had secured a pipe wrench, which he had used in effecting his getaway. Having left the cells, the pair climbed up the hot water pipes to a window and escaped.

This is the penitentiary from which Bill Miner and several others have gotten away. Within the past few months, too, three prisoners have committed suicide.

"I won't be vaccinated," said Mayor Couper, "and I'll knock down the doctor who attempts it."

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.—(Special.)—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market this morning the offerings were 400 cattle, 100 milch cows, 300 calves, 50 sheep and lambs and 500 hogs.

Altho this was the first day of the Lenten season and the weather very favorable for this period of the year, the gathering of buyers was fairly large, and, as they all seemed to want some beef, the demand was better than anticipated, and a fairly active trade was done. The supply of cattle was not excessive, and in consequence the undertone to the market good, and prices show no change as compared with those of Monday. In addition to the demand from butchers, there was some buying for export account, which tended to increase the activity in the trade, and at the close the market was well cleaned up of all the offerings. Choice steers sold at 5¾c to 6½c; good at 4½c to 5c; good cows at 4c to 5c; common at 3½c to 3¾c, and bulls at 2½c to 4½c per lb. The demand for milch cows was somewhat limited, and trade in this line was rather slow, but prices ruled steady, with sales at from $30 to $65 each, as to quality.

The market for sheep and lambs was quiet, on account of the continued small supplies coming forward, and prices remain very firm under a good demand. Sales of choice lots of lambs were made at 6¼c and 7c, and good at 5½c to 6¼c, while sheep sold at 3½c to 4½c per lb. An active trade was done in calves at prices ranging from 4c to 6c per lb., live weight. Supplies of hogs were fair, for which the demand was good and the undertone to the market was firm. Sales of selected lots were made at $7.50 per 160 lbs., weighed off cars.

Woman and Her Back.

In Henry Baerlein's novel "Yrivand" there is a discovery about the expression of the emotions which even Darwin forgot to record. It is to the effect that woman chiefly uses her back to convey her sentiments. And, indeed, any close observer of the human comedy can hardly fail to notice that does a woman wish to annihilate a rival and cast despair into the soul of a lover she simply turns an expressive back upon them. No tears, no wrath, no indignation, can vie with this maneuver, which has, too, the advantage of being noncommittal, for no one, in the current jargon, can "give herself away" with her back. The expression of the emotions by this part of the anatomy is dignified, if a trifle limited. When a woman cries she is too apt to make a deplorable grimace. Does she get angry, her face will assume an unbecoming red. Very few understand the use of the gesture of the hands and arms. That is why woman, with her primordial instinctive wisdom, uses her back, especially when it is beautiful, as one of the chief weapons in the eternally diverting war of the sexes.

MR. BUTLER'S POLICY AVERTS FLOODS

While Belleville, Port Hope, St. Thomas, and other towns and cities have been the victims of bad floods during the past couple of days Peterboro has escaped entirely. The Otonabee river is in normal condition just now in spite of the heavy rain fall and the melting snow. Credit for this state of affairs must be given to the policy of the reservation of the waters north adopted and applied by Mr. M. J. Butler, Deputy Minister of and by Mr. M. J. Butler, deputy minister of railways and canals. Under ordinary circumstances the water in the river would have risen to an alarming level.

THE PEOPLE ARE TO BLAME FOR COLDS

An Examiner reporter speaking to several local doctors in regard to colds and pneumonia was informed by one that they are due greatly to the sudden changes in temperature, that Canadians have experienced so frequently this winter.

Another doctor said:

"In nine cases out of ten, the affliction was due to the patient's own carelessness. A warm day comes along and they throw off their heavy clothes, regardless of the month or what risks they are subjecting themselves to, and inevitably sickness follows." People should remember that pneumonia is but a forerunner of the deadly white plague, and therefore exercise caution.

FRED SIMPSON'S GREAT PERFORMANCE

Here's to Fred Simpson. The fleet-footed redskin last night succeeded in breaking the Canadian, United States and world's indoor records for ten miles, and it looks as if he had placed himself in a position where the top-notchers in the long-distance game will be forced to give him a chance. The Peterboro people who have always had faith in Simpson during his career as an amateur, will learn with delight o his triumph last night in Toronto, and will look forward with confidence towards his meeting with the cracks. Simpson is a product of the Examiner road race, making his first appearance in the race of two years ago.

IS COUNCIL CENSURED?

The Chairman of Board of Health Wanted to Haul City Fathers Over Coals, But Resolution Was Made Light.

NO ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

The City Council narrowly escaped a severe censuring at the hands of the Board of Health this morning for what was called their neglect in not providing the city with an isolation hospital. During the discussion of the scarlet fever epidemic Dr. Young stated that the proper way to meet that disease was to provide an isolation hospital. Dr. Burnham considered that the Board should censure the city fathers for their neglect and delay in regard to this question, which they have been considering for the past five years. The Board had waited on them, had prepared plans but nothing had yet been done.

"I guess the plans were thrown into the waste paper basket" Dr. Burnham remarked.

Ex-Ald. Johnston described the isolation hospital in Belleville, saying that it was built near the General Hospital and under the same management. Here however, neither of the hospitals would undertake that duty thus making it expensive for the city.

"The Belleville council has some regard for the peoples health. The Board is certainly not to blame," Dr. Burnham continued. "We have no power to erect the building but the council has. Many complaints have been made that the Board has not done its duty in that respect, and I would like everyone to understand that the city is responsible for that".

A Resolution

The following resolution was then drafted by the secretary—

"That the attention of the city council be again called to the urgent necessity for an hospital in which contagious diseases may be treated and that the council be reminded that the Board has repeatedly called attention to this matter."

Mayor Rush would not second this motion, neither would Mr. Murty, but Dr. Young and ex-Ald. Johnston performed that duty, although the latter stated that he was on the council at the time it was considered the motion.

Dr. Burnham was satisfied with the mild tone of the resolution, but at first wanted it a censure as he considered the council should have solved this problem and be prepared for any epidemic.

TRAINED NURSE WAS ASSAULTED

Examiner Special.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Miss Grace Davis, aged twenty-three years, a trained nurse, was last night dragged into an alley and threatened with a revolver, but her cries brought rescuers. She told the police that her home was in Denver, and that her assailant, whom she met last summer at Belknap, Mont., induced her to come to Chicago. Here she discovered that he was a "white slaver," and some days ago she notified the police.

DODGING KISS SHE RAN UNDER AUTO

Examiner Special.

Camden, N. J., Feb. 24.—Rather than permit her fiance to kiss her in the presence of his guests, Miss Andre Meyerhoff ran out of the house yesterday pursued by him and a number of friends and was crushed beneath a trolley car. The girl is at the Homoeopathic Hospital and is not expected to live. The wedding, which was to have taken place last evening, is indefinitely postponed.

To celebrate the arrival of his bride, who reached Philadelphia on the steamship Merion on Monday, Carl Francis Roland gave a dinner for a number of his friends at his home, No. 1404 Haddon avenue. The feast was almost over, when Roland embraced his fiance and attempted to kiss her. She dashed from the room and failed to see the approaching car,

THE BOARD OF HEALTH DECIDES THAT BREAKING QUARANTINE IN CASES OF SCARLET FEVER MUST BE AT ONCE STOPPED

Meeting Held This Morning to Take Steps to Prevent Spreading of the Fever by Persons in Whose Homes Patients Are Quarantined ---Chief Roszel Wanted His Position Defined.

RESOLUTION WAS PASSED.

That it shall be a regulation of this local Board of Health, under Section 91 of the Public Health Act, that excepting the physician, or clergyman, no person affected with small pox, scarlet fever, diphtheria, or cholera, and no person having access to any person affected with any of said diseases, shall leave the house in which there is any of the said diseases, nor mingle with the public until the Medical Health Officer has prescribed such sanitary precautions as he deems advisable, nor until such precautions have been complied with, and it shall be the duty of the Medical Health Officer in each case of such disease, to prescribe such precautions as he deems necessary for the protection of the public.

Shall inmates of a house which is placarded be permitted to enter and leave at will, mingling with the rest of the public in spite of the fact that a person affected with a contagious disease is living in that house?

This is a question which has been causing considerable trouble during the past two weeks, and owing to the prevailing opinion that the epidemic of scarlet fever now raging is a light one, there has been a certain amount of laxity or carelessness on the part of inmates of such quarantined houses. The matter reached a crisis yesterday, when Chief Roszel was asked by the Medical Health Officer to prosecute a man of little means living in the south end of the city for going in and out of his residence, which has been placarded with a scarlet fever card.

The chief, however, refused and at the meeting of the Board of Health this morning he gave his reasons for so doing. A family in the centre of the city are deliberately going in and out of their home, in which their child has been kept during an attack of scarlet fever. Not only is it a flagrant breach of the regulations written on every card, but the parents state that there is no law which can compel them to remain indoors. Chief Roszel decided that he would not make any distinction as to persons, and if there was anyone to be made an example of it would be the first offender who openly defied the authorities. He would not prosecute the poor man and leave the other go.

The Board Meets.

For the above reasons, also because of the laxity of the quarantining and because many children were crying out that severe regulations and restrictions be formed and carried out the Board of Health was called together this morning. Dr. Burnham was in the chair and Dr. Young, Mr. W. J. Johnston, Chief Roszel and Mr. Jas. Murty were present. The meeting opened with references to particular cases. Chief Roszel stated he knew of a case where the scarlet fever patient had been isolated in the garret of the house, and the rest of the family remained down stairs. A case of a few days ago was also mentioned. The house was placarded, the child isolated in part of the house and the next day the other children were sent to school with certificate signed by the attending physician. Inspector Mowat, however, would not allow them to remain, and they had to return home again.

"That kind of thing should not be allowed," ex-Alderman Johnston remarked. "That is what is helping the disease to spread."

Chief Roszel explained that a technicality in section 91 of the Health Act left a way of escape for those who break that law. It said that the persons should not leave the home until the regulations of the local Board of Health had been fulfilled. The fault has been that the Board in this city have not prescribed regulations.

The Chief's Position

Chief Roszel wanted to know exactly what the Board wished him to do. To cover the ten miles exactly Simpson ran 117 laps and 324 feet. The time by miles was as follows—

1	5.09 1-2
2	10.31
3	15.30
4	21.00
5	25.35
6	30.42
7	36.19
8	41.07 1-2
9	46.47
10	52.30

FRED SIMPSON BREAKS ALL THE RECORDS FOR TEN MILES INDOORS

As Well as Beating the Canadian Outdoor Record---A Wonderful Performance by the Peterborough Indian Last Night.

AND IT LOOKED AS IF HE COULD HAVE DONE BETTER STILL

Toronto, Feb. 25th.— At the Riverdale Rink last night Fred Simpson, the Indian runner from Hiawatha, Ont., succeeded in breaking the ten mile indoor record. Simpson ran ten miles in 52 minutes and 30 seconds. Dorando's time of 56 minutes 31 1-5 seconds, made at Buffalo, is said to be the best previous indoor record.

The track is supposed to be one-twelfth of a mile, but was measured last night and found to be a trifle long-

YOUNG WOMAN CHASED TO THRESHOLD OF HER HOME RETURNING FROM SOCIAL

Was Unable to Relate Her Experience, Being Exhausted and Nearly in Hysterics—Ran Four Blocks, Falling Several Times on Slippery Road.

HOUR WAS AFTER ELEVEN

One can hardly imagine how any man could chase a girl for nearly four blocks to the corner of her home when, by home, she was in a state about [illegible] hysteria [illegible] by no means in normal [illegible] this case in question should [illegible] young women not to [illegible] have occasion to be out of doors after dark unaccompanied [illegible] woman had been attacked a second

HOW JUPITER PLUVIUS MAINTAINS THE OTONABEE

The rainfall on Tuesday evening was 1.33 inches. There was at the time about 10 in. of snow on the ground, which, during the next day, had been melted by the action of the rain and wind. Ten inches of snow, when melted, is equivalent to one inch of rain. Thus [illegible] of rain fell on Tuesday. Now the inch of rain means to raise the river, therefore on Tuesday there were 233 tons fell on every acre throughout this district.

The average fall was more than one-fifth of the average flow of the Otonabee past a given point in one minute. It is then a matter of wonder that the vast amount of water which is drained from the thousands of acres of our county watershed should not choke the river or cause it to overflow its banks.

TWO SUFFRAGETTES WERE SENT THROUGH THE MAIL

London, Feb. 24.—Two "human letters" were despatched to Premier Asquith yesterday afternoon by the inventive militant suffragettes. Mrs. Drummond and Miss Christabel Pankhurst were the senders of this novel mail. Entering the Strand post-office the two women inquired if it were a possible thing to send two "human letters" by express. On being answered in the affirmative, they brought in two of their colleagues, Mrs. McLellan and Miss Solomon, and addressed them to the premier's residence, in the care of a telegraph messenger. The servants at the premier's residence, however, refused to accept delivery of this suffragette mail, and the police appeared and quickly cleared the women out of Downing street.

ICE JAM IN CREEK RESULTS IN HOUSES BEING FLOODED

Big Pile Up at Bethune Street Which Threatened the Existence of the G. T. R. Bridge---Sectionmen Were Kept Busy for a While.

THE WATER SPREAD OVER MURRAY STREET YESTERDAY.

The rain on Tuesday and yesterday morning proved too much for the creek running through the city and the water rose rapidly with the result that the ice was broken and the annual spring freshet was at hand. Residents in the neighbourhood of Murray street between Bethune and Stewart streets had their annual trouble with the rising water. There was a big ice jam at the bridge on Bethune street, the ice piling up against the supports in large pieces which became tightly wedged together as more ice was swept along by the current. So fast was the jam built it was feared that the bridge might be carried away and the G.T.R. section men in the neighbourhood were hurriedly sent for to avert the trouble.

As a result of the jam the water flowed over Murray street below Seward and flooded the cellars and back yards in the neighbourhood. Mrs. Sullivan's house which is just across the road from the creek, had to bear the brunt of the attack and the water invaded the kitchen as well as the cellar. Other cellars near at hand were flooded and there will be some damage done to the contents.

The conditions are much better today. Dynamite was made use of yesterday afternoon and the jam at the bridge was broken which immediately relieved the situation. This morning although the water was far above its normal level and was rushing along madly it had dropped many feet from yesterday's mark.

MANY BELLEVILLE PEOPLE HAD TO BE RESCUED FROM THEIR HOMES

City Flooded by the Biggest Rain Storm in Years—River Overflowed and Hundreds of Cellars Were Filled.

ICE LOOKS DANGEROUS

Belleville, Feb. 24.—This city was visited by one of the biggest rainstorms experienced for years during the winter period. It began to rain yesterday afternoon and continued incessantly till ten o'clock to-day, coming down in torrents during the night. As a result much inconvenience has been caused. The rolling mills plant had to close down owing to the premises being flooded, while many furnaces were put out of business by the high water.

Hundreds of cellars are flooded, involving much loss.

Several streets are impassable, and in very many cases householders have had to be assisted from their homes.

Business is practically at a standstill, as it is difficult to get about. Sleighing has gone.

The oldest residents say they cannot remember such remarkable weather as that experienced this winter. The water is several inches above the floors in a lot of residences, causing the occupants to move upstairs.

It is thought the rain will break up the ice in the Moira River, an event generally occurring in April.

Watching the River

The flood at two o'clock this afternoon was still unabated. Water was running a foot deep over Coleman street, and employees in the factories have to be driven to and from work. The water is two feet deep in the Deseron shirt factory. Many persons have not been able to leave their homes all day.

The ice in the river looks dangerous, and is expected to break up any minute. All along the river huge streams of water are flowing, and the sight is being witnessed by large crowds.

FIVES PEOPLE WERE MAROONED BY FLOOD

Examiner Special.

St. Thomas, Feb. 25.—Two men and three women marooned in a buggy by flood were rescued by the crew of a M. C. R. train and passengers at Munro Station, who built a raft and took them off, leaving them to recover the [illegible]. The water was four feet deep around them and ten feet in the ditch.

Wm. Scriber, Wesley Douglas, Andrew Douglas, and Alexander Douglas were arrested today by High County Constable Cochrane today, near Westwood, charged with stealing a number of mink traps from Frank Beaver, an Indian, on Sunday, February 21st. Mr. Cochrane sent a message this afternoon to Magistrate Edmison that he had secured them and would arrive on the nine o'clock train to-night.

A CHIMNEY FIRE CAUSED TROUBLE

A chimney fire at the residence of Mr. McCarthy, 39 Jackson Ave., was the means of calling the fire brigade out shortly before ten o'clock last night. The high wind blowing was responsible for the the blaze, which might have resulted seriously had it not been noticed in time. The brigade succeeded in extinguishing the incipient conflagration with the aid of a small quantity of chemicals.

BILLY FERNER GETS IN TO TROUBLE

Examiner Special.

North Bay, Ont., Feb. 25.—Billy Ferner, known in every lumber camp in Northern Ontario as "Billy the Blacksmith," with a fondness for convivial company which has landed him in North Bay Police Court at least once a week for several months, and who has been sent out of town recently to take positions at his trade, overtaxed the patience of Magistrate Weegar at last, and was given three months in jail on Monday morning, with hard labour. Billy's latest escapade was parading the streets in feminine garments and a large sized jag, said antics landing him behind the bars. Billy Ferner, now a man of 45, with a family somewhere, was brought up in Toronto and studied for the ministry, getting as far as the probationary stage and preaching one circuit work. His acquirement of an appetite for liquor closed the clerical door for him, and he learned the trade of machinist, drifting from that to blacksmith work. When in his cups Billy has often been seen in hotels and bar rooms, preaching sermons and singing hymns from a large hymn book which he always carries, and reading Scripture for the edification of bystanders and the securing of free drinks. Billy will be deprived of his booze until the gentle breezes of May stir the branches.

JAPANESE SPIES IN AUSTRALIA

New York, Feb. 24.—A cable despatch to the Herald from Sydney, N. S. W., says Australian mistrust of the Japanese will not be lessened by the disclosure that members of a prominent Japanese commercial firm here have been acting as spies on behalf of the Japanese government.

Mr. Jaffey, an Australian commercial agent, has just arrived from Japan, where at the request of the Federal Department of External Affairs, he made confidential enquiries. These are said to show that the two principals of the firm, young, shrewd and exempted from military service and speaking fluent English, obtained admission into the Commonwealth last year as seekers of political economy as a blind to shield their secret service work.

They started as business importers, but it is said the Japanese Government is supplying them with funds and paying them a subsidy.

Mr. Jaffey's report has been forwarded to the Minister of External Affairs.

BELLEVILLE ARMOURIES.

The reproach is sometimes made that the Liberal Government of the Dominion punishes constituencies which return Opposition representatives, witholding necessary public works. This, like general statements of this class, is largely assumed, but Belleville is an exception. On Wednesda the fine new Armouries were opened in that city in due form—a building pronounced "one of the finest in Ontario." The 15th Regiment, Argyle Light Infantry, though it was in active existence during eighteen years of Conservative rule, never had a real home till a Liberal Government supplied it. From time immemorial Belleville has been politically hostile to Liberalism, and if there ever were admissable grounds for punishing partizan contumacy they existed in the case of Belleville. But the Liberal Government has showed such a real, practical and effective interest in our militia that insympathy with this policy Belleville has got its armouries independently of any other consideration than regard for militia requirements and the advantage of the service.

Be thou as chaste as ice, as pure as snow, thou shalt not escape calumny.—Hamlet.

FLOGGING.

There is a great deal of discussion in newspapers and in other quarters, over the revival of the lash as a form of legal punishment for certain classes of crime, such as wife beating, indecent assault, etc. It is claimed that it is brutalizing. It is claimed is. But can it brutalize what is already degraded to the level of the brute. It is only brutes in human form that will be guilty of such offences as those mentioned, in which by the way, cruelty to animals might very properly be included. To offenders in these classes ordinary forms of punishment are practically no punishment. The only thing that will appeal to a brute, either human or otherwise is the argumentem and corporem. In cases like those in question the only punishment feared is the lash, and therefore the only punishment likely to operate as a deterrent. Whipping may be degrading to a normal man but a human being debased enough to commit the crimes referred to cannot be additionally degraded by the lash. He cannot be made to suffer in his moral feelings. His skin is the only thing that can be punished. The present British law permits of flogging for certain forms of crime and the same law obtains in Canada in the matter of crimes involving peculiar cruelty and brutality. No one will advocate resort to the lash as a general form of punishment, but it seems the only mode that will reach the quick in respect of certain crimes and criminals, upon whom ordinary forms of punishment such as imprisonment, exercise and can, in the nature of things, exercise, no deterrent effect. After all this is the true end of law enforcement; not to punish but to prevent crime.

Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn; and man's inhumanity to woman merits the lash.

THE FORGED TELEGRAM INCIDENT.

The forged telegram incident in the general election in British Columbia is, as the cub reporter would say, still "shrouded in mystery." Mr. R. L. Borden sent a telegram to the Colonist, Victoria, B. C., a Conservative journal, on Oct. 24th two days before the polling. The telegram set forth the policy of the Conservative party on the question of Oriental immigration. The genuine despatch concluded with declaring for "absolute protection to white labour." In transit from the Colonist office to the last Conservative rally of the campaign, to be used on the platform, this telegram was rewritten and the phrase "absolute exclusion of Asiatics" substituted for the last sentence in the original and genuine despatch, and Mr. Borden's name affixed to the other forgery. In the then state of popular feeling in British Columbia, this forged despatch had a decisive influence and assured the election of the Conservative—Mr. Borden's—candidate in Victoria. Now a very "fishy" explanation is rushed. Some unknown person has "confessed" to the Bishop of British Columbia, that he received the despatch from the telegraph editor of the Colonist to be taken to the public meeting, and that he rewrote it on the way and perpetrated the double forgery. Not only does this explanation need explaining but the relation of Mr. Borden to the incident and the results to which it gave rise would improve by a little satisfactory elucidation. He concealed the knowledge of the forgery by which he profited till it was dragged out of him in Parliament, and he still accepts the support of a follower, elected, in what it is not felt uncharitable to regard, false pretences. The Globe, in dealing with this feature says:

Surely Mr. Borden must see that his whole course in the matter of this forged telegram is unworthy of himself and of his position as leader of his party. He sent a telegram to British Columbia for the purpose of influencing public opinion in that Province on the very eve of the federal elections. His telegram was deliberately and radically changed so as to commit him and the Conservative party to the policy of total exclusion of Asiatics. His name was forged to that forged change. That forged telegram, signed with his forged name, secured, beyond all question, the election of one Conservative candidate, perhaps of several, who without its forged help would have been defeated. Months passed by, Parliament opened, Mr. Borden welcomed the support gained for him by forgery. Not until he was challenged on the floor of the House did he disclose the fact of the forgery. And not even then or since did he show any zeal, not even "misguided political zeal," in bringing to justice the man who committed the forgery. Instead, he reads to the House, without comment, a statement "To whom it may concern: * * * (Signed) W. W. Columbia." But that statement about "a confession" does not concern either Parliament or the people of Canada. They are concerned to know who was the forger, what Mr. Borden is doing as to the forgery, and how long he will continue to accept as honest the support for him gained by a false announcement to which his name was forged. The Bishop of Columbia and his "confessions" have neither part nor lot in this matter. It is a question of Mr. Borden's honour as a public man and a political leader. Does he, as the accepted and recognized leader of the Conservative party, propose to hold for himself and his party a seat in the Parliament of Canada secured by a forged telegram and the forgery of his name? That is the question.

The Toronto News and other Conservative journals, make a great show of righteous indignation over a certain $35,000, involved in the Mayes-McAvity dredging contract, and insistently and persistently demand restitution. There is not any certainty that there is any legitimate ground for demanding restitution. But the Victoria, B.C., forged telegram elected a member to support Mr. Borden, and Mr. Borden accepts the "stolen goods." Why does not the News and its unco guid contributors demand restitution in this case. They owe it to the cause of political righteousness, they owe it to the integrity of the apotheosis of Mr. Borden as the tutelary deity of political purity. But they wont pay.

Few persons have courage enough to be as good as they seek to appear.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mankind seems to be opposed to woman suffrage. Even His Majesty's mail fails to help the cause of the suffragettes. Two enterprising petticoated vote-seekers unable to gain access, for an interview, to Rt. Hon. Herbert Asquith, had themselves despatched by mail prepaid, but the obdurate Chief Minister refused to accept delivery of the "goods."

Montreal magistrates did well to fine thirty-one Montreal vendors of chocolates loaded with brandy, $50 each. No more insidious and certain way could be devised of developing a fondness for alcoholic stimulents, than brandy in the form of a tipple so tempting to the young. Prohibitory measures directed against the drink habit would have a better chance of success if the ranks of the confirmed drunkards were not recruited from the young.

BOARD OF HEALTH DECIDES AGAINST BREAKING QUARANTINE

ly what was his position in order that he would know what course to pursue if cases similar to those already mentioned should be brought to his attention.

Dr. Young stated that in spite of the greatest care there was a danger in isolating a patient in a house. He thought that the Chief should find out from the attending physician what precautions had been taken and if the family had not followed them out then he could act. Reference was made to Rev. Canon Davidson's action. His home had been placarded and immediately he took up residance in another house although he was exempted by the particular clause of the Health Act.

Isolation Hospital

"The only solution is an isolation hospital," Dr. Young remarked, thereby arousing the ire of some of the members of the Council regarding what they called the extreme tardiness of the city fathers. Chief Roszel had a little to say in reference to the wide difference in doctors' opinion. Some permitted apparent laxity, others were strict in dealing with the family which had been visited by fever. In some cases all precaution had been taken, in others no regard was shown for the public health, persons selfishly entering and leaving the house as if the only complaint was an ear ache. "We meant to compel these people to submit to reasonable measures" Mr. Johnston remarked.

Mild Cases Dangerous

"Everybody knows what a placard means," Dr. Young said, "but the idea has got out that the present epidemic is in the form of a very light type." Both doctors explained how a person with a light form of scarlet fever could transmit it to another in whom it would rage in a most malignant type; there was no fixed rule in this regard.

The above resolution was then drawn up and was unanimously carried.

YOUNG WOMAN WAS CHASED TO HER HOME

held in the Sunday Schol room of an uptown church on Tuesday evening. She was with a girl friend part of the way home and had to make the rest of the journey alone. The hour was shortly after eleven and very few persons were met in her section of the city at that time. When about four blocks from home she suddenly heard footsteps behind her walking rather quickly. As they continued in that manner she gradually became alarmed. He commenced making a strange noise as he approached and the girl thoroughly frightened began to run. Her presence of mind had apparently fled and she only thought of reaching home. The man quickened his pace breaking into a run and using insulting language. The sidewalk was wet and slippery, and the girl ran out into the road. Three or four times she fell in her anxiety to reach home. It never occurred to her to call for help or to run into one of the neighbours' houses. Finally she reached home with the man only about thirty feet behind her. How she got in the house she can scarcely remember and it was some time before she was able to related what had happened. The young woman only glanced at the man and could not give any description of his appearance. This is an actual occurrence, other details being withheld for personal reasons.

The funeral of the late Donald Stewart Laing, second youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Laing, took place this morning from the C. P. R. station on the arrival of the early morning train from the east. His death occurred at Lachine on Tuesday, at the age of 3 years, 16 days. The parents of the deceased are both well known in Peterborough and their friends will grieve to learn of their bereavement.

SHOULD HEAR THE TORONTO SYMPHONY

Mr. John Crane Bespeaks a Large Audience for the Great Orchestra

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Without asking you, or desiring myself, to enter free advertising I feel it a matter of good importance from a musical point of view, that our lovers of music should support the visit of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra on Friday night in the opera house.

The distinction enjoyed by the City of Toronto as a musical city has been largely brought about by the enterprise manifested in making a visit of the large American orchestras an annual feature. This season the New York Symphony have given two concerts, the Chicago Symphony four concerts, and the Pittsburgh Symphony two concerts. These visits have made possible the formation in Toronto of several excellent choral societies, one at least of which has a continental reputation. This has all been accomplished in the past ten years and has done much to bring Toronto into prominence.

It is often stated that our good city is wanting in musical culture and musical intelligence. It is true that, outside of our church choirs nothing is being done to instruct and elevate the musical desire. I am of the opinion that a taste or two of the good things is needed to create a thirst for the best obtainable. Why should it not be possible for Peterboro to have a well-trained chorus that could be used in conjunction with at least one of the great Symphony organizations every winter? It is true, as I have said, that Toronto leads in this line, but why should we not come to love the art that we may help to produce good results right her in Peterborough.

Our fathers, who read "Festus," found there the statement that "music tells no truths." It does better. It liberates the emotions; it enlarges the imagination; it puts colour into feeling; it gives wings to daily life. A grand Symphony calls for the richest response human nature knows. Not without reason was it called the "Angel's" speech.

The Toronto Symphony Orchestra played with the Sheffield choir during their recent visit to Toronto, and were highly complimented by Dr. Coward on their efficiency. I have heard them several times and have to say that Mr. Welsman has a fine band and the programme offered will be a delght.

If we are to have a visit from such an organization occasionally, and not be sidetracked by that which goes to make for our musical betterment we must endeavour to at least make it a paying venture. To bring an orchestra of 60 pieces to Peterborough is no small undertaking and I sincerely hope they may be met with such a reception as will show beyond doubt that Peterborough desires to learn and grow in the cultivation of the art.

Yours truly
JOHN CRANE.

HORSE AND BUGGY GO THROUGH ICE

Experience Encountered To-day by Local Men

This morning while Mr. Norman Andrews, who is an employee of Drummond and Duffus, Massy-Harris agents, Peterborough, was driving a traveller up the back line between the 2nd and 4th Concession, he had an experience which he will likely remember for a while. There is a swamp about 165 yards long, which was covered with ice, and Mr. Andrews, thinking there was only about three or four inches of water under the ice, faced his horse for the opposite side. He had only got a few feet out on the ice when it began to break, and the horse to make matters worse started to jump around, which was anything but pleasant to the occupants of the rig. The front wheels struck against strong ice and stuck but the horse left the rig and truck for more comfortable surroundings, which happened to be a bridge close at hand. Farmers living close to the scene came to the rescue with ropes, and after much hard labour the rig was put on the road again.

The only damage done was to have the whiffletree broken, and they landed home, the buggy looking like a block of ice and the horse coated with the same material.

Mason & Risch Piano

Will be used at the Toronto Symphony Club's Recital next Friday evening.

Mr. Frank S. Welsman

Musical Composer and leader of the Toronto Symphony Club writes of the Mason & Risch Piano as follows:

THE MASON & RISCH PIANO CO.

Gentlemen: Allow me to thank you for the Grand Pianos you have supplied for my recitals during the past season. The instruments have very materially assisted me in interpreting to my own satisfaction the compositions my programmes have called for. Not only have your instruments a large volume of tone, but have what I might call a pervading quality, which I have found in no other piano.

The lightness and perfect repetition of the Action permits one to bring out the tonal qualities referred to above with such ease that it is with the greatest of pleasure I have used the Mason & Risch Pianos.

It is gratifying to find that it is not necessary to go outside our own country to secure an instrument of the highest excellence.

Yours sincerely,
FRANK S. WELSMAN

Mr. Welsman is the young musician who has made such a sensation in Toronto for some seasons past with his Symphony Orchestra.

A DARING BUCCANEER

Edward Thatch, Who Was Known as the Blackbeard Pirate.

HIS BATTLE WITH MAYNARD.

After the Hand to Hand Conflict the Desperado's Head Hung at the Bowsprit End of the Lieutenant's Sloop and She Sailed Back to Virginia.

It is almost 200 years since Edward Thatch, better known as the pirate Blackbeard, was a name with which to terrorize the Atlantic coast of the then new country of America. As a buccaneer whose deeds of desperate daring made him feared wherever his name was known he stands a close rival of the famous Captain Kidd, if indeed in some respects he did not surpass that notorious freebooter.

The date of Thatch's birth is lost in history, and his native place is variously given as Bristol and Jamaica. He first appears as a foremast hand to Major Stede Bonnet, a gentleman of Barbados, who, although a man of property and having small knowledge of the sea, thought proper to fit out a sloop and take to a life of piracy, the explanation of his being "a little distracted" being charitably given by one biographer. However that may be, his crew missed in the major the qualities of a successful commander. They deposed him and elected Thatch in his place. Bonnet was tried and executed in 1711.

Thatch's first independent exploit of which we have a detailed account took place in June, 1718, when he captured two French ships near the Bermudas, one laden with sugar, the other empty. Transferring to the latter the crew of the laden vessel and letting them go their way, he sailed with his prize of vessel and sugar for Bathtown, N. C., with the governor of which place, Charles Eden, he had previously arrived at a pleasant understanding.

Thatch gave out that he had found the French ship deserted. Governor Eden received sixty hogsheads of sugar as his share. Tobias Knight, his secretary, took twenty, and the remainder fell to Thatch and his crew. Thatch lingered there for some months, plundering and insulting the merchants of the place. These, understanding at length the futility of expecting redress from Eden, applied to the governor of Virginia to rid them of the pest.

The governor, after consultation with the captains of the Pearl and Lime, then lying in the James river, agreed to provide two sloops, the warships to furnish a complement of men. Lieutenant Maynard of the Pearl was placed in command, and the punitive expedition sailed on Nov. 17, 1718. On the 21st the pirates were sighted in an inlet about sixty miles from Bathtown, and Maynard anchored for the night.

On the following morning Thatch, maneuvering to elude attack, ran his vessel aground, but Maynard's sloop, drawing more water, though she had no guns on board, failed to get to close quarters. The lieutenant, however, threw out his ballast and in answer to a truculent defiance from Thatch promised to be "soon aboard him with his sloop." Coming at last within close range, a broadside from the pirate killed or wounded twenty of Maynard's crew and nine on board his consort.

Maynard now ran alongside the pirate, when, under cover of a discharge of grenades, Thatch and fourteen followers boarded the king's ship. Maynard and Thatch, pistol and sword in hand, engaged in a desperate personal encounter. The lieutenant's sword broke, and more than once he narrowly escaped a fatal injury. But at last Thatch, having received sixteen wounds, fell dead in the act of cocking a pistol. His followers jumped overboard and cried for quarter. Maynard hung Thatch's head at the bowsprit end, sailed for Bathtown, where he seized the governor's storehouse, and then, still with his grisly sign of triumph swinging in the wind, rejoined his ship in Virginia, where thirteen of the captured pirates were hanged.

One of the Blackbeard's crew who obtained pardon was Israel Hands, who makes his appearance in "Treasure Island." Shortly before Thatch met his death Hands had been lamed for life by a pistol shot in the knee fired by Thatch from under the cabin table, at which he, with Hands and others, was carousing, just to remind his crew in general "who he was." Such an act was only one of the many eccentric brutalities of Thatch's career.

When he felt himself in the vein or was going into action his appearance was somewhat startling—his bushy black beard tied up with ribbons, the ends of which were thrown over his ears; a fur cap on his head, with a lighted match on either side, and three brace of pistols slung across his shoulder. Of the usual condition of himself and his crew much may be gathered from the fact that "our company somewhat sober" was a circumstance deemed worthy of note in the diary found after his death.—London Globe.

Not Yet.

"Do you desire a room with a bath?" asked the affable clerk.

"Gee whiz, no!" replied the gentleman with the canvas telescope. "This is only Tuesday, ain't it?"

BOOKS DANGEROUS THINGS.

English Writer Defends Naturalness in Education.

At a recent luncheon Harold E. Gorst, an English writer on political affairs, gave out some unusual ideas about the fundamentals of education. He is in this country for a year to study our educational systems.

Mr. Gorst's address was a comforting instance of naturalness in education. "Ignorance," said he, "is a stimulus to the imagination, while cramming the mind with theoretical or book knowledge destroys its normal functions of observation, reflection and of giving out in an original form a creation of its own.

"Books are therefore dangerous things unless handled with discrimination. The aim of the majority of schools and colleges seems to be to cram the mind with knowledge beyond its normal capacity and without paying the least regard to individual powers of mental digestion.

"If I were asked to advise young people I would recommend them never to set before themselves as an ideal of culture the widest possible range of reading. You cannot expect in a single lifetime to read one-tenth part of the books that you will constantly hear referred to as indispensable to a cultured mind. And if you did you would become that terrible thing, a well read person. Your mind would no longer be yours. It would only be a pale and cosmopolitan reflection of a conglomeration of standard authors."

AUSTIN ON WOMEN.

Poet Laureate Says They Are Not Fitted For Great Affairs.

"Of all national and imperial issues that can arise that of peace or war is the most important," says Alfred Austin, in a recent article, "and the preservation of peace, the most precious of all things, consistently with honor and self protection, is much more likely to be imperiled by indulgence in sentiment than by any other cause.

"Calm, deliberate judgment, free from all untimely or too generous emotion, is its best protection. Will anyone deny that in great emergencies men are, as a rule and collectively, calmer and more submissive to sound judgment than women, whose virtues reside father in another direction?

"Give emotionally combative women the franchise and it is conceivable that war might be brought about by women, against the effort of men to avert it, and in that event it would be men, and men alone, who would have to fight and, if need were, to die, while the very utmost women could do would be to act, as one is pleased to remember a poet has called them, as ministering angels.

"I own I share the terse conclusion of a French wit: 'One politician the more, one mother the less—behold the practical outcome of female franchise!'"

A Famous Sportswoman.

Few women have had a more interesting and adventurous career than Mrs. Alec Tweedie, the English woman who has been working so hard to aid the victims of the Messina earthquake. She has traveled through most of the countries of the world, not by rail, but astride a horse; has climbed Alpine peaks on snow-shoes, thinks there is nothing so delightful as ice-boat sailing, shoots and drives with the best—in a word, is a splendid type of the strenuous sportswoman of to-day. Her most exciting adventure occurred during her trip through Mexico some years ago, when she was the guest of President Diaz. She was careering down one of the biggest mountain passes in the world on a trolley car, an engineer on either side of her and Mexican Indians behind working the hand-brakes. Suddenly she was seized by the neck and hauled off the car. As she tumbled a dejected mass on the side of the road, she perceived a huge engine drawing a goods train coming thundering along round a turn of the pass. Crash it went into the trolley-car, not a scrap of which was left. Yet no one was hurt, and Mrs. Tweedie arose with a smile on her face.

Hanged For Loafing.

Old-time Englishmen hated idleness. An act passed in 1531 decreed that any person "being whole and mighty in body and able to labor" found begging might be arrested, and if unable to give a satisfactory account of himself he was brought to the nearest market town, tied to the end of a cart, stripped of his clothes and beaten with whips through the town, bleeding and ashamed, after which degradation he was sent to his native place, on his oath to "put himself to labor like a true man ought to do." If the sturdy vagabond were caught a third time in idleness he was to suffer death "as an enemy to the commonwealth."

Washerwomen Feasted.

A curious feast takes place every year in the Pendleton Town Hall, England, which had its origin in the generosity of the late Mr. Thomas Costley, member of the board of guardians. He used to entertain every year a party of Pendleton washerwomen, and when he died his family kept up, and still keep, the custom. This year's party consisted of 300 women, all of whom had qualified for the treat by earning some part of their livelihood over the tub.

Izaak Walton's Will Sold.

A collector bought the official copy of Izaak Walton's will at Hodgson's Rooms in Chancery lane, London, recently for $180. It is engrossed in a law hand of the period on a sheet of parchment, twenty-nine by twenty inches, has attached the probate dated Feb. 4, 1683, signed by Thomas Welham, registrar, and bears the seal of the Court of Canterbury.

Pawnshop In Magistrate's Office.

A novelty in pawnshops is to be found in Ichang, China. The town contains a small pawnshop in the magistrate's office, run by the prisoners. The rate of interest is about 3-4d. per 1s 6d. per month, except during the last three months of the year, when it is reduced to about 1-2d.

SOME PENSION DRAMAS

COMEDIES AND TRAGEDIES UNDER NEW BRITISH LAW.

Old Woman Aged 104 Announced That She Would Spend Her Money on Boats—Another Expected Arrears—Irishwoman Were Afraid It Meant Military Service For Their Sons—Wealthy Pensioners.

Tragedy, pathos, and humor are strangely intermingled in the incidents connected with the payments of the half-million old-age pensions at postoffices all over the British Isles. Much of the humor was provided by the old dames, many of whom could scarcely be persuaded that the pension scheme was not a myth until the five shillings were clinked in their hands.

And then their delight led them to do some funny things. At Tobermory, for instance, one old lady, disappointed at the somewhat curt thanks of the pensioners who had preceded her, made her farewell by declaring: "Thanks be to the Lord in the firmament; thanks and glory to the gentleman who proposed to give us this; and thanks to the man through whose hands the money came."

"What will you do with the money?" Mrs. Rebecca Clarke, London's oldest pensioner, who is 104 years old, was asked.

"Buy boots," said the old lady, promptly. "I'm a plaguy one for kicking out boots."

The Birmingham old lady of 87, who was annoyed because she thought she was going to receive—as she expressed it—"back money" in respect of the number of years she had exceeded the regulation three score and ten, had a counter-part in an old man at Sheffield, who wanted his pension for a quarter in advance in order to start a business.

And then there were the two old women of Walworth who considerably embarrassed the postmaster by presenting him with two rashers of bacon and the wing of a goose as a thank-offering for the pension; while yet another grateful old dame insisted on giving the postmistress an orange in gratitude for the money. It was a genuine peel of joy.

Glasgow pensioners preferred to go to the General Postoffice for their pensions, although many of them had to walk considerable distances. Various reasons were given for this preference for the central office, but probably one of the most quaint was that of an elderly woman who, in fine Scots Doric, said she went to the "General" because she "couldna trust the district officers."

Others were desirous of keeping the fact that they were pensioners to themselves, and avoiding the idle curiosity of neighbors.

Referring to the doubt in the minds of some of the pensioners as to the reality of the scheme, it might be mentioned that the worthy people of Dunmow, the little Essex town from where the primest of prime flitches of bacon used to come, were very sceptical about getting the 5s., and even now they are wondering how long the pension will last.

They remind one of the old women from the Chaddagh Settlement, in the city of Galway, who got the idea into their heads that, in return for the pension, the Government claimed the right of enforcing military service from their sons. For this reason some of them refused to accept the 5s. until they received the explicit assurance that their "bhoys" would not have to go "to fight the blacks."

At Kingstown, near Dublin, one old lady created a scene by demanding to be paid at a special counter, as she could not mix with the class of people who were besieging the pay counter. The official regulations, however, were inexorable, and the lady was obliged to conform.

Yet another old person in Dublin refused a pension, as she believed it came from the Salvation Army, and, as such, was likely to be prejudicial to her religious faith.

Talking of Ireland, it might be mentioned that the figures for the County of Fermanagh are remarkable. Out of the total population of 63,000 there are 3,600 pensioners, so that, roughly, one person in every fifteen in the county is an old-age pensioner.

The suggestion that a man or woman may be foolish enough to keep a large sum on deposit at 1 per cent. in a bank, or invest several thousand pounds in building sites, yielding no immediate revenue, and ripening for the benefit of heirs, in order to claim a pension, is not quite so absurd as at first appears.

A man who received an old-age pension at Great Bentley, Essex, for instance, has $1,400 invested, owns a house worth $1,500, and is in receipt of $1 a week sick pay from a benefit society. His wife has $2,500 invested at a low rate of interest.

Another example of a wealthy pensioner is provided by a woman at Wood Green, who has $4,500 invested at small interest, and who is said to have $1,000 in the bank and some small house property.

In a third case, an applicant who received his full pension admitted possession of three cows, several pigs, and a market garden.

Pathetic in the extreme were some of the incidents connected with old-age pension day.

A particularly hard case is that of a Portsmouth man of seventy-five, who, after having his claim allowed and getting his papers signed, was taken seriously ill. The town hospital was so full that he had to be accommodated in the workhouse infirmary. This was equivalent to parish relief and meant his disqualification for the pension which was within his grasp.

Into an East-end office came a little boy with a pension-book carefully wrapped up in a piece of newspaper. "If you please, miss," he said, without any preamble, "here is grandfather's book; he won't want it, because he died this morning."

Biggs—I'm afraid I am working too hard.

Diggs—Whom are you working?

New Box Trick.

The audience at St. George's Hall, London, is being mystified by a new box trick, in which a girl suddenly appears in a box which has been lined with plate-glass.

LORD DUDLEY BOYCOTTED.

Australia's Governor-General Has Fallen Foul of the Consuls.

Lord Dudley, the new Governor-General of Australia, is at loggerheads with the foreign consuls-general in that great dependency. In fact, the foreign officials have established a social boycott of the earl, which is likely to injure no one but themselves. For inasmuch as Lord and Lady Dudley are by virtue of their official rank, their wealth, and their great personal popularity, the hub of all social life in Australia, the refusal of the consuls to meet the Governor-General merely has the effect of their cutting themselves off from intercourse with all those people who constitute the best and most agreeable classes of the community.

Through the good nature, ignorance of official etiquette, and indifference of former governors of the various antipodean colonies, before Australia was transformed into a huge commonwealth, subject to the sway of a Governor-General, the consuls and consuls-general were permitted to gradually usurp diplomatic prerogatives, and states, until they have grown to look upon themselves as not mere consular officials to whom exequaturs had been granted to enable them to fulfill certain clerical duties in connection with the promotion of the trade and the clearing of the shipping of their respective countries, but as full-fledged envoys accredited as diplomatic representatives of their Government to the chief executive of the Commonwealth. They put forward, and by degrees secured, prerogatives that a minister plenipotentiary, or even an ambassador, would hesitate to demand, and were constantly squabbling, both among themselves and with the federal and state officials, about silly questions of precedence.

Lord Dudley, having heard about this before sailing for Australia, took counsel with the Colonial Department and the Foreign Office in London, and as a result thereof intimated quietly on his arrival in Australia as Governor-General that he did not propose to continue to accord to the consuls any exceptional privileges or to recognize in them envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary of their respective countries.

International law and treaties unite in declaring foreign consuls have no special privileges beyond other foreigners, and are thus subject to the laws, civil and criminal, of the country in which they reside.

The Snake Eradicator.

When a native in India thinks there are snakes in his house, he sends for the "charmer" to remove them. He arrives with an assistant, a crowd of natives from the neighborhood is collected, and the show begins. The audience are ranged in a semi-circle round the entrance to the dwelling, and within this ring the two performers move slowly about, playing their primitive pipes, with the object of luring the snake from his concealment.

Then one of the two men will enter the house, cautiously peer this way and that, while the onlookers watch carefully for the capture. Darting into a dark corner, he will make a grab, and, amid the cries of the delighted audience, emerge with a fine cobra held tightly by the neck.

A close examination of the snake's mouth, however, would reveal the fact that it was quite harmless. The snake is, in fact, a pet animal, carefully concealed in the first instance in the loose folds of the clothing of the "charmer," and is smartly produced at the psychological moment. The house-owner is, however, thoroughly satisfied that his house is rid of the scourge, pays the snake-charmer his fee, and the latter then makes off in search of fresh fields and pastures new, where he is sure of finding other dupes.

Sir Robert Romer as a Poet.

Although noted more for his legal erudition than his wit, Sir Robert Romer, the late Lord Justice of Appeal, who recently celebrated his 68th birthday, possesses the knack of happy retort. Some few years ago there appeared in one of the legal journals some lines addressed to "Miss Equity," in which the writer, while admiring her beauty, described her principles as weak. "The Reply of Miss Equity," written by Sir Robert Romer, was as follows:

My beauteous features you extol,
Because I plainly show them;
My principles appear but weak,
Because you do not know them.

Like the Lord Chief Justice, Sir Robert Romer has always believed in working his muscles as well as his brains. "The harder I worked at sports the better I could work at mathematics," he once said. Rowing and cricket were the pastimes in which he excelled at Cambridge, and in later years he has always made a special point of walking at least eight miles every day.

"SATIS" REPLIES TO "BENIGHTED SCOT"

Says That That Individual is Still Benighted in His Arguments.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I must thank you for your courtesy in publishing my letter of 22nd inst.

I expected a criticism of it to appear, but never dreamed that it would come from a "benighted" (and in this case a be-togged) fellow Scot. I beg to submit that if he had used his mother wit, instead of allowing his feelings to run away with his judgment, he might have known that a man who could quote part of the "Lady of the Lake" must surely be Scotch. Who cares for Scotland and Scotch history and poetry, but the Scotch?

Every man has a perfect right to think that his own country is the best in the world. But the very spirit that my critic shows is the very thing I tried hard to combat in my letter, namely racial pride and jealousy. Away with it. True patriotism never knew it, and no good will come of it. As part of a great, and ever-increasing Empire, let us observe towards each other a tolerant spirit.

Scotland's proud motto: "Nemo me impune lacessit," is nicely balanced, and supplemented by ..... United we stand; divided we fall." And here is food for serious thought. The tendency of these days is to throw off all restraint. We see it everywhere. While penning my last letter to you, Sir, I was trying hard, all the time, to word it so as to give not the slightest offence to any. I hope I succeeded. Is it worth mentioning that the first word in that piece of poetry is: Breathes? With apologies to "benighted Scot" (he's still "benighted") dear Sir,

I remain,

Yours truly.

"SATIS." (Sgd.)

P.S.—I appreciate very much your kind offer to the unemployed in this town, to free advertisement, therein is the spirit of true helpfulness. I think they, the unemployed, were handed a lemon the other night, don't you? In the words of the Master, "They asked for bread and were handed a stone." P. T. O.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Editor Post Card Column.

Peterborough, Feb. 23, 1909.

Sir,—After reading the speeches of the members of the Charity Board, one would perhaps think that unemployed was a crime and something evil. If there were no unemployed there would be no employer; the one is as much a necessity in our industrial life as the other. As long as cities exist provision must be made for the relief of the poor. Cigarettes are not all right but all wrong, and let me ask: Where those who talk so sneeringly get their money from, it would be rather presumptuous to talk of "earning a living"

Yours truly.

Prof. Chant To Lecture Here To-morrow On Universe of Stars

Astronomical Society Has Arranged a Fine Course of Lectures—Should be Appreciated by the People of Peterborough.

NO ADMISSION FEE.

Prof. C. A. Chant, who lectures this Friday evening at the Collegiate Institute under the auspices of the Royal Astronomical Society is very well known to a large number in this city. Having been before a Peterborough audience on several occasions his name is familiar to all, but as a "professor in Toronto University he has a standing following all over Canada and beyond.

Professor Chant is the first speaker in a course of lectures which probably has never been equalled in Peterborough. The local officials of the Astronomical Society have been very fortunate in securing men of such calibre to lecture in our city. It will undoubtedly be a rare literary treat.

Considering the efforts of the society in obtaining these men of note, it is expected the literary element of our city will mark their appreciation by attendance in large numbers.

Though naturally there will be considerable expense in bringing some of these men from such long distances there will be no admission fee if it is at all possible to avoid such. Possibly the lack of a fee is a drawback! Because the lectures will be free their educative and entertaining value should not be measured thereby.

Since the announcement of the course of lectures many inquiries have been made relative to membership in the Royal Astronomical Society. Miss Estelle Foy, 193 London street, the energetic Secretary of the Society will be pleased to supply such with information.

A very moderate membership fee entitles to the receipt of the various publications of the Canadian Society including the yearly Handbook and the bi-monthly journal.

Children kept At Home In Order To Escape Scarlet Fever

One of the worst features of the present epidemic of scarlet fever is that parents are keeping their children home until the worst passes in order that they may escape the disease. It has been stated that at the Central School alone the attendance has been decreased by one-fourth. Every precaution and care has been exercised by Inspector Mowat, who has also had the public school teachers keep strict watch for any illness or any report of fever in the homes.

Pay As You Enter Cars Take Only Money And Are A Success

New York, Feb. 24.—Frederick W. Whitridge, the best receiver the Third Avenue Railroad Company ever had, denied yesterday that he was trying to corner the button market through the medium of his pay-as-you-enter cars, or that they were sheltering pool checks, beer checks, cough drops, Carnegie medals, and other non-negotiable stuff.

"On the contrary," said Mr. Whitridge, "since the pay-as-you-enter cars were installed I believe the company has received every nickel that was coming to it. We were prepared for a rush of sinkers and washers, but I am happy to say our junk expectations did not materialize.

"If anything, the company is ahead of the game. On three different occasions absent-minded persons have dropped five-dollar gold pieces into the jar. And quarters fall in daily. Once in there the conductor cannot get them back for the passengers."

"That doesn't jibe very well with your 'Thou shalt not Steal' signs," said the reporter.

"Bless you, the company doesn't keep the money!" said the receiver. "When the conductor sees that more than the amount has been deposited he gives the passenger a voucher and the money is returned on presentation of that voucher at the company's office."

Mr. Whitridge said it was his intention to put pay-as-you-enter open cars on the Third avenue and Forty-second street lines this summer. These cars will have iron gratings on either side. Entrance and exit will be at the rear end.

THE LENTEN SEASON BEGINS.

St. Luke's

Ash Wednesday was duly observed at St. Luke's by Morning Prayer and Communion service at 10:30 a.m. and Evensong at 8 p.m. The Rector Rev. Dr. Langfeld officiated at all services and preached also at Evensong. His text was I. Samuel, xiv. 6 and 7. The theme of the sermon was loyalty to the leader. Jonathan was loyally supported by his faithful armour bearer in the battle against the Philistines and this loyal support helped him to be victorious. In a special effort for the revival of the spiritual life, such as the Lenten season offered, every power of evil will be arrayed against it; at such a time the clergyman expects loyal support from conservative Christians by prayer and co-operation. Dr. Langfeldt urged upon the congregation the necessity of rallying around him and to help him in the Lenten season to make the special services a spiritual success. No leader could be successful if he had not assistance from his own flock. Unfair criticism and slander had broken the hearts of many a man who went into the battle with great enthusiasm. The earnest support of the people was necessary to make a leader victorious.

The regular Lenten services at St. Luke's will be held every Wednesday and Friday evening. Rev. Mr. Reid will preach to-morrow evening.

St. John's.

Ash Wednesday was commemorated in St. John's Church last evening by a short service including the Communion service. The sermon was preached by Rev. H. E. Trumpour, Rector of All Saints. He took for his text, the words, "Then when Jesus returned from the Jordan He was led of the Spirit into the wilderness (St. Luke 5.1.) Three lines of thought were suggested by Christ's call into wilderness. First, if Christ, in order to live the perfect life, found it necessary to retire from the world; how can the Christian find it possible to do so, living as he does, every day at the same pace, and in the midst of so many and great temptations. Christ's example is binding on us all. According to the Church of England standards we must, during Lent, follow Him in the abandonment of worldly luxuries and pleasures. There must be no half measures. As an aid to the development of our will power, and to the purification of our appetites, temporary retirement from the world is absolutely essential. Second, the influence which led Jesus was the Holy Spirit. It was stronger than the world's call, and as we find in Christ's case that it could overcome the blandishments of friends and the allurement of worldly pleasures, so can we also find it if we listen to it in earnestness and sincerity.

Third, what is the use of Lenten denial? It enables us to get away from the world in order to commune with God, to develop our Scripture reading and indulge in prayer and meditation.

Lack of thinking was the cause of our quickly changing tastes, and of our constant demand for amusements of all sorts.

It was for us to remember those glowing words of the apostle, St. Paul. Whatsoever things are honest. Whatsoever things are lovely. Whatsoever things are of good report—if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things.

AMELIA BINGHAM SUED BY BROKERS

Played In Peterboro in "The Climbers" Last Season.

New York, Feb. 24.—An action begun in the Supreme Court by M. B. & L. P. Mendham, brokers, of No. 20 Broad street, against Amelia Bingham, the actress, to recover $2,747.45 alleged to be owing to brokerage firm on promissory notes, made by Lloyd Bingham, the actress's husband, and indorsed by her, discloses a transaction of two and a half years ago, when the actress was forced to part with her automobile and considerable household furniture to meet notes to the amount of $1,721.31, the payment of which Mr. Bingham had refused.

"Mrs. Bingham merely gave me the notes as a matter of convenience," said Mr. Bingham last night, "and did not know what they were for. The report that I have lost heavily on the market is not true. My dealings have exceeded a million a month, and there has been some mistake in the account, which makes my brokers think I owe them money. The amount is trifling, but as a matter of principle I will contest the suit."

Mr. Bingham denied he was either "broke" or rapidly approaching that condition.

HOW MUCH DO WE SPEND FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir. — As a considerable rate payer I should like to know how much we spend for our Public and High Schools, or what relation this expenditure bears to the whole tax rate. Could you kindly inform

A RATEPAYER.

NOTE.—This is easily answered. "Ratepayer" has only to consult last night's issue of the Examiner, in which the estimates for 1909 appear. The total amount called for is $162,337.27. Deducting from this the revenue receivable from other sources than taxation, leaves the amount of the collectors' roll $147,737.27. For Public and Separate Schools and Collegiate Institute, the proposed levy amounts to $45,565.49. Add to this the Debenture Levies on account of Public Schools and Collegiate Institutes, and, as a result, we have a total of $77,501.76. Of this total $9,333.00 is borne by the supporters of Separate Schools, who also bear their share of the Collegiate Institute maintenance and debenture levy.

FRED SIMPSON TO SING AT CRYSTAL

Fred Simpson of Hiawatha who broke all records for ten miles indoors, will be the soloist at the Crystal on Saturday afternoon and will sing at every performance during the afternoon. It may not be generally known that Fred is a vocalist as well as a world's famous runner and was leader of the choir at Hiawatha before he left there to join Tom Eck. No doubt a very large number of Peterborough people will welcome the opportunity of seeing the famous Fred who is doing so much to advertise Peterborough and whose feat last night was one of the most noteworthy in the history of Canadian athletics. It may be the last chance of seeing Simpson for some time as he leaves Monday for New York to join Tom Eck and to resume his training for the big races he will have on shortly with Dorando, Shrubb and who ever else wants to go up against him. A race in New Jersey with a relay team is the next item on the programme.

CRYSTAL'S CONTRIBUTION TO CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

Yesterday Mr. Wm. A. Edwards, proprietor of "The Crystal," Peterborough's popular amusement house, generously donated the receipts for the afternoon to the fund of the Children's Aid Society. Owing to unfavourable weather the amount was less than it would have been under more propitious conditions. However, the sum of $11.10 was handed over to Mr. Peter Campbell, treasurer, and this sum is gratefuly acknowledged. Mr. Edwards' generosity is to be commended. If all the business interests of the city would devote as large a proportion of their recipts to as good a cause, the funds of the Children's Aid Society would be in a flourishing condition.

MME. WALSH FILLS THE ROYAL THEATRE

Last night Mme. Marguerite Walsh, the celebrated Boston mezzo soprano, delighted a crowded audience at the Royal Theatre by her rendition from the stage of a comic song, entitled "The Stuttering Boy and the Lisping Girl." A spot light was thrown on a moonlight scene and the singer, "in the limelight," demonstrated that she has rare histrionic powers, as well as being a gifted vocalist. This song described how a stuttering boy makes love to a girl that lisps badly. Mme. Walsh, as she told how the boy loved his girl, brought down the house as she whistled, slapped her knee and then regained her power of speech. She also gave a duet with Mr. Beveridge Miller, that elicited great applause.

Several Enjoyable Concerts . Were Held At Havelock

Havelock, Feb. 25.—The social given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's Church, at Mrs. Jas. Black's residence on Thursday night, was indeed a success, the house being crowded to its utmost capacity. The proceeds which amounted to $35.00, will go towards necesary expenses of the church. It is now being talked about the young people of the church practising for a concert to be given directly after Lent.

The Lady Foresters' concert and oyster supper on Friday evening in the opera house, was greeted by a very large crowd. The proceeds amounting to over $50.00. The programme was as follows: Instrumental solo—Miss Lowe Chiles; vocal solo—Miss Evy McGill; vocal solo—Miss Maude Graham; due—Misses Lancaster and Webb; instrumental duet—Misses Ida and Flo. Howe; solo—Little Miss Vera Knox; instrumental solo—Miss Lottie Chiles; duet, vocal—Misses Dorricott and Hunter; instrumental duet—Misses Ida and Flo. Howe; solo, vocal—little Miss Clara Green. Mr. Job. Coon presided as chairman and most ably filled the position.

Miss Gertie Young entertained a few friends on Thursday evening last. A most enjoyable time was spent by all.

Mrs. Jack Weir, of Norwood visited friends in town on Friday.

Mrs. (Dr.) Holderoft spent Sunday with friends at Tweed.

Miss Minnie McWilliams returned home last Monday, after an extended visit with friends at Tweed and at her home in Marmora. Miss McWilliams leaves on Monday for Toronto to attend the spring millinery openings.

Miss Georgiana Falkner returned home Tuesday from Peterborough, after spending the last three weeks, the guest of her aunt, Miss Katie Falkner.

Mrs. C. A. Ghent is visiting at her home at Madoc.

Miss Cora Hunter, who has been the guest of Miss Stella Armstrong during the past month, returned to her home in Lakefield, on Monday.

Mr. Ed. Gladney, of Marmora, spent Sunday in town.

Miss McWilliams left on Monday, for Toronto, to attend the millinery openings.

Mr. Robt. Flynn is spending a few days with friends at Lakefield.

Miss Jennie Barlow is visiting with friends at Toronto this week.

Mr. Percy Lancaster attended a dance in Peterborough on Monday night.

The concert given by the Ladies' Aid, of the Presbyterian Church, in the opera house, on Monday night, was greeted by a very large turnout. The hall indeed was so crowded that many were compelled to stand. Miss Trout, of Belleville, elocutionist, was heard to great advantage in her many readings, her powers of mimicry and dialect being exceptionally strong. She indeed proved a favourite and had many times to respond to the loud applause. Master Standley McGuire, of Toronto, possesses a very sweet voice, and his three solos proved indeed a treat, as one seldom hears a sweet voiced singer such as he. Miss Jean Robson, the sweet soprano singer, of Norwood, also Mrs. Luck, of Peterborough, who possesses a sweet clear soprano voice, were also highly appreciated by all, and on each occasion were called back, and responded in their usual sweet manner. Others who assisted in the programme were as follows: Dr. and Mrs. Kindred, Miss Bessie Rose, Miss Evy McGill, Miss Maude Graham, and the members of the choir also contributed by chorus selections. The one-act play, entitled "Obstinacy," scored roars of laughter, and those taking part in it are deserving of great praise in the way they acted their parts. The characters were as follows: Miss Carrie McKelvie—Lizzie, Negro Servant; Miss Mabel McBurney—Mrs. Austin; Miss Ida Howe—Mrs. Austin's Mother; Mr. Gordon Thompson—Mrs. Austin's Father; Mr. J. Hutchinson—Mr. Austin; Mr. White—George, Negro Servant. The proceeds amounted to about $90.00.

A load of young people drove over from Norwood to attend the concert on Monday evening.

Messrs. F. Haig and B. Haig have exchanged properties and both families moved last week.

M. McDonnell, of Belleville, was the guest of his aunt, Mrs. A. E. McGuire, last week.

Mr. Wilmot Herrington of West Toronto, and Mrs. Chas. E. Herrington, of Havelock, spent Thursday and Friday of last week visiting their uncle, Mr. Levi Herrington, at Brighton.

Stenshall & Bryans have a car of coal just arrived.

Rev. C. W. Holdsworth, of Rosemount, officiated in St. John's Church on Sunday last, both morning and evening and delivered interesting sermons on both occasions.

The ladies of the Methodist Church will hold a Flower Social in the basement of the church on Monday night, next, March 1st. The proceeds to go towards the purchasing of a new bell for their church and which they expect to be able to ring for the first time on Easter Sunday morning.

Miss Choate, violinist, of Peterborough, was in town last week, trying to form a class, and we believe that she was successful in securing enough pupils to enable her to come down every week. It is probable that in time Miss Choate, will have a very large class in our little town, as she comes so well recommended as a "clever violinist."

Miss McCoal, of Peterborough, was also in town last week securing pupils for vocal and instrumental. Miss Jean Robson, of Norwood, comes to Havelock Wednesday and Thursday of each week, and we believe has now a fairly large class.

The assessors are still on their rounds, but expect to finish up by the end of this week.

Afforded Two Porters Each But Look For Civic Charity

Two men who obtain charity from the city were followed into a local hotel by a man who knows them and they lighted their pipes at one end of the bar and sipped two "porters" with appreciative smacks. The man stated that it was none of his business how many drinks they had but it was of interest when he knew that they lived in the same house and obtained assistance from the city.

FRED SIMPSON AT ROYAL THEATRE

Was Given Great Reception When Introduced to Matinee Audiences This Afternoon

This afternoon Mr. Fred Simpson, accompanied by Mrs. Simpson, attended the performance in the Royal Theatre. Fred, with his freshly won laurels as champion ten-mile runner of the world, gained in Toronto Wednesday night, was introduced from the stage to the audience by the Theatre lecturer. Mr. Simpson, when asked by a Royal Theatre employe if he was going to run against Longboat, shrugged his shoulders, and intimated that he considered Longboat's chances against him as very slim. Mrs. Simpson was very evidently pleased with her husband's Toronto performance and showed great pride in the young man. Mr. Simpson was introduced to Mrs. Marguerite Walsh, the Boston vocalist, and told her that when he left Savannah the temeprature was 26 in the shade. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson left at 4 o'clock for Hiawatha.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Mr. A Mowat will take up the study of George Elliot and her works this evening.

Miss Ross will meet with her class in wood carving at seven o'clock. There is still an opportunity to join this class.

GEO. CAIRNS BREAKS LEAGUE MARK BEST SINGLE SCORE IN THREE GAMES EXAMINER "A" TEAM STILL WINNING

There was some tall rolling at the P. B. C. Alleys last night when the Examiner A and the B. A. C. clashed in a League game. The newspapermen contributed the classy bowling coming within nine pins of the League team record for three games. The record is 1508, held by the Bankers and made by them in a game with the Midgets six weeks ago. Last night the Exams put on 1589, the second highest figure to date. With such rolling it was little wonder that they took three straight from the B. A. C., beating the latter by 367 pins.

Another feature was the breaking of the League record for the best single score by Geo. Cairns, the anchor of the Exam bunch, who put on the magnificent total of 608, beating his own record by eight pins. Cairns was in grand form and toppled the pins over like one of Thompson's Colts. He had not one eror in his three games, and but two splits putting on 209, 183 and 216. His team mates backed him up splendidly and there was never a chance for the B. A. C. The scores follow:

B. A. C.—

MR. HARRY GIRARD

JIMMY BURKE WANTED $6000 FOR SEASON, BUT NOW IS "JOBLESS"

Ball players who are holding out for more money may take a lesson to themselves from the case of Jimmy Burke of Louisville. Burke played in the National League a season or two and failed to make good. He was turned over to a minor league team, then transferred to Louisville, where last year he managed the club and played third base and did quite well. He played a fair game, batted a little better than the ordinary sticker, and landed his team second in the pennant race. This year he scornfully returned a contract which called for $600 a month — about $20 a day for every day in the month— with the words that he must have $6,000 for the season or he would not play. His employers did not reply to his communication, and for a couple of weeks Mr. Burke was on the ragged edge. Then he sent word to the club owners that he had reconsidered the matter and would work for $4,500. Three days later it was announced that the club had signed a strenuous person, one Heine Peitz, for the job of manager. Now Mr. Burke wonders what he is going to do; of course he cannot play the bag under another manager, and it will cost him some of his own good money to get his release and play with another club. In other words, Mr. Burke is looking for anything he can get to do. Instead of being on Easy street next winter he will probably be either tending bar somewhere in St. Louis or cleaning snow off the sidewalks; twenty dollars a day was not enough for him.—Telegraph.

INTERNATIONAL MARATHON IS AMBITION OF A LONDON MAN

Buffalo Feb. 24.—A world-wide professional Marathon, embracing the best professional runners from all quarters of the globe, is the dream of a London promoter, named Charles McCarthy and his representative, P. C. Armstrong, also of London, who is in this city for the purpose of meeting Tom Longboat and his manager, Harry Pollok with a view of getting the entries of Dorando and the Indian, both of whom are under the wing of the New York promoters.

Mr. Armstrong came up from New York yesterday to be on hand for Thursday's race, and to open negotiations with Pollok. He says the Marathon fever is just as virulent in London as it has ever been, although the races are not as frequent. The English took a great interest in the recent Longboat-Shrubb race, and were greatly charmed when the Englishman was beaten. He says they are greatly interested in the return match made for Buffalo, and that Shrubb was 5 to 1 favourite for the race.

Mr. Armstrong outlined the plan on which Mr. McCarthy expected to run the race. He wants Longboat, Shrubb, Dorando, Hayes, Tewanima and one or two other good pros. from this country, and will invite runners from every country on earth. He will bring two men from South Africa, native runners, who think nothing of travelling great distances, and has assurances of entries from almost every country in Europe.

He has secured an option on the immense football field in London, where the annual championship event between Scotland and England is played, and which has a seating capacity of over 100,000, and will pull the race off there. According to present plans the race will be held about the second week in June.

Mr. Armstrong will leave for Winnipeg after Thursday's race to bring a band of Indians who are to appear in another of Promoter McCarthy's ventures.

FRED SIMPSON HOME ON VISIT SAYS THAT HE WILL BEAT SHRUBB

"I will beat Alf Shrubb this summer at ten and fifteen miles," was the statement made to the Examiner to-day by Fred Simpson, who arrived in the city from Toronto at noon and who spent a few hours here before going on to his home in Hiawatha. "Fred looks the picture of good health and has put on flesh since he left here. His training at the hands of Tom Eck has evidently proved most beneficial, for he never looked better in his life.

Simpson has very little to say of his record breaking running last night. "I was in good shape," he said, "and did not let myself out as much as I might have done."

Speaking of Tom Eck Simpson stated that he was never treated better in his life, and that the veteran sporting authority is a grand trainer.

Fred was met at the station by his wife to-day and there was a happy re-union. Needless to say Mrs. Simpson is delighted with the showing made by her husband and is immensely proud of him. Fred will visit his home in Hiawatha for several days before rejoining Tom Eck and starting a campaign after some races.

The Toronto World says of Simpson's great running:

The wonderful run of Fred Simpson last night at Riverdale Arena makes good the predictions about the Peterborough Indian of several well-posted Marathon experts, including J. Howard Crocker, manager of the Canadian Olympic team, who called Simpson as sure to defeat Tom Longboat in the race from Windsor to Shepherd's Bush, which he did. Also the trial speaks well for the acumen and training ability of white-haired Tom Eck, another one of the prophets who always insisted that Simpson was in the front rank as a long distance performer.

The track is 12 laps to the mile, or, something less. The time for the 120 Laps was 52.30 and to make sure of the Canadian records Simpson went on three extra laps in 53.24, and he was still inside George Adams' Canadian mark, made outdoors two years ago, which was 53.59. Shrubb, of course, still holds the world's record of 50.40 3-5, made at Glasgow.

Contrary to the common belief, Simpson is still a young Indian, being just 27 years of age. His manager sees a bright career before him, and Tom Eck feels assured that his man can not only get matches with Dorando, Shrubb and Longboat, but that he can defeat them at any distance from 10 to 26 miles 385 yards.

Simpson was in fine condition at the start and finished full of running. Indeed he looked as if he could have cut many more seconds off the time, or have gone the Marathon distance without trouble. There is no doubt about the time as the following well known men officiated with the watch Messrs. Tom Flanagan, P. J. Mulqueen, J. J. McCaffery, C. W. Smith, and Tom Eck.

CHURCH LEAGUE GAMES TO-NIGHT

Double-Header Will be Played at Brock Street Rink.

There is a great sheet of ice ready for the Church League players in the semi-final games at Brock St rink to-night, and two grand games should be seen when the George St. team will meet Knox church and the St. Andrew's seven try conclusions with the Park, St. seven. All four teams are in the best o condition, and some lightning hockey will be seen. The dope favours St. Andrew's and Knox to win and the two Presbyterian teams to fight it out in the finals, but stranger things have happened than a defeat of the leaders at the hands of the tail-enders, and the Baptists and Methodists may spring a surprise to-night. In any event, there will be little to choose between the teams. The first game is called for 8 o'clock. Mr. Harry Morgan has been agreed upon as referee in both games. The admission for the double-header will be 15 and 10 cents.

PRESS NOT A UNIT ON THE FIGHT

Some Writers Claim That Attell Had Better Part of Friday Night's Bout.

The New York press is not a unit in regard to the opinion that Jem Driscoll deserved a decision over Abe Attell in their ten round bout at the National Athletic Club on Friday night. One writer ties that the English featherweight was on the hop all the time, while Attell kept boring in, but could only land on Driscoll when the latter was on the fly. No decision was given, as it is against New York rules, but it was explained in some quarters that Driscoll had the better part of the go. However, Attell's friends are now trying to arrange a twenty round bout between the two, and are confident that Abe can prove his superiority over the invader.

INDIAN PITCHER QUITS THE GAME

Bender, Noted Redman Twirler of Philadelphia, Forsakes Baseball for Rifle Range.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 25.—Charles A. Bender, the great Indian pitcher of the Philadelphia American League Club, said to-day that he has quit playing baseball.

"I have positively decided not to pitch any more," he is quoted as saying, "but in the future I will devote my time and attention to the match shooting business in which I have been very successful. I find that it has greatly improved my health."

Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Americans, said this afternoon that he was inclined to believe that Bender meant what he said.

"I have done no business with Bender this winter," said Mr. Mack, "and I do not think it is a question of money. He received the highest salary on his career last summer, and his every demand was met. He did very little work for us last year, and it is immaterial to me whether he pitches for the Athletics this season."

Mr. Mack added that he has had no differences with Bender.

WILL PLAY ON FRIDAY NIGHT

The Stratheonas Hook up With Lakefield To-morrow.

Arrangements have been completed by which the Stratheonas will journey to Lakefield to-morrow night to play the second game of the home and home series between the two clubs. The High Commissioners won the first game here by 4 goals to 3, but the Local Option seem claim that they will reverse the figures to-morrow night. The weatherman has provided good ice for the occasion and as both teams like the fast going, it should be a pretty lively article of hockey that is dished out to-morrow night. The Straths will drive out and will be accompanied by quite a large sized cheering squad. The High Commissioners will be without the service of Long who left for the West on Monday, but Dobson will be able to play. Otherwise the team will be the same as in the last game.

BOWLING

The League race is just about as exciting now as it has been since the commencement and the next few weeks will see some tall rolling. The Examiner A, Belmonts, Bankers, and Pacifics will fight it out to the bitter end. At present the Pacifics lead the Examiner A by 12 pins while the Bankers are comfortably in third place.

• • • •

Last night's win made nine straight victories for the Examiner A.

• • • •

The Iroquois seem to have landed a find in the person of Sutherland, of St. Thomas, who has been snapped up by the Indians. He happened to drop into the alleys the other night and was drafted by the Iroquois. A few nights ago he hooked up with Geo Cairns, and Herb Martin, and the three put in some of the classiest scores seen for some time. 190 was outside the money.

• • • •

The Bankers and Grays will clash shortly in a match game for an oyster supper, total pinnage to count.

• • • •

The Examiner B and Pacifics hook up on Saturday night and the newspapermen state that they are going to surprise their friends by grabbing one or two games.

• • • •

The alley game is becoming more popular every day with the people of Peterborough, and many of the beginners are showing class that promises to land them in the fast coterie before long.

• • • •

There is an unconfirmed rumour that Pete Lang has deserted the tribe of the Frontenacs and will don the war paint of the Iroquois. The Indians by the way are after all the scalps that they can gather in.

• • • •

Some of the teams have some postponed games to play which they are asked to pull off as soon as possible.

• • • •

New York, Feb. 23.— James Smith, of Brooklyn, the champion bowler of the east, and Louis Franz, of Cleveland, the champion of the west, played the first series of a match of thirty games at William Cordes' Grand Central Alleys on Washington street, Brooklyn last night, and, to the surprise of the crowd that occupied every available space in the room, Smith made a runaway race of it, winning thirteen of the fifteen games and scoring 3431 pins to 2797 for Franz Smith's average was 228 11-15, and Franz's 186 7-15. The match was originally made for $500 a side, but it was increased to $1,000 a side before play began.

Smith's playing at times was exceedingly brilliant, especially in the tenth game, when he rolled his highest score, 280, and made ten consecutive strikes. In only one instance did Smith score less than 200. That was the eleventh game, when he rolled 198. Franz seemed to be outclassed, as he won only two games, the fifth and eleventh. It is not thought likely he will be able to overcome Smith's lead when they meet in the final series at Cleveland on March 12th. Franz was not at all steady, the shouts of Smith's admirers evidently disconcerting him. The scores:

	Smith	Franz
First game	236	142
Second game	205	166
Third game	204	196
Fourth game	248	146
Fifth game	207	211
Sixth game	247	196
Seventh game	234	182
Eighth game	247	161
Ninth game	233	151
Tenth game	280	224
Eleventh game	198	339
Twelfth game	231	154
Thirteenth game	214	145
Fourteenth game	256	191
Fifteenth game	202	176
Totals	3431	2797

• • • •

The Greys were unfortunate last night in losing two games to the Iroquois. They rolled the highest number of pins, but could not divide them evenly. The Iroquois also added a new man to their team in the person of Sutherland, of St. Thomas, who has joined the staff of the Morning Times. He blew into the bowling alleys last night, and although it was his first game on the new alleys, he rolled a total for the three games of 455, and gives promise of being a decided strength to the team. The scores were as follows:—

IROQUOIS—
Sutherland	145	122	187— 455
Adams	153	126	145— 424
Martin	171	171	180— 522
	469	420	513—1401
GREYS—
McFadden	134	163	145— 442
Perry	193	180	168— 541
Clancy	115	182	132— 429
	442	525	445—1412

• • • •

Following were the scores in the Y. M. C. A. League last night:—

S. Laing	137	118	102
Howson	76	113	105
Staunton	116	154	118—1039
Campbell	137	148	143
Sisson	97	140	86
Richardson	157	89	117—1108
Hetherington	128	87	90
Pratt	127	159	171
Robertson	93	112	98—1053
Sisson	88	120	107

HOCKEY

The Lindsay Midgets, picked by some of the hockey experts to win the intermediate championship, will be here again on Saturday night to meet the winner of the Beamsville - St. Kitts' series in a sudden death game at the Mutual street Rink.—Toronto Globe.

• • • •

Russell Bowie and Cavie Howard will be on the Victoria line-up against Montreal to-night. If Victoria can defeat Montreal and Montreal defeat Cliffsides, the three teams will be tied for the inter-provincial title.

• • • •

Thomas C. Hare, president of the Temiskaming League, has offered 75 pounds of pure silver for a cup emblematic of the pro. hockey championship of the world. Under the recent ruling of the trustees of the Stanley Cup neither Cobalt or Haileybury, whichever wins the championship, will be able to dig up an eligible team to play for the trophy. President Hare considers this unfair, and so makes the above offer.

• • • •

If Cliffsides win the Inter-provincial championship each membber will receive as a memento of the memorable occasion a puppy fox terrier, the progeny of Clipton Bluebiade, the finest smooth haired fox terrier in the Dominion. George Bailey, owner of the champion canine, made the offer.

• • • •

Cobalt representatives were in Ottawa trying to get Ottawa hockey players. Albert Kerr received an offer of $700 cash to play the two remaining games but refused. It was stated also that Cobalt was prepared to give Marty Walsh a whole season's salary to play the two games. Gilmour was another name mentioned of having been approached.

• • • •

Stratford Beacon: It was decidedly unfortunate that Wharton refused to continue the game, because it places them in the position of having acquired an unenviable reputation in their first season in the O. H. A.

• • • •

Jack Murray's signed contract was received by the New York Club yesterday, and the ex-Cardinal will join the team at Marlin Springs, Tex., by next Monday.

• • • •

You have all heard tell of Lindsay
And its famous hockey team.
There's nothing out can stop them,
This we all have plainly seen.
They are marvels from the goal posts
Clear out to the forward line;
And here's hoping they trim Stratford
In nineteen hundred and nine.

—Lindsay Post.

• • • •

We have all heard tell of Lindsay,
And its famous hockey team.
But Stratford's going to stop them,
This can be quite plainly seen.
They may be marvels from goal posts
Clear out to the forward lines;
But they haven't a chance with Stratford
In nineteen hundred and nine.

There will be five games at the Brock street rink to-night and fifteen cents will admit you to the whole bill of fare. The Collegiate Institute and Rough Riders meet between 5 and 6 o'clock, the Auburns and Bridgenorth between 7 and 8, the George St. and Knox church teams between 8 and 9, the Park St. and St. Andrew's teams between 9 and 10 and Grace church and the Night Owls between 10 and 11. The ice is in great shape.

• • • •

All Saints' and Murray Street come together to-morrow night at Knox Rink, between seven and eight, to decide the championship of the Junior Church League. At the present time both teams have four wins and one loss to their credit, including the games defaulted by St. John's, and many have the opinion that either the Murray Street or All Saints' could make some of the senior aggregations hustle. A good game should, therefore, result when they clash on Friday night.

The following will probably be the teams for the game.

All Saints'	Murray Street

J. Moore	R. Scott

W. Flowers	R. Wilson

F. Allen	B. Millen

BASKET-BALL.

The local Y.M.C.A. intermediate basketball team made a runaway night of it in their game with the Port Hope team last night in the Y. Gym., beating the visitors by 52—15. The locals were ahead 27—9 at half time, and had an easy task in stalling off the Hopers who were deficient in combination and shooting. All the locals took part in the scoring and they played fine basketball.

The teams were as follows:

Peterborough.	Port Hope.
Defence.
Kirn	Hamily
Martin	Haun
Centre.
Wallace	Dunn
Forwards.
Debbin	St. Ours
Lees	Adamson

Explorer Tells Thrilling Tale Of South American Pygmies Their Manners And Customs

Examiner Special.

New York, Feb. 26.—Carleton M. Jones, now a resident of San Juan, Porto Rico, commissioner for a group of Boston capitalists interested in the rubber industry of South America, has returned to New York after an absence of sixteen months on an exploring expedition through the valley of the Amazon. He penetrated the comparatively unknown region, where the Rio Negro has its source, and came in contact with what he believes was the identical race of pygmies discovered by Eben J. Sullivan, of Boston, in 1898, and verified by R. G. Halliburton, Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

"I never knew Sullivan personally," said Mr. Jones, "but I was fully informed before I started for Rio de Janeiro of his experiences, because it happened that I was bound for the head waters of the Rio Negro to investigate the stories of a wonderful forest of rubber trees. Unfortunately the stories proved to be untrue, but I had the satisfaction of saving my employers from paying a large sum of money for a worthless concession. There are plenty of rubber trees, but not enough to warrant the investment my principals were asked to make.

"It took me sixty-eight days from the capital of Brazil to the wild Rio Negro country. I was accompanied by a nephew of the guide who was employed by Mr. Sullivan. For a week we travelled by canoe without seeing a human being, and then we came to the village of the queer little creatures, which I judge consisted of at least 5,000 inhabitants. They received us without surprise or emotion, due, as I afterward learned, to the fact that an immense feast of boar meat had just been finished. Men, women and children were so gorged with food and with some sort of fermented liquor that they were stupid and sodden and paid little attention to their surroundings.

"In a couple of days they were hungry again and active, and I had an opportunity to observe them more closely. Their average height is about four feet. They are misshapen and their large heads and faces are ludicrously out of proportion with their paunchy bodies and spindly bowlegs. So far as I could determine the pygmies had no form of government, and it was evident that they were not warlike, because they possessed no weapons of any description. Many of the men had no forefinger on the right hand. The evidence of amputation was plain, but it was impossible to learn why the finger had been cut off.

"My guide spoke the language of several Indian tribes, but could not understand a word of the pygmies. I remained in the village a week and lived on a species of bean, mixed with maize, and boiled. We brought away a number of gourds and copper ornaments as souvenirs."

CHURCH WILL ESTABLISH ITS OWN THEATRE AND RUN PLAYS

Examiner Special.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 26.— The Universalist Church, one of the largest in this city, is now about to establish its own theatre and its own plays. The movement was begun by the pastor, the Rev. E. Dean Ellenwood.

"The Servant in the House" will be presented first.

The whole ground floor of the church is being converted into a theatre with stage, curtain, footlights, scenery and all.

The pastor explained his reasons for all this as follows:—

"Contrary to the recent pulpit utterances, the theatre has had among all civilians a distinctly religious origin and is to-day capable of great moral good. In England the first plays were conducted by the churches specifically for the purpose of enforcing scriptural teaching and of quickening the popular conscience. They were called morality plays, and still survive in such impressive dramas as 'Every Man.'

"I should not for a moment deny that in some instances the present day theatrical productions have harm in them, but it is equally true that present day religious exercises have harm in them. I should not for that reason wish to abolish religion or the church nor would I wish for that reason to wipe out the institution of the theatre."

THE ELIGIBILITY OF THE COMMISSION

"Voter" Wants Some Information Upon This Subject—The Radial Railway.

Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir:— Is it to be generally understood that all of the recent appointments by Council to the Town Trust Commission are not in conformity with our city by-laws that govern the Commission?

I refer to their eligibility only as laid down in the by-law.

All of the gentlemen so appointed are estimable citizens, but owe it to the public as well as to themselves to see that these matters are not done in any such slipshod manner. The Council are, of course, primarily responsible, and should see that such errors are corrected, as there are other Commissions that a similar error might vitally affect.

May we also draw public attention to the evident inactivity of the Council with regard to the Street Railway Extension. The Railway Company received the franchise on condition, surely now our chosen representatives will not fail to look after our interests. We want the extension to the north, and the citizens across the river also demand it, and if our Council insist we may expect to secure it. It is an absolute certainty that if the Council do not insist on the rights of the city that they will in every case lay themselves open to severe and lasting censure, if not now, certainly in the very near future.

Respectfully yours,
VOTER.

SPLENDID RECIPE FOR KIDNEYS

Noted Authority Tells People How to Get Relief at Small Cost.

A SIMPLE HOME REMEDY

To make enough of the "Dandelion treatment," which is claimed to be relieving nearly every sufferer who uses it for backache, kidney complaint, sore, weak bladder and rheumatism, get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

SEEING IS BELIEVING!

A United States agency that is selling books has a man who ought to write folders. Here is a sample:

"A tour of the world! What a fascinating prospect these magic words conjure up! A tour of the world! The first enchanting glimpse into the lands that lie beyond our doors; the mingling with entirely new peoples, the viewing of strange scenes and customs; the phenomenal mind broadening it effects; the liberal education it conveys. Perhaps you have longed many times to make this marvellous trip yourself, only to be obliged to dispel the idea because of business, health, family ties, or the question of finances. Is this so?"

Our answer to the question is, call upon Mr. W. McElroy, city passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, get the tickets and see the the things as they are, instead of staying at home and thinking how they may be. One thing is certain, wherever you want to go, whatever part of the continent or of the world, no company can take you as far or look after you as well as the C. P. R. 3d-46

ELECTRICITY.

Why It Is Difficult For the Layman to Understand What It Is.

"What is electricity?" is a favorite query with people who desire to "get a rise" out of a scientific man. And when he fails to answer it in the same simple fashion that he might treat the question "What is a biscuit" the questioner cries out: "Aha! You profess to know all about electricity. Why, you can't even tell what it is!"

Now, to "tell what a thing is"—that is, to define it—is to state its relations with something more familiar. The particular familiar thing that the questioner is thinking of in this case is ordinary matter. Heat has been explained to him as a vibration of material particles. Light, he has been told, is a wave motion in the ether, and he understands the ether to be a kind of matter or a substance resembling matter in some particulars.

It is not to be denied that no such simple general relationship can be stated between electricity and matter. But, this being so, it would be just as correct to say that we do not know what matter is as that we do not know what electricity is. As a matter of fact, we do not know what matter is, and the latest plausible theory of it builds it up on an electric basis, so that on this theory the idea of electricity is more fundamental than that of matter. Unfortunately our senses have been evolved by contact with matter—the light or heat that it causes matter to give out, the attraction that it causes certain substances to exert, and so on. To the man in the street, therefore, matter is familiar, and he demands a statement of the latter in terms of the former, illogical though this may be. After the scientist has stated all this the reply comes back, "Yes, I understand all that, and it is most clear. I am sure, but tell me, then, what is electricity anyway."

Another source of confusion to the lay mind is that scientific men do not always use the word "electricity" to mean the same thing. The engineer often employs it to express the thing that the theoretical electrician calls "electric energy."

To find the energy of electricity—that is, its ability to do work—the electrician multiplies the quantity of electricity by the potential or tension under which it exists. But to the engineer this product itself measures the thing that he calls "electricity."

The work that a pound of water may do by falling a foot is one foot pound. The water is the same after falling as before, though its energy is less. So to the electrician a quantity of electricity at 100 volts is precisely the same as at one volt, though the former is able to do a hundred times as much work.

This difference in meaning causes thousands of disputes among students. "Electricity is a form of energy," says one, "just like light or heat." "Oh, no!" is the reply. "It is not energy at all, though it may possess or convey energy." One disputant is talking about the electricity of the physical and the other about that of the engineer; hence their dispute is merely a matter of definition, though they do not know it. What wonder that some people are still content to regard the whole subject as a civilized Mumbo Jumbo?

"Diamond" Fiasco Recalled.

As the name suggests, Sir Julius Wernher is of German ancestry. He was born at Darmstad fifty-eight years ago, the son of Gen. Friedrich August Wernher, of the German army, and the application and energy which he has shown throughout his career are aptly typified by the "head of a grappling-iron, argent," which appears on his coat-of-arms. He was created a baronet three years ago. Sir Julius is a striking-looking man, who certainly has a wonderfully fine taste for all things beautiful. He is said to have paid the Leigh trustees $1,250,000 for the historic mansion and estate of Luton Hoo, England, so long the home of that delightful person, the late Madame de Falde. He also purchased Bath House, the curious yellow mansion situated at the corner of Piccadilly and Bolton street, London, which he entirely redecorated and filled with the loveliest and rarest pictures, china, and enamels. It will be remembered that some time ago Sir Julius sustained a big loss, for the Lemoine fiasco diamond failed to materialize at the given moment. People wondered how so hard-headed a man as Sir Julius could have been taken in by the enterprising Frenchman, but it subsequently transpired that he was only carrying out an agreement entered into by his partner in the business, the late Mr. Alfred Beit.

His Latin Helped.

There was a famous British officer, Lieut.-Gen. Sir George Murray, who served in the expedition to Egypt. When before Alexandria the troops having suffered severely from want of water, his literary acquirements were of the greatest service, instructing him that Caesar's army had been in the same predicament. Referring to his "Caesar" (which he always carried in his portable library), he found his recollection right that water had been obtained by the Romans from wells dug at a certain spot in the sands. A trial was immediately made, and the result was a copious supply. The British troops braced up and conquered Egypt.

The Stage Censor.

"He has exercised his important powers unobtrusively and with considerable tact." That is the opinion generally of the theatrical profession concerning Mr. G. A. Redford, whose official position as Examiner of Plays is threatened by Mr. Robert Harcourt's bill, recently presented in the House of Commons. It is with the office, and not the man, that the stage is so wroth—so wroth, indeed, that Mr. Redford has been called the 'devil's disciple." Mr. Redford was formerly a bank manager, and does not court popularity. His pet aversion is the photographer, and he also dislikes four-wheelers, since one overturned and nearly killed his wife. Her escape was little short of a miracle for the vehicle was laden with heavy luggage, which might have fallen through and crushed her as she lay helpless and imprisoned at the bottom of the cab.

SIZE OF BULLSEYE.

It Varies According to Distance in Rifle Shooting.

"A bullseye is a bullseye" is an expression frequently used in connection with rifle shooting, but those unfamiliar with military rifle practice as at present conducted have little conception of what is meant by a bullseye on the regulation targets. The ranges at which shooting now takes place are 200, 300, 500, 600, 800, 900 and 1,000 yards. For these ranges three targets are employed.

The first is target A, which is used at 200 and 300 yards. It is six feet tall and four feet in width, with a bullseye in the center eight inches in diameter. This is surrounded by a circle twenty-six inches in diameter. Another circle is forty-six inches in diameter. The bullseye counts 5, a shot in the inner circle 4, in the outer circle 3 and on the remainder of the target 2.

The B target, which is used at 500 and 600 yards, is six feet square. It has a twenty inch bullseye, and the first circle is thirty-seven inches and the second circle fifty-three inches in diameter. The value of the spots is the same as on the A target.

The C target is used at 800, 900 and 1,000 yards. This is rectangular in shape, being six feet high and twelve feet long. It is divided into three sections by vertical lines three feet from each end. In the center is a thirty-six inch bullseye surrounded by a fifty-four inch circle. A shot in the bullseye counts 5, between the bullseye and the rim of the circle 4, anywhere outside of the circle, but within the six foot square, 3, and at either end of the target, but outside of the square, the shot counts 2 points.

WHO OWNS THE AIR?

Ancient Legal Maxim Says Man Owns Land "Up to the Sky."

It is still a moot point whether or not the flying of airships over private property may be opposed by due process of law.

In England there is an ancient maxim embodied in the English common law which says, "He who owns the land owns it up to skies." This venerable rule, a legal authority points out, is as good today as ever it was and is full of menacing significance to the airship builder.

The effect of this rule is to give the owner of land the exclusive right to the free enjoyment of the air over and above the four corners of his holding, and any interference with that enjoyment, however apparently slight and harmless, constitutes a trespass, for which an action may be brought.

Applications for injunctions against airship owners and actions for trespass by aggrieved landowners are not unlikely proceedings in the near future.

How She Solved It.

There was something about the face of the stranger who sat opposite to her in the tram car that was familiar to the stern lady. "Pardon me," she said. "If I am not mistaken, you are one of the poor, underpaid working girls whom our Emancipation society tried to benefit, or, at least, you were a year ago."

"That is so," said the stranger.

"Then our society has evidently not been without influence, for you look prosperous now."

"I have everything I want and never was so happy in my life."

"That's splendid. You must have solved the woman problem."

"I have."

"Glorious! Do tell me about it!"

"I've married!"

A Case of Auto Suggestion.

A baker on the upper west side who purchased an auto delivery wagon was surprised to receive the following message from one of his most particular customers: "Please send no more orders to me by your new wagon. The smell of gasoline in the rolls made almost the entire family sick."

The baker sent word to the customer that, as the auto was driven by electricity and no gasoline was used at all, she must have been mistaken and added, "Perhaps the cook had just cleaned her gloves that day."

Not Too Late.

Not long after the great Chelsea fire some children in Newton, Mass., held a charity fair by which $18 was realized. This they forwarded to the rector of a certain Boston church who had taken a prominent part in the relief work, with a letter which read somewhat as follows:

We have had a fair and made $13. We are sending it to you. Please give it to the Chelsea sufferers. Yours truly, etc.

P. S.—We hope the suffering is not all over.

Overstocked.

Hubby was evidently worried, and wifey was trying to cheer him up.

"Cheer up, John, and don't worry," she said. "It doesn't do any good to borrow trouble."

"Borrow trouble," echoed her husband. "Great Caesar's ghost! I ain't borrowing trouble: I've got it to lend!"

The Sacred Goose.

In Egypt the goose was the emblem of Seb, father to Osiris. A precious figure of it is extant inscribed "The Good Goose Greatly Beloved." It was the national flag of Burma and of Kandy, Ceylon. Wherever Buddhism rules the goose is venerated. Therefore it is a leading motif in the art of Japan and a symbol of peace and happiness in China. Figures of geese are as indispensable at a Chinese wedding as is bride cake with us. In both countries, as also in Burma and Siam, weights are made in the shape of a goose as a token of good faith, though the connection is not obvious. But in ancient Egypt the same custom ruled, and Layard found goose weights among his first discoveries at Nineveh. A row of gigantic geese surrounds the great Buddhist temple at Anajapoora. The devout cherish a fond fancy that all geese perform an aerial pilgrimage to the holiest of lakes in the Himalayas every year, transporting the sins of the neighborhood, returning with a new stock of inspiration for the encouragement of local piety.

When the Play Fails.

"Patiently, morning, noon, night sometimes far into the dawn, the rehearsals go on, first the steps, then the music, then the words, then the situations with principals and stars in rehearsal and always the business, the exacting command, the sharp rebuke, the tireless round.

"How would you like to rehearse day and night, seven weeks, without pay, and find yourself, out of a job after the first night?

"Wouldn't you rather read of a glorious triumph and see the managers and authors and composers rake in the shekels, the golden, glittering shekels, even though they grew fat on them, for the sake of the people who had rehearsed seven weeks without pay?

"The tragedy of failure is back in the land of make believe, down in the crowded dressing room, down where the girls huddle together and tremble, down where one weeps silently and dries her eyes on the skirt of a useless costume."—Smith's Magazine.

Piety.

Piety is not an end, but a means of attaining the highest degree of culture by perfect peace of mind. Hence it is to be observed that those who make piety an end and aim in itself for the most part become hypocrites.—Goethe.

One Pipe Lasted 2 Hours, 50 Minutes.

In a smoking contest held at the Walthamstow Baths, England, recently Mr. G. Smith smoked an eighth of an ounce of shag for two hours and fifty minutes without letting his pipe go out. Four hundred men competed, and twenty-five prizes were presented by Messrs. R. and J. Hill, Limited.

Miss Brown Sings.

"Won't you sing something?" asked the hostess.

"I am afraid I can't," said Miss Brown.

"Oh, Miss Brown,' said lady No. 1, "you know you have a perfectly charming voice."

"I'm all out of practice."

"Nonsense!" emphasized lady No. 2. "It's lovely. You must sing."

"Yes, you must," said the hostess.

"Come now," said lady No. 3, "be a dear, do! I'm just dying to hear you. I simply can't wait."

"Some other time."

"If you persist in denying us all this pleasure," broke in lady No. 4, "we shall never forgive you. I've just been longing to hear you. You simply must."

Whereupon Miss Brown, sighing deeply to herself, went to the piano and started her song, while ladies No. 1, 2, 3 and 4 continued their conversation where it had been broken off.—New York Herald.

"Bubbles" and Science.

Until Lord Rayleigh supplied the missing explanation scientific men had never been able to explain how it is that a soap bubble can exist. It is only with a very few liquids that soap bubbles can be blown. The reason is that some cannot lather even if shaken up vigorously, while others lather with complete ease. The natural question therefore arose, "Why is it that some liquids lather and others will not, and how is it that a sphere of liquid film of almost infinitesimal thickness can exist in a still moist atmosphere for hours and even days?" This was all exhaustively explained for the first time by Lord Rayleigh.

The explanation is partly a question of physics and chemistry, and it may be succinctly described, according to Sir Oliver Lodge, as follows: "A surface which possesses the minutest trace of scum has less tension than a clear or lesser scummed surface, and such a scum, no matter how thin it may be, has the tendency to slide down if its liquid support or foundation displays any inclination to the horizon. Furthermore, a lathering liquid has a complex and resistible constitution sufficient to yield by partial dissociation, owing to the tension of the surface, a quasi solid scum, while the constant tendency of the viscous liquid to slip between two layers of scum is a very slow process."

RHEUMATISM & STIFF JOINTS

When you have any deep-seated pain in the joints, the back, the wrists, or elsewhere, place a liberal supply of Zam-Buk on the fingers, or on the palm of the hand, and rub it in. The penetrating power of this "embrocation-balm," kills pain and removes stiffness.

Sound rubbings of the affected parts with this wonderful balm will drive out all pain, reduce swelling, strengthen the skin and tissues (enabling them to resist cold and damp better during the winter months), and restore perfect elasticity and looseness.

MONTREAL LADY'S EXPERIENCE.

Mrs Frances Wyatt, of 25 Guy Avenue, Montreal, says: "I have found Zam-Buk most soothing and valuable in a very bad case of rheumatism, and also for stiffness of joints and muscles. I suffered badly and acutely from rheumatism, and tried one liniment after another in vain. I also took medicines internally, but it remained for Zam-Buk to effect a cure.

"I began applying this balm whenever I felt the aches and pains of rheumatism coming on, or felt any of the stiffness.

"The result was truly wonderful. Zam-Buk seemed to penetrate to the very seat of the pains, driving them out completely, and I am now quite cured."

WHAT ICE HOUSES AND STEAM DID FOR HIM.

Mr P. G. Wells, of 338, Ogden Street, Fort William, Ont., says: "Following my duties in attending to passenger trains, I often get wet through with rain and steam (the latter in winter). This with hours of duty in icehouses in summer, was no doubt the cause of my contracting rheumatism in both knees, left arm, and shoulder. This got so bad that I could no longer work, and was laid off on three different occasions for several weeks during which I was under the treatment of my doctor. I seemed to get little if any better, no matter what I tried, and this was my state when Zam-Buk was recommended to me. I laid in a supply, and to my great joy it began to cure me. I rubbed it well in every night, and when a few boxes had been used found I was free from the pain and stiffness of rheumatism. I have had no more trouble from the disease."

Zam-Buk is a positive and certain cure for cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, piles, festering sores, ulcers, scalds, blood-poisoning, eczema, scabs, chapped hands, cold cracks, chilblains, ringworm, scalp sores, bad leg, diseased ankles, and all other skin diseases and injuries. Rubbed well into the parts affected, it cures neuralgia, rheumatism, and sciatica. All druggists and stores sell at 50 c. box, three for $1 25 or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse the harmful imitations sometimes represented to be "just as good."

Outlook For The Spring Trade Among The Wholesale Houses

From Farm and Dairy.

Toronto, Monday, Feb. 22, 1909.—There are signs of spring in trade circles if not in climatic conditions. It is to be seen in the increasing volume of orders being received by wholesale houses. In groceries, in hardware, in paints and oils, better business is reported. Travellers report conditions improving in the country. Money keeps in good demand for mercantile purposes and also for building and land investment. Call loans rule at about 4 per cent., regular loans at 5½ to 6 per cent., and discounts at 6 to 7 per cent.

WHEAT

Patten still holds the upper hand in the speculative market. He has raised the price of May wheat at Chicago to $1.15⅝, which was Friday's quotation as compared with $1.01 for July option. Whether he will be able to keep his promise of putting May wheat to $1.40, remains to be seen. We are approaching, however, when crop conditions will play a more important part in the game. By manipulating these, the price may be advanced to a still higher fictitious value. The present price of $1.15⅝ a bush. is a fictitious one and is not warranted by market conditions generally. The Argentine and Australia continue to export in large quantities, which keeps the European market from advancing. That market has ruled fairly steady during the week with some fluctuations, and Liverpool closed on Friday ¼d. higher. Manitoba wheat continues strong, and the good milling wheats are in demand. On Friday the February option at Winnipeg was $1.08. Locally the market rules strong in spite of the heavier deliveries during the week. A considerable portion of the deliveries, it is said, is being stored in country elevators by farmers. Dealers here quote Ontario wheat at $1.01 to $1.03 a bush. at outside points. On Toronto farmers' market, fall wheat sells at $1.02 to $1.03 and goose wheat at 96c to 97c a bush. In spite of the strength of the wheat market some of the large milling companies are cutting the price of flour. Some are selling first patents at $5.50, which is claimed to be 60c a bbl. below the cost of production.

COARSE GRAINS

The oat market continues firm and prices are steadily advancing. No export business is being done as prices on this side are too high. The demand seems to be general, both the large centres and country towns are asking for supplies. Ontario oats are quoted at Montreal at 47c to 49c and Manitoba at 49½c to 50½c a bush. The market here is strong, though oats are being marketed a little more freely. Dealers quote 44c to 46c outside and 49c to 50c a bush. on the local farmers' market. Barley is on the quiet side, dealers here quoting 53c to 58c as to quality outside, and 56c to 60c on Toronto farmers' market. Peas are quoted at 86c outside.

FEEDS

Millfeeds continue firm at slightly higher prices. Montreal quotations are:—Manitoba bran, $21 to $22; Manitoba shorts, $24; Ontario bran, $23 to $24; shorts, $24.50 to $25; and middlings, $25 to $25.50 a ton in car lots in bags. Ontario bran is quoted here at $23, and shorts at $23 to $25 a ton in bags in car lots outside. The corn market rules firm. American corn is quoted at Montreal at 73½c to 74c in car lots there. Here the market rules firm at 72c to 73½c for American and 68c to 69c for Canadian Toronto freights. Feed barley is quoted at Montreal at 56c to 57c in store.

SEEDS

There is no change in the seed market situation. Dealers here quote alsike at $7.75 to $8.25, red clover at $6, and timothy at $1.75 to $2.25 a bush. Dealers are paying $6.75 to $7.75 for Alsike; $4.50 to $5.50 for red clover, and $1.50 to $2.10 for timothy seed as to quality at local country points.

HAY AND STRAW

There is no change in the hay market. A good steady local supply is reported at Montreal, which helps to keep down the price of baled hay shipped there. The demand is reported fair for car lots, and the English markets rule fairly steady. Montreal quotations for baled hay in car lots are: No. 1, $11 to $11.50; No. 2, $9 to $10; No. 3, $8 to $9; clover mixed, $7.50 to $8.50; clover, $7 to $7.50 a ton. Baled hay is quoted here at $10.75 to $11 for No. 1 timothy; inferior $9 to $10; and baled straw $6.50 to $7.50 a ton in car lots on track Toronto. Deliveries on the farmers' market here have ruled rather light during the week. Timothy hay sells at $12 to $13.50; mixed, $10 to $10.50; straw in bundles, $12 to $13; and loose straw, $7 to $8 a ton.

POTATOES AND BEANS

The potato market is firmer though there is no material change in quotations. Quebec potatoes are quoted at Montreal at 75c to 80c a bag in car lots. Ontarios are quoted here at 65c a bag in car lots on track and on Toronto farmers' market at 75c to 80c a bag.

The bean market rules strong but trade is quiet as dealers do not feel inclined to pay the prices shippers are asking. Shippers in Western Ontario quote beans at $1.85 a bush. in car lots at Montreal. Dealers here quote beans at $1.90 to $2 for primes and $2.10 to $2.20 a bush. for hand picked.

EGGS AND POULTRY

Eggs are beginning to arrive in larger quantities and prices are gradually getting lower. At Montreal 29c to 30c a doz. are the quotations for straight receipts of new laid and the indications are for lower prices. Stocks of held eggs, however, are very light and if new laid do not arrive in too large quantities present prices may be fairly well maintained for a while yet. The milder weather has brought out larger receipts here and at the moment the market is easier, new laid being quoted at 27c to 28c and storage at 25c to 26c in case lots. On Toronto farmers' market new laid sell at 30c to 35c a doz.

The dressed poultry trade is quiet at steady prices. In a jobbing way, chickens sell at 14c to 15c; fowl, at 10c to 11c; and turkeys at 18c to 19c a lb. dressed. On Toronto farmers' market dressed chickens sell at 16c to 18c; fowl at 12c to 13c, and turkeys at 22c to 25c a lb.

DAIRY PRODUCTS

The cheese market continues firm and it looks now as if all the cheese made in 1908 will be wanted and more, too, before the make of 1909 begins to appear in marketable quantities. Holders at Montreal are now asking 13 1-4c to 13 1-4c for finest colored, and 13 3-4c for finest whites. Canadian cheese is quoted in England at 63s to 65s; New Zealand, 2s lower. Dealers here quote cheese to the trade at 13c to 13 1-4c for large and 13½c to 13 3-4c for twins.

The butter market is not so strong as that of cheese. Choice grades of fall creamery are scarce but there appears to be a plentiful supply of other grades. It is reported that there are considerable stocks of creamery held at country points and until these are worked off the market is not expected to improve very much. Choice fall creamery is reported at Montreal at 25c to 26c and fresh receipts at 22c to 24c. Choice grades of butter are scarce here and the market for these is firm. There is, however, a plentiful supply of inferior stock which is easier. Dealers quote choice creamery prints at 25c to 28c; choice dairy prints, 22c to 24c; dairy tubs and large rolls at 20c to 21c; and inferior at 17c to 18c in a wholesale way. On Toronto farmers' market dairy prints sell at 25c to 27c and solids at 22c to 25c a lb.

THE MARKET REPORTS

From Farm and Dairy.

UNION STOCK YARDS HORSE EXCHANGE

While the horse trade shows considerable activity, there is not much change in prices. At the Union Stock Yards Horse Exchange last week about 100 horses were disposed of. Good, medium chunks seem to be in the most demand for the Northwest and farm work. Drivers also are in more demand. Several carloads were shipped to the Northwest and Ontario points during the week. Prices rule about as follows: Drafters, $160 to $185, with a few extra choice quality selling as high at $210; general purpose and wagon horses, $140 to $190; farm blocks, $100 to $160; seconds in this class, $85 to $130; drivers, $100 to $165, and serviceably sound horses of all classes at $40 to $85 each.

UNION STOCK YARDS PRICES

West Toronto, Monday, Feb. 22.—There was a light run at the Union Stock Yards this morning and prices ruled steady with choice cattle higher. Choice export cattle sold up to $5.60; export cows sold at $4 to $4.50; export bulls at $4 to $4.50; choice butchers' cattle sold as high as $5 a cwt.; medium, $4 to $4.50; heifers, $3.75 to $4.50; butchers' cows, at $3.50 to $4 a cwt.; veal calves sold at $3 to $6.50; export ewes at $4.25 to $4.50; rams at $2.50 to $3.50 and lambs at $5.50 to $6.50 a cwt. Hogs are scarce and packers cannot get all they want. They are quoted at $6.40 f. o. b. at country points, and at $6.65 fed and watered on the market here.—J. W. W.

THIS WEEK'S HOG PRICES

The Wm. Davies Co., Toronto, are not giving quotations this week for hogs. They explained to Farm and Dairy that they did not know definitely what the price would be. They report a slight improvement in the quality of the hogs coming in over a couple of weeks ago, but there are still too many over fat hogs arriving that are not suitable for making the best Wiltshire sides. Danish killings last week totalled 42,000 hogs.

MONTREAL HOG MARKET

Montreal, Saturday, February 20.—The market for live hogs this week opened weak owing to the heavy offerings and the difficulty of finding a buyer at the prices current the previous week. The best price obtainable was in the neighborhood of $7.25 a cwt. for selected lots weighed off cars. Towards the close of the week, however, the market firmed up with a falling off in the supplies, and dealers were able to get as high as $7.50 a cwt. in some cases.

The market for dressed hogs closed firmer also, and prices were maintained at the high level reached last week, viz., $10 to $10.50 a cwt. for fresh-killed abattoir stock; Manitoba dressed, $9.50 to $9.75, and country dressed at $8.50 to $9.50 a cwt.

PETERBORO HOG MARKET

Peterboro, Feb. 22, 1909.—The delivery of hogs on the local markets last week was very light. Danish deliveries on the English market last week were 42,000. The demand for bacon in England is very weak. The George Matthews Co. quote the following prices for this week: f.o.b. country points, $6.40 a cwt., weighed off cars, $6.75 a cwt.; delivered at abattoir, $6.50 a cwt.

LIVE STOCK

The live stock market here maintained a fairly steady tone all week, especially where the quality was good. There are too many medium unfinished cattle offering and not enough of prime quality of either exporters or butchers'. On Thursday at the city market here there were few finished steers and heifers on hand. One old-time cattle dealer is reported as saying that there was not one properly fitted bullock on the market that day. Butchers complain that the unfinished cattle offering do not kill out well. Instead of dressing 53 and 54 lbs. per cwt., as properly fed cattle would, they do not go more than 50 to 51 lbs. Buyers refuse to pay the price drovers are asking for this class of cattle and consequently trade has ruled slow and draggy, not a few drovers losing money on their shipments. On the other hand well finished stuff is steady, and there is not enough to supply the demand.

The export trade has ruled a little quiet, though if enough of the right quality was offering the market would be brisker. The top price quoted on Thursday was $5.35 and down to $5.10 a cwt. Better quality would bring higher prices. Export bulls sold at $4.10 to $4.25 for the better quality selling at $4.40 a cwt.

Some exporters were bought for butchers at $5.15 to $5.35. The ruling quotations for straight butchers' stock are: Picked butchers', $4.60 to $4.80; good cattle, for $4.15 to $4.55; cows, $3.50 to $4.25; canners and common cows, $1.50 to $2.80, and bulls $3 to $4.25 a cwt.

Trade in feeders and stockers rules fair, considering the number offering. Quotations are about as follows: Best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, $3.75 to $4.25; medium $3.60 to $4, and stockers, $2.75 to $3 a cwt. Fleshy steers sold too high for butchers' purposes to make profitable buying as short keep feeders.

The offerings of milkers and springers during the week were large and the market ruled strong for choice quality. Prices on Thursday ranged from $35 to $65, with a few earlier in the week selling for more money. Common light cows are slow sale, at about $30 each. Weekly auction sales of milch cows will be established at the Horse Exchange, Union Stock Yards, West Toronto, the first sale to be held on Feb. 23rd. This sale will doubtless be of value to cow buyers, especially to those from the outside.

Calves sold firmer on Thursday than earlier in the week, especially for the best vealers. Prices ranged from $3 to $7 a cwt.

Lambs were easier and were quoted slow of sale on Thursday at $5.50 to $6.75 a cwt. Dealers are expecting a lower market still. This week export sheep are quoted at $4 to $4.50, and rams at $3 to $3.75 a cwt. At Buffalo lambs are quoted lower at $5 to $7.90 per cwt.

Hogs ruled steady all week at $6.60 a cwt. for selects fed and watered on the market here, and $6.35 to $6.40 f.o.b. at country points. The Trade Bulletin's London cable of Feb. 18 quotes bacon as follows: "Market is quiet with prices about as last quoted. Canadian, 53s to 56s."

EXPORT BUTTER AND CHEESE

Montreal, Saturday, Feb. 20.—The cheese trade is very quiet with orders at a premium, and the stock of unsold cheese here is gradually dwindling away. Mail advices from the other side indicate fairly strong markets there with prices about a shilling up all around. The arrivals of New Zealand cheese are steadily increasing, and the British dealers are devoting more of their attention to the disposal of these goods than to the remnants of the Canadian make. New Zealand cheese do not bring as good prices as Canadians, our cheese commanding a premium of fully ½c a lb over the other. The large quantity of New Zealands offering, however, is likely to keep prices from advancing any further.

Shipments from here during the past week totalled nearly 8,600 boxes and it is expected that fully as many more will be shipped out this week. This will reduce the stock here considerably, and at the end of the month there should not be more than 50,000 boxes in Canada. Dealers here will be glad to see the last of them as the season has not been a very profitable one.

The butter market has steadied itself somewhat since the recent decline in prices, and there has been no downward movement to note. There seems to be a little more demand at the lower prices asked and this seems to be maintaining the market at present. Prices are likely to be maintained at the present level for a week or two provided there is no falling off in the present demand, or a sudden increase in the receipts from the country.

VEGETABLE GROWERS' ASSOCIATION MEETING

From Farm and Dairy.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association was held recently in the office of the secretary-treasurer, Parliament buildings, Toronto. Mr. R. H. Lewis, Hamilton, president was in the chair. Among the directors present were: Messrs. Thos. Delworth, Weston; F. F. Reeves, Humber Bay; Jas. Dandridge, Mimico; J. W. Rush, Humber Bay, C. Sharpley, Bracondale; E. J. Mahoney, Hamilton; C.W. Baker and F. W. Fuller, London; Wm. Parsons, Sarnia; F. Chappus and W. W. Weaver, Chatham; R. J. Bushell and J. N. Watts, Kingston.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The branches at London and Sarnia were awarded the prizes offered for the largest increases in membership. London, receiving $12 and Sarnia $8.

A letter was read from W. O. Sealy, M.P., for Wentworth and the following resolution re increased protection to vegetable growers was taken up. Mr. Sealy's proposed resolution—

"That in the opinion of this House so long as the Canadian Tariff affords, incidentally or otherwise, a considerable degree of protection to manufacturers some protection may fairly and properly be afforded by our tariff to Canadian agriculturists and stock raisers upon hogs, hog products, garden vegetables and such other items as it may appear possible to so protect with advantage to the agriculturists and without undue injury to the Canadian consumer."

A copy of the bill respecting agricultural fertilizers was also laid before the meeting, and the clauses fully discussed, and many of them declared to be unworkable. A committee of the president, A. McMeans, F. F. Reeves, and the secretary were authorized to draft amendments and forward same to the government.

Notice of motion was given by F. F. Reeves, that the name of the association be changed to read "The Ontario Vegetable and Small Fruit Growers' Association." This matter will be considered at the next annual meeting. It was also decided to continue the experiments started last year with approved varieties of vegetables, by different branches.

Messrs. Delworth, Reeves, Mahoney and Sharpley were elected delegates to the Ontario Horticultural Exhibition for 1909. Mr. Delworth was appointed a member of the nomenclature committee of the Ontario Horticultural Association.

It was decided to continue the system of offering prizes to the branches securing the largest percentage of increase of membership during the year.

The following officers were elected: Pres., T. Delworth, Weston; 1st vice-pres., F. C. Fuller, London; 2nd vice-pres., W. W. Parsons, Sarnia; executive committee, T. Delworth, F. F. Reeves, J. Lockie Wilson, and R. H. Lewis.

CERTIFICATES FOR CHEESE MAKERS'

From Farm and Dairy.

In considering the question of granting certificates to makers the nature of the work the maker performs must not be lost sight of. Skill, intelligence and close application are necessary. Upon the proportion of these qualities a maker possesses will depend his success and the service he can render to his employers. There are few callings where superior intelligence, skill and careful attention to duty will give a better return than in cheese and butter-making. There is no chance or rule of thumb methods about the business. The maker who does not know his business cannot succeed, or at least he cannot make a first-class product every day in the year.

In conversation with an individual recently, who had travelled about the country considerably, and who in the course of his travels had occasion to drop into several cheese factories, he volunteered the information that he thought he could go through the routine of cheese-making without any difficulty. In the course of his travels he had learned, or thought he had learned, the temperature at which the rennet is added, the amount of rennet to add, the finger test to show when the milk was sufficiently coagulated to be cut, the temperature when the curd would be sufficiently cooked, the time for running off the whey, the amount of stirring given the curd before allowing it to matt together, the number of turnings required before it was ready for the grinder, the amount of salt used and the methods by which the curd was put in the presses. From this knowledge obtained in a casual way he concluded that it was not such a difficult matter to make cheese after all.

Important as all these things are in cheese-making they are only on the surface, as it were, of the business. It is a knowledge of the condition of the milk, and the curd at the different stages in the process, when the rennet is added, when the whey is run off, when the curd is ready for grinding or salting that is the important thing in cheese-making. This knowledge cannot be learned in a day. In fact there are men, who have been making cheese for years, who have not yet thoroughly learned the varied conditions affecting milk and curd, and have such a knowledge of the business as to do the right thing at the right time. A beginner can soon learn to heat the milk to the proper temperature, to add the right amount of rennet, and to do the other things which our friend mentioned. But no manager of a factory would think of allowing an apprentice of even several months' standing to take charge of a vat of milk and run it through till ready for the press. It may be done occasionally. But the maker takes a great risk in so doing and is liable to have some inferior cheese on his hands.

OUR CANADIAN WINTER.

From Farm and Dairy.

Fresh air is one of the first essentials of life. An abundant supply is necessary at all times. Its value in earlier days was little understood if such a conclusion might be drawn from the lack of provisions made for supplying it to houses and to live stock when in winter quarters. Winter is a severe tax upon the health of any life that is maintained within unventilated buildings.

Our Canadian winter is one of the most healthful of seasons. With plenty of fresh air supplied at all times by some adequate means of ventilation, the winter need have no terrors. It is when we seal ourselves up in heated rooms from which the outside air has been excluded that health begins to wane.

If one would cope with the pulmonary affections to which man is heir he should aim to breath pure air at all times. Such can readily be obtained, though true, frequently at a loss of heat. Any increase in the fuel bill however, as a result of ventilating will be largely offset by better health and fewer calls from the doctor. Make fresh air your watchword. It will lengthen your days.

CONSIDERING THE CANAL ESTIMATES

Hon. Mr. Graham Discusses Work of Department.

PREMIER ANSWERS CURRIE

Major's Criticisms of Treaty Were Based on a Misprint—Mr. Graham Declines to Be Drawn Out on the Government's Plans Regarding Georgian Bay Canal — Senate Resumed Session Yesterday.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Under the guidance of Hon. Mr. Graham, the House of Commons spent a considerable part of yesterday's session in a survey of the canals system, the estimates for which were under consideration. An effort was made by the Opposition to obtain from the Minister of Railways a statement as to his policy regarding canals, but Mr. Graham declined to be drawn. The House and country, he observed, knew his attitude on the whole question of transportation, and he would reserve any additional statement he had to make until the Intercolonial budget came to be considered. This year the policy of the Government was not to launch out on any new undertakings. Those under construction would be proceeded with and pushed to completion, but no new works would be taken up this year. While Canada's waterways were the best in the world, they were still capable of development, and he hoped such development would not be long in coming.

Major Sam Sharpe raised the question of the Newmarket canal, and sundry jibes were hurled at the Minister in this connection.

Mr. Graham reminded the Opposition that the Trent Valley Canal had as much fun poked at them when it was projected, but now it had come to be regarded as an important link in our water communications. Even the Newmarket Canal would, he thought, be a valuable adjunct.

"How will they get water into it?" asked Dr. Reid.

This was the question for the engineers to answer, said Mr. Graham. Competent engineers had said that a system of storage for this canal was perfectly feasible.

Mr. Graham, after further criticism, said that the Newmarket Canal, ten miles in length, would cost about $60,000, of which some $20,000 had been spent.

The Minister was anxious to have the estimates put through at 6 o'clock, but the Opposition refused, and so, when the House resumed at 8 o'clock, the Public Works estimates were taken up.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave Major Currie of North Simcoe his answer yesterday afternoon. On Tuesday the member from North Simcoe called attention to the boundary treaty of 1908, alleging that Canada had been tricked by the United States negotiations in this way: that while it was the intention to follow the lines laid down by the Ashburton treaty, the word "not" had been secretly omitted from the provision that the boundary line "shall not intersect islands along its course." This referred to the Pigeon river, which separates Ontario from the State of Minnesota.

The Parliamentary paper which was quoted by Major Currie had contained a misprint.

The Speaker having informed the House of the election of Edward Kidd for the electoral division of Carleton, Mr. Borden and Richard Blain withdrew and presently introduced Mr. Kidd in the form prescribed amid thunderous Opposition applause.

Mr. Borden referred to a newspaper report of an address before the Canadian Club of Toronto of Geo. C. Gibbons, one of the Canadian representatives on the international waterways commission. In view of the fact that Mr. Gibbons had discussed the waterways treaty, the Prime Minister should expedite the presentation of that treaty to Parliament.

Sir Wilfrid replied that the treaty had not been communicated officially to Congress, although it had been submitted to the United States Senate.

"We have been pressing," he continued, "to have authority to place it at once on the table, but, as my honorable friends knows, we are bound by certain rules."

"How about Mr. Gibbons?" asked Mr. Foster.

"He discussed it because he saw it in the papers, I am afraid with at authority," replied the Prime Minister.

"I am afraid he has been a little fresh," commented Mr. Foster.

The Senate re-assembled yesterday. Senator Campbell's bill relating to the water carriage of goods was given a second reading. It is designed to prevent steamship companies contracting themselves out of liability for damage to goods while in their custody in transit.

Sir Richard Cartwright moved the second reading of the bill to amend the annuities act. One amendment provides that a man and woman each of whom have taken out annuities may each continue to have the right to annuity up to $600, should they marry. Another provision will allow a husband to share his annuity with his wife. Another provision will allow a person having bought annuities in class "B," where payments end with death, to contract himself out of his agreement with the Government and have refunded the amount paid in.

Sir Richard said the indications were that the public were going to avail themselves largely of the opportunities afforded them by the annuities act. The bill was read the second time.

Alberta's Railway Projects.

Edmonton, Feb. 26.—At a session lasting till midnight a practically unanimous vote of the Legislature endorsed the railway policy of the Government as set out in resolutions introduced by Premier Rutherford and accompanied by bills to guarantee the bonds of the C.N.R. and G.T.P. and other branch lines, totalling 1,681 miles and with a guarantee of $27,433,000. Scarcely a corner of the province is left unprovided for, and Alberta will be gridironed with railways.

Train Crew to Rescue.

St. Thomas, Feb. 26.—A wire from the crew on the Michigan Central train which left here yesterday morning for Courtright says a delay of one hour and fifty minutes was occasioned at Muhcey station while the train hands and passengers built a raft and rescued two men and three women from a buggy which was standing in four feet of broken ice and water in the middle of the road.

The water was ten feet deep at the side of the roads.

May Reduce Fine to $720,000.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—U. S. District Judge Anderson broadly intimated yesterday that he will rule that the limit of offence in the Standard Oil rebating case will be the 36th settlements of freight charges.

Under this ruling, if made, a fine of only $720,000 is possible, as compared with Judge Landis' assessment of $29,240,000 in the original case.

MacVeagh For Treasury.

New York, Feb. 26.—All qualifications of uncertainty in the prediction that Franklin MacVeagh of Chicago has been selected by President-elect Taft as his Secretary of the Treasury, are probably removed. Mr. MacVeagh accepted the place yesterday.

Public Opinion Against War.

Paris, Feb. 26.—Ex-President Loubet is the author of an article published yesterday, maintaining that the world is marching steadily towards a regime of universal peace for the reason that public opinion against war is crystalizing everywhere and will eventually become irresistible.

Would Free Gaynor and Greene.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Senator Bacon of Georgia is behind a bill to parole the Government prisoners. Gaynor and Greene, who were arrested at Quebec and whose subsequent trials were most sensational. Friends especially interested are trying to put the measure through.

People Waste Power.

Port Arthur, Feb. 26.—Evidence was given at the civic investigation yesterday that one-third the lighting power is wasted by people of the city owing to useless consumption by reason of being on a flat rate. It will likely mean introducing a meter system, which should further reduce rates, which are now the second lowest in Ontario.

Floods at Cobourg.

Cobourg, Feb. 26.—For the first time in twenty years the creek which runs through the town and under King street overflowed, flooding the cellars of nearly every business place on the street. On Covet street some of the families had to take shelter in the second storey of their homes.

First Governor of Borneo.

Sir William Treacher, whose daughter, Miss Daisy Treacher, has been married in London, enjoys the distinction of having been the first governor of British North Borneo. Born in Wellington, Somerset, in December, 1849, he went out to Labuan as a police magistrate when he was 22, and went ahead rapidly. After successfully governing British North Borneo for seven years—he possessed a happy knack of getting along smoothly with the natives—Sir William was transferred to Perak, a strong man being needed there at the time, and for some years he had control of the interesting combination, formed under treaty in 1895, known as the Federated Malay States.

The Boy and the Apples.

Here is the latest from Dr. Macnamara's budget of schoolboy stories. When he was Parliamentary Secretary of the British Board of Trade he visited a school and asked a boy, who was learning vulgar fractions, which he would prefer — the fifteenth or sixteenth part of an apple. Thinking perhaps, that it sounded more, the boy replied the sixteenth part. "I looked pained," said Dr. Macnamara. "and the boy hastened to add, 'But, I don't like apples.'"

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—The railways reported receipts of 100 carloads of live stock for Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 1712 cattle, 1631 hogs, 298 sheep and lambs, with 134 calves.

Exporters.

Export steers are not selling as high as they were a few weeks past, and at present the outlook to say the least is not bright. The cattle on the market today did not make the drovers any money, barely paying expenses, altho there were some of the best seen on the market this season. Of course they were bought at the time when all things pointed to higher prices, but there was one load weighing 1410 lbs. that would be hard to beat on any market, and they did not make any money for the drover or dealers handling them, having been bought at too high a price from the farmer. Export steers sold at $5.20 to $5.40, with the best load seen on the market this season, at $5.60. The latter price is no criterion to go by, as there are few like them in the country. Export bulls sold at $4 to $4.50 with now and again one at $4.75 to $5 per cwt.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots sold at $4.85 to $5.15; loads of good, $4.50 to $4.75; medium, $4 to $4.40; common, $3.50 to $4; cows, $3 to $4.25; canners and common cows, $1.50 to $2.50; butcher bulls, $3 to $4.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report very light receipts of feeders and stockers. During the week the Messrs. Murby handled about 120 cattle at the following quotations: Best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, at $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.; medium, same weights, $3.60 to $4; stockers, 500 to 700 lbs., at $2.75 to $3.

Milkers and Springers.

Steady prices were again paid for milkers and springers to-day. Messrs. Tardiff of Quebec and N. Deslet of Montreal being on the market, made prices stronger than they otherwise would have been. Prices ranged from $30 to $60, with two extra quality cows going at $69 each.

Veal Calves.

The market for good veales was strong. Prices ranged from $3 to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts have been light all week, with market strong. Export ewes, $4 to $4.50; rams, $3.25 to $3.75; lambs, $5.50 to $6 per cwt. for common and choice grain fed at $6.50 to $7 per cwt.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris quotes selects, $6.75, fed and watered, and $6.50, f.o.b., cars, country points; sows, $4 to $5 per cwt.; stags, $2 to $3 per cwt., as to quality.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Beeves—Receipts 752; feeling, nominally steady; dressed beef, in moderate demand, at 8c to 10c for native sides.

Calves—Receipts, 11 head; feeling, steady; prime veals, sold at 11c; dressed calves, firm; city dressed veals, selling at 10c to 16½c per lb., country dressed at 9c to 15c; a few at 15½c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2000. Feeling, nominally firm. Dressed mutton, steady, at 7c to 10c; dressed lambs, at 11c to 15½c; country dressed hot-house lambs, lower, at $7 to $10 per carcase.

IDLE HORSES ON THE FARM.

From Farm and Dairy.

My idle horses, every fair day throughout the winter, are turned loose into a yard. Being used to their liberty, they will not run and frolic as much as they would were they turned out but once or twice a week. In this way, they get the exercise so necessary for their good health.

Care must be taken not to change the feed too quickly. The horses, having been used to plenty of good, strong food, must not be put on a totally different ration at once. I gradually take away part of the heavy grain and replace it with bran and a few roots once a day. I make use of a home-made condiment for my horses at this time. It is made of 10 quarts of salt, five pounds of stock salts, four pounds of sulphur. I feed a teaspoonful of this mixture to a horse each day for at least one month after they are stabled. I always exercise care not to feed too much hay but just sufficient that they will clean it up well.

After the horses have been stabled for some time and have been accustomed to the change from outdoor to indoor life, from green to dry feed and from heavy to lighter feed, I cut equal amounts of straw, hay and corn stalks together. The floor in the passage in front of the horses being cement, I place the cut food, sufficient for one day's feeding, about a foot deep on this. The mixture is dampened well and about two quarts of rolled oats and bran for each horse placed on top and the whole mixed well together. By practising this method of feeding and caring for horses, I can keep them in good health, good flesh and in good spirits.

EXPERIMENTAL FARM NEWS.

From Farm and Dairy.

An Ayrshire cow, Marjorie 10536, at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, has recently completed an extra good record. A representative of Farm and Dairy, while in Ottawa last week was informed by Mr. J. H. Grisdale, of the Experimental Farm, that in seven days, Feb. 8 to Feb. 14, this cow had given 396 lbs. milk testing 5.1 per cent or 20.22 lbs. butterfat. The average daily production of milk was 56½ lbs.

While the amount of milk produced was not exceptional it was produced at comparatively little cost, owing to the small amount of feed consumed. During the seven days this cow consumed daily 50 to 60 lbs. of roots, 25 lbs. ensilage, 5 lbs. clover hay and 15 lbs. meal. The meal was composed of 6 lbs. bran, 3 lbs. pea meal, 3 lbs. oil meal, 2 lbs. gluten and 1 lb. oats.

The butter produced at the Experimental Farm has been selling at 35 cents a lb. The butter produced by this cow each day, therefore, was worth $1.10. Allowing a value of 12 cents a day for skim milk, the total value of her product was $1.22 a day. Mr. Grisdale estimated that her feed cost 30 cents a day leaving a profit of 92 cents a day.

suspended, Judge Winchester remarks.

"Last winter we fed molasses to our dairy cows and they did well on it," said Mr. Hector Gordon, of Howick, Quebec, to a staff representative of Farm and Dairy who visited his place recently. "The cows were fed cut straw with ensilage on it, and some molasses diluted with water spread over all. The cows not only ate it up clean but they licked their mangers and looked for more.

"The molasses cost us on an average 30 cents a gallon. It required about four gallons a week to feed 15 cows twice a day. Our grocer bought us the molasses last year by the hogshead, delivered in car loads at our station. This winter we are unable to feed it as the price of molasses has advanced."

DAIRYMEN'S MEEETING.

From Farm and Dairy.

At a meeting of the executive of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association held at Kingston recently, a committee was appointed to wait upon the Minister of Agriculture and ask for legislation which will in future prevent the building of cheese or butter factories in any locality unless a certain number of cows is assured and the site of such building has been approved by the chief inspector or some other appointee of the government.

A resolution was also passed that the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa be requested to grant the same amount of money to cheese factories as is now granted to creameries providing the factories put in the appliances for the cool curing of cheese.—R. G. Murphy, Secretary.

A WOMAN'S BACK WAS NOT MADE TO ACHE.

Thousands of Women Suffer Untold Misery Every Day With Aching Backs That Really Have No Business To Ache.

Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Backaches come from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

SEVERE PAINS IN BACK.

Mrs. O. Warren, Radisson, Sask., writes: "I was troubled with very severe pains in my back for years. I tried everything I could think of but they did me no good. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking two boxes, I have not been troubled since.

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.35, all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FIRST PRIZE FOR BUTTER

From Farm and Dairy.

Editor, Farm and Dairy:—I was an exhibitor at Toronto Exhibition last year and won first prize on my butter in the farm dairy class. This butter was made from the milk of thirteen grade Shorthorn cows. The cows were pasturing in a field of second growth clover, and had no grain. Their milk would average about 25 lbs of milk to a lb of butter. The Mellotte Separator was used and it has never missed a skimming in over eight years.

After separating the cream was placed in ice water to cool. I always use a portion of ripe cream as a starter, 1 pint to 1 quart, according to the temperature of the cream at the time used and keep the cream well stirred. I always put in the starter when I churn so that the ripening process is going on when the cream is at a low temperature; and always have the fresh cream at the same temperature.

Then I let it raise to 58 or 60 degrees and keep it at that temperature for 24 hours after the last cream has been added. I usually churn about 12 gallons in a No. 4 Daisy churn. It takes about one hour when the cows are on the grass as it is harder to get butter then than when the cows are in the stable. I use a little butter color according to the season of the year. But it takes less in summer.

When the butter breaks or separates I add, if the weather is warm, a pail of cold water at about 50 degrees. Then I turn the churn until the butter is well up above the milk and is in grains about the size of shot and looks like hail and will fall over in the churn just as hail would do in winter. I then put in a pail of water carefully pouring it all over the surface of the butter. Then rock the churn back and forth 3 or 4 times. I then run off this water and put in 2 full palls of water, turn the churn 10 times round, then run off the water. When there is a very small stream I stop. I weigh churn and butter together. Knowing the weight of my churn I deduct that from the total. I usually have about from 32 to 36 lbs. butter at a churning. I use one ounce of salt to the lb with one ounce extra for the churn. I then turn the churn until the butter is collected from the sides of the churn and a brine has formed in the churn. One must salt to suit the trade.

I have found that the time to stop churning is one of the most important points in making butter. Prof. Dean says: "It is a nice thing to know when to stop churning." I will give you one of my experiences in this matter. Some years ago I had a niece come to live with me for a time and she helped me with my work. She was a bright, clever girl. We worked together at all there was to do, churning as well as other work. We were at that time sending our butter to a grocer in Toronto who gave us a good price for it. All went well until my niece began to do some churning alone. Then complaints came that our butter was not as good as usual. We could not tell why. Every detail was looked into. The cows' feed, utensils, everything were made perfectly clean, the cream was kept at an even temperature. Yet the complaints came that our butter was not as good as it used to be.

It turned out that we all took La-Grippe and my niece went home for a time. I then did all the churning myself. When the next tub was sent to the grocer he sent back word it was the best tub of butter he had received for a long time. I could not for the life of me tell what I had done to make the butter good. Then my niece came back and was doing the churning again.

We determined to watch and find out if there was any difference in our work. All was the same. One day when she had finished churning, she called me to come and see it. The butter was about ¼ or ⅜ of an inch, raised out of the milk. It was cold and in fine condition. I asked her if she thought it was finished. She said yes. This explained all the trouble. I then took the churn, turned it 200 times before I said it was finished. The butter was then raised about 3 inches out of the milk. There has never been a complaint since that time.

I work the butter and put it away as soon as churned. I find it is better every way than when it is left for a length of time. It ought to be kept in a refrigerator or some cold place until it is consumed.

A good way, if you have nothing better is to place a piece of zinc over the tub or box, set a tin dish over that filled with ice. This keeps the butter in good condition. We use one of C. Richardson's refrigerator butter carriers. It is a good thing in summer. Try as we may to make good butter it is very much as Prof. Dean says: "It takes good common sense mixed up along with it all." I trust this letter may be helpful to some beginner. We are never done learning. —Mrs. Wm. Whitelaw, Grey Co., Ont.

RURAL TELEPHONES.

From Farm and Dairy.

Most of us who have not taken the trouble to look into the question, think of the telephone and the telephone exchange as being a complicated mechanism, which only experts can install and operate. To a large degree this is true of the sort of system that is required by a city having a population of over four or five thousand, but with the rural system fortunately for the farmer—it is different.

With the rural system there may or may not be a central switchboard. As a rule, a rural system starts with just one line about as follows:

A number of farmers living on the same side of a town get together and decide to build, for their mutual benefit, a telephone line. Each man agrees to cut, peel and haul a given number of poles—30 poles about 22 feet or 25 feet long being required for each mile of line.

Before the poles, which are set in the ground three and a half feet, are erected, two brackets, on the end of each of which is fastened a glass insulator, are nailed to the pole, one 18 inches over the other. Having set the poles, two double galvanized iron telephone wires are strung the entire length of the line. Branch lines, taking care of the farmers living off the main route, can be fastened to the main line wires at any point.

When the wire is all strung, each joint being carefully soldered, in order to be sure of having a good, tight contact between each section, two wires are run, one from each of the main line wires, to two binding posts located on the telephone set which the farmer has installed in his residence.

So far has the telephone been perfected as to make it possible for as many as 35 or 40 telephones to be installed on such a line as that described, and the total length of the line, including the length of the branch lines, may be 40 or 45 miles.

What we have described, is a so-called "full metallic" system. While costing at the outset somewhat more than the one-wire "grounded" system, it gives better results under all conditions.

The total cost of all the material (less poles) required to build a mile of "full metallic" line is but $13.74, and the very best telephone on the market, with all material for installing it ready for use, can be had for $13.00. If we assume, therefore, that there will be on an average one telephone for every mile of line, the grand total initial cost for each far- $26.74.

The maintenance expense on such a line, including wear and tear on the equipment, should be less than $3 a year. Just think of it—for 25 cents a month the farmer can have telephone service with his neighbor, doctor, broker and merchant. At a slightly larger expense he can usually have access to the town exchange and toll lines, through these reaching all of their local subscribers and long distance points.

What other agency than the rural telephone can more economically or efficiently increase the earning power of our farms and farmers, or increase the pleasure of farm life? Perhaps we are not far wrong in believing that the general use of the rural telephone will, aside from increasing wonderfully the value of our farm property, do more towards protecting the home than any or all other agencies combined.

The cost is insignificant as compared with the benefits secured. Certainly this is a subject worthy of your most careful consideration.

RENEWING RUN-DOWN LAND.

From Farm and Dairy.

I have bought a piece of land which is light soil and in run down condition, some distance away. How is the best way to build it up? Would it be advisable to plow in the spring, sow to buckwheat, and plow down as a fertilizer, then sow a second lot of buckwheat for a crop?—A Subscriber.

Soil as described is difficult to build up without barnyard manure. Sowing buckwheat thereon to be plowed under is a possible and practicable method. Attempting to grow a crop of buckwheat to harvest after the first crop has been turned under, does not seem to me very advisable. I would suggest rather that in plowing, preparatory to sowing to buckwheat, a very shallow furrow be turned, say, three to three inches and a half. Work the land well before sowing to buckwheat, allow the crop to grow till about one foot high, then roll and plow with a furrow about the same depth as before or very slightly deeper if necessary.

Work thoroughly by disc harrowing, harrowing and rolling, then, if not later than July 20th, sow clover seed at rate of 10 lbs. an acre. Sow broadcast by hand, then harrow and roll. Roll twice if the land is very loose or dry.

If later than July 20th before land is ready to sow, hold for three or four weeks, and sow fall rye on the field at the rate of one bushel per acre. This might be allowed to grow till fairly late in the fall, when it might be pastured for a time. The next spring plow with a shallow furrow again and sow oats or spring rye and seed down with clover, 10 lbs. an acre.

In any case, if you wish to get your land into good shape, at an early date, do not think of trying to get a crop off it the first year. Devote the first year to getting the soil into such shape as will permit of its growing clover.

The clover and timothy should be allowed to stand for two years, if possible. It would be better to pasture for that period, but, if necessary, a crop of hay might be taken off the spring of the first year. The cattle should not be turned on too soon after the hay is cut, and then the field should be left under pasture till the following August, when it should again be plowed with a shallow furrow (not over four inches deep), work thoroughly by rolling and disc harrowing to insure rotting of the sod. Harrow with smoothing harrow, when necessary to level and fill in holes. In October ridge up with double mould board plow as though preparing land for roots.

During the winter apply a light dressing of barnyard manure and sow to corn the next spring. If no manure is available, or if corn is not grown, then sow to oats and seed down with 10 lbs. red clover and 10 lbs. timothy per acre. Repeat the rotation described above. The results will most certainly be highly satisfactory.—J. H. Grisdale, C. E. F., Ottawa.

EVERY FARMER SHOULD KEEP EXPENSE ACCOUNT

From Farm and Dairy.

What manufacturer would attempt to run his business without an office? We, as farmers, being business men, should have an office in which to transact the many items of business connected with the farm. We are inclined at times to look enviously towards the manufacturer as having made a great success, as well as money, in his business. How did he do it? Was not his business office a large factor?

In every farm house there should be, if possible, a separate room, which could be termed the office. Failing this, there should, at least, be some corner wherein could be kept the books and papers relating to the farm. A separate room is much to be preferred. Such a room, when furnished, and conveniently arranged, will form a den in which the farmer and his son will retreat in their leisure moments to talk over matters and read the newspapers and agricultural journals. Cannot many cases of the boy leaving the farm be traced directly to the lack of a proper understanding between father and son? An office or den would tend to bring them together more, away from the other members of the family, where the many things relating to the farm could be discussed and talked over together.

Go into the average farm home to-day and where do we find the current literature and farm periodicals? Generally, they are anywhere but in that place where they can be picked up on a moment's notice. They may be on the table from whence the busy housewife hustles them when preparing the meals. More likely they are behind the cupboard or under the stove, where they have been flung when last used.

The information, going to the average farmer weekly in the form of agricultural journals and bulletins as they are generally made use of, serves largely as a pastime only. These may, and should, be made valuable works of reference. Some place such as can be provided in the office should be available on all farms in which to file all agricultural literature. This when indexed becomes invaluable.

A system of indexing, which is simple, yet effective and satisfactory, is to blue pencil on its cover each paper or bulletin as it is read. For instance, with those containing a valuable receipt, notes on alfalfa, plans of buildings, chicken houses, etc.; these subjects can be marked in bold writing on the covers; then in going hurriedly through the file one may pick out the issue containing the information desired. An office on the farm is a crying necessity. It should be provided at the earliest opportunity.

CONVENTION OF PRODUCE MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

From Farm and Dairy.

It was pointed out by Mr. A. A. Ayer, the president of the Montreal Produce Merchants' Association, at the recent convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association at Prescott, that the number of cheese that are rejected each year at Montreal, because of inferior quality, is very small compared with the total number of cheese handled. This cheese, it has been found, is nearly all made in small, badly equipped factories. There is need that dairymen should use strong, large boxes, and that the weights should be stenciled distinctly on each box.

Owing to the extra moisture that is now being left in cheese, the exporters have suffered considerable loss with the result that it has become necessary that factorymen shall either allow for shrinkage in the weight of the cheese, or keep the cheese longer themselves, or accept a lower price for it. New Zealand allows for the shrinkage in the cheese exported from that country, and is becoming a serious competitor of Canada in the cheese markets of Great Britain.

Mr. Ayer agreed with Mr. Burgess, the official referee of Montreal, that cheese makers should number their vats in order that inferior cheese can be singled out and not mixed with the good lots. Factories that did this last year, obtained better results.

Referring to the agitation that has been conducted by a paper in Eastern Ontario in favor of dairymen exporting their cheese direct to merchants in the old country, Mr. Ayer endorsed what had been said by Dairy Commissioner J. A. Ruddick, to the effect that were cheese exported direct by the factorymen, it would cause a glut on the British market and force down the price one or two cents a pound. Such a glut is now prevented by the Montreal exporters who every year store large quantities of cheese in Montreal for months at a time and sell them when the market is most favorable.

HINTS TO YOUNG HOUSEKEEPERS

From Farm and Dairy.

The ignorance of young housekeepers has long been the subject of many jokes but the matter is not humorous; it is very serious, as the trials and troubles in many otherwise happy households can testify. It may be an old-fashioned idea, but it is backed by the opinion of many husbands whose wives' helplessness has driven them almost to despair, that a co-operative housekeeping plan should be established from the time the little daughter is able to walk. Let her have her little duties to attend to, from filling the salt cellars and unimportant dusting, up to the study of scientific cookery. Let the child progress step by step through the culinary department, the management of the home, the keeping of accounts, the art of entertaining, and every other detail that comes into a competent housekeeper's life, and then when she is called upon to go to market, or cook a dinner in her own home, her husband need not have any fears as to what will be set before his guests, or as to the manner of its preparation.

The mother who excuses the neglect of her daughter's education in household duties on the ground that she "cannot afford to have her waste the food in learning to cook" forgets the possibility of future trouble for her daughter, who can afford it even less. No matter how good the prospects of young people are when they begin housekeeping, unless the bride is able to study out for herself the best and most economical methods of "running" her home, there will be waste, followed by discord, both of which could far better have been afforded by the experienced mother before the daughter left her father's roof, than by the young wife to whom the first years of married life mean so much.

If the small daughter is taught from mere babyhood to hold herself responsible for certain duties each day—from the putting away of toys to the cutting of tiny garments for dolls—she will soon learn to regard home duties as pleasures, and will unconsciously learn the best methods of working as the years go by, so that in time she will become a capable, practical woman of whom her mother may be proud.

THE CONDITIONS OF COUNTRY LIFE

From Farm and Dairy.

The country life commissioners appointed by President Roosevelt, after touring the United States investigating the conditions of country life, have sent in a report of their findings. Congress has received from the president a summary of the report, accompanying which was a special message by the president emphasizing the points made by the commission. Among the things needed by the farmers, it was asserted, are more co-operation, improved schools, and better means of communication. The president's message begins with the announcement that not a dollar of the public money has been paid to any commissioner for his work. The report indicates the ways in which the government, national and state, may show the people how to solve some of the rural problems, and suggests a continuance of the work which the commission has begun. The president's statement in brief of the three great general and immediate needs of country life is:

"First, effective co-operation among farmers to put them on the level with the organized interests with which they do business.

"Second, a new kind of schools in the country which shall teach the children as much outdoors as indoors and perhaps more so, that they will be prepared for country life, and not, as at present, mainly for life in town.

"Third, better means of communication, including good roads and a parcel post, which the country people are everywhere and rightly unanimous in demanding. To these may well be added better sanitation, for easily preventable diseases hold several million country people in the slavery of continuous ill health."

The commission points out, and the president concurs in the conclusion, that the most important help that the government, whether state or national, can give is to show the people how to go about the tasks of organization, education and communication with the best and quickest results. This can be done by the collection and spread of information. The only recommendation specifically made by the president is that an appropriation of $25,000 be provided by Congress to enable the commission to digest the material it has collected and to digest much more that is within its reach, and thus complete its work.

The president says: "Crop growing is the essential foundation of country life; but it is no less essential that the farmer should get an adequate return for what he grows; and it is vital that he and his wife and children should lead the right kind of life. The United States Department of Agriculture should become without delay, in fact, a department of country life, fitted to deal not only with crops, but also with all the larger aspects of life in the open country.

THE CONDITIONS FOUND

The commission says that, broadly speaking, agriculture in the United States is prosperous, and the conditions in many of the great farming regions are improving. There has never been a time when the American farmer has been as well off as he is to-day. Yet, it is true that agriculture is not commercially as profitable as it is entitled to be for the labor and energy that the farmer expends and the risks that he assumes, and that the social conditions in the open country are far short of their possibilities. Rural society is lacking chiefly in a knowledge on the part of the farmers of the exact agricultural conditions and possibilities of their regions, resulting in a widespread depletion of soils in the proper training of the country life in school, in good highway facilities, and organization for buying and selling. There is an absence of adequate system of agricultural credit and shortage of labor and lack of institutions and incentives that tie the laboring man to the soil.

The life of the country woman is burdensome and narrow. There is need of adequate supervision of public health. The farmer is handicapped by the speculative holding of land, monopolistic control of the streams and forests, waste of our natural resources, and by restraint of trade.

WHAT IS NEEDED

Much emphasis is laid upon the need of training toward the agricultural callings in the country schools; agricultural instruction should be a part of our regular public school work. Special agricultural schools should be organized. Better roads are needed, and rural free delivery should be extended, and there should be a parcel post. The commission says that each state college of agriculture should organize, as soon as practicable, a complete department of college extension. Local, state and national conferences on rural progress should be held to unite the interests of education, organization and religion. The suggestions of the commission only outline a general plan whereby the strong resident forces in the open country may themselves build up a new and better rural social structure. To accomplish this the entire people must be aroused. The time for this is at hand.

A FALSE MARRIAGE.

Daring Pair Perform Ceremony In the Magistrate's Office.

Windsor, Feb. 26.—A young woman, whose name could not be learned, called on Police Magistrate Leggatt yesterday morning, and swore that she was married in the magistrate's outer office last Tuesday afternoon by a tall dark man, who said he was a minister.

The magistrate was in his office the entire afternoon. The young girl, who says her home is in Grosse Pointe, Mich., further states that the "minister" handed the marriage certificate to her husband, who promptly tore it up. The supposed husband denied the marriage and later fled.

It is undoubtedly a false marriage, but the nerve of performing it in the City Hall, especially in the outer office of the police magistrate in order to give the marriage some color, is one of the boldest and most extraordinary on record in this city.

AUSTRALIA DISSATISFIED.

Despatch Says Press Delegates Don't Represent Pressmen.

London, Feb. 26.—Lord Strathcona, interviewed by The London Mail, says the Imperial Press Congress can do nothing but good. The Canadian delegates are worthy in every way to represent not only the Canadian press, but the Canadian people. He could find no suspicions of a political purpose in the conference.

A Sydney despatch says the arrangements for the Imperial Press Conference do not seem likely to give good results as far as Australia is concerned. Most of the delegates are proprietors or managers, and not pressmen. The majority oppose the cheaper cable rates, and certainly do not represent public opinion thereon.

Talk of Appeal.

Simcoe, Feb. 26.—Although Malone's lawyer has announced an intention of appealing to a higher court to quash the conviction and the life sentence imposed on Wednesday on the ex-chief of police, it is not believed that this step will be taken.

Provincial Detective Miller left for Toronto yesterday, after having spent the last three weeks in preparing the crown's case. So thoroughly was this done that he had secured actual measurements of the town, that assisted materially in the work of the prosecutor.

Would Regulate Social Evil.

Montreal, Feb. 26.—Recorder Dupuis yesterday, from the bench, delivered a lengthy statement in which he stated that it had to be recognized that the social evil would continue to exist, and, while not in favor of a system of license, he was in favor of regulation.

Insane Woman Threatens Mayor.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 26.—Declaring that she would kill Mayor Reyburn unless he gave her $9 to pay her fare to Buffalo, an insane woman yesterday afternoon created a disturbance in the City Hall.

Appetizing, Isn't It?

New York, Feb. 26.—The Canadian Camp of this city banquets each year on some strange meat.

SHOCKING MURDER IN HAMILTON

Miss Ethel Kinrade of Hamilton Shot by Tramp.

SISTER WITNESSES CRIME

Man Who Came to House of School Teacher Seeking Charity Empties Revolver Into Body of Young Woman Because She Screamed—Elder Sister's Stories of Affair Are Somewhat Conflicting.

Hamilton, Feb. 26.—Ethel Kinrade, second daughter of T. L. Kinrade, 105 Herkimer street, the principal of the Cannon street school, was foully shot to death yesterday afternoon by a tramp thief.

It is one of the most shocking crimes in the history of the city, and was committed in a home on one of the busiest and best streets in the residential portions of the city, where street cars pass every two or three minutes.

The thug got away scot free, and no trace of him has been found.

The victim, who was about 24 years of age, was alone in the house with her elder sister, Miss Florence Kinrade. According to the latter's story last night, the two were dressing for the street, when the front door bell rang.

Miss Florence answered it, and when she opened the door a tramp presented himself.

"I want something to eat," he said.

"Certainly," answered the girl. "Come in."

When he got inside he pushed past her and told her that what he wanted was money, and he wanted it quick. She ran upstairs to get her purse and shouted to her sister to lock herself in her bedroom.

As she was coming downstairs with $10 she had got out of her purse, she heard her sister run down the back stairs screaming. She heard shots and ran back to the kitchen, handed the tramp the money and fled into the back yard, not seeing her sister. She found she could not escape over the back fence, and returned to the kitchen, where the man was standing over her sister's body.

She grappled with him and he threatened to kill her. She ran to a window and raised it but was afraid to call. As the man jumped out of a side window she ran out of the front door and gave the alarm.

Another version, as it was understood from her disjointed hysterical statement after the shooting was that she had come downstairs to find a man standing in the hall. She went towards the kitchen and he followed. When they reached the kitchen the man drew a revolver and demanded money.

According to this version she saw the whole shooting affair, but was unable to interfere.

The man could not have made a more complete get-away if the earth had swallowed him up. None of the neighbors saw him.

The bereaved family is one of the oldest and best known in the city. The young girl's life was sacrificed through the fame of the family amongst the needy for charity, for the man is thought to be one of the numerous army of tramps that have secured succor at the home. Mr. Kinrade is very comfortably off and he made it a rule never to turn any beggar away empty-handed. The tramps would come almost daily with lodging-house tickets to be signed and this man was amongst the number.

He had been hanging around the Kinrade home all day, and as he had been seen around there before, Mrs. Kinrade decided to go down town and report him to the police. She had hardly left the police office after making her report to Detective McMahon when the telephone rang and the inspector got the message that one of Mrs. Kinrade's daughter had been murdered.

The girl describes the murderer as a thick-set man of about 35 and about five foot seven or eight inches in height. He was of rather dark complexion and had a heavy dark moustache that drooped over the corners of his mouth. He was dressed in black and had a black overcoat. He wore a black slouch hat, pulled down over his eyes.

The crime is regarded as the deed of a crazy man. That he should have made himself conspicuous by hanging about the house all day and then should walk into the front door of a house on such a busy street in broad daylight is considered as an indication of insanity.

After the eldest daughter had somewhat quieted down, the police last night secured the clearer account of the tragedy. Why the man remained in the kitchen after shooting the younger sister, while the other sister was trying to escape by way of the back yard and how the elder sister escaped so lightly, are things that are puzzling the police.

Floods In Essex.

Windsor, Feb. 26.—The centre portion of Essex County is badly flooded and the W. E. & L. S. Railway, and also the Windsor & Tecumseh Electric Railroad are experiencing difficulty owing to the tracks being flooded with water at many points. The land in this vicinity is quite flat and the heavy rains and recent thaw has caused the trouble.

Saskatchewan May Get 'Phones.

Montreal, Feb. 26.—At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bell Telephone Co. yesterday it was announced that negotiations are in progress between the management and the Government of Saskatchewan looking to the purchase by the latter of the telephone plant of the company in that province.

Won't Offend Germany.

London, Feb. 26. The anxiety of the Government not to give offence to Germany is reflected in the decision of the censor of plays, who has refused to sanction the production of a five-minute playlet, consisting of a burlesque of "An Englishman's Home." The humor of the piece turns on the discovery that a large alien population has been in possession of Great Britain for some years.

Conservation Conference.

Montreal, Feb. 26.—Hon. Sydney Fisher, who has been in Washington for a week as member of the Canadian Commons to the International Conservation Conference, was in the city yesterday on the way to Ottawa.

He stated that it would be impossible to say anything about the conclusions of the conference, which was a round table affair behind closed doors, until its recommendations had been transmitted to the Government and to His Excellency, the Governor-General. He expected to perform that duty immediately, and it was possible that the recommendations would be available for publication to-day. In Washington, the President was transmitting them to Congress with a special letter, and the same course would be pursued by the representatives of Newfoundland and Mexico.

Shrubb Beats Dorando.

Buffalo, Feb. 26.—Leading his opponent from the crack of the pistol to the finish, Alf. Shrubb, the English distance runner, easily defeated Dorando Pietro, the Italian in a 15-mile race at the 74th Regiment Armory here last night. Every American indoor record from the first to the fifteenth mile was smashed. In the first mile Shrubb took a commanding lead, which he gradually increased to three laps in the tenth mile, which he held to the finish. Dorando made several game efforts to regain the lost ground in the twelfth and thirteenth miles, but Shrubb never allowed him to get more than fifteen yards away from him.

New Style In Millinery.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—"Get a cabriolet and be in style," is the advice of the National Association of Retail Milliners, which has one on exhibition at its semi-annual opening. It is said to be the very newest of hat confections and partakes of the dominant characteristics of the cab family, yawning in front and flapping at the sides. The Merry Widow, according to those in charge of the opening, is to remain and the tendency in hat extremes is to meet. The missing link is the Dutch bonnet of the mushroom type.

Reciprocity Conference.

Detroit, Feb. 26.—The Detroit Board of Commerce has issued invitations for a Canadian reciprocity conference, to be held in Detroit April 22, 23 and 24. Invitations were sent to civic organizations of St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Chicago, Milwaukee, Toledo, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo and Rochester.

It is pointed out by promoters of the conference that the Canadian preferential tariff law now opens the way for reciprocity if Congress can be induced to take action in the matter.

It is believed that when the application is made the defence will ask for the appointment of a commission to enquire into the captain's mental condition.

Brake Was Defective.

Kenora, Feb. 26.—After an inquest on the bodies of Meyers, Goldstein and J. O'Brien of Toronto, killed in the rear-end collision at Ingolf, the jury brought in a verdict that the deaths were due to injuries received in a collision caused by the brake system on the second train being defective. In view of the evidence presented, they exonerated all employes from blame.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS TO BE PRESENTED

Hon. A. J. Matheson Promises Estimates Next Week.

GOWGANDA TOWNSITE BILL

Hon. Frank Cochrane's Amendment to Forest Reserve Act Is Given Its Second Reading — Increase For Sheriffs Carries — W. S. Brewster Has an Insurance Act Amendment—Third Readings

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Hon. A. J. Matheson announced yesterday in the Legislature that the public accounts would be brought down today. The estimates, he thought, would be ready for the beginning of the week.

Hon. Frank Cochrane on the second reading of the bill to amend the forest reserve act, explained that it was intended to enable the Government to set aside a townsite at Gowganda and give title therein. He would have placed the site on the market before, but for the necessity of obtaining special legislation. Another clause in the bill will enable the Government by order-in-council when any future necessity might arise, to set aside such a townsite without further legislation.

In reply to Hon. Mr. MacKay, Hon. Frank Cochrane stated that a constable had been appointed for Gowganda and the adjacent territory. The townsite had been laid out and would be sold by tender as advertised. No townsite has been laid out at South Gowganda. A mining recorder's office has been established at Kerr Lake and a recorder appointed. An office will be opened as soon as possible at Gowganda. Inspection of mining claims staked in the last nine months has been going on. An extension of the T. & N.O. Railway from Charlton to Elk Lake and Gowganda was under consideration.

Hon. J. J. Foy's resolution regarding the establishment of a minimum salary of $1,200 for sheriffs, was carried. Hon. Mr. MacKay concurred after having it made clear that the payment did not depend on the report of the inspector of legal offices absolutely.

Most of the afternoon was spent in committee passing several of the statutes prepared by the revision committee, that respecting witnesses and evidence was the chief.

The following bills were read a first time: To amend the Municipal Act, Evan Fraser; to amend the act respecting division courts, T. W. McGarry; to amend the Municipal Act, W. H. Hoyle; to amend the Municipal Act, 1903, J. J. Craig; to amend the act of incorporation of the Ontario Veterinary Association, T. W. McGarry.

Mr. Hearst will introduce a bill to amend the unorganized territory act.

Employers of labor object to T. W. McGarry's bill allowing workmen to sue for damages both where he is employed and where he was engaged. They foresee enormous expense in defending actions at points where they have no connections.

Superannuation for policemen after 25 years on half salary is what J. J. Craig proposes in his bill revived from last session.

W. S. Brewster, who dwells in the Brantford gas belt, has a bill to make insurance companies liable for damages from gas explosions.

D. Racine wants to make land, when once assessed for separate schools, liable for the indebtedness as long as it exists, and after the first owner has sold the property.

Dean Ellenwood. "The Servant in the House," will be presented first. The whole ground floor of the church is being converted into a theatre with stage, curtain, footlights, scenery, and all.

Stewart Goes to Asylum.

Hamilton, Feb. 26.—George Stewart, who killed the two Spanhouses in Melancthon Township, will be committed to the Hamilton Asylum. The reports as to his violence, the authorities claim, were much exaggerated, and "beyond violently attacking the bars of his cell and demanding freedom, Stewart has given no trouble." This was a special report made to the Department.

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY FEBRUARY 26 1909

PETERBOROUGH BOYS SLEEP IN THE SNOW AT GOWGANDA WITH THE THERMOMETER IN THE NEIGHBOURHOOD OF THIRTY BELOW ZERO

The Examiner has received the following breezy letter from Messrs. Frank Conroy and Frank O'Connor, of Peterborough who are living in Gowganda just now—

This is the only place in Canada to live in. You see more business done here in one day than you would see in Peterborough in a life time. When we arrived here there were two tents, one of ours and the other owned by a prospector. Now there is a town of about two hundred houses and a population of about one thousand, besides the people that are coming and going.

There is certainly a mad rush to this country and sleeping room on the floor is at a premium, the hotels are crowded to the utmost capacity all the time. There is going to be an awful time here in the spring as there is no summer road to drive on and the people that are coming here are going to be up against it for provisions, as they are eating them as fast as they are being brought in; and again if there is not fever here in the spring it will be a queer thing as everything and everywhere is filthy.

It is not as cold here as you would think, the air is dry and a person doesn't feel it nearly as much as at home. We have just got home from a two weeks prospecting trip in the Shining Tree Lake District, that is where the mad rush is on at present. We experienced great hardships on the trip. We started out with a six dog team on a toboggan with two weeks' provisions; the first day we made 20 miles and travelled until 8 o'clock. That night we expected to get in a cabin for the night, but it got very dark and cold and we decided to go no further so we cut down a dry tree, built a fire and cooked our supper, after which we started to pitch our tent but found it impossible on account of it being so dark, so we stretched it out and put our blankets around us got our dogs under it too and went to sleep but you can imagine how we slept when the thermometer registered 30 below. We awakened about day break and that day opened our destination all in from the tramp and severe cold. We staked two claims out in this district and returned to Gowganda none the worse from our trip.

Gowganda is not surveyed into town lots yet and no person knows where they are at but are making streets to suit themselves and building is going on at a rapid rate. They work Sunday and Monday here the same; you would think Sunday was a week day, everything goes on just the same.

There are two banks established here, the Royal and the Bank of Commerce.

The new road to Gowganda by Sudbury is in operation now and they deliver freight here from Toronto for $2.58 per hundred, which is very reasonable.

The prospectors are making some very good finds of native silver and every person says it will surpass Cobalt by a long shot.

Living is not as high as you would expect you can get board at $2 per day, but the sleeping accommodation is very poor, every person sleeps in bunks and you are very glad to get a bunk at that; you sleep on the floor more times than in a bunk.

We remain,
Yours truly,
"THE TWO FRANKS"

MR. R. H. LEARY,
President of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, the prospects of which were never brighter.

ONE LITTLE WORD OMITTED BY CLERK IN TYPEWRITING MAY HAVE EFFECT IN THE DOURO MUNICIPAL ELECTION PROTEST CASE

The hearing of the protest against the election of Mr. Frank Moher to the reeveship of Douro, as entered by his opponent, Mr. Dennis Maloney, was commenced this morning at eleven o'clock before Judge Weller. The court room was crowded with farmers and many Peterborough people, who manifested a keen interest in the proceedings. The case was begun at 11 o'clock, but after two hours' argument and adjournment was called for this afternoon at 2:30, when the evidence was to be received.

The delay in the procedure was caused by the objections which Mr. E. A. Peck raised as counsel for Mr. Moher. He stated that the notice of motion which had been given did not sufficiently contain particulars of the grounds upon which the relator or plaintiff proposed to take exception to the election. In other words there were no specific charges. The charges were entirely too indefinite. Mr. Peck stated that the respondent or defendant could not safely go to a hearing without the particulars being given. His client was entitled to a definite statement of the particular grounds upon which he was to be tried. Judge Weller stated that he should have applied for the particulars and should not have waited until the time of the trial. The statements in the affidavit, Mr. Peck stated, were based entirely upon information and belief, in other words the evidence was secondary and was not admissible in any court. Finally the recognizance he said was not correct.

One Word Counts

Another objection from Mr. Peck was that the recognizance was not correct. The relator, Mr. Maloney, gave bonds for $200 and two other sureties were necessary from two men each giving $100. In the bond it states that two sureties in the sum of $100 each must be given. In the particular bond the word each was omitted it being a mistake on the part of the clerk who wrote the statement on a typewriter, Mr. McWilliams stated. In the original the word was in its proper place he remarked, and later produced it.

Judge Weller stated that this was the most formidable of the objections. As the bond read it left the two sureties to amount to only $100, where as they should be $100 each.

Mr. McWilliams' Reply

Mr. McWilliams, representing Mr. Maloney, replying to Mr. Peck's arguments stated no objections could be taken in a case of this nature. He cited authorities supporting his claim and then dealt individually with the objections. His client could not have given any more grounds for the action unless he gave his evidence. The names of the witnesses were required and these were given by the plaintiff. The defendant could not have been taken by surprise. Mr. McWilliams stated that he had done more than was required. He gave notice of several personal cases in the affidavit and similarly notice of agents, giving the names and other alleged details.

Mr. McWilliams claimed that the word each was put in the claim merely as an extra caution, but the judge held otherwise. The statute states that there must be two sureties in the sum of $100 each, the last word he said meaning that each of the two bondsmen must be held for $100. The recognizance had passed the judge, and following the law, should be submitted.

Judge Weller after considerable argument had been presented on both sides stated that he would go on with the case and hear it on its merits, subject to the objections of Mr. Peck. The latter stated that he was not ready to go on. The objections he had presented were being practically set aside and might as well have been withdrawn. He had expected that they would have been sufficiently serious to have met with greater consideration.

"Lawyers do not always get what they ask," the judge remarked, and further stated that he had not yet considered the objections, and they were not as good as withdrawn. The judge expressed himself as desiring to hear the case, but with the objections received, and would not grant any further adjournment until this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

HAD NOT ONE CENT

Were Fined Over $30 But Magistrate Edmison Gave Four Hard Up Young Men Thirty Days in Which to Pay It.

STOLE BUT MADE GOOD.

Four young men living in the neighborhood of Westwood appeared this morning before Magistrate Edmison in the County Court, charged with stealing six mink traps from Frank Beaver, an Indian. The accused were W. M. Scriber and three Douglas brothers, Wesley, Andrew, and Alex. In explanation of the affair Scriber stated that on Sunday, Feb. 21st, they were out for a paddle on the Ouse, at its mouth, near Rice Lake. They came across the traps in question, which Scriber said he thought belonged to his uncle. They drew them up intending to play a joke. A short time afterwards they saw Beaver coming down the river. He wanted to know where they had put his traps. Scriber said that when they found out that they were his traps they returned them to Beaver.

Cost Amounted Up.

Magistrate Edmison counted up the costs of the case, which amounted to over $30.00. These he ordered to be paid by the two families, that is Scriber has to pay $15.25, and the Douglas brothers have to pay the same sum between them. They are given one month to secure the money, and in default will be sent to jail with hard labor for one month.

A Poor Family.

The evidence brought out a story of rather unfortunate circumstances relating to the Douglas family. Last year they lost 10 head of cattle, which were poisoned. The father, it was stated, is not living with the family and three sons are looking after the farm. The eldest boy was dressed fairly well. He is a carpenter, doing odd jobs in that work. The other two bore many evidences of being in straightened means. Their hair was thick, and long a month or more past harvesting time. Their clothes were badly worn, and their general appearance suggested scanty purses. The bottoms of their trousers stopped half way between the knee and ankle, their grey socks standing out prominently in their general appearance of condition akin to poverty.

Had Not a Cent.

Magistrate Edmison enquired of them if they were in a position to pay their fines, but all four were "strapped," absolutely broke, as Lew Dockstader's song goes. They were, therefore, given a month to collect the costs of their arrest and trial. Mr. Cochrane bought breakfast for them this morning, and the young men afterwards started out to walk to their homes.

HEARD SHRIEKING AND SCREAMING GOING HOME

Shrieking and screaming as if someone was being murdered was what a resident, too modest to mention his name, heard last evening on McGill street, while returning home. Police Magistrate Dumble received the above information in an anonymous letter this morning. The writer asked that the police look into the matter. He also hoped that there had been no murder committed.

The Legal Committee Heard Some Claims For Damages Arising From Accidents

No Action Was Taken in Most of the Cases—Several People Who Were Injured Wanted Recompense.

CONSTABLE'S CLAIM.

Several claims for damages were taken up by the Legal committee at the City Council at its meeting on Thursday night, and in nearly every instance it was decided not to take any action.

Those present were:—Ald. Turner, chairman; Ald. Duffus, and Ald. Metheral and Mayor Rush.

The first claim taken up was that of John Holland, who had paid taxes on a lot for three years, 1906, 1907, 1908. The lot is on Inverlea street, and has a frontage of 45 feet, while he only owns 37 feet. He asked to have the overcharge refunded and the assessment fixed for this year.

The matter was reported on by the solicitor, who stated that the city could not refund the taxes. Mr. Holland should have gone to the court of appeal, and when he did not it must be presumed hat he was satisfied with the assessment.

On motion of Ald. Metheral and Ald. Duffus no action was taken.

Then ext claim was that of Wm. Stock & Son, whose driver on one of their rigs met with an accident. The horse and rig, through the formation of the road, was precipitated into the ditch. The horse was injured and the rig damaged.

The city engineer reported that the horse was not tied and the driver had left it not under control. Street Commissioner Fitzgerald saw the accident and stated that it was negligence on the part of the driver.

On motion of Ald. Duffus and Ald. Metheral no action was taken on the strength of the report of the engineer and upon the advice of the city solicitor.

The claim of Mrs. Meehan, of George street, was next taken up. Mrs. Meehan fell into a grating and was injured last fall. The grating into which the lady fell was over cellar windows, and Mr. Overland, who owned the building had not had the grates put in. The areas were narrow and close up to the building and were not considered dangerous.

On motion the council will be recommended to give the committee authority to settle.

In reference to Mr. Kennedy's claim for damages for his accident through falling on the sidewalk on Hunter street it was decided that the city was not liable and no action was taken.

Police Constable Adams' claim for $20 was again mentioned, but the committee had previously decided that no action should be taken. The city solicitor was asked to look into the matter further but he said that he had nothing more to report.

The committee therefore decided to adhere to their original recommendation and if Constable Adams wishes to press for the money the city would make a test case of it.

CABRIOLET IS LATEST THING IN HAT LINE

Chicago, Feb. 26.—"Get a cabriolet and be in style." Is the advice of the National Association of Retail Milliners, which has one on exhibition at its semi-annual opening. It is said to be the very newest of hat confections and partakes of the dominant characteristics of the cab family, yawning in front and flapping at the sides. The Merry Widow, according to those in charge charge of the opening, is to remain, and the tendency in hat extremes is to meet. The missing link is the Dutch bonnet of the mushroom type.

Kawartha Park Cottagers Will Have A General Store

The summer residents of Kawartha Park, Clear Lake will be pleased to know that, in addition to having a post office of their own, they will also, next season, have a general store. It is understood that Mr. C. N. Brown, who owns "Woodside" will build and conduct a store for the convenience of the residents of the park. Mr. Brown is also building an addition to his summer home.

The popularity of Kawartha Park is continually growing, and each summer sees a large number of tourists there than the previous one. The cottagers in this section of the Lakes would no doubt be glad of the chance to buy their supplies nearer their homes.

Horses Ran Away Spreading Coal All Over The Scenery

A combination of school boys and snow balls proved too much for a team of horses attached to a coal sleigh in charge of Mr. Bruce Fee, an employee of R. Hicks and Company, this morning and a lively runaway ensued. Mr. Fee was unloading his sleigh in the lane west of Water St., between Smith St. and Inverlea St., and while he was in the house with a sack of coal a number of school boys happened along and proceeded to demonstrate their great control by stinging the horses with a fusilade of snowy missiles. It was more than horse nature could stand and the horses concluded to get out of range as soon as possible. They made a wild dash out of the lane and headed for George St. swinging around the corner of Smith St. and tearing down the main thoroughfare at a 2.40 clip. In the meantime they had been distributing bags of coal all over the scenery so that at Smith St. there was nothing left of the load. The team was captured a few blocks down the street.

Arrangements Being Made For Winter Seed Fair Here

A field crop competition will be held under the direction of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition next Autumn. Five prizes will be offered for the best fields of white oats. This contest has been proving successful in many places where it is now established. The directors of the exhibition have also decided to hold a seed fair next winter for all kinds of grain. The farmers will be reached in several ways, by personal canvass and through the press the aim being to make it a success. Exhibitors will have to become members which entitles them to all the privileges of the fall fair. The seed fair will be worked up during the summer in order to awaken the interest of the farmers in raising better grain and in purchasing better grain. It will also educate them in the best quality of seeds and the directors think that a wide interest will be taken in the exhibit.

An American Was Victim Of A Sharp Swindling Trick

Examiner Special.

Paris, Feb. 26.—Confidence men are beginning to reap early this season on their annual harvest from Americans.

Robert Herbert, of Leesburg, was a recent victim of a swindling trick which was practised by the same pair of sharpers all last summer. He arrived on the Adriatic last week to continue medical studies begun at the University of Virginia. He got into conversation with an affable stranger. Presently the two saw a man walking ahead of them drop a pocketbook, apparently crammed with French bank notes. They returned the dropped purse and the owner in his delight invited the finders to have a drink.

He said he was an American whose rich uncle had just died in France, leaving $1,000,000 to the poor nephew. He asked his new found friends' advice as to how to distribute his money for safe-keeping, and in order to establish mutual confidence he exchanged his well-filled wallet for Herbert's which contained $380. Then the man disappeared and Herbert found some worthless paper in his pocket. He may have to return to Virginia.

The same men tried the game on Allen True, a well-known illustrator just arrived here to study art. They were unsuccessful.

Later Herbert met True, and they are now patrolling the streets in the hope of finding the swindlers. The police have been notified and they know the crook, but because the victim always parts with his pocketbook willingly, it is difficult to successfully prosecute under the French law.

William A. Gallup, a professor in the University of West Virginia, at Morgantown, lost his trunks, which were stolen by a cabman, who took advantage of his unfamiliarity with French. Through the shrewd detective work of Miss Seaborn, an American woman, living in Paris, the coachman was arrested, but not until he had rifled the trunks. He cashed travellers' checks belonging to Gallup for $110, and the bank has refused to refund. Gallup had expected to leave for home, but is staying here to fight the case in the courts.

UNION LABEL

FRIDAY FEBRUARY 26, 1909

SOUTH AFRICAN UNION.

Elsewhere on this page will be found the details of the South African Confederation proposals to be passed upon by the Imperial Parliament in the near future. The chief objections to the draft proposed come from Natal, the most English of the States to be united, on the ground that too many concessions are made to the Boer element. This objection may be met by the fact that the proposed union is not federal but legislative, a condition which will prevent any member of the union exercising a preponderating influence as against the central legislative body, or the interests of the other provinces. The several provinces will not have the same clear cut and definite delegation of powers, legislative and administrative as exist under the act creating the "Dominion" of Canada or the "Commonwealth" of Australia. The exercise of the power relegated to the several provinces is to be limited—subject to the assent of the Governor-General-in-Council. Under the circumstances this condition is doubtless a wise one. While it concedes a measure of self-government it falls short of the defined and modified autonomy possessed by the provinces of the Dominion. Canada was a long time evolving the measure of practical autonomy the country now possesses. A very short time ago some of the provinces now included in the proposed South African union were belligerents against the authority from which they are now receiving a measure of self-government. Self-evidently they have not had, so to speak, enough training in self-government according to its highest manifestations under British rule and according to British principles of constitutional enfranchisem nt. No doubt in due time after a necessary period of tutelage if not probation, fuller if not full, autonomy will be granted. Canada and Australia had their novitiate preparatory to successful assumption of self-governing functions, under which heterogeneity became homogenity politically as well as socially, and tended to lessen the friction that might otherwise have interfered with the smooth working of the machinery of a federal union. There is good reason to hope that the experiment of transplanting constitutional government in South Africa will be the success it has been in Canada and Australia.

The wisest courage comes of a combination of trust and prudence.

NATIONAL GROWTH.

The year 1908 brought dullness to most industries and interests, but it was attended with scarcely a surcease of national development and progress. The activity in the construction of railways is one of the most important elements in our transportation facilities, the measure as well as means of our growth, was excellent, and promises to be greater this year. While work on railway construction was more active in the immediate past year it is expected that the amount of work in progress during the coming season will be larger than in any previous year. There are at present under contract over 4,000 miles of railway and upwards of $90,000,000 will be required to complete the undertakings now in hand. At the close of 1908, the total mileage of all railway companies operating in western Canada was estimated at 10,751 miles, distributed as follows: Canadian Pacific Railway Company, 6,160 miles; Canadian Northern Railway Company 3,119 miles; Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company, 854 miles; The Great Northern Railway Company, 624 miles.

The new mileage which has been added to the various lines during the year is distributed among the Canadian Pacific, the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific. The Canadian Pacific added 826 miles, Canadian Northern Railway, 245, and the Grand Trunk Pacific completed and brought under operation 854 miles.

It is stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway will build new branch lines in the prairie provinces 300 miles in length, and costing $6,000,000, during 1909, and the eastern programme includes a branch line for Coldwater to Peterborough, and double-tracking between oronto and Montreal. In the Northwest, in addition to continued vigorous struction work on the Grand Trunk Pacific main line the Company will construct this year or in the immediate future 110 miles divided among three branch lines, and the Canadian Northern has in view half a dozen branch lines.

A feature of railway extension in he West is the effort to make settlement concurrent with provided transportation facilities. It is expected that on the Grand Trunk Pacific line upwards of 100 towns will be located next year between Winnipeg and the Rocky Mountains, each about 8 miles apart, while 35 new towns will be potted on the Mountain division. On the Canadian Northern, 30 towns will be created, and on the Canadian Pacific Railway, 35, all providing centres from which immigrants may proceed into the new territory, as well as furnishing marketing points for their produce. During the month of January the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern Pacific Railways placed orders in Montreal for 55 locomotives to be delivered before the end of May.

In addition to the indications of natural growth—represented by railway construction—to meet the needs and provide the means of development, we have other evidences of immediate advantage. During the year 1908 there arrived in the Canadian west from the United States 58,312 immigrants, who brought in money and effects to the value of fifty-two million dollars, a liberal confirmation of the estimate that every new citizen added to the country is worth $1,000. And he is worth more than that, taken in the larger sense. Every new settler coming to the west, means demands on the industrial and commercial resources of older Canada. He needs ploughs, harrows, harness, farm machinery, household materials and furniture, and thus gives additional work to mechanics in nearly all the branches of Ontario industry.

The grain elevator capacity of Western Canada west of the great lakes is 62,965,000 bushels.

FEDERAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

It is safe to assume that the shareholders of the Federal Life Assurance Co. of Canada have every reason to be gratified at the excellent figures presented by the directors at the twenty-seventh annual meeting held in Hamilton last week.

It is quite apparent from the directors' report and financial statement, which appears in another page of The Examiner, that the Federal Life enjoyed a very prosperous year's business, and that the confidence of the public in the future of this Company is amply demonstrated.

During last year, the report shows that 2,631 applications for insurance were made, whereof 2,423 were accepted, or $3,377,723.33 of carefully selected insurance placed on the books.

The income of the Federal Life made a satisfactory increase during the year. The assets now reach $3,314,856.65, an increase of $314,383.91, exclusve of guaranteed capital.

The security for policy holders at the close of the year amounted to $4,184,856.65. The inabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims amounted to $3,045,786, showing a surplus of $1,140,070.65, which certifies to the responsble position of the company.

The directors were further enabled to certify to the careful attention paid to the investment of the company's funds. The reliable position of the Federal is further indicated by the fact that the surplus over capital and all liabilities was increased by $56,454.65, or nearly seventy per cent. during the past year.

In referring our readers to a perusal of the report and statements which appear in another column, it is but fitting that reference should be made to the aggressive work of the Peterborough District Agency, under Mr. G. G. Pope, with offices at No. 406 George street. That the Federal's business should have been nearly trebbled in this district during the past five or six years is sufficient warrant for believing that Mr. Pope has found his Company worthy of bending his best energies in its behalf and that he has been awarded with marked success.

SOUTH AFRICA UNION.

Ottawa Free Press.

Canadians will follow with great interest the fate of the measure of South African confederation which has been evolved after long conference and is now en route to London to be presented to the Imperial Parliament by the Colonial Secretary, just as our own British North American Act was. It is interesting to note that the only considerable objections to the draft plan of union come from the "Loyalists" of Natal and Cape Colony, who contend that too many concessions have been made to the Boer element, and that Natal makes it a condition that its acceptance of the terms of union must depend upon the votes of its people as expressed in a referendum; and it would be strange if this plan of unification of South Africa should be blocked by the most English of all the States.

The main features of the draft Constitution are:

Union of the four colonies, which are to be known as the provinces of the Cape, the Transvaal, Natal and Orange River Colony.

A Governor-General appointed by the Crown at a salary of £10,000 a year.

A Senate composed of forty members, eight of whom are to be nominated by the Governor-General in Council, and the remainder elected—in the first instance by the Provincial Parliaments and subsequently by the Provincial Councils.

A House of Assembly of 121 members, elected and distributed on the basis of population—The Cape, 51; Transvaal, 36; Natal, 17; Orange River, 17.

The Senate and Assembly will sit together and vote on a system of proportional representation.

English and Dutch to be the official languages and to have equal privileges.

The existing colonial franchises to be retained unless Parliament otherwise provides.

Railways, ports and harbours to be vested in three commissioners and a Cabinet minister.

The debts of the existing colonies to be taken over by the Union.

This constitution has only been drafted after much mutual concession, sacrifice and compromise, just as was the case in Canada, and we here will hope that the result will be as effective for real national union in South Africa as it has been in Canada. The constitution of the Senate is a compromise between those of the Canadian Dominion and of the United States, the nominee principle being adopted in part, presumably for the protection of the minorities, and the remainder being elected by the provinces. The Australian system of election of all the senators did not commend itself to South Africa, presumably because of the presence of the two races, whereas in Australia the people are all of one stock and there are no racial problems to be grappled with. The Provincial Parliaments are apparently to consist of a council of one House only, with an administrator and an executive committee, who will correspond with our Lieutenants-Governors and our Provincial Governments. As in Canada, the subject of education is assigned to the provinces.

The railways built by the various Governments are to be handed over to a commission for administration, thereby continuing the system now in vogue but transferring the ownership from the individual states to the Federal power. The two great points of difference, the choice of a capital and whether the native blacks should continue to be enfranchised, as in some of the states now, have been left to the new Parliament to decide, and will doubtless become burning issues in years to come; but the essential has been to secure a basis of union, and Canadians will feel like congratulating South Africa upon the fact that a practicable basis has been found for what we will all hope will be a permanent consolidation under the British flag.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Brantford Board of Education has decided to supply the "dire need" of a new Collegiate Institute building to cost $73,895 and $5,145 for equipment. The city council is asked to pass a by-law to provide the money required, without submitting it to the vote of the people.

The new shops of the International Railway at Moncton, N.B., are now approaching completion. They consist of 13 separate buildings, including a gas-producing plant, power house, boiler shop, freight car repair shop, planing mill, smiths' shop, passenger car repair shop, paint shop and stores and office buildings. One hundred and fifty separate electric motors from 2 to 50 horse-power each have been installed in the shops.

ACKNOWLEDGES THE DONATIONS

$31.50 Has Been Received In Aid of the Twins.

The fund in aid of the twins whose mother is ill in the hospital and whose father is out of work, is slowly growing, but is still considerably short of what is considered necessary by the Kings' Daughters who are making the temporarily motherless twins the special object of their ministry. The twins, now about two weks old are provided with a home and nursing at a cost of $6 per week. The bother, ill in the hospital, will be detained there about six weeks or two months. On her discharge she will have a rather desolate hove to go to with a husband out of employment and even necessaries of life lacking, not to speak of the comforts due a convalescent woman, responsible for the nourishment and care of twin infants.

An error was made in the announcement that sufficient fund had been provided. As will be seen by the total of the subsequent list something is still lacking of the amount required to pay for six or eight weks' board at $6 per week.

Any offerings to this fund can be left with the Kings' Daughters, Mr. Campbell, treasurer, Children's Aid Society, or at the Examiner or Review offices. Subjoining is the list of contributors or contributions to date.

Mason & Risch Piano

Will be used at the Toronto Symphony Club's Recital next Friday evening.

Mr. Frank S. Welsman

Musical Composer and leader of the Toronto Symphony Club writes of the Mason & Risch Piano as follows:

THE MASON & RISCH PIANO CO.

Gentlemen: Allow me to thank you for the Grand Pianos you have supplied for my recitals during the past season. The instruments have very materially assisted me in interpreting to my own satisfaction the compositions my programmes have called for. Not only have your instruments a large volume of tone, but have what I might call a pervading quality, which I have found in no other piano.

The lightness and perfect repetition of the Action permits one to bring out the tonal qualities referred to above with such ease that it is with the greatest of pleasure I have used the Mason & Risch Pianos.

It is gratifying to find that it is not necessary to go outside our own country to secure an instrument of the highest excellence.

Yours sincerely,

FRANK S. WELSMAN

ITALIAN DREW A KNIFE ON DETECTIVE

Exciting Time in the T. Eaton Company Store Yesterday Afternoon.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—Intense excitement was created in the drug department of the T. Eaton store this afternoon, when Antonio Grossie, an Italian labourer, aged 37, drew a knife upon store Detective Black when the officer attempted to place him under arrest on the charge of stealing a number of purses.

Black closed with the man and before any damage could be done threw him down. The weapon, a stiletto, clattered to the floor.

A hurry-up call to police headquarters just across the road brought Detective William Archibald to the spot on the run. Grossie was promptly placed under arrest and taken in a patrol waggon to Court Street Police station.

Black escaped unhurt, but was considerably shaken up by the encounter. Grossie was charged simply with theft, but a further charge will not likely be laid. He gave his address as 307 Manning avenue.

The scuffle and subsequent throwing down of Grossie created a tumult in the department and a number of women were badly frightened.

MEANS BIG LOSS TO MILLBROOK

Closing of the Bank of Montreal Will be Felt There.

The Millbrook Mirror says—

By the Millbrook branch of the Bank of Montreal being closed it means a distinct loss to Millbrook in more ways than one. Besides the loss financially to the town, we lose several first class men and citizens. One could not want to meet a more genial gentleman than Mr. Dean, too efficient and very popular manager. His estimable wife and daughter will also be very much missed in social circles. Messrs. F. R. Hince and L. N. Tompkins of the bank staff have made themselves popular by their ever courteous manners and they too will be greatly missed in social and sporting circles. We learn that the Millbrook branch of this strong bank is bent transferred to Oakwood.

The Mirror joins with a host of friends of Mr. Dean and family and of the Messrs. Hince and Tompkins in wishing them all success.

Regina Looking Forward To Brisk Business And To Extensive Building Work

Mr. A. J. Gibson Has Come East on Business Trip—Real Estate is Flourishing on in Revenue Producing Farms and City Property.

WINTER HAS BEEN FAIR.

"Go west, young man," has been a bit of advice that has been offered to the young men of the eastern provinces on many occasions, but to Mr. A. J. Gibson, who is in the city on a visit from Regina, it is only those who are determined and persevering who will probably find the new country to their liking and make a success in western business. At harvest time and on other occasions during the year young men go west in most cases partly to see the country and in others to work and endeavour to settle down. Often they meet with unexpected reverses, probably find themselves out of work, and because the country does not come up to what they had seen in their dreams, they turn tail and start back for home. Those who have made a success and are getting along well, Mr. Gibson says, are those who remained and have given the country a fair test. Have striven hard and have taken chances, (n others who are ambitious and aggressive. It is men of this calibre who will succeed in the west, and for that matter will succeed anywhere.

Mr. Gibson is a former Peterborough man, but is now located in Regina, where he is president and manager of the A. J. Gibson & Co. real estate firm, which he organized. He also promoted and organized the southern Alberta Coal Co., Ltd., of which he is managing director. It is in connection with the latter firm that he has come east on business in Winnipeg and Toronto.

A Building Year

In conversation with an Examiner reporter regarding the west, Mr. Gibson stated that Regina would see many buildings erected this year. His own words were that the city would need an army of tradesmen for the work that is to be done. The Parliament buildings are being constructed and will engage many men. The main part of this work will not be begun until April. The Collegiate Institute, Municipal Hospital and many small buildings will be built. There will also be miles of sidewalks, sewers and water works, besides street extensions. The new Provincial Universities and the other colleges that will be affiliated with it, will likely be built in Regina. They have not yet been officially announced for that city, but it is felt that the capital will get them. The council is now negotiating with a large gas producing concern in order that Regina may be able to offer inducement to manufacturing concerns to locate there.

Fewer Debts

Regarding the financial conditions of the people, Mr. Gibson stated that there was probably less money in the west at present than there was a few years ago, but there are also fewer debts. In this way there was a much sounder financial condition. No more booms were looked forward to, but in its place a steady and substantial advance along safe lines.

The winter has been clear and at times very cold. The lowest register was 51 degrees and 50 another morning were the only two that were experienced that could be called exceptional. Mr. Gibson stated that the weather on those occasions would not be more disagreeable than 30 degrees here. The rest was almost invariably fine. In January there was a week's thaw, when almost spring-like conditions prevailed. It was the first thaw in that month that had ever been experienced, according to the oldest settlers.

Seeding in March

It is expected that seeding will be started in March. As soon as the frost is out of the ground, several inches the seed is planted and as the rest of the earth is reclaimed from winter's hold, the frost coming out provides moisture which germinates the seed until the spring rains come. There is little business, as far as speculation is concerned, but revenue-producing farms and city houses and lots are good. Settlers and capitalists from the United States have been coming in all winter, the former looking for locations and the latter to invest where possible.

Mr. Gibson will be in the city for a week or two before returning to the west.

Asked Not To Be Handcuffed And Then Ran From Policeman

Albert Wright and Roy Scriver pleaded not guilty at the police court this morning to breaking into the warehouse of Abraham Lowe, at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune Sts. during the night of Tuesday, February the twenty-second, and carrying away a quantity of rubber. They elected to be tried summarily, but Chief Roszel was not ready to proceed, and the prisoners were remanded until Tuesday morning next.

"Will you give us our liberty until then, your Worship," asked Wright.

"No, they should be kept in custody," urged the Chief. "The other night P. C. McGinty was bringing Scriver to the police station, when, at Scriver's request, and his promise to walk along quietly, the officer did not handcuff him. Scriver took advantage of the policeman's leniency and ran away."

"I think you had better stay in gaol," concluded the Magistrate.

Scriver and Wright were arrested at their homes last night by P. C's Newhall and Mcharry. It is said that they sold thirteen and a half pounds of old rubber to another junk dealer in the city on the morning following the burglary.

WILL CHANGE THEIR DEMAND

A special general meeting of the Separate School Board was held last evening. There being present Mr. Hickey, chairman, presiding, and Messrs. Communications were received from the Kearns Ink Co., The American Penman, and the E. N. Moyer Co', and from the principals of the several schools asking for supplies; from Miss O'Connell asking to be appointed on the Board of Entrance Examiners.

On motion of Mr Murty, seconded by Mr. Collins, Miss O'Connell was appointed Associate Examiner on the Board for the Entrance Examinations.

Accounts were received from The Peterborough Typewriter Co., $20.00; W. E. Blake & Son, $10.38; M. McFeddien, $6.00; Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co., $6.50; A. H. Stratton & Co., $16.79; L. Mowry, $2.00; W. Stocker, $1.50. Garden Printery, $2.50.

These were referred to the Finance Committee.

It was moved by Mr. Lynch, seconded by Mr. Carveth, that the City Council be requested to collect eight thousand six hundred and thirty-three dollars as taxes for the current years—and that the request formerly submitted be cancelled. Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

McGREGOR & REID'S SPLENDID SHOWROOMS

The business of electric supplies and electrical installation naturally forms one of the principal features of industrial life in Peterborough with the mighty forces made available by the Canadian General Electric Company and other large electric companies. McGregor and Reid, 432 George street, have given evidence of being thoroughly practical and progressive electrical engineers and contractors. They have wired and installed many public and private buildings in Peterborough, as well as outside the city in different parts of Ontario. In addition to this work, they also carry a full stock of electrical goods for lighting, power, transmission, alarms and other purposes. Recently they have been compelled by their growing business to seek for more commodious premises and have secured a lease of the large double store two doors north of their former premises. Here they have secured ample room for the display of their electrical goods as well as workshops for their plumbing and heating work. The ground floor has been remodelled and the departments classified with a view to convenience and order, so that customers will receive prompt attention and every facility for selection.

Showrooms Upstairs.

The second floor is devoted to a display of electrical fixtures, lamps, globes, ceiling and wall novelties, brackets and table lamps. This exhibit has been made quite a feature of their business. Two entire rooms are fitted up, showing many of the varied artistic lighting features of the most up-to-date designs. Some of these consist of fancy candle sticks with crystal decorations, beautiful domes for dining rooms, and halls, with beaded glass, ceiling lights in antique brass, polished brass and gilt, some with art glass and fringe and others with art glass shades and sick shades. The samples of electric lanterns are very unique, these are shown in etched glass and opalescent glass. Many novelties in lamps and shades are also shown, which combine to make this electric display well worth an inspection. The firm do a large wholesale as well as retail business in lamps and shades, and they are the local agent for the Watt lamp, made in Germany, which they are authorized to guarantee.

An ideal bathroom is being fitted up on the first floor, which will represent the acme of perfection. The bath will be of the Alexandrian ware which alone will cost $250. They are made of heavy porcelain enamel inside and out, instead of being painted and in other respects are claimed to be the most sanitary on the market.

It may also be mentioned that this firm represent Messrs. Reid & Brown, of Toronto, the structural steel contractors and are prepared to estimate on roof trusses, steel beams, builders' iron work, etc.

A TORONTO COUNCIL MAY BE FORMED

Knights of Columbus in Queen City Feel They Will Get Permission

There is great joy in the ranks of the Knights of Columbus today. The reason for all this is that it is understood that his Grace Archbishop McEvay will permit the establishment of a council in the city.

Archbishop O'Connor, during his term of office, would not grant the request to establish a council.

The privilege carries with it the mandate that the laws of the church must be lived up to at all times and in all places.—Telegram.

Labour Conditions Here Last Month As Reported In The Gazette

Mr. J. A. Sharpe, Correspondent, Sends His Monthly Report — Labour Market Was Very Dull.

NOTHING FOR UNSKILLED

Mr. J Arthur Sharp, correspondent for the Peterborough district to the Labour Gazette, sends the following report for January.

General Condition of Labour Markets

This month has been the quietest for some time, and there was no demand for labour of any kind. There is a feeling that the spring will bring a revival. No more distress amongst the poor was reported than in former years, although the relief officer reported ninety-eight requests for the first nine days of the month. Commercial reports were light, with transportation active. Cutting ice and lumber were about the only work being done. The W. Hamilton Co. has started again, but as yet, is not working full-handed. The contract for the Lindsay dam and locks has been awarded to Ritchie and Gibson.

Condition of Local Industries

Agriculture.—The farmers have been getting their wood cut, as the weather was very much in their favour, with not too much snow and cold weather, except the last week, when the weather was mild.

Lumbermen have been busy this month, but the cut will not be as large as last year.

Condition of Particular Trades

There is very little building going on, except indoor work. Lathers and plasterers were fairly busy. Painters had a very good month, also plumbers. Iron moulders report trade fair. Machinists were not very busy, most of them working short time. Metal polishers, buffers, platers and brass workers were very slack. There was very little doing in the woodworking line, though pattern-making was fairly active. Printer shad a fair month. The clothing trades were dull, also boot and shoe workers. Bakers reported a fair business. Cigar makers and tobacco workers were rather dull. Railway employees were active. There was very little work for unskilled labour.

District Notes

Lindsay.—The R M Beal Leather Co. was working overtime to fill orders; in one week they turned out over 1,100 pairs of larigans.

Cobourg.—The new steel rolling mills have got started, with about 150 men.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"45 MINUTES FROM BROADWAY"

George M Cohan's cleverest music play "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" with the famous comedian Scott Welsh and Cohan and Harris' splendid company and production will be seen at the Grand next Wednesday, March 3rd. "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" which has a real plot of interesting development and just enough catchy music to introduce some striking song hits, is wonderfully diversified in composition. It is one roar of laughs in the comedy scenes, thrilling in its melodramatic moments, and heart-stirring in some moments of real pathos. Frances Gordon impresses the versatility of her art more strongly on her creation of the role of "Plain Mary" than anything she has undertaken. It is a great character as played by her, a plain, loyal-hearted domestic, and especially convincing in some of the pathetic scenes. Scott Welsh as export, 'Kid Hurns' with his wonderful slang phrases, so expressively given, and with his hon-st-hearted ways, has made an immense hit. The music principally containing two great songs by Miss Gordon, "Mary Is A Grand Old Name" and "So Long, Mary," and the title song "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," has gained the popular ear. The supporting cast includes Mary E Cunard, Elizabeth Drew, Susan Chisholl, Ninon de Varennes, Eugene MacGregor, James H Manning, James H Dayett, Harry Gwynette and Arthur MacKenzie, Jr.

Splendid Meeting Of Fair Directors Is Auspicious

Committees Have Been Formed and Preliminary Arrangements are Bing Prepared—Will Likely Need Assistance From the City.

ENTHUSIASM IS EVIDENT.

If early plans and arrangements go towards the success of any organization, the annual Peterborough Industrial Exhibition should establish another record next autumn, when they hold their fall on the 16th, 17th and 18th of September. Already the directors have completed their preliminary arrangements and everything is pointing to big crowds, fine exhibits and a substantial balance. President Leary and his staff of directors are more enthusiastic than ever, each and every one showing the determination that if work will result in a success they will be able to so label their next fair with large letters.

Yesterday's meeting was held in the County Chamber there being present Messrs. R. H. Leary (in the chair), F. A. Hall, secretary, and the following directors: Messrs. S. Ingell, Wm. Collins, D. Kennedy, J. Young, S. A. Oke, J. Cox, J. R. Bell, J. H. Garbutt, E. W. Jones, J. A. Storey, W. E. Conway, Dr. King, Smith Mahurin, Jas. Baptie and J. J. Turner, jr. The first business was the reception of the report of the committee which had been appointed to select the different committees who will look after the various duties in connection with the fair. In accordance with the decision made at the annual meeting to keep the committees small in order that the work would fall upon only a few, who would therefore see that it was done and not leave it for others. This was carried out, and all the directors have some duty to perform and it is considered to be well divided.

The Committees

The personnel of the committees is as follows:—

Executive: The President and Messrs. Garbutt, Turner, Bell, Collins, Gillespie Conway, Oke, Jones, Storey, Dennison and Cruikshanks.

Speeding in the Ring: Messrs. Dennison, Jones and King.

Horses (Light): Messrs. Elliott, Cruikshanks and Storey.

Horses (Heavy): Messrs. Stewart, Deyell and Cox.

Cattle: Messrs. Collins, Redmond, Kennedy and Moore.

Sheep and Swine: Messrs. Vance, Brown and Milburn.

Poultry: Messrs. Baptie and O'Shea.

Agriculture, etc.: Messrs. Bell, Oke and Buller.

Dairy and Horticulture: Messrs. Gillespie and Young.

Fine Arts and Ladies Work: Messrs. Turner and Conway.

Domestic Manufactures: Ald. Phelan.

Finance: Messrs. Conway and Turner.

Subscription: Messrs. Cruikshanks, Storey and Elliott.

Amusement: Messrs. Gillespie and Oke.

Renting Privileges: Messrs. Turner and Bell.

Fixing up Grounds: Messrs. R. H. Leary, Garbutt and the members of the executive.

Printing: Messrs. Conway, Gillespie and Oke.

Reception: Messrs. Phelan and Switzer.

These committees will immediately begin to look after their departments and will report at the next meeting which will be held on March 15.

Another matter which was considered was that of Royal Mounted Police Protection. A paper was read on this question at the meeting of fairs recently held in Toronto. Mr. Russell, of Uxbridge, contributing it. Mr. Lackie Watson has written to President Leary regarding the matter, but the local society considers that this is a question for the Provincial Government to deal with. The idea is to get the countries comply with the Government in taking the expense of keeping up the proposed force.

Buildings and Grounds

It has been decided to head the exhibition in the old grounds, but no steps have yet been taken in regard to the erection of buildings. This will be left until the next meeting. It is felt that some assistance will be needed from the city, and the directors feel that the people will come to their aid in a material manner and help make the fair the best between the large cities.

There was some talk of opening up the prize list to the entire province, but in order to encourage the farmers and their sons to take greater interest in their crops, cattle, etc., it was finally decided to continue as in the past, i.e., open to the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Durham, Northumberland and Hastings.

More Prizes

The number of prizes this year will be greater than in the past, particularly for cattle and swine. The directors intend to do as much as they can for the benefit of the farmers, and in order to encourage them, and to stir up a deeper interest in the Exhibition. Yesterday's meeting was one of the best the Directors have ever held, and all were pleased with the manner in which the work is being taken up. Further developments will be looked forward as the months slip by, and the arrangements are completed.

A resolution of thanks and appreciation of service rendered was passed to Miss Melville, who has acted as judge of ladies' work and fine arts at the exhibition for several years past. Miss Melville is leaving the city and her services will be greatly missed.

AN EXCELLENT NUMBER

The March number of Busy Man's Magazine is filled with an unusually choice number of bright and entertaining articles which cannot fail to be of great help and benefit to all its readers. Each succeeding issue is evidently more instructive and attractive than its predecessor affords a wider selection in the text to cater to the taste of all sexes. The contributions dealing with system and business, Political and Commercial Affairs, the Life Stories of Successful People and clever Fiction as well as many other good things is evidenced by a glance at the table of contents. The original sketches and the selections from the leading magazines and periodicals of the world are all handsomely illustrated. The range of subjects may be gauged by the character of the titles. Among the latter are "Revolutionizing an Industry," "The Virtue of Thrift," "Success in the Business Race," "Who Owns the United States," "The Romance of the Roth-schilds," "From Apprentice to Baronet," "Romance of a Famous Mining Camp," "Memoirs of a Great Editor," and "Motor Cars for the Millions."

London, Eng., PreacherGives Address At Bethany Tabernacle

Rev. Jas. Lyall Commences Series of Meetings Here — "Launch Out Into the Deep."

VERY ATTENTIVE AUDIENCE

The Rev. James Lyall, of London, England, whose ministry in the Gospel Tabernacle, New York, a few weeks ago was so blessed in the starting of a revival which is still going on, gave his opening address last evening to an attentive audience. The message was taken from the incident recorded in Luke 5:4,5, the failure of the disciples to catch any fish, and the success which followed their obedience to Christ's command. The disappointed disciples confessed that they had toiled all night but had caught nothing; however at the command of Jesus to "Launch out into the deep and let down your nets," Simon said "nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net," the result being a great draught of fish.

The speaker said that in the work in the churches throughout Great Britain and America, there is a sad failure in our day to reach and save the masses of the people. The cure recommended for this inability and failure is that Christians should "Launch out into the deep."

First, "Into the deep" of a better Christian experience. The majority of Christians in these days are starvelings. They have barely enough to keep their own lives going, and the greatest need is a fuller, richer life in the Christian himself.

In the second place, "into a deeper Prayer Life." Modern Christian life seems to have lost the art of prayer. The materialism of the age has ceased to believe that prayers are answered. May not this be the reason why in spite of all our machinery, we have such little result of our toil. God gives nothing of His work that is not prayed down.

In the third place, the Church needs "Launch out into the deep" in aggressiveness for the reaching of the lost. In many instances we seem to have gone into "Kippering," rather than fishing. Large numbers of Christians are calling out "my leanness," where they ought to call out "my laziness, my laziness."

The speaker said finally "the great need of the Church, is power, the Power of the Divine Spirit," without which nothing can be accomplished or hoped for. "God wants channels" through which He can manifest His power and grace, and those who use faithfully what God gives, shall receive more abundantly.

Mr. Lyall spoke again this afternoon, and will speak this evening, tomorrow and Sunday. On Saturday evening and Sunday, the Rev. Dr. Zimmerman, a former pastor of Bethany Tabernacle, will also be present and assist in the meetings.

Margaret Illington Now Seeking A Divorce---Tells Of The Troubles Of The Stage

Miss Margaret Illington, the actress, who is suing her husband, Mr. Daniel Frohman, for divorce, because she wants to lead a domestic life, has been doing some additional moralising on the life of an actress and its trials. She says:

"All women are units. Each of us revolves in our own orbit, and the circle of our movements is the resultant of the attractions which hedge us round. I know so many good and excellent women on the stage that what I personally feel about it would seem to be a libel on their virtues.

"The stage offers a fine career for a girl who loves it and who feels certain that she has no impulses that would lead her to desire a home and a hearthstone. I would say to the girls who are allured by the footlights, 'Take care that you know your own weaknesses and your own strength.'

"The normal life of woman is killed by the theatre. Players lose their own conception of the proportionate values of things. Take an actress new given to the stage. She lives in a tiny room in a lodging house. At the theatre she wears the finest clothes that an extravagant stage manager can provide for her, but she wears them and acquires a taste for finery which she cannot afford in her own life. If she is not a woman of more than ordinary strength of character she will resent the fact that others may wear off the stage what she wears on it.

"The great actresses of the world—like Bernhardt, for instance—are not home wives, children-loving women, housewives. I would rather be an ordinary Mrs. Brown than a Margaret Illington, and if that's an abnormal preference, then I'm abnormal. It was on this subject that we quarelled, my husband and I. He wanted me to be a great actress. I wanted to be his sweetheart.

"Apparently that was impossible, and after having collapsed in Boston in 'The Thief,' after having been jolted around the country over one night stand circuits, after having lived in trunks and dressing rooms, poor hotels and frontier lodging houses, I determined to be a woman like other women and live a natural and normal existence. If that sounds strange and not understandable to hundreds of girls who envied me when I was a promising star, let them try it themselves.

"Keep away from the theatres, I say, unless you have a fire of unquenchable ambition within you and the consciousness that you will win. That advice is for women, not for men. Men are supposed to provide for us—not we for them. Men are supposed to be the advisers and providers. It is our business to stay at home and care for the little ones—rear them, train them, love them and get the dinner.

"Suppose a young woman with the possibility of loving much and hating much should meet a man whose sentiment matched hers to the last extreme; suppose he was the first who crossed her path in an exotic wilderness of mirage and unreality—would she not love him? Suppose her husband—assuming her to be married—had such confidence in her that he would hear unmoved the facts of the mutual affection and urge her to keep on the stage and on the trail of an illusion called fame—then would you say that she and he were incompatible?

"My marriage to Mr. Frohman was a great mistake. I knew it before we had been married a year."

POST CARD COLUMN.

Editor Post Card Column.

Below will be found a postcard contribution from Mr. W. A. Bailey, which is remarkable in several ways inasmuch as it is addressed to the sporting editor and secondly that Mr. Bailey has no complaint to make except against the wind, which interefered with his breaking records. As usual it was not lack of wind that bothered Mr. Bailey. The communication is as follows.

Peterborough, Thursday.

Sporting Editor.

Sir,—I skated round the half mile track at the Driving Track this morning, and would have beaten all records if it had not been for the wind.

Yours, etc.,

W. A. Bailey.

SHRUBB BEAT DORANRO AND SET UP A NEW FIFTEEN MILE MARK THE ENGLISHMAN WON HANDILY

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 25—Leading his opponent from the crack of the pistol to finish, Alf. Shrubb, the English distance runner, easily defeated Pietro Dorando, the Italian, in a 15-mile race at the 74th Regiment armoury here to-night. Every American indoor record from the first to the fifteenth mile was smashed. In the first mile Shrubb took a commanding lead which he gradually increased to three laps in the tenth mile. Dorando made several game efforts to regain the lost ground in the 12th and 13th miles. But Shrubb never allowed him to get more than fifteen yards away from him. The time for the fifteen miles was—

First mile—4.49 2-5
Second mile—10.05 4-5
Third mile—15.47 1-5
Fourth mile—21.17 1-5.
Fifth mile—26 28
Sixth mile—32.17 2-5.
Seventh mile—37.58 3-5.
Eighth mile—43.36 2-5.
Ninth mile—49 09 2-5.
Tenth mile—54.50 3-5
Eleventh mile—1 00 37 3-5.
Twelfth mile—1 06.24 2-5.
Thirteenth mile—1 12.21 2-5.
Fourteenth mile—1 18.18.
Fifteenth mile—1.24.06 4-5

this lazy loafing around in the first few miles that the Ojibway used to indulge in. He went away from the mark like a shot, and was so gungery that Tom Eck had to steady him down. He did not go steadily all the way, but finished like a sprinter.

He did the 5 miles in 25.35. Because of the irregular shape of the track—it was 117 laps 324 feet to the 10 miles by a re-measurement—it was impossible to accurately time the intermediate miles.

Just to show how fast he was going Simpson went on and did the 120 laps—the track was always supposed to be a 12-lap track—in 53.44.

The Timekeepers

The time is vouched for by Tom Flanagan, D. J. McCaffery, P. J. Mulqueen and C W. Smith. The track was re-measured before the race by Tom Flanagan and was found long, so Simpson ran 117 laps 324 feet, the exact 10 miles.

Consistent Training

Simpson is an example of a runner who is benefited by consistent training and relaxation from work. When Simpson is at home he is a farmer, fisherman, guide hunter and everything else. When he wants to go to Peterborough, 44 miles away, he runs in. The result was that he grew stiff and lazy in his running. He never forced himself in these Hiawatha to Peterborough stunts, and so became accustomed to a slow pace. Eck has taken this out of him by giving him short distances and chasing him hard all the way. The result is that Simpson has gained speed and saved his reserve.

He is a decidedly dangerous man at the Marathon distance.

"Any surveyor in town is welcome to go over the track and test the measurements," said Tom Eck this morning when some doubter gave him an argument. "I tell you Simpson is a wonder, and could have gone on and smashed Fred Appleby's world's record time of 1.22 something, if I had said so."

Simpson left this morning for a short visit to his wife and family at Hiawatha.

SIMPSON IS REAL RUNNER NOW, SAYS LOU MARSH IN THE STAR

Lou Marks pays the following tribute to Fred Simpson, in the Toronto Star:

Look out, Mr. Onondaga Longboat! The Ojibway, Simpson, will lift your scalp if you are not a very careful young man.

Yes, he will!

Look what he did last night at Riverdale Rink.

He ran 10 miles in 52.30.

That is a Canadian professional record, because Canada never had one before.

That is faster than Tommy Longboat ever galloped 10 miles in his life. Longboat's best 10 miles was 54.50, made in Hamilton, Christmas, 1907, when he beat W. F. Cumming by 100 yards, after running neck and neck with him all the way.

The Ojibway's time last night at Riverdale breaks George Adams' much-disputed but properly authenticated 53.59, made outdoors at the Martin Electric road race at St. Kitts, Jan. 1, 1907, It cuts 1.29 from Adams' record.

Dorando's 10-mile time at Buffalo, the time he and Longboat ran that ding-dong 12 1-2 miles—the race where the Italian quit at 18 miles—was 56.31 1-5, and was the American indoor "pro," record. What Simpson did to this was shameful.

A great Runner

Simpson is a real runner now. When people around here heard what Tom Eck had to say about Simpson's wonderful doings they swallowed the tales with salt.

Those who saw Simpson perform will believe them now. Simpson ran like a cyclone. He was on his toes all the way. There was no more of

HOCKEY

The Toronto Star says: The craziest hockey town on the O. H. A. map is Picton.

No doubt about it.

When the "Little Men of Metal" are playing a game the town and half the surrounding county moves down to the hockey rink and takes long exercise.

Take Monday, when the Toronto Eurekas played Picton there. When the Toronto lads arrived at 2 o'clock they fouund a crowd of 400 people at the station to meet them. The crowd followed them down towvn, cheering and chaffing them all the way.

After dinner, when the Eurekas went out for a stroll, they found the streets alive with people. It was like a country fair day. Farmers were in from miles around at noon, and in the afternoon they came in in everything from buggies and buckboards to hay racks. The vehicles were all loaded to the gunwales with people. Everybody wore the purple and white of the Picton team. They paraded the town all day, blowing horns and snatching ribbons and badges. The Toronto lads lost their badges and ribbons early in the afternoon, and immediately purchased bolts of red and blue, and kept up the distribution. The rink was besieged at 6.30 and at 7 o'clock, when a special train of eight coaches came in from Belleville and Trenton, and the busses from Deseronto, seven miles away across the ice, arrived, the jam was fierce. While the game was on the crowd, which jammed the rink to the doors, kept up a continual Bedlam of cheers, whistling and horn blowing. Half the time the players could not hear the referee's bell. They backed their team to the limit, too, betting even money that Picton wouuld win by from 3 to 7 goals, and threw their money around as if they had got it from the town pump.

The Collegiate Institute team beat the Rough Riders in one of the most interesting games of the season yesterday afternoon at Brock St. rink by 1 goal to 0. It was close and hard fought all the way with neither team having much on the other. The Collegiate scored the only goal of the game in the second half, from a mix-up in front of the nets. Both showed good combination, lots of speed and clever stickhandling, and it was hard and fast from start to finish. Wallis played a star game at cover for the Collegiate, his checking being a feature, while the Giroux brothers were the pick of the Rough Riders. Harry Brown, of Belleville, refereed, and the teams were as follows:

The Review have done it again. In the face of a record in which there was not one victory to brighten up an unparalleled series of defeats, with a past as dreary and as desolate as a Lindsay side street, in spite of the advice of friends and the horrible examples of years gone by—they have challenge the al star Examiner septette, the never beaten champions, to a game of hockey. We hesitate whether to stamp their action as pure courage or unadulterated presumption. To think that a team which has never got within lassoing distance of winning a game should come along with a challenge to a champion seven and expect them to fall over themselves in accepting! It is something that is very hard to understand.

The Examiner team was at first inclined to take the challenge as they have always taken the Review seven, as a joke, but on learning that it was apparently offered in an earnest spirit, the Examiner management has decided to adopt the policy of Tommy Burns, Tom Longboat, and other champions, and will play the Review team for $1,000,000 (one million), win, lose or draw. This ultimatum which is final is not likely to be accepted and we areso rry for the sake of the populace, who have been looking forward to the annual slaughter of the Review with previsionary gusto.

"The Review's course of action should be clear," said the Examiner to-day. "They have only to refuse or accept our offer. We are the champions and they will have to come to us on our terms. We all have "starving wives and drunken little ones," to consider and while this Joe Weber stunt is all right in its way, it doesn't go very far towards buying airships for the baby."

RUNNING.

A critical study of the times made by Fred Simpson in his record breaking run of Wednesday night, and of Alf Shrubb in his race with Dorando in Buffalo last night, show that Simpson's performance compares most favourably with that of the great little Englishman. Simpson beat Shrubb's time by nearly two minutes for ten miles. Of course Shrubb had to go fifteen miles and may have been saving himself, but on the other hand he was in a race withthe competition to keep him going and make him extend himself, while on the contrary Simpson was running alone and unpaced, with no cheering thousands to urge him on and on a board track that was but roughly prepared and 12 laps to the mile at that. It will be noticed on an inspection of the following table that Simpson ran three miles under 5 minutes only in 4.34, which is only a few seconds behind the Canadian record for a mile.

Mile	Simpson	Shrubb
1	5.09 1-2	4.49 2-5
2	10.11	10.05 4-5
3	15.30	15.47 1-5

8	41.07 1-2	43.36 2-5
9	46.41	49.09 2-5
10	52.30	54.50 3-5

The following table shows the time in which the runners ran every mile:—

CURLING.

There were eight rinks at the curling rink last night for the first game since the mild weather set in. Mr. McIntosh had the ice in splendid shape. There were two very good games, one between Skip T. F. Matthews and Skip W. G. Ferguson. The score at the end of the game was 13, and the 13th end had to be played. As 13 is Mr. Matthews' favourite number, he was the victor and got the odd shot making the score 13-14. The other game was between Skip Medd and Skip D. Hall. There were 12 ends played, and only a total of 13 shots made, making it a very close contest all through although Mr. Medd won by a score of 9-4.

The scores were as follows—

ST. ANDREW'S AND KNOX CHURCH WERE CHURCH LEAGUE WINNERS

Last night's church league games at Brock street rink went according to the dope and St. Andrew's and Knox church, as was expected, were the winners. Knox church trimmed George street and St. Andrew's triumphed over Park street. Contrary to expectations, however, the games were close in both cases. It kept Knox church busy beading off George street, the score being 4—3, while their brother Presbyterians had a hard tight with Park street, winning but by 2—0. Both games were hard fought and interesting and the two hundred fans present got their money's worth in hockey.

George street and Knox clashed in the first game and it was a ding-dong battle all the way. George street showed surprisingly good form and had, it anything, a little the better of the first half. They were ahead at one time by 2—1, but the Presbyterians tied things up by half time and won out in the second half. It was a close, hard checking game all the way, but the Knox team's combination enabled them to win out. They showed a pretty classy article of hockey at times and it looks as if he final go between them and St. Andrew's will be a great game. Jim Squires refereed the battle satisfactorily and the teams were as follows.

The second game was another close battle. St. Andrew's scored one goal in each half, while the Parke Street team failed to score at all, although they had sevral opportunities to reach the counting station. Both teams did good work and it was an interesting exhibition all the way with both teams working for all that was in them. Leo Derocher was referee, while the teams were lined up as follows:

St. Andrew's. — Patterson, goal; Staunton, point; Fanagan, cover; H. Rae, rover; Reid, centre; N. Rae, right wing; Currie, left wing.

THE FEDERAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO. OF CANADA

Tweny-seventh Annual Statement

DIRECTORS' REPORT

The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Shareholders of the Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada was held at the Company's Home Office in Hamilton, Tuesday, 16th February, 1909, at 2 p.m., Mr. David Dexter in the chair, Mr. W. H. Davis, Acting Secretary.

The Annual Report, as follows, was read and adopted, on motion of the President, Mr. Dexter, seconded by Vice-President Lieut.-Col. Kerns.

Your Directors have the honor to present the Report and Financial Statement of the Company for the year which closed 31st December, 1908, duly vouched for by the Auditors.

The new business of the year consisted of two thousand six hundred and thirty-one applications for insurance, aggregating $3,713,609.36, of which two thousand four hundred and twenty-three applications for $3,377,723.33 were accepted.

As in previous years, the income of the Company shows a gratifying increase, and the assets of the Company have been inceased by $314,383.91, and have now reached $3,314,856.65, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The security for Policyholders, including guarantee capital, amounted at the close of the year to $4,184,856.65, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, $3,045,786.00, showing a surplus of $1,140,070.65. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to Policyholders was $270,070.65.

Policies on ninety-seven lives became claims through death, to the amount of $162,160.56.

Including Cash Dividends and Dividends applied to the reduction of premiums, with annuities, the total payment to Policyholders amounted to $303,743.23.

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the Company's funds, in first-class bonds, mortgage securities, and loans on the Company's policies amply secured by reserves. Our investments have yielded a very satisfactory rate of interest.

Expenses have been confined to a reasonable limit, consistent with due efforts for new business. The results of the year indicate a most gratifying progress. Compared with the preceding year, the figures submitted by the Directors for your approval show an advance of nearly ten and one-half per cent. in assets.

The assurances carried by the Company now amount to $20,186,400.61, upon which the Company holds reserves to the full amount required by law, and, in addition thereto, a considerable surplus.

You are to be congratulated on the fact that the surplus over Capital and all Liabilities increased $56,154.65, or nearly seventy per cent., during the past year.

The field officers and and agents of the Company are intelligent and loyal, and are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the Company's interests. The members of the office staff have also proved faithful to the Company's service.

Your Directors are pleased to be able to state that the business of the Company for the past two months of the current year has been of a most satisfactory character, and that the outlook for the future is most encouraging.

DAVID DEXTER, President and Managing Director.

THE NECESSITY FOR A MORE EFFECTIVE AND PROPER METHOD OF ISOLATION

Paper on This Important Subject Read by Dr. H. H. Sinclair at Meeting of the Ontario Medical Association.

INSTRUCTIVE ARTICLE.

Just now when the question of isolation is occupying a large share in the thoughts of the people of Peterborough the following paper on the subject should be read with interest locally. It was read at the last annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association by Dr. H. H. Sinclair, of Walkerton, and The Examiner is indebted to Dr. Morgan, city, through whose kindness the publishing of the following article is made possible.

This subject has been chosen in order to get an expression of opinion from the ranks of the profession in regard to the anomalous position we occupy in the eyes of the public when we attempt to carry out the provisions of the present Public Health Act. My views may come in for criticism, but I think it time that something should be done to relieve the municipality from what has in some cases become an intolerable burden, and in many cases, a useless expenditure of money with no visible results.

The freer the discussion the better it will suit my purpose.

We have all seen proclamations ordering public and compulsory vaccination under penalty of fine for non-compliance with the act.

It is supposed that every child must present a certificate of vaccination before it can attend a public school.

To what extent is this observed?

The vaccination act orders the vaccination of every healthy child at three months on pain of fining the parents for non-compliance. How many have ben fined?

In case small-pox breaks out in a house you cannot compel vaccination but, if previous to the outbreak, a proclamation ordering general vaccination has been issued, the adults may be fined for non-compliance and if the authorities are vindictive, the parents of these adults may also be proceeded against for not having had them vaccinated at three months.

Even when a man neglects vaccination after a proclamation has been issued, contracts small-pox, becomes a source of trouble, annoyance, and expense, to the municipality, is there any probability that he will be punished?

As the act now stands it is extremely difficult to get the average ratepayer to submit himself and his family for vaccination, and in the case of those who do not pay taxes it is almost an impossibility.

The laymen's argument is as follows:

"If small-pox breaks out, the case will be quarantined and I will thus be protected, hence, my chance for contracting it is very slight; but if I submit myself and my family to be vaccinated, how do I know that I have any protection? If vaccination protects, why does the act insist on quarantine? If it does not protect, why should I submit myself to the certain discomfort of vaccination?"

Is this not logical?

The most successful argument that I have found with the property owner, is that he will have to pay his own expenses for quarantine if his family contracts small-pox, hence, I find that 90 per cent. of our cases occur in those who do not pay taxes.

Show the layman that it will reduce his taxes and he becomes a convert to vaccination.

What is necessary to produce an effective quarantine?

English authorities teach that small-pox is an air borne disease. One of the most striking illustrations to bear out this view is cited in "Parke's Hygiene," 1902, where it is reported by Dr. Thresh, that an epidemic broke out in the Village of Purfleet, on the Essex bank of the Thames, which is situated just opposite to where the Metropolitan Hospital ships were moored near the Kent County shore; and can only be accounted for by aerial transmission, as it is situated at a distance of three-quarters of a mile and there is practically no communication between the ships and the Essex shore. According to this, small-pox can be carried three-quarters of a mile by air. Dust from small-pox centre is supposed to convey the contagion in a virulent form. (Osler). Hence, patients should be quarantined at a greater distance than three-quarters of a mile from other inhabitants.

Accepting this to be true the other requirements for an effective quarantine are given by Dr. H. M. Bracken, Secretary of the Minnesota State Board of Health, in an article in the Minnesota State Journal, as follows:

To make quarantine effective all diseased individuals must be separated from healthy individuals. The only practical method by which this can be carried out is through the Isolation Hospital. It is only the larger cities that are supplied with such institutions. As a consequence, the smaller cities, villages and country districts are without any place in which to carry on a reasonable quarantine. Even in the cities, provided with Isolation Hospitals, the quarantine is a certain percentage of mild or unrecognized cases which do not come under quarantine regulations, and these are as capable of spreading disease as are the more severe and easily recognized cases, which are transferred to the Isolation Hospitals.

Again, a person that is well to-day may show evidence of disease to-morrow. Under quarantine regulations such an individual would receive no notice to-day, and, being left with the uninfected until to-morrow, this condition of affairs, the process of eliminating the infected from the uninfected may have to be repeated many times in large families, lodging houses, public institutions, etc., before the final separation of the two is complete.

It is easy to recognize the typical cases in dealing with any disease. It is as easy to pass by the typical cases, and thus spread infection in spite of the most rigid quarantine of the typical cases.

Immunity is ever thwarting quarantine. This is well illustrated in the case of diphtheria. We know that many healthy individuals carry the germs of this disease in nose or throat, or in both. We quarantine rigidly the clinical cases of diphtheria, but rarely restrain the non-clinical, but nevertheless, dangerous carriers of the disease.

Another group of quarantine-evaders are those individuals who, having had an infectious disease and apparently having recovered, are still the host of the infection. In spite of the fact of all evidence of disease having disappeared, these patients are released from quarantine and thus spread infection to others. This has been thoroughly demonstrated in dealing with diphtheria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, etc.

The ideal method of dealing with so-called quarantinable diseases is the immediate removal of the diseased individual to a specially provided hospital not a pest house. This is becoming quite a general custom in the large cities, due to a great extent to the fact that their inhabitants will not tolerate rigid house quarantine. If this is practicable for the large cities, it is also practicable and economical for the smaller cities, villages, and country districts. There should be sufficient isolation hospital accommodation, in the thickly settled portion of the state at least, to take care of all communicable diseases. It is now a generally recognized fact that to get the best results in surgical cases the patients must go to a hospital for treatment. The old dread of extent among the people of the past, is dying out, and wisely so. The modern well-equipped hospitals, with their trained nurses, will give far better results in the treatment of communicable diseases than will the home care of this same group of cases. It is now a well-recognized fact that tuberculosis in a majority of instances can be better cared for in an institution than at home. If all typhoid fever cases were treated in hospitals this disease would be rapidly reduced, and the spread of the infection would then be greatly diminished; for trained nurses know how to destroy the infectious agent and to prevent contact cases. If this is true of tuberculosis and of typhoid fever, it is also true of small-pox, scarlet fever, diphtheria, and other similar diseases. It is for medical men to aid in bringing about these much needed reforms.

Now, let us see how the act is observed in many municipalities. A case of small-pox is reported to the Secretary of the Local Board of Health, and in the course of time the M. H. O hears of it. He immediately insists on a meeting of the board and urges the necessity of public vaccination and compliance with the act. The board do not believe it is small-pox and pass a resolution to telegraph the Provincial Board for an expert. They then adjourn until an answer is received. Meanwhile, nothing is done toward quarantine. The reply comes, reading about as follows: "Inspector out of the city, will be up in a day or two." During the adjournment one of the board has consulted the almanac and discovered that no person will take small-pox if he takes plenty of sulphur and cream of tartar. The M. H. O. must be very ignorant or he would know this. Why? There it is in plain print. Again nothing is done. Eventually the inspector arrives, confirms the diagnosis and insists on the appointment of Sanitary Police to maintain quarantine of the infected houses.

After much wrangling these are appointed from available material and if there is an aldermanic pull, they are usually a fine assortment of the lame, the halt and the blind; probably more of a menace to the public than a simple card would be, as they attract more flies and companions to hang around the quarantined neighbourhood. Thus we have ben afforded the spectacle of a policeman patroling in front of a country hotel, whilst the bar and stables were open for business.

One store in a block is quarantined and business places on both sides still doing business.

One end of a frame tenement quarantined and the inmates of the other side separated only by a thin partition mingling with the general public, etc., etc.

I will say nothing of the ethics and incidental brutality of taking the individual from the midst of home surroundings and rushing him off to a temporary pest-house; such as provided by such a board.

The business of the community is all disturbed and everyone is in a state of alarm and apprehension.

Now, commences the activity of the Local Board of Health. What did the doctor report the case for? Why did the medical health officer report to Toronto? Dismiss him. He spends too much money. He wants to make money, etc., etc.

Finally when all susceptible individuals have had the disease it dies out and the bills are called for.

The bills rendered are often preposterous and as specimens of what the individual will charge to a corporation are sometimes a curiosity. After legal wrangling these are paid.

I have here a list of the expenses paid by various municipalities during the past five years. These were obtained in answer to three hundred personal letters sent to the clerks of various municipalities of this province, but in most cases they could not give me the cost of the present year. In some cases they are itemized and in others the lump sum is given.

This list is, however, sufficient to show that quarantine is an expensive luxury. Hence, it has become quite a common practice to head a suspected individual into the next municipality in order to be freed of the expense of quarantine. There sems to be no redres for this under the present act.

Even where an efficient quarantine is observed, we have the very mild cases, who have not consulted a medical man and who go about without let or hindrance.

If an individual suspects the disease, he will not call a doctor for fear of being reported.

Smith has the disease and calls a medical man, who reports the case and quarantines the house; but Jones does not call the doctor and travels around spreading the disease. He later on boasts of his cunning. In the eyes of the Smith family the doctor is an informer, and in all probability loses that family as supporters, even if they do not become active enemies.

According to the Act, medical men and the clergy are permitted to visit small-pox patients and then go about their ordinary avocations, but if ten recently vaccinated laymen were found in the house with a case of small-pox, all would be quarantined for the period of eighteen days.

Could not these recently vaccinated laymen (under medical supervision) be as thoroughly cleansed as any medical man? But perhaps in the eye of the law a degree in medicine or theology confers special immunity. An abuse which may easily arise is the quarantine of cases which are not small-pox. Here the business of the community is disturbed. There is a large outlay of money with no benefit to anyone, to say nothing of the feelings of the individuals quarantined.

From observations and personal experience my belief is that: One attack of small-pox renders most victims immune to that disease for life, but it does not immune all, as I know of two medical men who practised in this Province, one of whom had small-pox three times in five years, the other three times in his life time.

One successful vaccination renders many people immune to smallpox or vaccine for life, and in the majority of cases it protects for at least seven

"If you keep yours open nothing happens for me but looking at them."

She laughed merrily. A compliment never displeased Sophy, and she could bear it very downright.

"But if I were to shut my eyes, what would you do then?"

He looked doubtfully at her mocking face. She meant a little more than the idle words naturally carried.

"I don't think you'll give me the chance of considering, baroness." He indicated her costume with a gesture of his hand. "You've entered the service, I see."

"Yes, Captain Markart, the king's service. We are brethren. You serve him too?"

"I have that honor." Markart flushed under her laughing scrutiny.

"We fight shoulder to shoulder, then. Well, not quite. I'm a gunner, you see."

"Minus your guns at present!"

"Not for long!" She turned round and swept her arms out toward the lake and the hills. "It's a day to think of nothing—just to go riding, riding, riding!" Her laugh rang out in merry longing.

"What prevents you?"

"My military duties perhaps, captain," she answered. "You're lucky. You have a long ride. Don't spoil it by thinking!"

"I think? Oh, no, baroness! I only obey my orders."

"And they never make you think?" Her glance was quick at him for an instant.

"There's danger in thinking too much, even for ladies," he told her.

She looked at him more gravely, for his eyes were on her now, with a kindly, perhaps a remorseful, look.

"You mean that for me?" she asked. "But if I, too, only obey my orders?"

"With all my heart I hope they may lead you into no danger," he said.

"There's only one danger in all the world—losing what you love."

"Not sometimes gaining it?" he asked quickly.

"Still, the only danger would be of losing it again."

"There's life, too," he remarked, with a shrug.

"Sir, we're soldiers!" she cried in merry reproof.

"That doesn't prevent me from prizing your life, baroness, in the interests of a world not too rich in what you contribute to it."

Sophy looked at him, a subtle merriment in her eyes. "I think, Captain Markart, that if you were my doctor you'd advise me to try a change of air! Praslok is too exciting, is that it? But I found Slavna—well, far from relaxing, you know!"

"The Kravonian climate as a whole, baroness"—

"Oh, no, no; that's too much!" she interrupted. Then she said: "It's very kind of you—yes, I mean that—and it's probably—I don't know—but probably against your orders. So I thank you. But I can face even the rigors of Kravonia."

She held out her hand. He bent and kissed it. "In fact, I hadn't the least right to say it," he confessed. "Not the least from any point of view. It's your fault, though, baroness."

"Since I'm party to the crime I'll keep the secret," she promised, with a decidedly kindly glance. To Sophy admiration of herself always argued something good in a man. She had none of that ungracious scorn which often disfigures the smile of beauty. She gave a little sigh, followed quickly by a smile.

"We've said all we possibly can to one another, you and I. More than we should perhaps! And now to duty!" She pointed to the door of the castle.

The prince was coming down the wooden causeway. He, too, wore the Volseni sheepskins. In his hand he carried a sealed letter. Almost at the same moment a groom led Markart's horse from the stables. The prince joined them and, after a bow to Sophy, handed the letter to Markart.

"For his majesty. And you remember my message to General Stenovics?"

"Accurately, sir."

"Good!" He gave Markart his hand. "Goodby! A pleasant ride to you, captain—pleasanter than last night's." His grave face broke into a smile.

"I'm not to have M. Zerkovitch's company this time, sir?"

"Why, no, captain! You see, Zerkovitch left the castle soon after 6 o'clock. Rather a short night, yes, but he was in a hurry."

Sophy burst into a laugh at the dismay on Markart's face. "We neither of us knew that, Captain Markart, did we?" she cried. "We thought he was sleeping off the fright you'd given him!"

"Your royal highness gives me leave"— stammered Markart, all eyes on his horse.

"Certainly, captain. But don't be vexed. There will be no invidious comparisons. Zerkovitch doesn't propose to report himself to General Stenovics immediately on his arrival."

Good natured Markart joined in the laugh at his own expense. "I'm hardly awake yet. He must be made of iron, that Zerkovitch!"

"Quicksilver!" smiled the prince. As Markart mounted he added, "Au revoir!"

Markart left the two standing side by side—the prince's serious face lit up with a rare smile, Sophy's beauty radiant in merriment. His own face fell as he rode away. "I half wish I was in the other camp," he grumbled. But Stenovics' power held him—and the fear of Stafnitz. He went back to a work in which his heart no longer was, for his heart had felt Sophy's spell.

He gave Markart his hand.

"You can have had next to no sleep all night, monseigneur," said Sophy in reproach, mingled with commiseration.

"I don't need it. The sight of your face refreshes me. We must talk. Zerkovitch brought news."

In low, grave tones he told her the tidings and the steps which he and Zerkovitch had taken.

"I understand my father's reasons for keeping me in the dark. He meant it well, but he was blinded by this idea about my marriage. But I see, too, how it fitted in with Stenovics' ideas. I think it's war between us now, and I'm ready."

Sophy was almost dazed. The king's life was not to be relied on for a week—for a day—no, not for an hour! But she listened attentively. Zerkovitch had gone back to Slavna on a fresh horse and at top speed. He would have more than two hours' lead of Markart. His first duty was to open communications with Lepage and arrange that the valet should send him all the information which came to his ears and any impressions which he was able to gather in the palace. Zerkovitch would forward the reports to Praslok immediately so long as the prince remained at the castle. But the prince was persuaded that his father would not refuse to see him now that he knew the true state of the case. "My father is really attached to me," he said, "and if I see him I'm confident that I can persuade him of the inexpediency of my leaving the kingdom just now. A hint of my suspicions with regard to the countess and Stenovics would do it, but I'm reluctant to risk giving him such a shock. I think I can persuade him without."

"But is it safe for you to trust yourself at Slavna in the palace and alone?"

"I must risk the palace alone, and I'm not much afraid. Stenovics might go to war with me, but I don't think he'd favor assassination. And to Slavna I shan't go alone. Our gunners will go with us, Sophy. We have news of the guns being on the way. There will be nothing strange in my marching the gunners down to meet them. They're only half trained even in drill, but they're brave fellows. We'll take up our quarters with them in Suleiman's tower. I don't fear all Slavna if I hold Suleiman's tower with 300 Volsenians. Stafnitz may do his worst!"

"Yes, I see," she answered thoughtfully. "I can't come with you to Suleiman's tower, though."

"Only if there are signs of danger. Then you and Marie must come. If all is quiet you can stay in her house. We can meet often, as often as possible. For the rest we must wait."

She saw that they must wait. It was impossible to approach the king on the matter of Sophy. It cut dead at the heart of his ambition. It would be a shock as great as the discovery of Countess Ellenburg's ambitions. It could not be risked.

"But if under Stenovics' influence the king does refuse to see you?" she asked—"Refuses to see you and repeats his orders?"

The prince's face grew very grave, but his voice was firm.

"Not even the king—not even my father—can make me throw away the inheritance which is mine. The hand would be the king's, but the voice, the voice of Stenovics. I shouldn't obey. They'd have to come to Volseni and take me."

Sophy's eyes kindled. "Yes, that's right!" she said. "And for today?"

"Nothing will happen today unless by chance the thing which we now know may happen any day, and of that we shouldn't hear till evening. And there's no drill even. I sent the men to their homes on forty-eight hours' furlough yesterday morning." His face relaxed in a smile. "I think today we can have a holiday, Sophy."

She clapped her hands in glee. "Oh, monseigneur, a holiday!"

"It must be the last for a long time," he said, "so we must enjoy it."

This day—this holiday which might be the last—passed in a fine carelessness and a rich joy in living. The cloudless sky and the glittering waters of Lake Talti were parties to their pleasure, whether as they rode far along the shore or sat and ate a simple meal on the rock strewn margin. Hopes and fears, dangers and stern resolves, were forgotten. Even of the happier issues which the future promised or dangled before their eyes there was little thought or speech. The blood of youth flowed briskly. The heart of youth rose high. The prince joked, jested and paid his court. Sophy's eyes gleamed with the fun as not even the most exalted and perilous adventure could make them sparkle.

"It's good," she said, "to see the sun."

"Oh, it's good," she cried—"good to live and see the sun! Monseigneur, I believe I'm a pagan—a sun worshiper! When he's good enough to warm me through and to make the water glitter for me and shadows dance in such a cunning pattern on the hills, then I think I've done something that he likes and that he's pleased with me!" She sprang to her feet and stretched out her hands toward the sun. "In the grave, I believe, I shall remember the glorious light. My memory of that could surely never die!"

His was the holiday mood too. He fell in with her extravagance, meeting it with banter.

"It's only a lamp," he said, "just a lamp, and it's hung there for the sole purpose of showing Sophy's eyes. When she's not there they put it out, for what's the use of it?"

"They put it out when I'm not there?"

"I've noticed it happen a dozen times of late."

"It lights up again when I come, monseigneur?"

"Ah, then I forget to look!"

"You get very little sun anyhow, then!"

"I've something so much better."

It is pathetic to read—pathetic that she should have set it down as though every word of it were precious—set it down as minutely as she chronicled the details of the critical hours to which fate was soon to call her.

They rode home together as the sun was setting—a sun of ruddy gold, behind it one bright purple cloud, the sky beyond blue, deepening almost into black. When Praslok came in sight she laid her hand on his, with a long drawn sigh.

"We have been together today," she said. "That will be there always. Yes, the sun and the world were made for us today, and we have been worthy."

He pressed her hand. "You were sent to teach me what joy is—the worth of the world to men who live in it. You're the angel of joy, Sophy. Before you came I had missed that lesson."

"I'm very glad"—thus she ends her own record of this day of glory—"that I've brought joy to monseigneur. He faces his fight joyful of heart." And then, with one of her absurd, deplorable, irresistible lapses into the merest ordinary feminine, she adds, "That red badge is just the touch my sheepskin cap wanted!"

Oh, Sophy, Sophy! What of that for a final reflection on the eve of monseigneur's fight?

Chapter Twenty-two

THERE was a stir in Slavna. Excitement was gradually growing, not unmixed with uneasiness. Gossip was busy at the Hotel de Paris and at the Golden Lion. Men clustered in groups and talked, while their wives said they would be better at home, minding their business and letting politics alone. Knowledge was far to seek. Rumors were plentiful. Dr. Natcheff might be as reassuring as he pleased, but he had spent the night at the palace! All was quiet in the city, but news came of the force that was being raised in Volseni, and the size of the force lost nothing as the report passed from mouth to mouth. Little as Slavna loved the prince, it was not eager to fight him. A certain reaction in his favor set in. If they did not love him, they held him in sincere respect. If he meant to fight, then they were not sure that they did!

Baroness Dobrava's name, too, was much on men's lips. Stories about Sophy were bandied to and fro. People began to remember that they had from the beginning thought her very remarkable—a force to be reckoned with. The superstitious ideas about her made their first definite appearance now. She had bewitched the prince, they said, and the men of the hills too. The whole mountain country would rise at her bidding and sweep down on Slavna in rude warfare and mad bravery. The sheepskins would come, following the red star!

The citizens of Slavna did not relish the prospect. At the best it would be very bad for trade. At the worst it would mean blood and death let loose in the streets. A stern ruler was better than civil war. The troops of the garrison were no longer such favorites as they had been. Even Captain Hercules subdued his demeanor, which indeed, had never quite recovered from the chastisement of the prince's sword, to a self effacing discretion. He, too, in his heart and in his heavy, primitive brain had an uneasy feeling about the witch with the red star. Had she not been the beginning of trouble? But for her Sterkoff's long knife would have set an end to the whole chapter long ago!

The time was short and the omens doubtful. It was the moment for a bold stroke, for a forcing game. The waverers must be shown where power lay, whose was the winning side.

Captain Markart arrived at Slavna at 1 o'clock. Zerkovitch had used his start well and reached the city nearly three hours earlier. When Markart told Stenovics—he reported himself at once to the general—how he had been outwitted Stenovics smiled, saying: "I know, and I know what he has done since he got here. They stole a march on you, but not on me, captain. And now—your story!" He listened to Markart's tale with a frowning brow and then dismissed him, saying: "You will meet me at the palace. We meet the king in conference at 4 o'clock." But the general himself went to the palace long before 4, and he and Stafnitz were closeted with Countess Ellenburg. Lepage, returning from a walk to the city at 2 o'clock, saw the general arrive on horseback. Lieutenant Rastatz saw Lepage arrive—aye, and had seen him set out and marked all his goings, but of this Lepage was unconscious. The little lieutenant was not much of a soldier, but he was an excellent spy. Lepage had been with Zerkovitch.

"They stole a march on you, but not on me, captain."

The king was confined to his apartments, a suit of six rooms on the first floor, facing the river. Here he had his own sitting room, dressing and bedrooms. Besides these there were the little cupboard Lepage slept in and a spare room, which at present accommodated Dr. Natcheff. The sixth room was occupied by odds and ends, including the tackle, rods and other implements of his majesty's favorite pastime. The council was held in the sitting room. Natcheff and Lepage were not present, but each was in his own room, ready for any possible call on his services. Markart was there, first to tell his story and deliver his letter, second in his capacity as secretary to General Stenovics. The countess and Stafnitz completed the party.

The king was anxious, worried, obviously unwell. His voice trembled as he read aloud his son's letter. It was brief, but dutiful and even affectionate. After a slight reproach that he should have been kept in ignorance of the apprehensions entertained about the king's health the prince requested an audience within the next two days. He had considerations which it was his duty to lay before his majesty, and he firmly but respectfully claimed the right of confidential communication with his father. That was essential to his majesty's obtaining a true appreciation of his views. The hit at Stenovics was plain enough, and the prince did not labor it. The letter ended there, with an expression of earnest concern for the king's health. There was no word in it about starting on his journey.

Then Markart told his story—not that he had much to tell. In essence he added only that the prince proposed to await the king's answer at Praslok. Neither to him had the prince said a word about starting on his journey.

On this point Stenovics seized, pursuant, no doubt, to the plan devised in that preliminary discussion with the other two members of the little coterie.

"It is remarkable, sir, even more than remarkable, that his royal highness makes no reference at all to the direct command which your majesty was pleased to issue to him," he observed.

The king listened, puzzled and rather distressed. "Yes, it isn't proper; it isn't respectful. But now that my son knows the state of my health I think I must see him. It seems unnatural to refuse. After all, it may be the last time, since he's going on this journey."

"But is the prince going on his journey, sir?" asked Stenovics. "Does the studied silence of his letter augur well for his obedience? Doesn't he seek an interview in order to persuade your majesty against your better judgment? I must be pardoned freedom of speech. Great interests are at stake." The last words were true enough, though not in the sense in which the king was meant to understand them.

"My son knows how near this matter is to my heart. I shall be able to persuade him to do his duty," said the king.

THE INTELLIGENT USE OF

Newbro's Herpicide

RARELY FAILS TO PRODUCE THE MOST GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Miss Della Knight

The prominent American actress, whose photograph is shown above, writes as follows:

"I have found nothing to equal Newbro's Herpicide. It keeps the hair from falling and frees the scalp of dandruff. An occasional application leaves the hair delightfully fluffy."

"Enclosed please find coupons for soap and comb with order for 88 cents, for which please send the above articles.

"I have used Newbro's Herpicide for two years and think an article so meritorious should be well advertised and widely used, for it is a boon to all womankind. I am giving you my experience and if you think it likely to be of interest, you are welcome to use it as you think best, for I have derived such great benefit from Herpicide that I would like others to know of it.

"When I began its use two years ago my hair was only two inches long and very thin, the result of four years residence in India, the intense heat of the climate having ruined my hair. I tried everything in Europe and in America without benefit, until I tried Herpicide. I am delighted with its effect and my many friends never tire of admiring my hair. It is long, soft, and as silky as a baby's hair, not a gray hair to be seen, and my hair was quite gray before I used your incomparable remedy. I do not think the praises of Herpicide can be sung too loudly or too long. Several of my friends are using Herpicide on the strength of my recommendation." Richmond, Va.

(Signed) MRS. S. A. LEE.

NOTE—Herpicide will not darken gray hair, and we do not want anyone to spend money for Herpicide in the belief that it will. Herpicide will stop falling hair, but if the hair that falls is gray, the new growth will also be gray. In this particular the above case is remarkable.

THE MURDERER NO COMMON TRAMP

Police Are Hard at Work on the Hamilton Mystery.

REWARDS AGGREGATE $2,000

Family, City and Government Offer Money For Apprehension of Man Who Killed Miss Ethel Kinrade —Sister Is Still In Bad State and Will Not Talk For Publication—People Are Scared.

Hamilton, Feb. 27.—There are now three rewards aggregating $2,000 for evidence leading to the detention of the murderer of Miss Ethel Kinrade. The family are offering $1,000, and the city and the Government have supplemented with $500 each. Provincial Detective John Miller has been detailed on the case. He arrived in the city yesterday, but did not receive instruction until last night to work on the mystery. The request for Detective Miller's assistance was made to the Attorney-General's Department through Hon. J. S. Hendrie, who last night telephoned Mayor McLaren that the whole of the provincial force was at the disposal of Hamilton, and that all they were waiting for was to be asked.

MISS ETHEL KINRADE,
The Murdered Girl.

The bereaved family have denied themselves to reporters. Neither the mother or Miss Florence is in a fit condition physically to be seen. The mother requires the attention of a trained nurse and medical treatment. She had another swooning spell last night, and Dr. James White was hurriedly called.

Speaking of the lodging houses, Police Officer McMenemy stated last night that even tramps who were given tickets for lodgings were afraid to take advantage of them, returning with statements that as many as six or seven of the lodgers were armed with revolvers.

Mayor McLaren objects to the way he was reported in connection with the case. What he says he said is, "My belief is that it was not the deed of an ordinary tramp."

The police are receiving alarms constantly about tramps answering the description given by the family, but have failed to obtain anything satisfactory. A belated report reached the chief last evening that a tramp bearing resemblance to the supposed murderer had been seen in the east end of the park under the mountain at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

MISS FLORENCE KINRADE,
Who Had a Narrow Escape.

The inquest will be held next Wednesday evening, and Chief Smith spoke hopefully last evening of being able to throw important light on the mystery before that time. The detectives who are investigating admit that they are not looking for anyone of the hobo order.

Some speculation is being indulged in as to what Mr. Kinrade had in mind when, yesterday, while his daughter was telling him of the shooting, he said, "Who did it? Was it anybody you met in Virginia?" She replied that it was not, but she would know the man again.

Coroner McNichol, who was called a few minutes after the shooting to give medical aid, and who got the first story of the elder sister, has a different version from those obtained by the police. She told him that when the man entered the house and pointed a revolver at her she backed up in her terror to the rear of the hall, and that her sister came down the back stairs. The man heard her and turned and fired several shots at her.

The police say that they have interviewed every person in the neighborhood of the Kinrade home, and not one of them saw the tramp either entering or leaving the house. The fact that seven bullets were fired has caused considerable comment, but the authorities say that there are such weapons as seven-shooters, though they are considered old-fashioned.

Jesse Linger, caretaker of Christ Cathedral, says that he was threatened by a beggar to whom he refused aid Wednesday morning.

Inspector McMahon says that the mother did not complain to him on Thursday of any particular man, and did not say that there was a man hanging about the house. Her complaint was about the number of men who had called at her home with tickets from the lodging-houses, and about a man, not of the tramp order, who was loafing about the house last Sunday night, and who raised his umbrella and hid his face when they tried to get a look at him.

A CHURCH CONTROVERSY.

Rev. Dr. Carman of Methodist Church Makes Trouble.

Toronto, Feb. 27.—As a result of the letter sent by Rev. Dr. Carman of the Methodist Church to The Globe attacking Rev. George Jackson of Sherbourne Street Church for his so-called heterodoxy, there is a controversial tempest in this city and in ecclesiastical circles throughout the country.

In an address before the Y.M.C.A., Rev. Mr. Jackson expressed the belief that the story of the creation in Genesis was a legend, a mythical way of expressing great truths.

Dr. Carman replied that the story of the creation was to be taken literally, and proceeded to attack Rev. Mr. Jackson, who comes under the control of the British Wesleyan Conference, for lack of gratitude for the hospitality shown him in Canada.

Not only the belief involved but Dr. Carman's brutal attack on Mr. Jackson have aroused the ire of prominent clerics and laymen.

The pulpit supply committee of Sherbourne Street Church have replied to Dr. Carman with a unanimous resolution supporting their pastor, and one of their number, J. W. Flavelle, in this morning's Globe addressed a scathing open letter to the head of Methodism in Canada, condemning his lack of charity. In part Mr. Flavelle says:

"Without having had any communication with him you assail a brother minister in a manner from which a man in the ordinary walk of life, among those whom you would term Godless people, would be protected by the instinct of good breeding, untempered by the grace of religious profession. You have shocked and distressed men of every communion in the spirit of cruel spite displayed, and the bitter spirit of the heresy-hunter which is found in every part of your communication."

To Label Patent Medicines.

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—An order-in-council has been passed, defining regulations for the sale of patent medicines under the act of last session.

They provide that the special stamps to be provided by the Department for goods in stock at the time the act comes into force will be supplied upon application being made to the Department between March 1 and April 1.

The charge for the stamps will be at the rate of 2 cents for 100 stamps. These stamps are to be attached to the wrapper of each individual bottle, box or package in such manner as to seal the package. No medicines containing cocaine shall have attached thereto these Departmental stamps.

For Taft's Inaugural.

Washington, Feb. 27.—In preparation for the inaugural ball on the evening of March 4, the transformation began yesterday of the big, barn-like court of the pension building, the largest brick building, it is said, in the world into a veritable fairyland. The decorations for the ball alone will cost about $20,000, exclusive of the framework. There will be between 7,000 and 10,000 incandescent electric lights needed and miles of wire. In the floral scheme there will be used 2,000 blooming plants and hundreds of growing American beauties and crimson rambler plants, in addition to hundreds of dozens of cut flowers.

GAVE FOSTER A "DRESSING DOWN"

Dr. Clark of Red Deer Roasts Opposition Member.

FRANKING UNDER DEBATE

When Member For North Toronto Charges Robbery of the Treasury, New Legislator From the West Hands Him a Sharp Reprimand —Delegation Wait on Ministers Regarding Combines.

Ottawa, Fez. 27.—Dr. Daniels yesterday brought up the question of the use of the mails for the free distribution of partisan literature. Some 8,000 copies of the election pamphlet of his opponent in the last election had been sent free through the mails for Ottawa. David Henderson, Dr. Barr and others spoke of franked literature being sent to their ridings, and George Taylor pointed out that this literature was not franked through the Ottawa city postoffice, so that the postmaster was directly responsible.

Mr. Lemieux said franking after the session was wrong. In the case of campaign literature sent to his own County of Gaspe, he had paid the postage out of his own pocket.

In reply to a question he said that even Ministers of the crown had no right to transfer their frank to other parties. He promised to have the whole matter investigated.

"What would the Postmaster-General say to a Minister franking out for other people," asked Mr. Perley.

"I would severely censure the Minister," said Mr. Lemieux.

Mr. Taylor (New Westminster) brought up another instance of abuse of the franking privilege, which he regarded as nothing less than a piece of "petty graft." For three or four years some 30 or 40 weekly letters containing scurrilous abuse of the Conservative party and leaders were being sent to Liberal newspapers in British Columbia, franked "J.B., Solicitor-General."

Hon. Mr. Bureau replied that he had no apology to make whatever. The practice had been in vogue for years under both Governments.

Mr. Maddin argued that what the Solicitor-General had done was a flagrant violation of the law, which the Solicitor-General was paid to enforce.

Mr. Perley produced an envelope which had enclosed literature sent into Argenteuil County free. It was franked "S.A.F., M.A." As the Postmaster-General, said Mr. Perley, had said he would reprimand a colleague guilty of franking campaign stuff outside of the session, let him reprimand Hon. Mr. Fisher before the House.

Somebody had robbed the Treasury and should be punished, said Mr. Foster.

The duty of dressing down Mr. Foster was assumed by Dr. Clark of Red Deer, a new member, and he did it well. He began with a hearty endorsation of an appeal by Mr. Burrell for less recrimination, and with measured language the ideals of the member for Yale-Cariboo with Mr. Foster's notions of Parliamentary dignity. As a new member he earnestly desired to see the proceedings of Parliament conducted with dignity and decorum, but Mr. Foster had given an illustration of recrimination which could only be deplored.

"If," continued Dr. Clark, "I wanted a lesson in high-mindedness it is not to the member for North Toronto that I would go."

At this the Opposition jeered, but Dr. Clark was equal to the occasion.

"If I did," he retorted, "I am not quite sure that there are many even on the other side who would follow me." Then he dwelt upon the ineptitude of the language such as Mr. Foster had indulged in. "To call one another thieves and robbers," said Dr. Clark, "may be very picturesque, but it does not carry us very far, and I would remind the member for North Toronto that the Government whom he so stigmatizes are the representatives of the people, who but recently have endorsed their actions."

Mr. Bureau repeated that he had franked out Liberal newspaper letters, but did not consider that warranted Mr. Foster in branding him as a public thief. It was not to save a dollar a week that he had used the frank, but because he knew it had been done for years, and he used it in good faith.

Two suggestion were made yesterday to Hon. Mr. Fielding and Sir Richard Cartwright by E. C. Drury and other members of the Dominion grange for the curbing of combinations in restraint of trade.

One was that an officer or board be appointed by the Government to investigate the combines, and that where these were shown to restrain trade and work hardship on small independent dealers, the tariff should be so lowered so as to compel a return to fair prices; and that in the case of protest or application to have the tariff on certain articles reimposed the onus of proof that the unfair conditions have been removed must be on the party applying.

The other suggestion was that the Government create a commission similar to the Railway Commission to fix prices on commodities.

Mr. Fielding also reminded the delegation that there was an anti-combine clause in the criminal code which any person was free to take advantage of. He thought that it would not facilitate the pursuit of the combines by creating a board. Valuable as had been the Railway Board it very often required weeks and months to reach a conclusion, and what the public wanted was speed in dealing with the combines. However, he promised to lay the views of the deputation before the Government.

Sir Richard Cartwright's idea was that the remedy lay in rooting out the protective system. He had not, however, succeeded in convincing his colleagues of that.

Planned Huge Swindle.

New York, Feb. 27.—Word was received at police headquarters of the arrest in Milan, Italy, of four men accused of forging travelers' checks of the American Express Co., amounting in all to $2,400,000. It is charged that they planned to circulate the checks, simultaneously in London, Paris and Berlin.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

THE TAN YARD CASE

BY RICHARD LINTHICUM

Copyright, 1909, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.

"JACK" SHEA, who first gained wide publicity as a detective in the Haymarket anarchist case, later as chief of the Chicago Detective Bureau, and later still as Inspector of Police of the West Division, embracing one-half the area of Chicago, had two set theories concerning criminals and their detection. One was that professional criminals had little or no real intelligence, and this theory he also applied to non-professionals who committed atrocious crimes, regardless of their motives. His second theory was that a detective who had a "sixth sense"—which he defined as common sense—and would make proper use of his other five would rarely fail to solve the most complex case.

Whatever may have been the opinion of his coworkers with respect to those theories, they were unanimous in saying that Shea's individual success was due to the fact that he was a born policeman; that is to say, that he had a natural inclination for police work and an instinct, or intuition, which enabled him to grasp the significance of every fact in a case and to make accurate deductions that quickly led to the detection of the particular criminal.

CASHIER AND FOREMAN IDENTIFY THE VICTIM.

The "tan yard case," as Shea entitled it when telling the story to the writer, is an illustration in greater part of his theories.

Shea was then a quick witted, husky young Irishman, country born and bred, who won such favor with the Chief of Police for catching criminals while serving as a patrolman in uniform that he was promoted to "plain clothes." His "partner"—for detectives usually travel in pairs outside of fiction—was "Joe" Kipley, who afterward became Superintendent of Police.

One day the two detectives were summoned to the Morgue to see if they could identify a body in a baffling case of suicide. The victim was a common laborer. The body had been found in the shallow water of a little lake in the extreme southwest part of the city, lying face downward, with a horrid gash in the throat. The knife with which the deed had been committed was lying on the bank. The man after gashing his throat evidently had dropped the knife where he stood, then staggered forward into the shallow water and fallen face foremost, determined, if the self-assault failed, to put an end to himself by drowning.

There were no marks on the body other than this wound in the throat. There were no evidences of a struggle either on the banks of the lake or in the appearance or arrangement of the man's clothing. There were numerous footprints of various sizes in the vicinity, but these were accounted for by the fact that the place was much frequented by men and boys who lived on the outskirts of that part of the city.

Two "Star" Detectives.

It was so obviously a "case of suicide" that there was no suspicion otherwise, not even by the two "star" detectives from Headquarters. Obviously, too, the body would go to potter's field as an "unknown." There was not an article nor scrap of paper found on the body to aid in identification. In the absence of any suspicion of violence it was assumed that the victim, humiliated, perhaps, by the thought of self-murder, had taken every possible precaution against the discovery of his identity.

The afternoon papers that circulated among the working classes published a description of the "suicide," with a portrait, but either the man had no relatives or friends or they had failed to recognize him in the "counterfeit presentment," and small wonder, as the portrait was in the style of freehand drawing that embellished newspapers before the day of the half-tone.

The examination made by the detectives revealed no clew to the dead man's identity. They were leaving the slab room when Shea turned for a last look at the cadaver and noticed that the head was reclining to one side, exposing the ghastly wound in the most hideous way. He returned to place the head in position to close the wound, and in doing so put one hand to the back of the skull. He paused in the act of putting the head in line with the body and called to Kipley:—

"Joe, come here."

"What's the matter?" asked Kipley, coming forward.

"This is no suicide," declared Shea. "This man has been murdered. The back of his skull has been beaten in; feel here," indicating that Kipley should examine the place where Shea had first taken hold of the head to lift it in position.

Further examination showed that the back of the skull had been crushed by some heavy, flat object without leaving a mark in the form of a cut or abrasion.

Of a certainty the man might have cut his throat, but of equal certainty he could not have crushed the back of his skull.

Now that it was certain a murder had been committed, of what avail was the discovery when there seemed no possibility of identifying the victim?

The discovery, however, had aroused the detective instinct with which Shea was so liberally credited. From his point of view he had not made the best use of his senses—certainly he had been delinquent at first in the sight sense and the sense of touch, or he would have looked at the back of the man's head when he originally examined the body, and would have felt of it.

With all of his senses, including the sixth, alert and stimulated, he began a new examination, which revealed nothing until he came to examine the man's shoes. He noted that the soles were of a peculiar reddish brown or a brownish red. Further examination convinced him that the color was not produced from a clayey soil, as he first thought; it was more like a stain. He bent down his face to the discolored soles and made use of his sense of smell. After one long inhalation he straightened up and remarked to Kipley:—"Tan bark." Then he took out his pocket knife and began to scrape the soles. The depth to which the stain penetrated convinced him that the man had been regularly employed in a tan yard, and was not merely a passer back and forth.

With a photograph of the victim, Shea and Kipley set out to visit the numerous tanneries. After a long search they found the tannery where the man had been employed, and where both the foreman and the cashier identified the victim by the photograph and later identified the body at the Morgue.

From them it was learned that the man was a Swede; that he, in company with a fellow countryman, had been discharged at the last pay day, had drawn their pay at the same time and had left together. The companion of the man who was murdered bore a bad reputation at the tan yard for drinking, gambling and quarrelling. The detectives obtained from the foreman such description of the second man as he was able to give, for he laughingly admitted that "all Swedes looked pretty much alike to him," and the description, in fact, would have answered very well for some hundreds of the many thousands of Scandinavians in the Middle West and Northwest.

Starting with the case of a man who would have been buried as an "unknown suicide" except for their visit to the Morgue, they had discovered a murder, had identified the victim and had gotten a clew to the probable murderer. Nothing remained but to find the murdered man's tan yard companion to conclude the case, for Shea reasoned that the second Swede, as he may be called, was the murderer—first, because he was the kind of man who would commit murder, and, second, because of a tip the cashier had given him that the murdered man was saving and penurious and probably had much more money on his person than the wages he drew at the last pay day.

Difficult of Detection.

The detection of the murderer, however, was seemingly a more difficult task than any they had performed so far in the case. They had his name, to be sure, but Shea declared that that class of workman, or, rather, that kind of a man, usually changed his name every time he changed his job. The description of the supposed murderer so accurately fitted the typical Swedish laborer that they might arrest any number of innocent Yon Yonsons and Ole Olesons on suspicion, while the real culprit was making his escape.

Besides, how would they prove that he had killed his companion unless they could force a confession? But that was a matter upon which they were willing to take a chance, for Shea was a master of the third degree and had the blame, at least, for having instituted that method of police inquisition in Chicago. He often declared to the writer, however, that he never used physical violence to extort a confession, but simply wore the prisoner down physically and mentally by continuously plying him with questions and citing hypothetical incidents.

The first moves, of course, for the apprehension of the tan yard murderer were the usual police steps to guard again his leaving the city, if he had not already left, and to send a description to the police of other cities and towns.

Then Shea made one of those moves that helped him to gain the title of a "born detective." Early the following morning he and Kipley left Chicago on a north bound Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train and got off at a little station about twenty-five miles north of the city.

"Are you game to walk the track back to town with me?" Shea asked of Kipley.

"None gamer than Kipley," and together they set out. On the way Shea unfolded his reasoning on the case.

"The chances are, Joe," he said, "that the Swede we are after first spent his own money drinking and gambling and then killed his companion to get the latter's money, which probably was a much larger sum than the other fellow had. Now, I reason that he won't leave Chicago or try to leave until he's 'broke' or nearly so. He won't go by train, because he won't have money enough to pay his fare, and probably wouldn't spend money for railroad fare if he had it.

"YOU'LL HAVE TO GO BACK TO CHICAGO WITH US."

"When he leaves Chicago he will probably strike for the Northwest—Wisconsin, and then Minnesota—because there's plenty of work up there among his own class of people. The chances are that he will walk the track, because, not knowing the country, he will in that way be sure not to get lost. Now he's got his choice of two tracks—the Chicago and Northwestern and this one. On the Northwestern there are a number of good sized towns near Chicago, and on the St. Paul road only a few small ones. Naturally he will take this route, because it is the most out of the way.

"Now, assuming that he committed this murder four or five days ago, I reason that he has spent the most of his money and is about due to make a break for some of the Wisconsin tanneries or Minnesota lumber camps. We have got the Northwestern road pretty well protected, and if you and I will patrol this part of the St. Paul road for a day or two we've got a chance to get him."

It all sounded very reasonable to Kipley, besides which he had unlimited confidence in Shea's detective skill. The man's natural inclinations would certainly lead him to the Northwest, and the very name St. Paul, by which the railroad they were on is commonly known, would suggest itself as the natural route, even if he did not reason it was the safest.

The day was warm and the two detectives, with their coats on their arms, trudged along Chicagoward. When the heat became oppressive they turned off the track to the friendly shade of a big tree, lighted their pipes and, reclining on their elbows, discussed the various features of the case they were working on.

About a half hour passed when Shea suddenly arose, knocked the ashes from his pipe, picked up his coat and said, "Come on, Joe."

"What's your hurry?" inquired Kipley, who was lying flat on his back gazing up at the protecting foliage.

"There comes our man!" exclaimed Shea.

Surprised as Kipley was, he did not "leap to his feet instantly," like the detectives of fiction. He knew the man must be in sight and that any sudden movement might alarm him and give them the additional work of chasing him in the hot sun.

He arose slowly, stretched himself and looked down the track toward Chicago.

A big, burly individual was trudging heavily up the tracks toward them. He carried a stout stick over his shoulder, with a bundle on the end of it.

"He answers the description as far as size is concerned," said Kipley; "he's almost as big as you are, Jack."

When the two detectives started toward the track the burly pedestrian stopped and looked about as if undecided whether to turn back or turn off to the wagon road, which ran near by. Then he started forward again in a lumbering, clumsy gait.

"That's our man sure, Joe," said Shea. "Did you notice him balk when he saw us?"

Kipley nodded affirmatively. "Look out for that stick he's carrying, John."

Cleverly Captured.

As the three drew nearer together the man switched the bundle from the end of the stick to his left hand and carried the short, stout club in his right.

The detectives made no movement to excite suspicion. They walked along chatting and apparently paying no attention to the oncoming individual, although they were "sizing him up" with the description that had been furnished them and observing that he answered it in every particular. When they had approached each other within a few feet the solitary individual started to turn out and allow the two detectives to pass him. Shea, however, confronted him and asked him whence he had come.

He shook his head, trying to convey the impression that he did not understand English. Shea pointed toward the city.

"Chicago?" he queried.

The man nodded affirmatively and said, "Shacawgo."

"Well, you'll have to go back to Chicago with us," declared Shea.

The man raised his stick to strike, just as Shea had expected him to do. Therefore the detective seized his wrist and by a jiu jitsu movement of his own, backed by the strength of a giant, brought a cry of pain from the prisoner as the club fell from his hand.

They returned to Chicago with their man on the next local train, where Shea put him through the third degree and obtained a confession. As additional evidence a number of articles were found upon him which were identified by the foreman and cashier at the tan yard as having belonged to the murdered man. If this were not a true story it should properly end here with the prisoner's conviction and punishment.

The truth is that he was never punished for this crime. He had friends among his countrymen who raised money and employed a skilful criminal lawyer to defend him. He repudiated his confession, declaring that it was forced from him by threats of bodily harm. He accounted for his possession of the articles belonging to the murdered man by asserting that his friend had given them to him. As the evidence was wholly circumstantial, aside from the confession, and as the press had created a popular prejudice against the so-called "third degree," a jury found him "Not guilty."

Shortly thereafter the man returned to Sweden, where he was arrested for a crime committed prior to going to America. He was convicted and sentenced to a term in prison.

Before his death he confessed to the tan yard murder. According to the confession he struck his victim in the back of the head with a large flat stone, then cut his throat and, holding him in an upright position, shoved him into the lake. The money he obtained he had spent in drink and at the gambling table.

The confession further stated that at the time of his arrest he was on his way to a lumber camp in Minnesota. In fact, the confession bore out in every important particular the reasoning of the detective. Furthermore, the man's lack of intelligence in concealing the crime and in the manner of his attempted escape, together with the use the detective made of his six senses, are corroborative in a great degree of Detective Shea's set theories concerning criminals and detectives.

Moving Pictures by Daylight

STEREOPTICON pictures either fixed or moving for use in ordinary daylight or in a brightly lighted room are now made in France. The trick is simple and consists merely of some device to keep the light from shining directly on the screen on which the picture is thrown. In the Cinéma Palace, Paris, this is effected by arranging heavy curtains around the screen at proper positions and distances. The lantern for protection is at the opposite end of the hall, as is now usual. In another device the pictures are thrown on a sheet of ground glass forming one end of a large black box, whose opposite end is open to view. In this case the lantern is not in the same room with the spectators, and the picture resembles that seen on looking at the ground glass of an ordinary photographic camera. As the screen in both these cases is sheltered from the diffused light of the theatre or hall, it is not necessary to extinguish or lower the lamps, although, of course, these should not be brilliant enough to dazzle the eyes. In describing these "full daylight" devices it has been wrongly stated by some writers that they depend on special brilliancy in the lantern or on some arrangement of reflectors. This is incorrect. The only things necessary are to keep the light away from the screen and out of the spectators' eyes.

Gas at High Pressure

THE distribution of illuminating gas under high pressure is becoming increasingly popular with the companies. Much smaller pipes may be used with this system and the region served from a single central station may be very much larger. The advantages, in fact, are similar to those gained on an electric transmission line by using high voltage. One trouble with high voltage, or electric pressure, is the increased tendency to leakage, but in the case of high pressure gas this, according to those who are familiar with it, is an advantage rather than a drawback.

When leaks occur in an ordinary low pressure system it is extremely difficult to locate them. The escaping gas is lost in the crevices of the surrounding earth or accumulates in excavations or cellars, where its presence is often revealed by an explosion. When test papers are used they may give indications of leakage along a line 150 feet in extent without showing any exact point, as the paper may give its reaction at a considerable distance from the real leak.

Again, the accumulated gas in the soil may act on the paper long after the leak through which it made its way has been mended. On the contrary, with high pressure leaks reveal themselves at once and there is never any trouble in finding exactly where they are. One trouble about high pressure is that it liquefies some of the components of the gas, including a few that add to its light giving power. High pressure gas may thus lose as much as five candle power to the cubic foot. On the other hand, some of the liquefied constituents are impurities whose absence improves the gas, such as the sulphur compounds and naphthaline. On the whole the advantage seems to lie with a moderately high pressure.

Transparent Metals

METALS are usually regarded as opaque, but they become translucent when hammered out into very thin sheets. An English physicist, who has been studying this property, finds that although thin gold leaf is usually green by transmitted light, the green light becomes white when the film is heated on glass. Microscopic examination shows that the gold has formed into opaque, detached spots, leaving clear spaces, through which the light passes. Silver leaf also becomes transparent when heated. Copper leaf, when heated more and more, becomes successively emerald green, light olive, dark olive and dark port wine color. These latter results are apparently due to the formation of films of oxide, since to produce them the metals must be heated in an atmosphere containing oxygen. Aluminum and "Dutch metal" do not become transparent when heated. By the electric theory of light, according to which conductors must be opaque and insulators transparent, the metals should not transmit light, and it is notable that they do not except in very thin films which have a high electric resistance.

Curious Property of Printer's Ink

THAT printer's ink gives off an emanation that passes through opaque bodies and affects a photographic plate has been discovered by a German investigator. Photographic roll film is sometimes thus affected, through its celluloid cover, by the printed characters on the paper in which it is wrapped. The emanation is found to proceed from the oil in the ink during the drying process. It is not precisely the same as the emanation from radium and other radio-active substances, for, unlike them, it changes gum arabic into a granular, insoluble substance. It was this effect produced on the gum of envelope flaps by the printed characters on the envelopes that first attracted the investigator's attention. The emanations are reflected by metal mirrors in the same way as light, and they oxidize metal surfaces against which they strike. The exposure necessary to effect a sensitive plate is eight to ten days.

Champion Moisture Indicator

THE most sensitive moisture detector, or hygroscope, ever invented has been devised by a Frenchman, M. Pionchon, who has based it upon the ability of a clean glass surface to attract and condense moisture from the air. Such a surface is moist almost exactly in proportion to the moisture in the surrounding atmosphere. The surface used by the inventor is the cut end of a glass tube which has been silvered inside and out. Wires are connected with the inner and outer metallic coatings of the tube and form part of a circuit including a battery of one hundred volts and a galvanometer to measure the current. As the glass end of the tube forms part of this circuit no current flows when the end is quite dry, but the galvanometer is deflected more and more as moisture is deposited on the end. This apparatus is so sensitive that the mere approach of a moist body affects it. The presence of a human hand half an inch distant is shown at once. If the hand grasps a paper tube the amount of moisture evaporated from the paper by the heat of the body affects the instrument.

Getting Rid of Steamship Ashes

THE newest liners now dispose of their ashes by forcing them through the bottom of the hull by means of compressed air. The old method of hoisting them up and dumping them overboard was disagreeable to the passengers, and an attempted improvement by which they were mixed with water and pumped overboard was equally so when the wind was in the wrong quarter. In the new "expeller" a hopper receives the ashes and clinkers and delivers them into a crusher, which breaks up the large pieces. Below this is a drum revolving in a watertight casing and open as it turns first to the crusher chamber and then to the discharge pipe below. In order to counteract the upward pressure of the water compressed air at about seventy pounds to the square inch is delivered to the interior of the ash filled drum just before its opening comes opposite that in the discharge pipe. Thus the ashes are expelled with such force that they are swept clear of the bottom of the vessel. This expeller will get rid of the ash and clinkers from forty-eight furnaces under forced draught, amounting to eight or ten tons an hour.

NO MORE HEADACHES

Suffered From Constant Headaches—Cured by "Fruit-a-tives" When Doctors Failed.

"I was a sufferer from fearful headaches for over two years, sometimes they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicines, was treated by physicians, and yet the headaches persisted. I was rarely free from headache. A short time ago I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so with, I must confess, very little faith, but after I had taken them for three days my headaches were easier and in a week they left me After I had taken a box of the tablets my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad, and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion is excellent. I had become thin and weak from the constant headaches, but now not only have I been cured of all these awful headaches, but my strength is growing up once more, and I feel like a new man. I have taken in all three boxes of "Fruit-a-tives." I am exceedingly grateful to "Fruit-a-tives" for curing me, and I give this unsolicited testimonial with great pleasure, as I hope thereby some other sufferer of headaches will be induced to try "Fruit-a-tives" and will be cured."

ONTARIO ACCOUNTS ARE PRESENTED

Hon. A. J. Matheson Has Surplus of $45,838.36.

REVENUE HAS FALLEN OFF

Smaller Receipts Are Held to Blame For Decrease In Amount of Balance on Hand—Grants to Education, Agriculture, Charity and Road-Building Increased—Time Expires For Private Bills.

Toronto, Feb. 27.—With a net cash balance of $45,838.36 Hon. A. J. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, brought down the public accounts in the Legislature yesterday.

The total receipts are placed at $8,602,902.96 and the total expenditure at $8,557,064.60.

The amount at special deposit at the end of 1907 was $1,561,881.61; at the end of 1908, $2,924,278. The amounts at current account respectively were $112,202.44 and $147,858.50. The Government is therefore better supplied with cash on hand than a year ago.

The smaller balance is due to the falling off in receipts from the Lands Department, the lumber men having been a less productive source of revenue than was anticipated.

A sum of $2,304,980.60 advanced to the T. N.O. Railway may be regarded as a first-class asset of the Government.

In other respects the public accounts show the province in a most favorable financial position. The Dominion debt has been wiped off. The Soo guarantee is disposed of. All the estimated revenues but that for crown lands were exceeded.

The fluctuating sources of revenue may be enumerated. From the Dominion a total of $2,128,772 was received; from lands, forests and mines, $2,430,429; licenses, $577,771; lay stamps, $95,695; Algoma taxes, $1,105; education, $50,960; Provincial Secretary's Department, licenses, etc., $172,980; game and fisheries, $101,054; agriculture, $87,722; supplementary revenue act, $695,482; succession duty, $1,134,899, casual revenue, $105,799; public institutions, $238,248; T. & N.O. Railway, $850,000.

Grants to education have grown from $949,806 in 1904 to $1,564,567; to agriculture, from $446,481 to $534,325; hospitals and charities, from $236,592 to $317,774; colonization roads, from $175,620 to $459,894.

Among the miscellaneous items of expenditure are $24,351 for enforcement of the liquor license law; $16,896 for wolf bounties; expenses of elections, $119,562; hydro-electric power commission, $52,139; sundry investigations, $3,378.

Besides the tabling of the public accounts only a brief program of business was transacted.

W. H. Hoyle, in presenting the report of the standing orders committee, stated that members who had not their private bills in process of presentation might take notice that it would be impossible for them to get them through this session, as it was the intention to adhere strictly to the rules throughout the present session of Parliament.

Several bills were read a first time.

The End of the Universe.

Boston, Feb. 27.—"A collision of an unknown dark planet with the sun will terminate life on the earth," said Prof. Percival Lowell, director of the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., in a lecture before the students of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"The events will be prophesied fourteen years before the catastrophe occurs," continued the astronomer, "and chaotic confusion will reign in the world during the days preceding the calamity."

Says He Is the Thief.

Chatham, Feb. 27. William Riley, New York, has written to people here, stating that he stole the horses of Dr. MacFarlane of Dover, not Geo. Yott, who is serving a seven-year term at Kingston for this offence. The authorities here consider the letter only a bluff.

Berlin Ripper Caught.

Berlin, Feb. 27.—The man who, during the past fortnight, has been delivering a series of attacks on women on the streets of Berlin, was captured yesterday.

He made an attempt to stab a woman on the Freidrich Strasse, one of the crowded shopping streets of the city. She screamed and her assailant fled into a house on an adjoining street, where he was at once seized. He is a young man.

Yesterday's attempt was the thirty-sixth "ripper" case since the beginning of the outrages.

Premier Claims Libel.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Feb. 27.—Premier Hassard is taking an action for libel against The Examiner, for the publication of an article, stating: "It may be that the Premier holds his position only as the results of acts which, practiced in the ordinary course of everyday business, would land the perpetrator behind prison bars."

The Examiner publishes its article for the third time, denies that it was libellous and refuses an apology.

War Office Cotracts.

London, Feb. 27—Right Hon. Mr. Haldane, Secretary for War, stated in the House of Commons yesterday, regarding the contract for canned meat for the British army, placed in the United States, that orders are not given to contractors outside of the Empire unless the goods required cannot be satisfactorily or economically obtained from British sources.

FARMER FOUND DEAD.

East Zorra Man's Body Discovered on Stratford Doorstep.

Stratford, Feb. 27.—Alexander Sutherland of East Zorra was found dead at the rear door of the residence occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. Guerin, 512 Brunswick street.

He came to the city Thursday night from Tavistock, where he has been employed, and was driven to the house. The stories of the Guerins vary as to what occurred, but they state that he left the house early in the evening, and did not, to their knowledge, return.

An inquest was opened last evening. The evidence of Mr. and Mrs. Guerin was taken, but the latter's story was so contradictory that the coroner refused to continue his examination until she was in a fit condition to be placed in the witness-box.

Guerin pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of living on the proceeds of crime.

An external examination by a physician failed to produce any signs of violence on Sutherland, except a slight abrasion of the forehead, not sufficient to cause death. The inquest was adjourned till Tuesday night.

Both Guerins state that Sutherland left by the front door at an early hour, and can give no reason for his being found dead at the back door in the morning.

She said her work here would be principally in giving advice in the suffragette movement and aiding in administering its affairs.

Gave His Sons a Cigarette.

Toronto, Feb. 27.—Because he divided a cigarette among his three sons, all under 16 years of age, Alfred Strong was charged in the Police Court with giving minors tobacco which is contrary to the criminal code.

"It's funny a father can't give his own sons what he pleases," said the magistrate. "I'll adjourn the case till to-morrow as it is under the criminal code, and the crown attorney should be present."

Woe to Cigarette Smokers.

New York, Feb. 27.—The proposed increase in the price of cigarettes announced on Thursday will not be more than a cent or two per package.

According to official Government figures 55,402,330,113 cigarettes were manufactured in the United States last year. In round numbers this means 5,500,000,000 packages. An increase of one cent a package would mean an additional tax of $55,000,000 on cigarette smokers.

Restrict Morphine Habit.

Shanghai, Feb. 27.—The international opium commission has practically concluded its work here.

Nine resolutions were adopted. One recognized the unswerving sincerity of the Chinese Government's efforts to suppress the opium traffic.

In another resolution the commission finds that unrestricted morphine traffic constitutes a grave danger.

New Jap Naval Base.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 27.—That a strongly fortified naval base, with an extensive harbor, is being made by the Japanese Government at Keelung, in Northeast Formosa, was the report made by the American ship Ellwell, which reached Esquimalt last night.

Deprived of Estate.

New York, Feb. 27.—Wm. Cooke, after 22 years' absence, has returned from Alameda, Calif., and unearths a forgery depriving him of his sister's estate.

Cooke formerly lived in Toronto, Portland and Seattle.

Hotelkeeper Fined.

Cobourg, Feb. 27.—Geo. Cockburn, hotelkeeper, of Baltimore, four miles from here, in a local option district, was yesterday fined $50 and costs by Magistrate Holland for having liquor for sale on the premises. It was a second offence.

Inspector Ayearst's men found fifty ale and port wine bottles in the bar and some ale in the cellar.

HORSES AND DONKEYS.

Early Habits That Domestication Have Not Eradicated.

A curious question in evolution was once put to a scientist prominent in the service of the government. "Why is it," some one asked, "that horses shy and donkeys do not?"

The answer was to the following effect:

The ancestors of the horse were accustomed to roam over the plains, where every tuft of grass or bush might conceal an enemy waiting in ambush. In these circumstances they must have time and again saved their lives by quickly starting back or else suddenly jumping to one side when without warning some strange object appeared to them. The habit must have indeed been a strong one, seeing that so many years of domestication have not eradicated it.

On the other hand, the donkey is descended from animals that lived among the hills, with the usual precipices and dangerous declivities, and from these conditions, it would appear, there resulted its slowness and sure footedness. The donkey's ancestors were not, then, so liable to sudden attacks from wild beasts and snakes. Moreover, sudden and wild starts would have been positively dangerous to the donkey's forbears. Consequently they learned to avoid the characteristic trick of the horse. The habit of eating thistles, peculiar to the donkey, seems also to have been inherited from its ancestors. In the dry, barren localities they inhabited there was often very little food; therefore they learned to eat the hard, dry and even prickly plants and undergrowth when nothing else presented itself.

THE MONTEREY CYPRESS.

Found In Its Wild State In Only Two Spots In the World.

One of the most interesting and picturesque trees in the world, as well as one of the most ancient, is the Cupressus macrocarpa, or Monterey cypress. Its native habitat is extremely restricted, for it is found in its wild state in only two spots in the whole wide world —on the edge of a grove of conifers stretching for a few miles between the bay of Monterey and the bay of Carmel (the latter of which bears a striking resemblance in outline and color to its prototype in the Holy Land) and in a similar spot near Pescadero, a little town lying on the coast between Monterey and San Francisco. The Monterey grove consists of only a dozen or two cypresses of large size and most striking appearance. Their trunks are massive and wrinkled with hoary age, while their boughs, gnarled and twisted, grow chiefly on one side away from the stormy winds that have buffeted them for thousands of years. The noble trees are limited to the rocky wind beaten shore, on which some of them have but a precarious hold. Hemmed between the steady encroaching ocean on one hand and a pine forest on the other, their future is exposed to great hazard. It is therefore gratifying to observe that a fair number of thrifty young cypresses are holding their own against the pines for a short distance inland.—Scientific American.

A Queen's Will.

Queen Adelaide, the wife of William IV., was a woman of great piety and exceptional humility, which was shown in the directions for her funeral.

"I die in all humility," she wrote, "knowing well we are all alike before the throne of God, and I request, therefore, that my mortal remains be conveyed to the grave without any pomp or ceremony. They are to be moved to St. George's chapel, Windsor, where I request to have a quiet funeral.

"I particularly desire not to be laid out in state, and the funeral to take place by daylight; no procession, the coffin to be carried by sailors to the chapel. I die in peace and wish to be carried to the tomb in peace and free from the vanities and pomp of this world."—London Home Notes.

Ancient Egyptian Stones.

Stones were formed into the shapes of beetles by the ancient Egyptians. They regarded the beetle as an emblem of immortality, and hence it was the most popular of all forms of ornament. Counterfeit beetles of common stones were commonly buried with dead persons, and it was customary to engrave upon them the expression of wishes for future repose and happiness, dedications of the soul to God and various hieroglyphs. One of the latter was a hawk with a human head, symbolizing resurrection. Another, the vulture, meant maternity. A goose was the sign of a king.

HOLY GROANING.

The Sin of Worldly Pleasure In the Seventeenth Century.

Buckle gives a graphic picture of the attitude of the kirk of Scotland to worldly pleasures during the seventeenth century. Cheerfulness, especially when it rose to laughter, was to be guarded against. Smiling might occasionally be allowed; still, being a carnal pastime, it was a sin to smile on Sunday. No husband should kiss his wife and no mother her child on the Sabbath day. Jesting was incompatible with a holy and serious life. The ministers were given much to weeping, groaning and lamentations. One, the Rev. Alexander Dunlop, was noted for his "holy groan." To engage in the frivolous art of writing poems was condemned. Men should not disport themselves with music; dancing was a "serious sin;" joyousness even at a christening was a scandal. One should speak and walk with gravity and solemnity; he should not enjoy his dinner; only the ungodly relished food. The great object of life was to be in a state of affliction. Whatever pleased the senses was to suspected. Whatever was natural was wrong. The churchmen grew sour in countenance, harsh in voice. Joy and love disappeared or were forced to hide in obscure corners.

MAN MONEY.

The Old Teutonic Law on Killing or Injuring Others.

The system of atoning for death or bodily injuries inflicted on others by paying damages is as old as the earliest Teutonic laws, praised by Tacitus. The trespasser was always required to make peace with the aggrieved family of the victim by "Wer-Geld."

"Wer" is the ancient German for man. "Geld," now, as in the days of Woten, means money.

Damages were assessed in accordance with the rank and wealth of the injured party, and the money was paid over in the presence of the whole community, its acceptance forestalling feuds. Indeed, the recognition of Wer-Geld ("money for the man" killed) by law precluded further bloodshed or other forms of revenge.

If the slayer was not rich enough to pay the required sum, he turned over to the injured parties his sons as slaves. If his sons were not sufficient guarantee for the payment of the debt, the slayer himself had to turn bondsman, both the letter and the spirit of the law requiring that the full amount of damage inflicted be covered by the aggrieved parties.

Fulfilling His Agreement.

Having become tired of living in rented houses, Mr. Gwimple had bought a home of his own. Not having enough money to pay for it outright, he had made a cash payment of $1,000 and given a trust deed on the property for the remainder. One night, not long after he had taken possession of his new home, Mrs. Gwimple roused him from a deep sleep.

"Gerald," she said, "somebody is trying to get into the house!"

Mr. Gwimple crawled out of bed and started downstairs.

"What are you going to do?" she asked him.

"I'm going to let him in," he answered, half awake.

"To let him in! Who?"

"The man that holds the trust deed on this property," he mumbled. "The document I signed binds me to admit him to the premises at any hour of the day."

Too Much For His Mind.

"My first impulses," wailed the sad eyed individual, "are invariably good. In fact, I think that I may venture without fear of undue exaggeration to say that they are very good. But I never act on them. I always act on second thoughts. This trait in my character has ruined my career, because my second thoughts are always bad. In fact, I think I may say without fear of misrepresentation that they're punk."

"Well," suggested he who was listening, "why don't you wait until third thoughts and act on them?"

Mournfully, despondently, the sad eyed individual shook his head.

"My dear sir," he groaned, "I never had three successive thoughts about anything in my life."—Exchange.

URGED TO SUICIDE.

Dabbler In Spiritualism Finds It Was a Curse to Him.

The tragic suicide of a man to whom, in his own words, "spiritualism had been a curse," was investigated by the coroner in Manchester, England, the other day.

The victim was John Houghton, a school teacher, and the evidence showed that he had shot himself in the head with a revolver. His widow stated that he had dabbled in spiritualism and had been upset by it.

"Some time ago he asked me to take poison or drown myself with him," she added, "and when I refused and spoke of bringing in the doctor he threatened to kill me."

A number of remarkable letters were left by Houghton. In one of these, addressed to a friend, he wrote:

The spiritualism which I thought such a blessing has turned out to be a curse to me. I am doing better, as far as money is concerned, than ever I have done, and still I am forced into this awful action against my own wish in a way you cannot understand.

If you do anything at any time for my wife and children I shall be pleased, and God will reward you.

To his wife he wrote:

Dear Agnes,—I love you more than ever I did and yet I take this step believing that ultimately it is better for you and the children. I have unintentionally been the cause of your sorrow and sickness, and believe that you will be healthier and, when things are settled, happier. Had I taken this step sooner you would not have had this last sickness, but I hated to leave you unprovided for.

I have been urged into this for the last twelve months by the unseen world, which I wish I had never found out.—Yours, John.

P.S.—For you to go and live away from me would not help you a bit.

Dear Children,—I love you dearly, and I long to stay with you, but I dare not. Never miss church, and always be good.—Your loving Father.

Dear Sisters,—Please be good to Agnes (Mrs. Houghton) and my children. I have been a curse to her. This would never have happened if I had not bothered with spiritualism.—Yours, John.

The coroner said spiritualism seemed to have affected Houghton's disordered mind, and probably was the direct cause of it giving way.

A verdict of "Suicide while insane" was returned.

Old Time Sports.

Hard riding was an achievement in which our great grandfathers excelled, says London Tit-Bits. "Squire Osbaldeston rode 200 miles in under nine hours on relay horses, and wanted to back himself to ride the distance in eight hours. A queerer test, according to our standards, was the match arranged between Horatio Ross, riding his horse Clinker, against Lord Kennedy's Radical, ridden by Captain Douglas. Ross knocked Douglas head over heels over a gate, as the riders had agreed that jostling, charging, and crossing were to be allowed at the jumps and anywhere else. Those conditions of racing do not belong to our day, but the hardihood has not left modern polo grounds. Everybody knows the story of the polo player with a broken collar-bone who rode off his man again and again as if nothing had happened."

Then there is the extraordinary record in marksmanship of Horatio Ross, who in a pigeon match with Lord Macdonald gave five yards and then won the match with a total of fifty-two pigeons out of fifty-three shots at thirty-five yards. Another extraordinary feat not frequently performed was that he would go out and kill as many as twenty swallows before breakfast. It was Ross who offered to walk anybody to London for $2,500, and nobody would accept the challenge.

It Had Been Read.

"That old tightwad uncle of mine is dead."

"Has his will been read yet?"

"Did you hear what I called him?"—Cleveland Leader.

The Proper Instinct.

"Birdsey seems to have the proper instincts for a married man."

"You mean that he can tell a graceful lie, has developed a keen sense of cunning and has learned to conceal his real income from his wife."

"Yes, and also to know that she really knows just how he is deceiving her."

Not Sure of It.

She—They say that there is a fool in every family. Do you believe that? He—Er—well, I hardly like to say. I'm the only member of my family.

Lowered.

Maud—Belle doesn't wear French heels any more. Her husband won't let her. Ethel—I said she would lower herself by marrying.—Boston Transcript.

SHOWED HIS TICKET.

An Obliging Passenger and a Cranky Station Master.

A cranky station master while examining tickets came across a cattle dealer, well known in the district, who held a season ticket. The station master, being aware of this, usually passed without troubling him to show it.

On this occasion, however, he ordered him in a not very polite manner to produce it, adding in a severe tone:

"Mind, I want to see it every time you stop at this station."

Of course the ticket was produced, and the official passed on, looking very important and self satisfied.

A few days later as the early morning mail train drew up at the platform at about 8 o'clock a passenger accosted the solitary porter on duty and asked peremptorily for the station master.

"He's in bed, sir," replied the porter. "Tell him I want him," said the passenger.

The porter disappeared and after some delay returned, closely followed by the station master, who was audibly grumbling at being brought out of bed in the cold.

The latter then found himself confronted by his old friend the cattle dealer, who handed him his season ticket, politely asking him to examine it, at the same time reminding him that he had a few days ago expressed a wish to see it "every time he stopped at the station."—London Answers.

Scent in Divorce Court.

Sir Gorell Barnes, the English justice, who has been making some remarks lately on the manner in which the oath should be taken, is the judge who once complained about the scent used by ladies who came before him in the Divorce Court. He was suffering from a headache, and said to his hostess one day that it was caused by scent. "Scent!" she exclaimed. "What do you mean?" "The ladies of the Divorce Court love perfumes," he replied. 'It has been a hot and trying day for me, for each of the witnesses, who are placed in the box quite close to the judge, has come into court and waved a dainty handkerchief saturated with scent. I have inhaled patchouli, white rose, heliotrope, and a dozen other perfumes since breakfast, and, unfortunately, the more emotional ladies become the more they wave these pretty pieces of scented cambric and apply them to their eyes."

Not Exactly What She Meant.

Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, who has just entered on his 74th year, tells the following amusing story. A day or two after he had been to Windsor to receive his knighthood he gave a big reception at his beautiful house at St. John's Wood. Most of the callers had something appropriate to say, but one of them, a well-meaning old lady, managed to go astray. "Oh, dear Sir Lawrence," she said "I was awfully glad to hear the news. I suppose that now you will give up painting and live like a gentleman!"

Might Have Been Said Differently.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian supplies a rather amusing experience of his own at a "literary guild meeting" where he was giving an address on Stevenson. "We had a prayer," he says, "then we had a hymn, after which the chairman announced that the So-and-so quartette would render an item. But the members of the quartette were not complete, so the chairman called on me to speak on Stevenson. 'After Mr. ——'s address,' he added, 'we'll have the quartette to brighten things up a bit.'"

The Last Word.

She—And do you believe that a woman always turns to the last page first when she picks up a book? He—Well, I have no reason to doubt it. I know it is the nature of the fair sex to want the last word.

Sunday's Journey.

"Father," said little Rollo, "what is meant by 'a Sabbath day's journey?'"

"I am afraid, my son, that in too many cases it means twice around the golf links."—Washington Star.

England's National Anthem.

There is a fourth verse of the national anthem with which very few Englishmen indeed are familiar. But it was given, apparently in all good faith, in an old Hanoverian musical work, and the daring of the last rhyme almost reconciles one to the shocking character of the sentiment:

God save great George, our king!
Long live our noble king!
God save the king!
Send us roast beef a store.
If 't's gone, send us more,
And the key of the cellar door,
That we may drink.

—London Chronicle.

Bright Pupils.

"You have two very bright pupils, Miss Winsome," remarked Mr. Sweetly to the schoolma'am.

"Which ones do you mean, Mr. Sweetly?"

"Why, those in your eyes, to be sure."—Pathfinder.

A Righteous Judge.

One Sunday morning a minister's wife saw her son chasing the hens with a stick. She went to the door to investigate and heard him say, "I'll teach you to lay eggs in a minister's family on Sunday morning!"—Delineator.

The Growlers.

Stage Manager—I wish we could work in a few more realistic touches in this woodland scene. Now, how would it be to have some one growl like a bear? Author—The very thing! We'll call in the critics.—Kansas City Independent.

Mania of a Man-Hater.

Miss Harriet Evans, an elderly spinster on whom an inquest was held at Hackney, England, recently, was said to have been a confirmed man-hater.

"She was so much against men that she would not have a coin with the King's head on it," her landlady said. "If one was given her, she would throw it into the fire. She would only deal in money bearing Queen Victoria's head."

Miss Evans went to the office of a local newspaper some time ago, but refused to enter it until a woman was sent to transact business with her. An advertisement for apartments which she published stipulated that there should be no man in the house.

She even declined to receive letters because the stamps bore the King's head.

A verdict of "natural death" was returned.

The "Cat House."

A curious little building stands at the end of a private walk on the shores of the river Orwell in Suffolk, England. It is known as the "cat house," for the reason that in the "good old times" a white cat used to be exhibited at a window visible from the river as a signal to smugglers, who flourished in the locality. When the animal was shown the "free traders," as the contrabandists were euphemistically called, knew that the coast was clear and promptly sailed up and landed their cargo, secure from the attention of the "preventives." Near the cat house" is Downham reach, which was the scene of some of Margaret Catchpole's most exciting adventures.

12,000 Candle-Power Lamp.

Experiments have been made at Hounslow, England, with the Sylverlyte lamp, whose light is guaranteed to penetrate the murkiest "pea-soup" fog. An electric bulb fits into the powerful lens of the lamp, which magnifies its twelve candle-power light to 12,000 candle-power.

Dentistry Extraordinary.

During the past year the dental staff of the Great Western Railway Medical Fund Society, Swindon, England, which has a membership of about 15,000, extracted a total of 15,-851 teeth. In addition 199 teeth were treated, and 891 stopped.

FRUITS OF QUEENSLAND.

Coffee and Banana Are Two of Its Biggest Crops.

The Beachcomber of Dunk Island, North Queensland, thus describes coffee growing in his book "The Confessions of a Beachcomber": In the case of coffee—a plentiful supply of cheap labor is essential to success. Those who by judicious treatment of the aboriginals command their services have so far made a profit. A coffee plantation suggests pleasant, picturesque, and spicy things. The orderly lines of the plants, in glossy green adorned for a brief space with white, frail, fugitive flowers distilling a deliciously sweet and grateful odor, the branches crowded with gleaming berries, green, pink, and red, present a pleasing aspect. As a change to the scene of the jungle a coffee estate has a garden-like relief. But picking berry by berry is slow and monotonous work, vexatious, too, to those mortals whose skin is sensitive to the attack of green ants. Then come the various processes of the removal of the pulp, first by machinery, finally by the fermentation of the still adhering slimy residuum; then the drying and saving by exposure to the sun on trays or tarpaulins until all moisture is expelled, and the hulling which disintegrates the parchment from the twin berries; then winnowing, and finally the polishing.

Do drinkers of the fragrant and exhilarating beverage realize the amount of labor and care involved before the crop is taken off and preserved from deterioration and decay? A few berries that may have become mildewed during the slow, tedious and anxious process of drying in the sun may violate the delicate flavor and aroma which the grower has been at pains to secure and fix. No one need starve or pine for lack of wholesome, appetizing, and nutritious food while the banana grows as it does in North Queensland, and, common as it is, the banana is one of the curiosities of the vegetable world. One writer says: "It is not a tree, a palm, a bush, a vegetable, nor a herb; it is simply a herbaceous plant with the stature of tree, and is perennial." He adds that the fruit contains no seed, though he qualifies the latter statement by remarking that he had heard of fully-developed seeds occasionally appearing in the cultivated fruit "when left to ripen on the tree," and further that wild varieties of the banana which propagate themselves by seed are reported to be found in some parts of Eastern Asia.

In the most popular of the cultivated varieties, the far-famed Musa Cavendishii, there is little of graceful form save the broad leaves mottled with brown. All the vitality of the plant is expended in astonishing results. A comparatively lowly plant, its productions in suitable soil are prodigious. In nine or ten months after the planting of the rhizome it bears under favorable conditions a bunch weighing as much as 120 pounds to 160 pounds, and comprising as many as 48 dozen individual bananas. So great is the weight that to prevent the downfall of the plant a stake sharpened at each end—one to stick into the ground, and the other into the soft stem—is needed to buttress it. Before the fruit has fully developed other shoots have appeared; but each plant bears but one bunch, and when that is removed the plant is decapitated and slowly decays, and the second and third and fourth shoots from the rhizome successively arrive at the bearing stage, and are permitted to mature each its bunch, and then fated to suffer immediate decapitation.

Fascination of the Footlights.

An illustration of the fascination which the footlights exercise over lifelong votaries is furnished by the return to the stage of Miss Dolores Drummond, who, in February, will celebrate her 73rd birthday. Some little time ago Miss Drummond retired after completing fifty-two years of active stage career, but when, recently, she was asked by Miss Millard to play a small part in the revival of "The Adventure of Lady Ursula," she could not resist saying "Yes." Miss Drummond, the granddaughter of an R.A., emigrated to Australia with her mother, a miniature painter, in 1853, and first appeared on the stage when she was eighteen. She supported a "walk on" part in an old iron theatre in Melbourne. The play was "Timour the Tartar," and Miss Drummond was a "beautiful slave," who was sold in the market-place. Later, at the Theatre Royal, Melbourne, where "Hamlet" was being staged, the leading lady fell suddenly ill, and Miss Drummond, on invitation, straightway took the part, achieving great success. Since then she has played all sorts of parts with all sorts of actors. The veteran actress's first memorable part as a leading lady was with the great Irish tragedian, G. V. Brooke, who was drowned in "The London" while traveling from England to the colonies.

Why He Didn't Rise.

It was married men's night at the revival meeting. "Let all yon husbands who have troubles on your minds stand up!" shouted the emotional preacher at the height of his spasm.

Instantly every man in the church rose to his feet except one.

"Aha!" exclaimed the preacher, peering out at this lone sitter, who occupied a chair near the door and apart from the others. "You are the one in a million."

"It ain't that," piped back this one helplessly as the rest of the congregation turned to gaze suspiciously at him. "I can't get up. I'm paralyzed!"

How Erastus Found Light.

Voting is something of a hazard at times if we do not happen to have the plain guidance of the old darky janitor in Princeton. Erastus, being asked how he had voted, replied: "In the mahnin', sah, I was inclined to de Republican cause, for they gave me $3, but in the afternoon de Democrats gave me $2. So, sah, I voted de Democrat ticket straight, because dey was de leas' corrup', sah—de leas' corrup', sah!"—Success Magazine.

An inquest was held on a farmer named Thomas Crookes Fish, of Gunthwaite, near Penistone, Yorkshire, who was accidentally shot dead in his farmyard. A verdict of "Accidental death" was returned.

"Take the book in your right hand," said the magistrate's clerk to a witness at Rochdale, but it transpired that the man was without arms and had to kiss the book while it reclined on the witness box.

SCOTLAND

The block of houses consisting of rooms and kitchens with bathrooms, which James Hunter, builder, Largs, began on "spec." in Frazer's Close, Largs, a short time ago has been bought by ex-Provost White, Glasgow and Largs. The estate of Friars' Carse and the farm of Crawston, near Dumfries, have been sold by the directors of the Crichton Royal Institution, Dumfries, to Mr. C W Dickson, formerly resident at Cowhill Tower, Holywood, at £19,650. The estate of Friars' Carse has many associations with the poet Burns, who was tenant for some years at Ellisland on a neighbouring estate.

Presiding at the annual meeting of contributors to Glasgow Royal Infirmary, Lord Provost Marshall M'Innes Shaw said marked progress had been made with the reconstruction of the institution, but it had become necessary to suggest the appropriation of a sum from the accumulated funds of the infirmary. THE MIGHTY POWER OF MI-O-NA

Mi-o-na, that extraordinary and perfect stomach tonic, will relieve dyspepsia in twenty-four hours.

It will cure and is guaranteed by Wm. Madill to the readers of the Examiner to cure the most pitiful cases of dyspepsia, if taken according to directions.

Mi-ona tablets not only cure dyspepsia, but all stomach disturbances, such as vomiting of pregnancy, sea or car sickness and the stomach sickness after excessive indulgence.

Mi-o-na cures by strengthening and invigorating the flabby stomach walls and after a course of Mi-o-na treatment, constipation, if there is any, will entirely disappear.

Mrs. S. Keast, of Clarksburg, Ont., says, "A bad stomach trouble that had bothered me for years, baffled and puzzled skilled physicians, was nicely relieved by my using Mi-o-na My trouble was on account of food not digesting but fermenting in my stomach, forming a gas that gave me untold suffering and pain and also made me eweak, nervous, irritable and unable to rest. Since using Mi-ona I can go to bed at night and sleep and wake up in the morning refreshed I cannot speak too highly of Mi-o-na."

Mi-o-na is a most economical treatment, a large box of tablets only costs 50 cents at Wm. Madill's and the dyspeptic, nervous or otherwise, who does not give them a trial is losing an opportunity to regain health.

EFFECTIVE AND PROPER METHOD OF ISOLATION

years. It has never taken since in practice I have had one patient successfully vaccinated three times in five years and another twice in two years. I believe it should be practised oftener than once in seven years.

Owing to this belief, I have made it a practice to vaccinate myself each year. I has never taken since infancy.

I believe that successful vaccination gives the individual the same immunity that an attack of smallpox gives the same individual; and that the ratepayer's duty is discharged when he provides free vaccination to the poor, by a competent practitioner with vaccine from a healthy source. (See foot note.)

Quarantine for smallpox, as we see it in Ontario, is a confession of ignorance and helplessness; in many places it is a mere burlesque. The object of the members of many boards of health seems to be to discover how to evade carrying out the provisions of the Act, and to make the medical men Scapegoats if anything happens. No wonder medical men are regarded as informers by many laymen when knowing, as we do, the inefficiency of the average quarantine, we allow ourselves (on account of the penalty attached) to be guided by the present Act. If we, as a body, had any backbone, we would not submit.

The medical man is the only one who can be reached by the penalties of the Act. In fact, he is "Damned if he does," "Damned if he doesn't." "His practice or the Act." "The lady or the Tiger."

He is expected to be a policeman, bill-poster, and general overseer in all cases, and to take all the revilings and abuse of the ignorant and the interested.

Either the present health act should be changed or let a course on bill-posting and the duties of policeman be included in the curriculm of a medical course.

Owing to the ideas of personal liberty prevailing in Ontario, it would be as easy to enforce compulsory circumcision or infant baptism as compulsory vaccination (though you can enforce a law making it a crime to buy a stamp, a newspaper, or an ice cream soda on Sunday.)

We, as a body, know that vaccination and re-vaccination render smallpox innocuous, and if strictly carried out small-pox would disappear.

Quarantine, as observed, lulls the people into a false sense of security, and ordinarily is absolutely inefficient, also very expensive.

The value of vaccination would be much more highly appreciated if quarantine were abolished, entirely, however, if the farce of quarantine must be maintained to truckle to the susceptibilities of the anti-vaccinationists, let us as ratepayers, at least have the option of saying to what purpose our taxes shall be applied.

This principle applies in the case of separate and public schools.

Why not let vaccinationists pay for vaccination and anti-vaccinationists pay for the maintenance of quarantine. There is no doubt as to which would be the popular classification wth the ratepayers.

Minnesota has given us a good example and has declared the absurdity of quarantine.

Contagious diseases are placarded but not quarantined.

There is the card notifying you that the disease is in the house, you can come in or stay out.

Owing to the actions of the laity, I have often wondered if my eyesight were defective, and the warning card did not read smallpox.

Come in.

H. H. SINCLAIR.

By Dr. R. E. Clapp, M.P.P., for South Bruce.

(Foot note)

To justify this belief I cite a personal experience in January, 1908.

I was called at night to do an emergency laparotomy on a man suffering from smallpox. There were seven other patients in the house in various stages of disease, and some of them had to be called on for help. When the first incision was made the man holding the lamp became faint, and as a result of the poor light, I cut my finger. Under existing conditons, I could not do anything but go ahead, which was done. The operation took a full hour and again in closing up my finger was punctured several times with the needle.

When the operation was through ordinary cleansing was used and I was again vaccinated.

Neither vaccination nor inoculation had the slightest effect.

CHATS ABOUT FAMOUS BOOKS AND THEIR AUTHORS

By F. M. D.

In 1652, or thereabouts, there was published at the Hague, a pamphlet entitled "Regii Sanguinis Clamor ad Coelum adversus Parricidas Anglicanos" ("Cry of the Royal Blood to Heaven against the English Parricides"). This was one of the very ablest attacks that had been made on the Commonwealth and the abettors of the execution of Charles.

Controversy With Morus.

The author of this publication was universally supposed to have been Alexander Morus, an eloquent French minister of Scotch descent, who had been active in helping Salmasius in his controversy. But the real author was a Dr. Peter Du Moulin, the younger, a French Presbyterian, who was then living in England. Taking Morus to have been the author, Milton replied to the pamphlet in May, 1654, with a defence entitled "Second Defence of John Milton, Englishman, for the people of England"—and in this again Milton showed that he was not of a noticeably meek or magnanimous disposition.

Going, perhaps, on the principle that all is fair in war, he sent spies over to Holland for the express purpose of discovering the antecedents of Morus. Enough was discovered to prove him a thorough paced profligate, and to Milton's discredit it has to be stated that he made full use of the information, and blackened his antagonist's name throughout Europe.

Milton, although he was nominally Secretary to Cromwell throughout the whole of the Protectorate, was not really in active service during the whole of that time. He was, seemingly, only called in on the more important business of the Commonwealth, the routine work being for the most part conducted by Weckerlin, Thurloe, and later by Milton's brother poet and friend, Andrew Marvell. He was very busy in 1655; for in May of that year occurred the terrible massacre of the Vaudois Protestants, which aroused the indignation of the English people, and caused Cromwell to send letters of protest to the Duke of Savoy, Louis XIV. ,and half the governments of Europe. Milton was the the comedy by the Italian dramatist, Milton's Blindness.

Milton, as we have seen, had lost his wife in 1653, and in 1654 a second great calamity fell upon him. He became totally blind. About three years later, however, he married again, a lady named Catherine Woodcock, but she died within fifteen months after their marriage. Milton's three daughters, left motherless, grew up wild and untrammelled, and, sad to say, did not add to their father' happiness by their conduct. But the world benefitted by the poet's misfortunes, for in the hour of his blindness and sorrow Milton began his great task of composing "Paradise Lost," a poem, which it is believed in some quarters, was inspired by his perusal of he comedy by the Italian dramatist, Adamo. That play is said to have served as a model for Milton's Adam. Many important events, however, were to happen before that poem was given to the world. Cromwell died and was buried in Westminster Abbey, and little more than two years after his death, in 1661, his body was taken up, suspended on a gibbet, beheaded and burned at Tyburn. Charles II. returned to the throne of his fathers amid the acclamations of the multitude. In 1665 occurred the Great Plague that ravaged London and swept off, according to Defoe, no less than 68,956 people. Finally, in 1666, came the great fire, one of the most terrible holocausts in history, which, although it took away the last vestige of the plague, destroyed property valued, according to the valuations of that period, at £10,790,550.

The Restoration brought terror to Milton's household. He had written too much and too bitterly about the father to expect much leniency from the son, but Charles prompted perhaps by pity, left the blind old man in peace. His pamphlets, however, were ordered to be burned by the common hangman, and Milton found it convenient for a time to remain in obscurity.

He settled down in Buckinghamshire, at Chalfont, where a refuge had been provided for him by a young Quaker friend, Thomas Ellwood. There he remained during the time of the Plague.

Finds Publisher for Paradise Lost

In 1668, after the fire, Milton repaired to London to find a publisher for his poem. He discovered one in the person of a certain Samuel Simmons, who agreed to print it on the following terms: £5 down, £5 on the sale of 1,200 copies off the first edition and two similar sums on the sale of a like number of the second and third editions. No edition to exceed 1,500 copies.

Milton's Place in Literature

Space does not permit of any excerpt from Milton's great work. It will be sufficient for our purpose to say that in no poem of equal length do there exist as great a number of passages, exquisite for imagination and noticeable for musical flow of rhythm as in Paradise Lost. His name will probably always stand at the head of the epic poets of the British nation. Nobody would be found rash enough to attempt to detract from his greatness as a writer. As a statesman and controversialist however, Milton has shared the usual fate of those who enter public life, that of being upheld by his own party and reviled by his opponents. Upon this phase of his character it is not necessary to dilate. If Milton was mistaken in his convictions, he was, at any rate, honest in them, and his virtues unattainable by many, are certainly assailable by none. Tired of the life his daughters were leading him, Milton had, in 1662, married for the third time a lady named Elizabeth Minshull. She was thirty years younger than he, but this did not prevent her proving a most excellent wife and helpmeet to the sight-bereft poet.

In 1674 John Milton died, passing away quietly and with scarcely a pang, and was buried beside the ashes of his father in the Church of St. Giles, Cripplegate.

Of the countless eulogies that have been showered on his memory by the ablest men of succeeding years down to the present time, none appears to show forth so vividly the grandeur of his genius as the fine tribute of Dryden's, with which this article shall close.

"Three poets in three distant ages born,
Greece, Italy and England did adorn.
The first in loftiness of thought surpassed,
The next in majesty. In both the last,
The force of Nature could no further go.
To make a third she joined the other two."

EXTENSION OF C. G. E. LINE AND NEW ROUTE TO NORMAL SCHOOL ARE PROVIDED FOR IN PLANS WHICH WILL ENTAIL OUTLAY OF $400,000

Committee of the Whole Council Decides to Endorse the Application of Street Railway Co. for the Extension of Time for One Year Provided the Work is Proceeded With During the Year---Mr. Larmonth Says Road Will Be Commenced This Summer.

APPROVAL WAS EXPRESSED OF THE COMPANY'S DECISION.

Moved by Alderman Morrow, seconded by Alderman Buller—"That the Committee of the whole Council support the application of the Peterborough Radial Railway Co. for the extension of their time for one year for building additional lines of their road provided the work is proceeded with during the year." Carried.

The city council has decided to grant the Radial Railway Company an extension of time of one year, and when the company's bill comes before will endorse the application for one the Private Bills Committee they year and not for two, as the bill now reads. This was decided upon last night at a meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council, at which the mayor and all the members of the council, excepting Ald. Hicks and McIntyre, were present.

The question was introduced by Mayor Hush, who read a letter from Mr. Stuart, of Chicago. The mayor did not consider it satisfactory, since the city had formerly decided to oppose the extension for two years. The letter was read to the council. Mr. Stuart was anxious to have the co-operation of the people. Railway construction has been at a standstill owing to the difficulty of securing money. The company's interests in Peterborough were large, and they were anxious to see the city go ahead. Mr. Stuart's letter was dealt with by Mr. J. H. Larmonth, who has recently been to Chicago where he was in communication with Mr. Stuart.

To Spend $400,000

He stated that his trip to Chicago was for the special purpose of considering the railway question. Mr. Stuart urged him to try and get the co-operation of the people and council. They would not state definitely that anything could be done here before May 14th. The company intend raising $400,000 for the extension of their lines in the city. Besides the line to Young's Point they intend building new lines in Peterborough, which will cost $30,000. One of these lines will be the C. G. E. "red" line south to Albert street, west to the boundary line and then south past St. Peter's Cemetery. The other line under contemplation is out McDonel street to Reid street, north on Reid to Aberdeen, to accommodate the Normal School students, and then south by a street which has not yet been considered. Mr. Stuart is now trying to secure a market for his bond, as he does not wish to take all the money for the work from his own pocket.

Mr. Larmonth stated that it was practically assured that the work would be commenced this summer, but an extension of at least a year was necessary. The company was interested in the city, believing that it was better to have the present company extend their lines than have outsiders coming in. It was very necessary to have the extension for one year and it was in perfect good faith that the extra time was asked for, and it was practically assured that work would be commenced in the summer, with a probability that the extension would be completed during the year. The attitude in the past showed, he said, that the company wanted to work with the city. The present system had cost from fifty to twenty-five per cent. more than the engineers had estimated, owing to the old rails, which were expected to be used, proving of much less value than expected.

"If we are successful in securing an extension the city will be given a system which will greatly please them and which will be better than the people imagine."

Ald. Gillespie asked about running over to the fifth ward, but Mr. Larmonth said there was no bridge. That was the only drawback. They did not consider the Smith street route as it would hardly allow a sufficient-ly rapid service.

Ald. Morgan moved in amendment to Ald. Morrow's motion that a written guarantee be given by the company that the work would be commenced within the year. Mr. Larmonth stated that they could not possibly give a guarantee. There was no seconder to the amendment.

Ald. Bradburn suggested a compromise, as there seemed to be a difference of opinion. His idea was that the city support the application for extension for one year provided they would not block any other company, if they found that they themselves could not proceed with the work. This was, however, dropped.

The resolution mentioned above was then moved and was carried.

The Berlin Jack The Ripper Has Been Captured At Last

Made an Attempt to Stab Woman on the Street and Police Arrested Him—Thirty Cases in All.

THREATS OF LYNCHING

Berlin, Feb. 26.—The man who during the past fortnight has been delivering a series of attacks on women in the streets of Berlin, was captured this morning.

He made an attempt to stab a woman on the Frierch Strasse, one of the crowded shopping streets of the city. The clothing of his intended victim was cut but she herself suffered no harm. The woman screamed and her assailant fled into a house on an adjoining street where he was at once seized by a policeman. He is a young man but he has not yet been identified.

To-day's attempt was the thirty-sixth. The descriptions of the assailant do not agree, for this reason, it is believed, that various men may have been engaged in the work.

There has been an actual state of terror among the women of Berlin, many servants refusing to go on the streets alone after nightfall. The police have made every effort to capture the assailant. They even had special detectives dress up as women and saunter through the streets inviting attack, but all to no purpose.

The assaults have been made by day as well as by night on the open street. The assailant would approach his intended victim quietly, strike at her swiftly with a sharp stiletto and then make his escape during the ensuing confusion.

Were Charged With Attempting To Rob An Indian Of His Money

Young Men Arrived Here From Lindsay Last Evening—They Were Arrested at Midnight.

CASES WERE DISMISSED.

Smith Comigo, an Indian, George Chamberlain and William Giles, arrived in Peterborough on the nine o'clock train from Lindsay last evening, but before they had spent many hours here, they were safe in the custody of the police.

The Indian carried an immense bottle of whiskey with him and as a result of imbibing too freely of the fire water, came very nearly losing his hard earned wages which he was bringing home to Roseneath from the summer camps of the Huntsville Lumber Company.

Comigo pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place last night, but was allowed to go with a warning and told to get out of town. Charges of attempting to steal $25.70 from Comigo were preferred against Chamberlain and Giles, but after hearing the evidence of the Indian and P. C. Newhall, His Worship dismissed the accused, stating that while in his own mind he believed that they had intended to rob Comigo, yet it had not been proven.

Mr. R F McWilliams appeared for Chamberlain at the request of Mr. Weldon, of Lindsay.

The Evidence

Smith Comigo was put in the box.

12 MILLION DOLLARS PRICE FOR A HORSE

Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 26.—Twelve million dollars for a horse!

The deal was revealed in Kalamazoo yesterday afternoon. Frank Kress, owned a big colt which Louis Ehrmann desired to purchase. A dispute arose over its weight, Kress claiming 1,160 lbs. Ehrmann denying it. Thereupon the owner told him he would would let him have the animal free if under weight, but he (Ehrmann) must buy him if overweight, paying with beans on each pound overweight, starting with one bean for the first pound and multiplying in increasing geometrical progression.

The colt's weight was an even twelve hundred, making Ehrmann liable to pay for over forty pounds overweight.

Mr. Kress, allowing 3,400 beans to a quart, finds he has sold the horse for five million bushels, which, at market prices, is worth twelve to twelve and a half millions. He says he will deliver the horse Saturday and hold Ehrmann to the contract.

TENDERS RESIGNATION BECAUSE THE QUARTERLY BOARD DID NOT SUPPORT HIS MOTION TO CENSURE MINISTER

Mr. Frank Mason of George Street Methodist Church Thought Rev. George Jackson of Toronto Should be Called to Account for His Expression of Heterodoxy—Says Laymen and Ministers Did Not Support Him.

HAS ISSUED PAMPHLET WITH HIS EXPLANATORY LETTER.

The Examiner has been handed a pamphlet which has in black type at the top, "What is Methodism Coming to? Not a voice raised in Condemnation." To the Membership of George street Methodist Church,—

Mr. Mason's Attitude

Mr. Mason's Attitude towards the Rev. G. J. Jackson's lecture.—

I can assure my brethren that I am not fond of controversy, on religious matters. But when such erroneous utterances as those made by Rev. George Jackson of the Sherbourne street Methodist church, Toronto, and who is expected shortly to be connected with Victoria College, as one of the teachers, I cannot do otherwise than protest against the preaching of such doctrine by any of our ministers. I brought this matter before the Official Board of our church and in my simplicity expected a unanimous vote of censure passed upon those utterances, but to my utter amazement not a vote was raised in condemnation, but was told by a prominent member of the Board that all present men believed as Rev. Geo. Jackson does, and I was asked if I believed the whole Bible. Yes, I said, I do believe the whole of it from Genesis to Revelations, inclusive.

There was a dozen of the brethren present including two Methodist ministers, and not one of the members stood by me or upheld my views in condemning the minister in question. Now, with a heavy heart I send in my resignation as member of the Official Board, as a member of the church, and as class leader, and in closing would give some references from New Testament bearing on above matter, which to my mind corroborate the truthfulness of the Book of Genesis. I sincerely wish my brethren to carefully go over those references and see if the conclusion of the whole matter is not "All scripture is given by inspiration of God."

Your brother in Christ

F. MASON.

The pamphlet also gives Rev. Geo. Jackson's lecture on the Book of Genesis in which he stated that the narratives of Creation, Fall and Flood are neither historic nor scientific, merely a collection of legends having deep religious meaning.

The following is part of Rev. Jackson's lecture as given in the pamphlet,—

It had to be made plain that these earlier chapters of Genesis were not science and were not history and consequently the students must not be surprised to find in them that with which neither science nor history could agree. "A pregnant theory of the origin of the universe and of man," said Mr. Jackson, "and of sin, is surely no essential part of the Christian faith." The early chapters of Genesis contained no scientific summary of the real beginnings of things. If they could lay aside their theological preconceptions they would never accept the story of the creation of man and the fall as a record of actual fact, but say it was myth, legend or allegory. Similarly in the light of science they could not accept the story of the flood as a universal deluge of which Noah and his progeny were the only survivors. The records showed that Babylonian civilization was in existance at the date when the flood was supposed to have occurred. The creation and the flood narratives were reproductions of traditions and modes of thought common to a large division of the human race. They were part of the heritage of thought which Israel brought with it from its cradle in the East. But if that were all, they might well ask why the Bible should be loaded with antiquarian timber. If that were all the common sense of mankind would have made shorrt work of these narratives centuries ago. The answer was to be found in their supreme religious worth. It was their religious value, their expression of truth concerning God. To some minds it would seem incredible that God should have made use of myths in making His will known to mankind. At one point in a people's intellectual development myths constituted their intellectual stock, and why? then, should it be surprising to find a universal phenomenon utilized as a vehicle of Divine truth? The modern interpretation of the Old testament did away with the need of apologetics, and cut the ground away from beneath the feet of the scoffer. It was significant that neither Bradlaugh nor Ingersoll had had successors, and they never would, because a changed method of interpretation had robbed them of their miserable stock in trade.

MR. R. H. LEARY HAS SECURED PRACTICALLY ALL THE LEASES REQUIRED; WORK WILL BE BEGUN SOON

Boring for oil and gas will be commenced within ten days or two weeks in those parts of North Monaghan which Mr. C. E. Dettman of Waynesburg considers are the most promising for the products. This is has been learned is practically assured. Mr. Robert Leary who with Mr. Dettman is interested in the concern, stated to an Examiner reporter that he had secured leases for practically all the desired lands, and those who had been holding out had practically to a man, given a lease of their property. Mr. Leary stated that he was sending the welcome news to Mr. Dettman who had been waiting until all the leases had been secured. It would be but a short time until the work was begun, and machinery will be brought here for boring several thousand feet. Mr. Dettman is sanguine of striking gas, which if found and in large quantities, will be supplied the city.

Point Of A Foil Pierced The Windpipe Of Toronto Fencer

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Sport came close to a tragedy at the university gymnasium yesterday afternoon, when in the semi-finals of the championship fencing tournament, L. Duncan was accidentally stabbed in the throat by his opponent, T. R. Brechen, through the breaking of Brechen's foil.

The men had just come on guard at the opening of the bout. Both manoeuvred for the opening and then lunged. Duncan's point went wide, but Brechen scored fairly on the breast, but his foil curling up under the force of the double impact, snapped clean at the flaw, about three inches from the tip, leaving a sharp point, which sprung and penetrated Duncan's canvas fencing jacket, piercing the flesh close to the windpipe.

Duncan was taken to the medical building, where the wound was examined and dressed. It was not thought serious, and he was taken to his home, where the full extent of the injury was not known last evening.

Duncan is a son of Dr. T. J. Duncan, and is in his fourth year in arts. He is also a good sport and had fought his way up through the various bouts of the tournament with distinction. He is 21 years of age.

Machine And Bell Phones Are On The One System In Lyons

The bringing of the Machine and Bell Telephone systems together is being carried out in Lyons, France, where Mr. E. S. Lorimer has just completed the installing of the machine system. He returned recently to Brantford where Mr. B. A. Lillie was recently in conversation with him. Mr. Lorimer is very much pleased with the success the machine 'phone has achieved in France. A large number have been installed and are working with 10,000 manual 'phones just as if Bell and Machine 'phone had a common central in Peterborough. The whole system is controlled by government ownership and is providing a splendid service.

Essex Young Ladies Are Afraid of a "Jack the Hugger"

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 26. — Essex young ladies are too frightened to go on the streets after dark without an escort on account of "Jack the Hugger," with "Peeping Tom" proclivities. The police have been unable to discover the unknown. One young woman was frightened badly by being embraced by a tall, dark man.

Fell Or Jumped From Window To Ground And Was Injured

Examiner Special

Toronto, Feb 26.—Henry F Charles, for two years an intermittent roomer at the Salvation Army Home, Victoria street and Wilton avenue, entered his room there at 10.15 last night, and half an hour or so later was found by another lodger on the ground outside.

Charles had climbed up four feet to the window sill inside, and then, while in delirium, presumably, had fallen or jumped down, a distance of eight feet. He was unconscious for a time, and an ear was almost torn off. There was a pool of blood, and a splinter two inches long was taken from his neck. His head was gashed and face cut. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, where the surgeon worked on him until 1.30 this morning, and put in twenty stitches. He was doing well this morning, and the ear may be saved, after all.

Charles came from England two or three years ago. His people in the Old Country are thought to be well-to-do, and the Salvationists speak of Charles as a gentlemanly, clever fellow when uninfluenced by drink. He is a window-dresser, and since coming to Toronto has held good positions. He is 37 years old, and unmarried.

When found in the yard, Charles was fully dressed, even to the overcoat, and had not gone to bed at all. He must have opened the window, and then gone down the roof of a small porch to the ground. The fall stunned him, evidently.

Charles has been working at Wilinsky's, on Queen east.

"He has been all right, so far as we have seen," his employer said, this morning.

Commissioner Of Industries Is Abandoned By The Council

Peterborough is apparently not going to have a Commissioner of Industries. The question was discussed some time ago and it appeared as if something were going to be done to boom the city. "What could be done," was outlined to some length but for reasons the scheme has been apparently abandoned. Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Buller at the meeting last night, as follows:

"That as the council is not in a position this year to provide for the appointment of a Commissioner of Industries or a similar office, the City Clerk be instructed to assist the Manufacturers and Power Committees as far as he can give them assistance in the work they have to do."

In the meantime it might be remarked that Brantford, Hamilton and other cities are going ahead along similar lines and have been putting Peterborough up as an example of progressiveness, whose methods should be emulated.

Identified Photo In Locket On Prisoner As Her Cousin's

The gold watch and locket found in the right hand overcoat pocket of James Chamberlain, who appeared before the magistrate in the police court this morning, was retained by the police despite the protests of Chamberlain's counsel.

On the locket were the initials F. J. G., and it is believed that Chamberlain is not the rightful owner of the timepiece nor the locket. A photograph of a young girl inside the locket was identified by a local lady as her cousin. She told Chief Rossel this morning that the initials were those of a gentleman cousin of hers.

Whether or not the watch was got unlawfully is not known, but it is the intention of the police to make an investigation.

Heads Of Departments Made Presentation To Mr. Wedgewood

On Friday evening Mr. David Wedgewood, who has been Master Mechanic at the Auburn Woollen Mills for a number of years, and who is leaving the employment of that company to assume a position in Toronto, was called into the office and was there met by the representative of the management and heads of the several departments, and presented with the following address and a handsome parlour clock, the address being read by Mr. Wm. Hartley, while the presentation was made by Mr. Robt. Mann. Mr. Wedgewood although taken completely by surprise, replied in a few well chosen words, thanking his friends for their kind expression of their good will and assured them that he would always look back to the years spent in Peterborough, and in the employment of the Auburn Company, as among the best years of his life. As he had always found it a pleasure to work with a body of men where everything had gone along as smooth and pleasant as it had done during the years he had been in the employment of the Auburn Woollen Company. In conclusion he wished to thank them all for the uniform kindness shown to him by all since he had come to work among them.

The following is the address:

Mr. David Wedgewood.

POVERTY SOCIAL WAS A NOVELTY

Proved Very Amusing and Was Financially a Success

A novelty social was held last night at the Gilmour Baptist Church near Chemong, when a Poverty Social was held. The admission fee was 13 cents, but the subsequent proceedings were so carried out that each person had to pay about 25 cents, altogether. If your hair was parted straight you were fined two cents, if you were accompanied by a young man straight you were fined two cents, if clean collar was a slight fine. In this way fines were imposed for various actions, which provided great amusement. Everybody reported a good time.

It is stated that some of the young men fined to escape a fine by wearing ordinary clothes, but they were fined just the same. There were none who objected to the fine for being accompanied by a young lady.

Scarlet Fever Outbreak Has Abated, Say School Authorities

The police authorities report that there have been no fresh cases of scarlet fever since last Saturday.

The Central School, where the outbreak occurred last week, has been disinfected and, as a full week has elapsed without any further cases, those pupils who have been remaining away from school through fear, might now, with reasonable safety, return to their school work.

The teachers are doing their utmost to prevent any further outbreaks of the disease.

Man Who Reads Meters To Wear Some Badge To Distinguish Him

Ald. Turner made a suggestion at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council last night that the man who is employed by the gas company to read the meters wear a uniform, or that he display some insignia by which he would be known to the users of gas. It sometimes happens, he stated, that a new man is sent around, and a stranger might go into the houses under the excuse to read the meters and carry off anything they chose. Ald. Turner stated that it would be a protection to the public if the reader wore some distinguishing mark or badge by which he would be known. Mr. Larmonth, who was present, stated that he would see that the suggestion was acted upon in some manner.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

The mild weather suggesting—perhaps treacherously—the tender sweetness of spring, when tree and flower and lawn invite admiration and care, it is timely to think how best we can turn to advantage, the opportunities and resources that exist for making Peterborough the city beautiful. We have miles of well kept streets, bordered by beautiful lines of trees, contributing to splendid sightliness in mass, but in many cases harbouring details the better for not too close scrutiny. In places these same trees combining to making so beautiful a picture in the large, shade ragged unformed or unkempt boulevards flanking frowsy lawns that speak of lack of taste and wanting in the brightening beauty of flowers and the relief of shrubs. These unsightly breaks in a street of general tidiness and trimness constitute disfigurement shocking to the aesthetic sense, and blots upon the beauty of a street.

What is needed is a stimulant to the sense of beauty and neatness less active and developed in some natures than in others. We need an educational propaganda, to instil a sentiment of pride in our surroundings, to create a realization of the commercial value of civic beauty, to make our city a desirable place of residence and so attract population. We must create the feeling that general, if not universal, co-operation is necessary in creating conditions that will make Peterborough beautiful in detail and at close range as it is from afar, with its embowering trees, sheltering streets of beautiful residences, and rob of its present fitness the poetic saying that "distance lends enchantment to the view."

To bring about such desirable results, large co-operation must obtain in an educational and advisory campaign. Where education is not needed advice may be welcome. The Examiner, will continue to urge, as it has done in the past, not only the improvement and beautification of our streets, but the extension of the same conditions to private premises; and to aid and encourage and help the citizens to share in this work, we shall on Saturday next print the first of a series of articles on the general subject of laying out lawns and grounds, and of the most effective ways of planting, grouping, cultivating and caring for shrubs and flowers. These articles will be furnished by Mr. A. B. Cutting, editor of the Canadian Horticulturist, published in Peterborough, and one of the best journals of its class published anywhere. The articles will be plain and practical and should command the attention of every resident who takes a pride in our thriving and, potentially, beautiful city.

It is expected that the local Horticultural Society will lend not only its countenance but its active aid. It is doing much in the interests in question, but it can and should do more. Its action should be more continuous, its influence more evenly exerted. It can do its share in the work of public education as to the sacredness of civic beauty, by inciting a far more general competition in excellence than the friendly rivalry now encourages. Everybody could be whipped or wheedled into line. The interest of everybody should be enlisted and a good means to this end is to combine instruction with injunction. Capable speakers will, upon request to the Provincial Department of Agriculture be furnished free of charge, speakers to give addresses, which everybody should be not only invited, but enticed, to attend by combining speeches upon horticulture and floriculture, with music or some other attraction to get the people together, to get them interested, to get them talking, to get them squabbling and even quarrelling over the best way of growing flowers, if this will result in one neighbour striving to out-do the other in adding his or her share to the general beautification of the city. The campaign should be kept up continuously, not at long intervals, nor with a zeal comparable to the indifferent Christian, who considers his whole duty done in taking communion once a year, say, at Easter.

The city council can do its share by example if no other way, by keeping the streets clean and tidy, and free from litter, especially of its own creation, by respecting boulevards and helping citizens to keep them in condition, by doing neat and clean street work, in the matter of grading, especially.

Finally every citizen of taste and culture, of local loyalty and of pride in the good name of the city is called to co-operate by influence, by example and positive performance of one of the most important and, as it should be to all refined tastes, one of the most pleasant duties of citizenship.

If the Almighty Creator did not love beauty and variety of colour and form, He would have made the flower as shapeless and dull as the mud in which it grows—it would ripen the seed full as well.

CANADIAN CREDIT HIGH.

Unthinkng unpatriotism is fond of decrying the credit of Canada. If anything, beyond its practical testimony to the standing of Canada in financial circles in the old land, implied in the recent Canadian loan and the fact that ritish capital to the extent of thirty millions was sent to this country last year, is needed, the following from a staid and solid British financial journal, should be convincing. "The Investor's Guardian and Joint Stock Companies Review," of London, printed the following in its issue of February 6th:

Notwithstanding the long period of depression under which British trade and finance suffered in consequence of the financial slump in the United States during the autumn of 1907, there were comparatively few people in this country who realized how extreme was the severity of the disturbance on the other side of the Atlantic. Fortunately for Canada, her finances were in a much sounder state than those of the neighbouring Republic, and although the crisis put a stop, for the time being, to the marvellous commercial and mining development which had till then been in progress, there was nothing approaching to the epidemic of panic which swept the country to the south of the border line.

With the close intercourse which exists between the United States and Canada it would have been impossible for the latter country to escape scathless from such a wide-spreading catastrophe, and the Budget which has just been submitted to the Parliament at Ottawa shows that the Hon. W. S. Fielding has, with his usual prudence, taken every unfavourable condition into account. The Minister of Finance has based his estimates for the coming fiscal year, beginning April 1st next, on the most conservatve lines and almost every item shows the mark of his retrenching hand. The vote for the Consolidated Fund account is £16,015,725, a decrease of £1,267,412, while the capital expenditure, £6,082,230, shows a decrease of £2,592,000, or togther, a total decrease of £3,859,412.

There has been somewhat carpng criticism in the remarks recently made that Canada will be a large borrower in the near future. We fail to see how it could be otherwise bearing in mind the rapid development of so large a section of the Empire. In the booming times before the slump arrangements had been made with the Grand Trunk Railway for the construction of that second Canadian line between the Atlantic and the Pacific, the national transcontinental Railway, which will do so much to open up great expanses of farming and mining territory. The estimated expenditure on this line for the current year is no less than £6,000,000, and it would be too much to expect that Canada should be able in comparatively dull times, to pay the same large sums out of revenue for capital purposes that she has so long been able to do under different conditions.

The latent assets of the Dominion are almost incalculable. They pervade its entire territory from ocean to ocean. It would be difficult to overestimate them; it is impossible to tabulate them. Even if one dilates on the great mineral wealth of its extreme eastern section. Cape Breton and Nova Scotia, on the important manufacturing interests of Quebec and Montreal; on he unparalleled deposits of silver, nickel, and abestos in Ontario, on the agricultural wealth of the ilimitable north-west, and on the fruit, fisheries, and mining of British Columbia, it still leaves everything unsaid as to the wonderful area of forest lands, and of the magnificent waterways which render their yield of timber available. So long as the finances of Canada are controlled by so able, prudent, and experienced a statesman as Mr. Fielding, she can rely upon this country finding, at a moderate rate of interest, the money it may be called upon to provide to supplement the Dominion's own finances.

When such an authority shows such well-informed confidence in the resources and future of Canada and is willing to back its faith by works—capital—the little Canadian should hide his diminished head.

Optimism incites to action; pessimism contents itself with stagnation; one begets growth, the other decay.

The Civil Service employees at Ottawa propose forming a Mutual Loan Association—to lend each other money. This is the next best thing to doing the right thing—living within their income. Then they need no fight shy of the small loan Shylock.

TO THE BOARD OF TRADE.

The Hamilton Herald prints the following in commendation of the progressive spirit of the Board of Trade of the Town of Welland. It might be read with profit—if its lesson is laid to heart—by the Peterborough Board of Trade and if an echo of it should reach the city fathers it might effect a not un-needed awakening. The Herald says:

"Welland has a Board of Trade which does things. The Welland Board of Trade sent two representatives to the national tariff commission convention held in Indianapolis last week, a convention that was attended by fifteen hundred manufacturers, representing forty-three states of the union. The Welland Board of Trade was the only Canadian Board of Trade which sent representatives to this great gathering. And Welland's two representatives didn't go there to get information and enjoy themselves. They went there to impart information about Welland and to hustle for their town.

We have before us a skilfully written and beautifully printed folder containing some facts and some fiction about Welland calculated to arrest and fix the attention of any American manufacturer who may be thinking of starting branch works in Canada. This folder was circulated among the delegates to the convention. Every manufacturer got as many copies as he wanted. It can hardly fail to do much good for Welland; and Welland deserves all the good that she can get out of the enterprise and energy of her Board of Trade.

And as a matter of fact the Town Council of Welland practically sympathises with the spirit and well directed energy of its Board of Trade. The wonderful industrial advance of Welland in the possession of important industries all acquired by the action of its live citizens within the past few years, while it is in a large measure due to her transportation advantages and cheap power facilities is most largely due to the energy of its Board of Trade and Town Council.

Welland employs a live and aggressive Industrial Commissioner, who is more than a mere publicity agent. He makes known the industrial capabilities and industrial attraction of the town; he also keeps in touch with the continental industrial situation; and the moment an establishment thinks of seeking a new location, it is loaded up with all that Welland has to offer. It has paid and pays the Town of Welland to be alive.

"Talk" is not a bad dog; but "Do" is a thoroughbred.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL AGAIN

The lack of an insolation hospital is responsible for not only hardship to citizens, but facilating spread of the present prevalence of scarlet fever which if not epidemic, threatens to become so. The law in regard to isolation, is framed with the best of intentions, but seems to be ineffective, owing to difficulty of enforcement, which is not the fault of the authorities or of the people as a whole. With an isolation hospital the problem would be easily solved.

The mildness of the present prevailing scarlet fever is one of its most langerous features. Parents and patients, ignorant of the danger incurred, are thereby encouraged to carelessnes, with possible serious or fatal consequences. What the doctors call sequelae, or, as better understood popularly, complications, are as dangerous following mild cases as severe cases. These complications, include affections of the kidneys, inducing dropsy, affections of the ears, mastoid abscesses, etc., and recent cases in the city are known where mastoid abscesses were with difficulty prevented from producing fatal results.

Now an isolation hospital would very largely solve the problem. Neglect to provide one is not true economy. This season the hardship inconvenience, loss of time and wages through enforced idleness if capitalized would more than represnt the interest on the cost of an isolation hospital. The money collected and spent by the civic authorities is the people's money and the latter have a claim to its expenditure in the interest of the protection of their health and homes, and their general welfare.

An old proverb which says, that prevention is better than cure, has a wide significance.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto News describes the election of a grandson of Sir Robert Peel, the great free trader, as "a notable victory." The grandson is a "tariff reformer" whatever that means in Great Britain, but he was not opposed by a free trade candidate but by a Labourite. There can be no victory for dear bread where the question of tariff and free trade was not an issue.

Some persons hard to suit find fault with some of the Englishmen sent to this country. But they have no fault to find with English money sent to Canada to aid in its development. During the past year 150 millions of English capital has been sent to Canada for investment in productive enterprises or in enterprises which are agencies in national production and growth.

By "Footlights."

Glau and his overweight chorus from the "Aeroplane" company have returned to New York in what may be described as greatly reduced circumstances. Not as to finances, let it be said, nor yet in numbers, glory be, but in avoirdupois—that is to say, gross flesh. The entire galaxy has out in this respect, much to its advantage.

It seems the people out west will support slim ballerinas, and no other, and our famous "balloon chorus" carried, so to speak, no weight with them. They treated that prize collection of fat New York beauties with an unprecedented coldness. Consequently, Glau faced the problem of reducing the entire front and rear rows at once, or shipping them back—"excess" baggage. It was a terrific job, as all who saw the "Aeroplane" before it left this tolerant town will admit, but our ingenious townsman tackled it and succeeded—broke all records, in fact. And thereby hangs a tale worthy of any fat lady's attention.

Glau didn't rehearse his flock into shape, nor starve them into line, nor yet worry them, verbally into shadows. He paid salaries regularly and let them eat and drink as they listed. He simply hung up a new rule in the dressing-room to the effect that every lady less than five foot seven who weighed in excess of 150 pounds must take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime (or about where her bedtime ought to be,) of the following: One-half ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 4 3-4 ounces Peppermint Water.

They did it and in a month averaged, a loss of a pound a day apiece. "That's a dandy receipt," says Glau. "Simple, pleasant, harmless and a worker from the word "go." Wish I could get a railroad rate reducer half as good."

CHARGED WITH ROBBING AN INDIAN OF HIS MONEY

He said that he lived at Roseneath but had been working for the Huntsville Lumber Company. He arrived in Peterborough last night. He met the prisoners coming from Lindsay on the train which arrives here at nine o'clock. The three, he said, were at different hotels looking for a bed but they were told that the rooms were all filled. He admitted having a bottle of whiskey from which they had several drinks on the train. He had $2b when he arrived here. All that he spent here was a quarter of a dollar. He could not say how he got in the lockup, nor did he know anything of the accused trying to get his money. He got the liquor at Orillia from two fellows going to Toronto. He could not remember whether he was taken into a yard by the prisoners or not. He was a Treaty Indian and received money from the Government as such.

P. C. Newhall said that about 11.15 last night he saw the three prisoners on Simcoe street. The Indian was very drunk and the other two were leading him. At the archway at the New Oxford Hotel, Chamberlain and Giles pulled him in, but Comigo got away from them but they soon caught him again. At the Bank of Montreal gateway on Simcoe street, the three had a struggle. A few minutes later the Indian came staggering out of the yard with some bills in hand. The other ran up Water street as hard as they could go, as far as the post office. P. C. Newhall took the Indian into the station and then in company with P. C. Meagher went after the other two. They were arrested by P. C. Meagher on Charlotte street, about half an hour later.

At the police station both denied having been with anyone or ever having seen the Indian. Giles after awhile admitted coming down from Lindsay with Comigo.

On Giles was found twenty-five cents and on Chamberlain was found twenty-three cents and a gold watch and chain in his overcoat pocket. He said that he had bought the watch in Buffalo.

On the Indian was found $25.50.

They are all going to "45 minutes from Broadway" at the Grand next Wednesday. Are You? Plan opens Monday.

THE CANADA LIFE

A Remarkable Growth in Size and Strength Shown.

The Canada Life now has business in force of over $ 20,629,000. How the company has grown in the past 30 years is shown by a tabulation given in the President's address.

1878	$ 3,348,000	$ 18,603,000
1888	8,954,000	43,975,000
1898	20,038,000	75,234,000
1908	36,713,000	120,629,000

The point emphasized by the President was that the Canada Life had in 1908 enjoyed a large measure of prosperity "in all that goes to make for stability, strength and permanent progress."

The ratio of expense to premium income was reduced over two per cent., the interest rate earned was increased, and the mortality rate was very low, all these elements contributing to a large increase in the surplus of policyholders' account.

During the past year or two the Company has taken advantage of the very low prices of permanent securities to invest in them, and this will doubtless have a beneficial effect on the interest rate earned for many years to come. At the same time a portion of the funds are profitably invested in mortgages on improved western farms.

The Canada Life always a synonym for safety and solidity has increased its strength in 1908 and at the same time has made good gains in all desirable directions. In its 63rd year it is as keenly and aggressively managed as ever.

Mason & Risch Piano

Will be used at the Toronto Symphony Club's Recital next Friday evening.

Mr. Frank S. Welsman

Musical Composer and leader of the Toronto Symphony Club writes of the Mason & Risch Piano as follows:

THE MASON & RISCH PIANO CO.

Centlemen: Allow me to thank you for the Grand Pianos you have supplied for my recitals during the past season. The instruments have very materially assisted me in interpreting to my own satisfaction the compositions my programmes have called for. Not only have your instruments a large volume of tone, but have what I might call a pervading quality, which I have found in no other piano.

The lightness and perfect repetition of the Action permits one to bring out the tonal qualities referred to above with such ease that it is with the greatest of pleasure I have used the Mason & Risch Pianos.

It is gratifying to find that it is not necessary to go outside our own country to secure an instrument of the highest excellence.

Yours sincerely,

FRANK S. WELSMAN

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. T. Linscott, for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

February 28th, 1909.

The Gospel in Samaria.— Acts viii: 5-25.

Golden Text — The people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracle which he did. Acts viii: 6.

Verse 4.—What caused the "scattering abroad" of the Christian community?

Was the persecution of the church, headed by Saul, a blessing or a curse?

Was this persecution according to God's first best plan?

When God's first, or original, plan is upset by an evil, is there any evidence to show that he uses that very evil to bring about that which he had planned to accomplish another way? (See case of Joseph, also of Jesus.)

Verse 5.—Who was Philip?

Should the church, to-day, utilize laymen more in preaching the gospel?

What did Philip preach at Samaria?

What do you understand by Philip preaching Christ?

Verses 6-7.— How do you account for it, that the people turned to God with such unanimity?

Does the Holy Spirit always accompany the preaching of the gospel?

If Philip's congregation had been made up of 1909 ex-Sunday school scholars, would the result of his preaching have been different?

Verse 8. — What is the proof that Philip's converts were real, and what is the proof of the reality of every conversion?

Is joy a necessary accompaniment of conversion?

Verses 9-11.—What is or what was sorcery?

Is there any evidence to believe that there are, or ever have been, persons with the power claimed by witches, conjurers, fortune tellers and similar fakirs?

Verse 13.—Is it reasonable to believe that all who were baptized were genuine converts?

Verse 18.—What ever change may have come over him after, do you think Simon was really converted at this time?

What were then, and what are now, the conditions for the forgiveness of our sins, or conversion?

Verses 14-17.— At the time of the "scattering abroad" did all the Apostles remain at Jerusalem?

What was the purpose of sending Peter and John to Samaria, seeing they had just had a great revival?

Did Peter and John pray that these young converts might receive the Holy Spirit?

Did all the converts in Apostolic days receive the Holy Spirit after their conversion?

Why was not the Holy Spirit given to the converts at Samaria, when they were converted?

Is it the duty and privilege of every Christian to be conscious that the Holy Spirit dwells in him, and that he is divinely guided in all things? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club).

Verses 18-24. — Are deceivers and tricksters apt to think that all others are like themselves?

Is it possible to obtain spiritual power with the purpose of making money out of it?

Is it possible that this Simon had been converted, and that his love of fame, and of money, had led him to this evil?

Verse 25.—What is the only hope of getting the world converted?

Lesson for Sunday, March 7th, 1909. — Philip and the Ethiopian. Acts viii: 26-40.

Great pianists and musicians have delighted to praise the New Scale Williams Piano

Yet it is in the Canadian homes that the "New Scale Williams" has won its highest commendations.

"I received the Piano and am delighted with it. I had in my house many years, one of your pianos, and you may safely assume that I would not have continued my patronage unless your instruments were satisfactory."

.THE WHOLE YEAR ROUND.

Women Everywhere Use Pe-ru-na.

Suffered With Stomach.

Mrs. John Underwood, 520 W. Walnut St., Columbus, Ohio, writes:

"Having had catarrh and stomach trouble and having suffered very much, I, after being doctored a long while, as a last resort took Peruna. The result was wonderful. I would highly recommend it as a good remedy. I still use Peruna and would not be without it. I always have it in the house."

Catarrh and Stomach Trouble.

Mrs. T. Frech, R. R. No. 1, Hickory Point, Tenn., writes:

"I am happy to tell you that I am cured of catarrh. I have followed your good and kind advice faithfully. I bless the day when I wrote you of my condition, and I will always praise Peruna. I think it is one of the grandest medicines on earth.

"Having been afflicted with catarrh and stomach trouble for seven years and after having tried four different doctors they only relieved me for a little while. I gave up all hope of being cured. I only weighed 130 pounds, and was so weak I could hardly get around the room.

"I was induced to try Peruna, and to my great surprise I am now entirely well. My weight is now 188 pounds, my health never was better in my life.

"I shall always praise Dr. Hartman and his remedies."

Thousands of families have learned the use of Peruna and its value in the treatment of catarrha ailments.

Tired, Worn-Out Mothers.

Mrs. Lydia H. Josselyn, 501 Westminster St., Providence, R. I., is Treasurer of the Editors League of Rhode Island, chartered in Providence. She writes:

"My experience with Peruna has been most gratifying. Last winter I contracted a severe cold, and for several days I coughed until my voice failed me. When other remedies did me no good, I decided to try Peruna, and within four days the cold was broken up, and the cough abated.

"Within another week an increase in my usual strength and vitality told me that Peruna was doing all that it promised, and more. I also consider it very superior for tired, worn-out mothers, and have advised several to try it, and have seen most gratifying results from its use.

"I give it highest praise."

Bowel Trouble.

Mrs. Maggie Durbin, 1532 North St., Little Rock, Ark., writes:

"I was troubled for five years with a chronic disease. I tried everything I heard of, but nothing did me any good. Some doctors said my trouble was catarrh of the bowels, and some said consumption of the bowels.

"One doctor said he could cure me. I took his medicine two months. But it did me no good.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Peruna and I did so. After I had taken two bottles I found it was helping me, so I continued its use, and it has cured me sound and well.

"I can recommend Peruna to any one, and if any one wants to know what Peruna did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

Peruna is a household remedy of great merit, and is useful in many climatic ailments, such as coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis and catarrhal diseases generally.

Biliousness, Indigestion.

Mrs. Lena R. Moudy, 556 Caywood St., Portland, Oregon, Sec'y Royal Tribe of Joseph, writes:

"For the past six years biliousness and pains in my back and limbs made life miserable to me. My skin was sallow and dry, and indigestion was added to my troubles. I was wakeful at night and would get a weak, faint feeling during the day so that I was not fitted to attend to my regular duties. This caused me serious annoyance and trouble, and I naturally tried many remedies, hoping to get relief.

"Peruna came as a friend in need. It toned up the system, relieved the blood of the poisons and induced a healthy action of the stomach, a fine appetite and restful sleep.

"Within three months I was a changed person, and for nearly a year now I have enjoyed splendid health."

A Grateful Patient.

Mrs. Eliza J. Cazee, R. F. D. 8, Bedford, Ind., writes: "I have been cured by using Peruna and Manalin. I thank you for your advice."

Restorer of Lost Strength.

Miss Bessie Farrell, 1011 Third Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., is President of the Young People's Christian Temperance Association. She writes:

"Peruna is certainly a valuable nerve and blood remedy, calculated to build up the broken-down health of worn-out women. I have found by personal experience that it acts as a wonderful restorer of lost strength, assisting the stomach to assimilate and digest the food, and building up worn-out tissues. In my work I have had occasion to recommend it frequently, especially to sick women.

"I know of nothing which is better to build up the strength of a young mother, in fact all the ailments peculiar to women, so I am pleased to give it my hearty endorsement."

Pe-ru-na a Woman's Friend.

Mrs. Ella Embree, Clark, Mo., writes: "I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I can truthfully say that Peruna is a woman's friend. I have no more terrible pains and am stronger than I have been. Your medicine has worked like a charm."

Severe Headache.

Mrs. Emily Kellogg, 5549 S. Lawrence St., South Tacoma, Wash., member of Ladies of the Maccabees, writes:

"Three months ago I had an attack of biliousness which threatened to undermine my health and strength. Luckily for me, I tried Peruna at the suggestion of my friends before it was too late.

"I found in a few days time that I did not have the usual sick headache, neither did food nauseate me any longer. In two weeks' time Peruna had completely rid my system of the poison and bile, and I was in a much better condition. My skin assumed its normal color, I had a splendid appetite, and I was in every way improved in health. I used Peruna for a month longer, and it wrought a wondrous change in my entire system. I consider it a most wonderful medicine."

Nervous Dyspepsia.

Mrs. J. C. Jamison, 61 Marchant St., Watsonville, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with cramps in the stomach for six years. I tried many kinds of medicine, also was treated by three doctors. They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months. I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine, I got bad again. I took the medicine for two years, then I got sick again and gave up all hopes of getting cured.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Pernna, so I thought I would give it a trial. I procured a bottle at once and commenced taking it. I have taken nineteen bottles and am entirely cured. Have gained in strength and flesh and feel like a different person.

"I believe Peruna is all that is claimed for it."

Catarrh of Head.

Mrs. Joseph Vittur, 5709 Erie St., Austin Sta., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"Your medicine, Peruna, was of great benefit to me. I suffered with catarrh of the nose and head for many years. Three bottles of Peruna cured me, after I had considered it impossible to ever be cured again.

"I now always keep Peruna in the house, and recommend it to every one suffering from catarrh. As soon as one of my children commence to cough I give them Peruna, and their cough is soon gone.

"This medicine is surely a great boon to suffering humanity."

Pe-ru-na the Family Doctor.

Mrs. M. E. Seymour, R. F. D. 2, Bowman, Ga., writes:

"I am ready to speak a few words in favor of Peruna and Manalin. I have tried them for nearly every ill of life for myself and family, and find them to be all the doctor claims them to be. Peruna cured me of internal trouble when my doctor could not.

"My advice to all suffering women is, consult Dr. Hartman. What he has done for me he will do for you."

Headaches, Weakness.

Mlle. Albina Chauvin, No. 50 Rue Agnes, St. Henri, Montreal, Canada, writes that she considers Peruna better than any other remedy, as it cured her when nothing else could. She suffered for years with heart trouble, headaches and weakness. She tried Peruna. One bottle produced a change. She took six bottles and is entirely cured.

PE-RU-NA IS A HOUSEHOLD NECESSITY IN OVER ONE MILLION HOMES.

McGREGOR & REID'S SPLENDID SHOWROOMS

The business of electric supplies and electrical installation naturally forms one of the principal features of industrial life in Peterborough with the mighty forces made available by the Canadian General Electric Company and other large electric companies. McGregor and Reid, 132 George street, have given evidence of being thoroughly practical and progressive electrical engineers and contractors. They have wired and installed many public and private buildings in Peterborough, as well as outside the city in different parts of Ontario. In addition to this work, they also carry a full stock of electrical goods for lighting, power transmission, alarms, and other purposes. Recently they have been compelled by their growing business to seek for more commodious premises, and have secured a lease of the large double store two doors north of their former premises. Here they have secured ample room for the dispay of their electrical goods as well as workshops for their plumbing and heating work. The ground floor has been remodelled and the departments classified with a view to convenience and order, so that customers will receive prompt attention and every facility for selection.

Showrooms Upstairs.

The second floor is devoted to a display of electrical fixtures, lamps, globes, ceiling and wall novelties, brackets and table lamps. This exhibit has been made quite a feature of their business. Two entire rooms are fitted up, showing many of the varied artistic lighting features of the most up-to-date designs. Some of these consist of fancy candle sticks with crystal decorations, beautiful domes for dining rooms, and halls, with beaded glass, ceiling lights in antique brass, polished brass and gilt, some with art glass and fringe and others with art glass shades and sick shades. The samples of electric lanterns are very unique, these are shown in etched glass and opalescent glass. Many novelties in lamps and shades are also shown, which combine to make this electric display well worth an inspection. The firm do a large wholesale as well as retail business in lamps and shades, and they are the local agent for the Watt lamp, made in Germany, which they are authorized to guarantee.

An ideal bathroom is being fitted up on the first floor, which will represent the acme of perfection. The both will be of the Alexandrian ware, which alone will cost $250. They are made of heavy porcelain enamel inside and out, instead of being painted and in other respects are claimed to be the most sanitary on the market.

It may also be mentioned that this firm represent Messrs. Reid & Brown, of Toronto, the structural steel contractors and are prepared to estimate on roof trusses, steel beams, builders' iron work, etc.

ACKNOWLEDGES THE DONATIONS

$31.50 Has Been Received in Aid of the Twins.

The fund in aid of the twins whose mother is ill in the hospital, and whose father is out of work, is slowly growing, but is still considerably short of what is considered necessary by the King's Daughters, who are making the temporarily motherless twins the special object of their ministry. The twins, now about two weeks old, are provided with a home and nursing at a cost of $6 a week. The mother, ill in the hospital, will be detained there about six weeks or two months. On her discharge she will have a rather desolate home to go to with a husband out of employment, and even necessaries of life lacking, not to speak of the comforts due a convalescent woman, responsible for the nourishment and care of twin infants.

An error was made in the announcement that sufficient funds had been provided. As will be seen by the total of the subsequent list something is still lacking of the amount required to pay for six or eight weeks' board at $6 per week.

Any offerings to this fund can be left with the Kings' Daughters, Mr. Campbell, treasurer, Children's Aid Society, or at the Examiner or Review offices.

Subjoined is the list of contributors and contributions to date:—

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. T. Linscott, for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

February 28th, 1909.

The Gospel in Samaria.— Acts viii: 5-25.

Golden Text — The people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracle which he did. Acts viii: 6.

Verse 4.—What caused the "scattering abroad" of the Christian community?

Was the persecution of the church headed by Saul, a blessing or a curse?

Was this persecution according to God's first best plan?

When God's first, or original, plan is upset by an evil, is there any evidence to show that he uses that very evil to bring about that which he had planned to accomplish another way? (See case of Joseph, also of Jesus.)

Verse 5.—Who was Philip?

Should the church, to-day, utilize laymen more in preaching the gospel?

What did Philip preach at Samaria?

What do you understand by Philip preaching Christ?

Verses 6-7.— How do you account for it, that the people turned to God with such unanimity?

Does the Holy Spirit always accompany the preaching of the gospel?

If Philip's congregation had been made up of 1909 ex-Sunday school scholars, would the result of his preaching have been different?

Verse 8. — What is the proof that Philip's converts were real, and what is the proof of the reality of every conversion?

Is joy a necessary accompaniment of conversion?

Verses 9-11.—What is or what was sorcery?

Is there any evidence to believe that there are, or ever have been, persons with the power claimed by witches, conjurers, fortune tellers and similar fakirs?

Verse 12.—Is it reasonable to believe that all who were baptized were genuine converts?

Verse 13.—What ever change may have come over him after, do you think Simon was really converted at this time?

What were then, and what are now, the conditions for the forgiveness of our sins, or conversion?

Verses 14-17.— At the time of the "scattering abroad" did all the Apostles remain at Jerusalem?

What was the purpose of sending Peter and John to Samaria, seeing they had just had a great revival?

Did Peter and John pray that these young converts might receive the Holy Spirit?

Did all the converts in Apostolic days receive the Holy Spirit after their conversion?

Why was not the Holy Spirit given to the converts at Samaria, when they was a converted?

Is it the duty and privilege of every Christian to be conscious that the Holy Spirit dwells in him, and that he is divinely guided in all things? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club).

Verses 18-24. — Are deceivers and tricksters apt to think that all others are like themselves?

Is it possible to obtain spiritual power with the purpose of making money out of it?

Is it possible that this Simon had been converted, and that his love of fame, and of money, had led him to this evil?

Verse 25.—What is the only hope of getting the world converted?

Lesson for Sunday, March 7th, 1909 — Philip and the Ethiopian. Acts viii: 26-40.

Great pianists and musicians have delighted to praise the New Scale Williams Piano

Yet it is in the Canadian homes that the "New Scale Williams" has won its highest commendations.

"I received the Piano and am delighted with it. I had in my house many years, one of your pianos, and you may safely assume that I would not have continued my patronage unless your instruments were satisfactory."

.THE WHOLE YEAR ROUND.

Women Everywhere Use Pe-ru-na.

Suffered With Stomach.

Mrs. John Underwood, 520 W. Walnut St., Columbus, Ohio, writes:

"Having had catarrh and stomach trouble and having suffered very much, I, after being doctored a long while, as a last resort took Peruna. The result was wonderful. I would highly recommend it as a good remedy. I still use Peruna and would not be without it. I always have it in the house."

Catarrh and Stomach Trouble.

Mrs. T. Frech, R. R. No. 1, Hickory Point, Tenn., writes:

"I am happy to tell you that I am cured of catarrh. I have followed your good and kind advice faithfully. I bless the day when I wrote you of my condition, and I will always praise Peruna. I think it is one of the grandest medicines on earth.

"Having been afflicted with catarrh and stomach trouble for seven years and after having tried four different doctors they only relieved me for a little while, I gave up all hope of being cured. I only weighed 130 pounds, and was so weak I could hardly get around the room.

"I was induced to try Peruna, and to my great surprise I am now entirely well. My weight is now 188 pounds, my health never was better in my life.

"I shall always praise Dr. Hartman and his remedies."

Thousands of families have learned the use of Peruna and its value in the treatment of catarrha ailments.

Tired, Worn-Out Mothers.

Mrs. Lydia H. Josselyn, 501 Westminster St., Providence, R. I., is Treasurer of the Editors League of Rhode Island, chartered in Providence. She writes:

"My experience with Peruna has been most gratifying. Last winter I contracted a severe cold, and for several days I coughed until my voice failed me. When other remedies did me no good, I decided to try Peruna, and within four days the cold was broken up, and the cough abated.

"Within another week an increase in my usual strength and vitality told me that Peruna was doing all that it promised, and more. I also consider it very superior for tired, worn-out mothers, and have advised several to try it, and have seen most gratifying results from its use.

"I give it highest praise."

Bowel Trouble.

Mrs. Maggie Durbin, 1332 North St., Little Rock, Ark., writes:

"I was troubled for five years with a chronic disease. I tried everything I heard of, but nothing did me any good. Some doctors said my trouble was catarrh of the bowels, and some said consumption of the bowels.

"One doctor said he could cure me. I took his medicine two months. But it did me no good.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Peruna and I did so. After I had taken two bottles I found it was helping me, so I continued its use, and it has cured me sound and well.

"I can recommend Peruna to any one, and if any one wants to know what Peruna did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

Peruna is a household remedy of great merit, and is useful in many climatic ailments, such as coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis and catarrhal diseases generally.

Biliousness, Indigestion.

Mrs. Lena R. Moudy, 556 Caywood St., Portland, Oregon, Sec'y Royal Tribe of Joseph, writes:

"For the past six years biliousness and pains in my back and limbs made life miserable to me. My skin was sallow and dry, and indigestion was added to my troubles. I was wakeful at night and would get a weak, faint feeling during the day so that I was not fitted to attend to my regular duties. This caused me serious annoyance and trouble, and I naturally tried many remedies, hoping to get relief.

"Peruna came as a friend in need. It toned up the system, relieved the blood of the poisons and induced a healthy action of the stomach, a fine appetite and restful sleep.

"Within three months I was a changed person, and for nearly a year now I have enjoyed splendid health."

A Grateful Patient.

Mrs. Eliza J. Cazee, R. F. D. 8, Bedford, Ind., writes: "I have been cured by using Peruna and Manalin. I thank you for your advice."

Restorer of Lost Strength.

Miss Bessie Farrell, 1011 Third Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., is President of the Young People's Christian Temperance Association. She writes:

"Peruna is certainly a valuable nerve and blood remedy, calculated to build up the broken-down health of worn-out women. I have found by personal experience that it acts as a wonderful restorer of lost strength, assisting the stomach to assimilate and digest the food, and building up worn-out tissues. In my work I have had occasion to recommend it frequently, especially to sick women.

"I know of nothing which is better to build up the strength of a young mother, in fact all the ailments peculiar to women, so I am pleased to give it my hearty endorsement."

Pe-ru-na a Woman's Friend.

Mrs. Ella Embree, Clark, Mo., writes: "I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I can truthfully say that Peruna is a woman's friend. I have no more terrible pains and am stronger than I have been. Your medicine has worked like a charm."

Severe Headache.

Mrs. Emily Kellogg, 5549 S. Lawrence St., South Tacoma, Wash., member of Ladies of the Maccabees, writes:

"Three months ago I had an attack of biliousness which threatened to undermine my health and strength. Luckily for me, I tried Peruna at the suggestion of my friends before it was too late.

"I found in a few days time that I did not have the usual sick headache, neither did food nauseate me any longer. In two weeks' time Peruna had completely rid my system of the poison and bile, and I was in a much better condition. My skin assumed its normal color, I had a splendid appetite, and I was in every way improved in health. I used Peruna for a month longer, and it wrought a wondrous change in my entire system. I consider it a most wonderful medicine."

Nervous Dyspepsia.

Mrs. J. C. Jamison, 61 Marchant St., Watsonville, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with cramps in the stomach for six years. I tried many kinds of medicine, also was treated by three doctors. They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months. I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine, I got bad again. I took the medicine for two years, then I got sick again and gave up all hopes of getting cured.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Peruna, so I thought I would give it a trial. I procured a bottle at once and commenced taking it. I have taken nineteen bottles and am entirely cured. Have gained in strength and flesh and feel like a different person.

"I believe Peruna is all that is claimed for it."

Catarrh of Head.

Mrs. Joseph Vittur, 5709 Erie St., Austin Sta., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"Your medicine, Peruna, was of great benefit to me. I suffered with catarrh of the nose and head for many years. Three bottles of Peruna cured me, after I had considered it impossible to ever be cured again.

"I now always keep Peruna in the house, and recommend it to every one suffering from catarrh. As soon as one of my children commence to cough I give them Peruna, and their cough is soon gone.

"This medicine is surely a great boon to suffering humanity."

Pe-ru-na the Family Doctor.

Mrs. M. E. Seymour, R. F. D. 2, Bowman, Ga., writes:

"I am ready to speak a few words in favor of Peruna and Manalin. I have tried them for nearly every ill of life for myself and family, and find them to be all the doctor claims them to be. Peruna cured me of internal trouble when my doctor could not.

"My advice to all suffering women is, consult Dr. Hartman. What he has done for me he will do for you."

Headaches, Weakness.

Mlle. Albina Chauvin, No. 50 Rue Agnes, St. Henri, Montreal, Canada, writes that she considers Peruna better than any other remedy, as it cured her when nothing else could. She suffered for years with heart trouble, headaches and weakness. She tried Peruna. One bottle produced a change. She took six bottles and is entirely cured.

PE-RU-NA IS A HOUSEHOLD NECESSITY IN OVER ONE MILLION HOMES.

McGREGOR & REID'S SPLENDID SHOWROOMS

The business of electric supplies and electrical installation naturally forms one of the principal features of industrial life in Peterborough with the mighty forces made available by the Canadian General Electric Company and other large electric companies. McGregor and Reid, 142 George street, have given evidence of being thoroughly practical and progressive electrical engineers and contractors. They have wired and installed many public and private buildings in Peterborough, as well as outside the city in different parts of Ontario. In addition to this work, they also carry a full stock of electrical goods for lighting, power transmission, alarms, and other purposes. Recently they have been compelled by their growing business to seek for more commodious premises, and have secured a lease of the large double store two doors north of their former premises. Here they have secured ample room for the display of their electrical goods as well as workshops for their plumbing and heating work. The ground floor has been remodelled and the departments classified with a view to convenience and order, so that customers will receive prompt attention and every facility for selection.

Showrooms Upstairs.

The second floor is devoted to a display of electrical fixtures, lamps, globes, ceiling and wall novelties, brackets and table lamps. This exhibit has been made quite a feature of their business. Two entire rooms are fitted up, showing many of the varied artistic lighting features of the most up-to-date designs. Some of these consist of fancy candle sticks with crystal decorations, beautiful domes for dining rooms, and halls, with beaded glass, ceiling lights in antique brass, polished brass and gilt, some with art glass and fringe and others with art glass shades and sick shades. The samples of electric lanterns are very unique, these are shown in etched glass and opalescent glass. Many novelties in lamps and shades are also shown, which combine to make this electric display well worth an inspection. The firm do a large wholesale as well as retail business in lamps and shades, and they are the local agent for the Watt lamp, made in Germany, which they are authorized to guarantee.

An ideal bathroom is being fitted up on the first floor, which will represent the acme of perfection. The bath will be of the Alexandrian ware, which alone will cost $250. They are made of heavy porcelain enamel inside and out, instead of being painted and in other respects are claimed to be the most sanitary on the market.

It may also be mentioned that this firm represent Messrs. Reid & Brown, of Toronto, the structural steel contractors and are prepared to estimate on roof trusses, steel beams, builders' iron work, etc.

ACKNOWLEDGES THE DONATIONS

$31.50 Has Been Received in Aid of the Twins.

The fund in aid of the twins whose mother is ill in the hospital, and whose father is out of work, is slowly growing, but is still considerably short of what is considered necessary by the King's Daughters, who are making the temporarily motherless twins the special object of their ministry. The twins, now about two weeks old, are provided with a home and nursing at a cost of $6 a week. The mother, ill in the hospital, will be detained there about six weeks or two months. On her discharge she will have a rather desolate home to go to with a husband out of employment, and even necessaries of life lacking, not to speak of the comforts due a convalescent woman, responsible for the nourishment and care of twin infants.

An error was made in the announcement that sufficient funds had been provided. As will be seen by the total of the subsequent list something is still lacking of the amount required to pay for six or eight weeks' board at $6 per week.

Any offerings to this fund can be left with the Kings' Daughters, Mr. Campbell, treasurer, Children's Aid Society, or at the Examiner or Review offices.

THE ADVANTAGES OF AN EDUCATION

Subject of Address by Mr. J. A. McKone at Knox Church Last Night.

The Boys' Club of Knox church held a literary meeting last evening when an interesting address was delivered by Mr. J A McKone, of the Peterborough Business College on "Education and its Advantages." Mr. McKone, in his remarks urged those attending school to remain there as long as possible. After leaving school, pupils should study in the evening, read magazines and good newspapers.

A vote of thanks was passed to the speaker for his invaluable advice.

During the evening Mr. A C Davenport gave an amorous reading. The next meeting will be in the form of a social evening on Friday, March 5th.

MR. OWEN A. SMILY AT CONSERVATORY MARCH 9

Those who have heard Mr. Owen A. Smily on previous occasions when he has appeared in the city, will be pleased to hear him again in an entirely new programme at the Conservatory Music Hall on Tuesday, March 9th. The entertainment is being given under the auspices of the Girls' Guild of George street church, and the proceeds will be devoted to the charitable work of the Guild. Tickets are now on sale and may be secured from the members of the Guild and at the Review Office.

174 TONS OF BIBLES HAVE BEEN ISSUED

A statement just made in one of the publications of the British and Foreign Bible Society, shows that between April and November, last no fewer than 174 tons of Bibles, printed altogether in as many as 130 different languages, were dispatched abroad from the headquarters. This only represents as a fact a very small part of the total production, the society printing in the lands where the volumes circulate close upon two-thirds of the output.

Tea grown at an elevation of 5000 feet and upwards, where soil and climate combine to give that delightful fragrance and delicious flavour is used in "Salada." Its purity and strength make it much more economical to use than other teas. 103

Thousands Of Men Roaming In The Woods Around Gowganda

Supplies Are Costly—Flour Costs $10 Per Bag and Everything Else is in Proportion.

ILL PREPARED MEN.

Prospectors and others coming down from Gowganda this week declare that the number of men roaming the woods and hills numbers between 7,000 and 8,000 men. Even if only half of this number is actually in Gowganda, it means an enormous amount of supplies needed. Supplies are costly. According to those who are there hay costs $100.00 per ton, oats, 5 cents per pound, beans $7.50 for 5 pounds, flour $10.00 per bag, and everything else in proportion. One man stated that on his way out from Gowganda to Elk City early this week counted 162 teams inbound with from three to four men on each sleigh and many of them more. This goes to show that the rush is as heavy as usual. Prospecting has been rendered more difficult of late by reason of a thin crust being frozen over the top of the loose snow since the mild weather of a few days ago. It is almost impossible to walk over this crust with snowshoes on account of the thinness of the crust and the men must for the most part discard their snowshoes and break the crust with their axes as a crust of this description cuts the trousers very quickly and injures the limbs into soreness.

In spite of repeated warning in these columns and elsewhere prospectors are going in right along ill prepared both from a food and clothing standpoint to withstand the cold and hardships essential to pioneering. Liquor is there in plenty and the danger from this source adds to the other troubles as a man full of liquor is likely to lie down and freeze while in an intoxicated condition. Reports of three deaths from this cause have already been reported. One of these, it appears, was a cook in a camp and landed in Elk City with a roll which evidently got him enough to end his days. According to a statement made by a responsibe party this week his body lies in a scow on the bank of Elk Lake awaiting the arrival of the coroner. Another man believed to be a young Englishman was found dead in the snow apparently from exposure and his body was buried close to Elk Lake, nobody being there to claim the remains. Still another young man was to have shared the same fate but his relatives arrived to take charge of the remains.

The town of Gowganda is evidently destined to be important, a post office is already promised and the Royal Bank is establishing a branch as is also the Canadian Bank of Commerce which is also locating a branch at Elk City, where the Royal established its branch last fall. Stores and lodging houses are going up and according to Grant E. Rice, Editor and Proprietor of the Montreal River Explorer, published at Elk City. Mr. Rice is arranging to start a weekly paper at Gowganda.

Professor Chant of Toronto University Spoke on "The Universe of Stars"—Meeting Held Last Evening.

A SMALL ATTENDANCE

The attendance at Professor Chant's lecture last evening before the Royal Astronomical Society, was disappointingly small, but those who were fortunate enough to be present listened to a most interesting and instructive address on 'The Universe of Stars.' Professor Chant is of the Faculty of Toronto University and has lectured before Peterborough audiences on previous occasions.

The meeting last night was held in the Physics Laboratory of the Collegiate Institute and was the first of a series of seven lectures to be given under the auspices of the Royal Astronomical Society of this city. It was much regretted that the President, Rev. Dr. Marsh was unable to be present, owing to serious illness, through which he has been confined to his room for some weeks.

The chair was taken by Mr. H H Collier. It was unfortunate he said that there were not more present, but this was evidently due to the strong counter attractions. Mr. Collier referred to the series of lectures which the Society had arranged. Some eminent speakers would be here and he hoped that they would receive the hearty support of the citizens in general. The chairman then introduced the speaker of the evening.

The Addresses

Professor Chant said that it gave him a great deal of pleasure to open the Society's series of lectures. He was not discouraged by the smallness of his audience as the number of those interested in astronomy was limited. He thought that astronomers should work in unison with other educational bodies. He congratulated Peterborough on having such a fine building as the Collegiate Institute. He was sorry that Dr. Marsh was unable to be present, but hoped that he would soon be with the Society again. The subject, Professor Chant chose was one, he said, of general interest.

He began by dividing it into three parts. He first spoke of the number of stars in the firmament, secondly the distance of the stars were from the earth and some special features brought out by astronomical research.

Few people were aware, he said, that stars changed their positions and that stars at 8 or at 10 o'clock in the winter were not in the same places as at those hours in the summer. This was due to the revolution of the earth around the sun

Stars Numberless

The common impression was that the stars were numberless. Slides were thrown on a canvas to illustrate the many different groups of stars, the speaker giving their names and describing them. Professor Chant said that it was possible to count the stars that were visible. A Belgian once counted six thousand. Very seldom could one number more than three thousand. But if one photographed the stars he would find that they were practically numberless. Therefore the conclusion that where were myriads of groups of stars was pretty nearly right.

Distances of Stars

Taking up the question of the distances of the stars, the speaker said that when one starts to measure the distance of the sun, he found it a very difficult task. The sun was 92,900,000 miles from the earth. One of the best means to measure distance was by the speed of light. The velocity of light was so great that it could travel from the sun to the earth in eight minutes. Supposing that one with wings was travelling from the sun, the centre of the Solar system, to Neptune, it would only take four hours. Neptune was thirty times as far from the sun as the earth was. Then from the sun to Alpha Centauri, another star, travelling with wings it would take four years to reach the destination. Thus was shown the great distances of the stars. There were, undoubtedly stars so far away that if one was travelling on the fastest train it would take thousands of years to reach them.

Some Special Returns

The impression among a great many people was that stars remained constant. But that was not the case. They varied according to brightness and position. Some stars consisted of two bodies, a dark and a bright one. There were millions of bright bodies in the skies but there were also numberless dark ones, which at times overshadowed those that were bright. Slides were shown of the varied colours of the rainbow and of the sun's spectrum. If one studied what was in the sun it would be found that there was calcium, magnesia and about thirty-five other substances. The presence of these went to show the similarity of the sun to the earth and helped to prove the theory that the sun and earth at one time belonged to the same nebula.

A slide illustrating the spectra in the sun and in a number of stars was thrown on the canvas. Black streaks running through each of them, the speaker remarked, represented the presence of calcium and other substances in these bodies.

The speaker concluded by stating that the more one studied astronomy the more deeply must he be impressed by the great unity of plan in the making of the universe, and he was sure that the astronomical student must surely feel that behind all these wonders there was at work a great creative mind.

Vote of Thanks

A vote of thanks was tendered Professor Chant for his able and instructive address. It was moved by Rev. G W Henderson and seconded by Mr. T A S Hay.

A vote of sympathy and a hope for his speedy recovery was passed to Dr. Marsh. It was moved by Mr. T A S Hay and seconded by Mr. O S Stake.

The meeting then adjourned.

Variation Of Winds, Rain And Warm Weather In March Is Predicted By Irl Hicks

Cold Snaps, Too, to Keep up the Quick Changes—First Month of Spring Gives Promise of Early Flowers and the Song Birds.

WHAT IRL REALLY SAYS

According to the predictions of Irl Hicks our March weather will vary between electric storms and a few cold snaps and warm weather. Variety will be one of the features of the month as will be seen from the following forecast:

A reactionary storm period has its centre on the 3rd, 4th and 5th. This period is at the culmination of the Mercury period, with full moon in apogee following immediately on the 6th. The storm diagram shows, also, that a Mars disturbance enters about this time. A continued spell of unsettled, Mercurial weather will most probably come over from the close of February, but about the 4th to 6th, storm conditions will be quickened and decided areas of rain, sleet and snow will spread progressively from west to east across the country. The opposition of the planet Jupiter with earth and sun, February 28th, is a most important factor in storms and all terrestrial phenomena for at least two weeks before and after that date. Look for high barometer and cold wave close on the heels of storms of this period. Don't be surprised if blizzards sweep the north and west, not far from the 4th, 5th and 6th. The 4th to the 9th also constitutes a decided seismic period, having its centre on the 6th. There will be quickened volcanic activity with seismic shakes in many parts of the earth, at this and a later period in March.

A regular storm period extends from the 8th to the 13th, central on the 10th. This is exactly coincident with the annual crisis of solar magnetic perturbations. Low barometer and electrical storms will begin in western parts by the 9th, and during the 10th to the 13th, storms of marked force will be natural in most parts of the country, moving, of course, in regular order from west to east. The combined periods of earth and Mars bear forcibly on this period, greatly increasing probabilities of West India storms. High barometer and blizzardous gales from the northwest will wind up this period, bringing change to much colder to most parts of the country.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 15th, 16th and 17th. This period leads direct ly into the Venus period, combined with the growing Mars disturbances, and near the centre of earth's equinox. The character of storms and weather at this time is problematical, as the Mars' influence will begin to dominate the elements, and it cannot be positively foreseen which way its influence will turn. In any event, the storm days will show an excess of perturbations—that is, storms of rain, thunder and wind, or of snow and boreal winds, will be of very decided character. We believe that the latter will prevail, and that the Mars influence about this time will set a winter price, which will characterize the weather generally far into April.

A regular storm period is central on the 21st, covering the 19th to the 23rd. This is also at the centre of vernal equinox, and on the 21st the moon is both in perigee and on the celestial equator. A phenomenally low barometer, great humidity and high temperature will be a warning of violent storms, anywhere from Friday the 19th to Tuesday the 23rd, notably on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the 21st, 22nd and 23rd. In all probability will first bring storms of vicious Venus lightning and thunder, high winds and possible tornadoes to the southward, all followed by furious gales from the northwest, with blockading blizzards and drifts of snow. Very low barometer anywhere in the Gulf region must be regarded as an omen of possible West India cyclones. This period, 19th to 23rd, constitutes the most marked seismic period of the month. Watch telegraphic reports on and about the 21st, 22nd and 23rd. If a decided wintry aspect does not attend and follow the storms of this period, the remainder of the Mars period will probably bring weather of warmer type. Whatever is at this time, will foreshadow, in a large degree what may be expected far into April.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 27th, 28th and 29th, with the moon at first quarter and extreme north declination. On account of the prevailing periods of Venus, earth and Mars, there will be constant tendency to storms and unsettled weather all through this part of March. But the barometer will show decided storm conditions about 27th to 29th, and storms of rain, turning to snow in northern parts, will march eastward over the country.

ONCE MORE FROM THE GREAT WEST

Comes Evidence of the Great Work Dodd's Kidney Pills are Doing.

Cyrille Maginel Cured of His Rheumatism and Diabetes by the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy.

Findlay, Man., Feb. 26.—Special—Cyrille Maginel, a well known farmer living near here, furnishes further evidence of the great work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing in the west.

"I suffered from rheumatism and diabetes," Mr. Maginel says in telling the story of his cure. "My sleep was broken and unrefreshing, and I was tired and nervous all the time. I was treated by a doctor but he failed to cure me. Reading that Dodd's Kidney Pills were good for brick sediment in the urine, led me to try them, and after using twelve boxes I am as well as I can possibly be. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made a new man of me and I am thankful."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure-all. They cure sick kidneys and that is all that is claimed for them. But sick kidneys are the root of numerous diseases caused by impure blood. For you can't have pure blood with sick kidneys. It is the work of the kidneys to drain the impurities of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure diabetes because it is a kidney disease; they cure rheumatism because it is caused by sick kidneys failing to strain the uric acid out of the blood.

Evidence Taken In Hearing Of Douro Election Protest Is Restricted To Three Cases

Adjournment Called Until Next Wednesday—Judge Weller Refuses to Hear Particulars of Any Other Charge—"Must Stand or Fall on What Has Been Presented."

"RAILWAY FARE WAS PAID

I am informed and verily believe that between the said 27th of December, 1908, and the said 4th of January, 1909, the said Frank Moher did pay to one Edward Welsh a voter in the Township of Douro, the sum of three dollars, which was made for the purpose of influencing his vote and inducing him to vote for the said Frank Moher at the said election.

I am informed and verily believe that the said Frank Moher through and by his agents, Michael Welsh and Maurice O'Brien, did pay to one William H. White, a voter in the said township, the sum of two dollars for the purpose of inducing the said W. H. White to vote for the said Frank Moher, at the said election.

I am informed and verily believe that the said Frank Moher, by himself or through some other person on his behalf, did pay one Maurice O'Brien, the sum of three dollars for the hire of a conveyance for the taking of certain voters to the polls, held for the said election.

The above are the particular charges set forth by Mr. Dennis Maloney, upon which his protest against the election of Mr. Frank Moher is based. The case was opened on Friday morning before His Honour Judge Weller, but an adjournment was called at one o'clock without any evidence being heard. The hearing was resumed in the afternoon, but no result was reached. Another adjournment was called until Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock, when the judge stated the case would probably be wound up.

The court room was crowded all day by men of Douro and others of the city, all of whom seemed to be interested in the case. The evidence in most of the details did not produce anything sensational. The witnesses were Edward Welsh and his wife Mrs. Ellen Welsh, Wm. H. White, Jr., Edward Fitzgerald, Martin McManus, John Welsh, Maurice O'Brien, Michael Welsh and James Welsh.

Mr. E. A. Peck appeared for Mr. Moher and Mr. R. F. McWilliams for Mr. Maloney.

The First Evidence.

Maurice O'Brien being sworn, stated, I took part in the Douro elections, openly working for Mr. Moher. I canvassed Mr. William White and his son. James Welsh was with me, but Michael Welsh was not. We were not together all the time. We were at their home. I did not make any payment to either of them, nor did I see Mr. Welsh pay them, nor ever him promise to pay them.

Mr. Peck objected to the question whether witness saw any money pass between them. Continuing, witness stated, I only drew two voters that day. I talked to quite a number during the week preceding voting day, just about the elections. Mr. Moher asked me to see Mr. White. I got him from James Welsh, and took him to the polling booth. I understood he was going to vote whichever way his son told him. I did not speak to him on the way to the polls about voting. I didn't know anything about Mr. White's getting $2.00 for his vote. I did not see him getting any money.

James Welsh was called by Mr. McWilliams, but did not answer. His name was down on the list of witnesses but he had not been subpoenaed.

Michael Welsh was sworn and said, I was a supporter of Mr. Moher. I did not talk to either Mr. White or his son. I believe I saw him that day, that was all. To the best of my recollection I did not send anyone to Mr. White. I had no conversation with Maurice O'Brien during the month of December regarding Mr. White's vote.

Wm. H. White, Sr., was called, but did not answer. His son stood up at the back of the room and stated that his father was ill and was confined to his bed. The son was then called.

He was sworn and stated: My father is eighty-seven years of age and was unable to attend. He could not have come here to-day for $100. He was driven to the polls. We are living in the city at Peterborough. He could not be driven here without a doctor's consent. My father drove away from home with Mr. O'Brien. They had a little conversation out side the house. I did not see any money.

Mr. Peck objected to Mr. McWilliam's question as to whether Mr. White, Sr., had told witness about getting any money. Witness replied in the negative. I did not see anything given to my father by Mr. Welsh or Mr. O'Brien, and did not hear any promise made to him.

Mr. McWilliams: This man told Mr. Maloney different from what he now swears."

"This is not to be treated as a fishing expedition," the Judge remarked.

Regarding Mr. White's (Sr.) condition Mr. McWilliams stated that it seemed strange that two months ago the elder Mr. White had been able to cast his vote and was not unable to come out. The son replied that his father was not really sound of mind.

Judge Weller wanted Mr. McWilliams to proceed with evidence in this particular charge, or he would dismiss it.

Mr. McWilliams stated that Mr. Moher should have been present. Mr. Maloney remarked: "I was told he was seen in the city last night."

Mr. Peck stated that he was not in Peterborough and had not returned from Ottawa, where the county council was waiting upon the government.

A Money Transaction.

Edward Welsh stated: Prior to this last election I was known as a supporter of Mr. Maloney.

Mr. Moher knew that. He canvassed me the day after the nominations. My wife and others of the family were in the room when he came. There was a little money passed between us. Mr. Moher asked me if I had been paid as scrutineer at June elections. I told him 'no'. He asked me how much it was. I told him I didn't know. He asked me if I had $2.00. I said yes. He then gave me $5.60 and I gave him the $2.00. He had never promised me money before. He asked me if I would vote for him and I replied that it would be alright.

How did you look on that money? was asked and brought Mr. Peck to his feet with an objection.

One of Mr. Jas. Thompson's supporters hired me as scrutineer. He did not promise me any fixed amount. I had no conversation with Mr. Moher about it."

Mrs. Ellen Welsh stated, "I heard Mr. Moher canvassing my husband. (She was witness. Her statements regarding the money transaction between her husband and Mr. Moher corroborated those made by her husband. Mr. Peck was given the privilege of cross-examining the witness if there was an adjournment and after he had a chance to consult with his client.

Mr. John Welsh, son of Edward Welsh was at home when Mr. Moher arrived. He said Mr. Moher asked my father if he was paid for the work at the municipal elections and my father said no. He said 'Have you a two dollar bill?' Father said yes, and Mr. Moher gave him a five for it.

Returned 50 Cents.

Martin McManus said he lived in the city but had a vote in Douro. "Mr. Moher had no need to canvass me. I told him I would vote for him. I am sure I had no conversation with him about driving out to vote. I went by train to Lakefield paying my own fare. A boy named Hynes drove me to the polling booth. I don't know who owned the rig. Mr. Moher gave me 50 cents to pay my fare and I gave it back to him for fear there would be any trouble. He gave it to me on the Saturday before the election but I gave it back to him afterwards. I did not ever have any conversation about a livery rig. Mr Moher said he would send me a rig to take Mrs. O'Brien out to vote but I learned that she was going with Mr Condon and I told Mr. Moher this fact and that a rig was not needed.

The Judge Objects.

Mr. McWilliams stated that he understood that Mr. McManus had been driven out in a rig and the fact about going by train was a surprise to him. Mr. Peck remarked that the evidence was being secured first when he supposed the charges would be made. Mr. McWilliams then wanted to examine one of the witnesses regarding other charges than the three stated.

"I am entitled to bring up other charges," he said "provided I have given the defendant the names of the witnesses." He was willing to give the particulars of the charge, but the judge stated that he would not hear any evidence except in regard to any of the three mentioned charges.

His Honour asked Mr. McWilliams how he made out that this was a bribe. Mr. Moher did not owe Mr. Welsh the money and Mr. Thompson had not paid him for acting as scrutineer. Mr. McWilliams replied that all accounts in connection with the provincial elections must be presented within two months after election day. After that they are made void and cannot be collected.

Regarding the Fare.

A discussion then followed regarding Mr. McManus' evidence. Mr. McWilliams thought that the receiving of a ticket looked like a corrupt practice. However trains were not mentioned in the code and the judge asked both counsels to consider this matter and lay their authorities before him on Wednesday.

In conclusion His Honour stated that the case must stand or fall on the evidence that had been produced in regard to the three charges already mentioned.

A YOUNG GIRL CARRIED AWAY

Three Ruffians Drove Away With Her in Their Cutter.

St. Thomas, Ont., Feb. 26.—The sixteen-year-old daughter of Norman Sells, of Port Burwell, reports that two men in a cutter seized her, gagged her, placed her under the robes and drove towards the north. She escaped from them at midnight, wandered about nearly demented, and aroused John Kotchabaw, near New England, fourteen miles from her home. He at once notified the girl's father. The ruffians were strangers to the girl, but she believes she could recognize them.

A STRONG POPULAR SCHOOL

"In union there is strength." "In a multitude of counsellors there is much wisdom." These are a few of the many reasons why young people consider it best to attend Canada's Greatest Chain of High Grade, Modern, Actual Business Schools. The Peterborough Business College, whose advertisement appears in this issue, is a worthy link.

'ROUND THE STORES.

Many a man would practise hospitality more than he does, were it not for the dread that the joints, the meat dishes sent to table, would not be perfect in quality. It is nice to hear one's dishes praised, but it is disheartening to have meats or poultry on your table which the guests cannot enjoy. Those who have felt such mortification should give Robert Cox's Meat Market a fair trial. Some of the finest flavoured and most delicious meats and poultry are known to have come from this shop.

Saturday shoppers were attracted by the 5c, 10c and 15c window in Cubitt's bookstore to-day. This distinctive pricing of certain lines of articles makes it decidedly interesting and must serve to increase sales. To be able to stand in front of a store window and see various articles you need clearly ticketed, facilitates buying. Mr. Cubitt's other leader — 10 Picture Post Cards of Peterborough for 5 cents — must have proved a drawing card.

As was expected, the Richard Hall & Sons' big store was busier than usual to-day. Their Cut Sale of Dress Goods, including all the new 1909 importations filled the store full of quick movement. All day it certainly looked like the big store with the little prices. Winter coats were again selling at half price, bedroom rugs were sacrificed, and lots of 50c worsted dress goods, suitable for children's dresses, cut off for 24c a yard.

This is the season when the housekeeper avails herself of foreign fruits, which are now very little higher than our own much prized Canadian apples. Some very fine samples of apricots, prunes and peaches, are offered by E. E. Mason & Co. This same firm have very fine marmalade oranges, clean and free from spots, at 40c a dozen. Slicers are supplied free as well as a good marmalade recipe.

Adams' last Sample Kid Glove Sale brought the women out bright and early this morning. It wasn't so much of a rush as a steady demand all the forenoon. The price named was 48c a pair for Paris Kid Gloves, made by popular makers. Not many were left at noon.

Saturday's prices on smoked meats at Matthews' Three Stores was well received. Nice, small, smoked picnic hams were sold at 10c per lb., smoked shoulders at 10c per lb., and smoked rollbacon at 11 1-2c per pound. These furnish a nice change for the Lenten table — they have the flavour and tastiness.

The McDermid and Jury Drug Store is following up its success with special Saturday leaders, and all day have been selling a 25c hair brush and a 15c tooth brush, both for 20c.

Warne's Drug Store have a "flyer" in a gentleman's shaving outfit for 25c, combining a shaving mug, shaving brush and a bar of Colgate's shaving soap. It is worth while looking up these snaps to-night.

Next month will be the first month of Spring. Cressman's invitation to men to have the first glimpse at the new Spring Coats is early, but quite seasonable. The light Spring Overcoat will be in demand shortly, and those shown are types of the latest Spring designs which well dressed gentlemen would do well to see.

PUSHING THE WORK.

The enthusiasm shown by the ladies last Sunday over the local option fight now under way in Peterborough, as evidenced at the meeting held in the Crystal, is considered to be an encouraging feature of the campaign. The members of the men's committee, who have had charge of the work of securing signatures to the petition to the city council, asking that a vote on local option shall be held next January, are hard at work preparing the lists for presentation to the council. The names on the lists are being carefully scrutinized and typewritten copies are being prepared. The list will be an imposing one when it is presented.

"Indian List."

There are women in Peterborough to-day, who have husbands and sons who are rapidly becoming victims to the drink habit. To these women, who are praying for the carrying of local option next January, the time that must elapse before it will come into effect seems very long. For their information, it might be well to draw attention to the legislation passed recently by the Ontario Legislature concerning what is called the "Indian List." Any husband or wife, mother or father, or child over 21 years of age, or employer can have a husband or wife, or son or daughter, or father or mother, or an employee, who is addicted to the liquor habit, placed on what is called the "Indian List," by consulting the license inspector for the city. In Peterborough, the license inspector is Mr. Joseph Stewart, Bell Telephone No. 670L. The license inspector then notifies every hotel, all shops where liquor is sold and breweries, that liquor must not be sold to the person whose name has been placed on the list.

The person is seen by the license inspector and informed that if found under the influence of liquor, they will be fined or sent to jail and that if they do not give the name of the person who supplied them with the liquor, the fine or term of imprisonment will be increased. Already, there are between forty and fifty people in Peterborough on the "Indian List." It is reported to be working very successfully. Some hotel men have been fined for selling liquor to people on this list, with the result that they are now very careful. This law may help to keep some people in Peterborough safe until local option can be carried.

Owen Sound and Local Option

Before the people of Owen Sound voted last January, in favour of retaining local option, the liquor interests proclaimed loudly, by means of advertisements published in papers all through the province, that local option was proving a failure in Owen Sound. Even since last January, the temperance workers in Peterborough have been told that local option is a failure in Owen Sound. At a meeting held recently in Brantford, where the local option fight is now well under way, Alderman John McQuaker, of Owen Sound, gave some interesting information about the situation in that city. His remarks are reported as follows by the Brantford Expositor:

"He dealt with the letter which appeared in the press last December, declaring that local option was a failure in Owen Sound, and said that the later was not only grossly inaccurate in its fact, but was a back number, having been doing service for the last two years—this in spite of the fact that its mis-statements had been exposed.

However, the letter did good, as it aroused the resentment of decent people in Owen Sound, who resented its representations and reflections on the fair name of the town.

"One of the men who signed the famous round robin had been described by the liquor interests as being a prominent banker, though he was really a shaver of notes. Sometime after Local Option came into force, he told a thresher that Local Option was spoiling the business of the town. In particular his own business had suffered. His sheaf of chattel mortgages had been cut down about one half.

"The statement had been circulated that the farmers were leaving Owen Sound market and going to Midland, Wiarton, Chesley, and elsewhere. This was not the case. The speaker knew the farming community for twenty miles around Owen Sound better than any other man in the place. He could testify that the farmers were as thick as ever on the streets. On the 4th of January last, the men from the country showed very clearly how deeply they resented the statements of the liquor men. Not less than one hundred and fifty of them came in with their rigs to help get out the Local Option vote. Of course, all of them could not be used, but not a few obtained the privilege of carrying at least one voter to the polls. Then they put their rigs in the sheds and stables and waited to join in the cheering. Waited with confidence, too, for the bad temper of the other side showed, for two weeks before election day, that they knew they were already defeated.

Come Off the Fence.

The home and the saloon are out,
There's bound to be a fight;
And some are for the wrong
And some are for the right,
And some are neither wet nor dry
In spite of common sense,
But try to find an easy seat
A sittin' on the fence.

I'd rather be a polywog,
A lizard or a snail,
Than wear a double face and sit
A roostin' on the rail.
I'd rather join the whiskey side
And take the consequence,
Than be a dummy stuffed with straw
A-straddle of the fence.

I'd rather be a jelly fish,
The tide has washed ashore,
Than have to make apologies
When all the war is o'er.
I'd rather take my chances now
Than make a false pretence,
And bye and bye when truth has won
Come sneaking off the fence.

To-morrow's Meeting.

The meeting in the Crystal to-morrow, will be presided over by Ex-Alderman Batten. The main address will be delivered by Sheriff Hall. It is expected that Rev. Dr. Talling, of Toronto, will also speak. Special music will be given. The meeting should prove an unusually interesting one and, as usual, a large attendance is expected. These meetings are helping the local option campaign in Peterborough wonderfully.

TORONTO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

"Announcement: During the three years the Toronto Symphony Orchestra has been in existence, they have come to the front rapidly, and the Orchestra now ranks as the leading orchestral organization in the Dominion of Canada. The Committee of Management feel that in presenting the Orchestra to the citizens of Peterborough, their efforts will be appreciated, and that they may rely upon their patronage and support in making this concert a great success and an encouragement for future appearances in this city."

The above constituted the prelude note to the programme of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, presented last night before an audience, which, in point of numbers, does not speak highly of the musical culture of our city, nor enhance the possibility of attracting to our city similar organizations. If the "wooden" countenances of the hundreds of vacant chairs did not discourage the band of sixty musicians upon the platform it was because they were animated by the spirit of musical art and for the pure love of it played with all the fervour they possessed. The entire programme was a delight, and those who were fortunate and wise enough to be present would hail with pleasure a return of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

The orchestral numbers on the programme were so diverse in style as to provide for every auditor a share of definite pleasure.

The opening overture, "The Merry Wives of Windsor," is a standard work, and at once impressed the audience with the feeling that Mr. Welsman has under him a really excellent band, which is thoroughly attentive to his leading—they play with marked sincerity and artistic expression. In this Overture the strings especially developed a beautiful tone.

Schubert's Symphony No. 8 in B minor designated the "Unfinished Symphony" was accorded a rendition that was inspiring. Mr. Welsman gives the Symphony a broad reading, and especially in the "Andante" movement the orchestra rises to the occasion with a result that will long linger in the minds of those privileged to hear it.

The Vorspiel to the 3rd Act "Kunihild," Grieg's Elegiac Melody and Moszkowski's "Spanish Dance" were played with equal fidelity. The notable feature of all was in the Elegiac melody (for strings) which was a charming number of singular beauty.

The Mendelssohn Overture, "The Hebrides," as the annotated programme states depicts the theme inspired as the principal subject of the overture "the ceaseless song of the Atlantic swell," which seized the composer while visiting the famous Fingal's Cave in Scotland. The "Three Dances from Henry VIII" closed the programme. In each the orchestra played with rare ability. Infectious to a degree they sent the audience away thoroughly satisfied with an orchestral treat seldom offered before to a Peterborough audience. With the orchestra, as assisting artists was Miss Adamson, solo violinist, who played Mendelssohn's "Violin Concerto" with much artistic sympathy and acceptance. Miss Adamson displayed technical ability of a high order and a fine interpretative understanding of her number which was received with abundantly merited applause. The Peterborough conservatory and its patrons are fortunate in having so capable an artist on its teaching faculty.

Miss Crawford, soprano, with a voice of somewhat light timbre, sang a group of songs, and won her way into such favour as to be forced to respond to a recall. Taken altogether the evening was a feast of good things and it is hoped our good friend, Mr. H. C. Cox, who is a good friend financially and otherwise to the orchestra, will prevail upon them to revisit Peterborough.

In an interview the secretary of the orchestra stated that the management very highly appreciated the enthusiastic reception given by those present. That the efforts of Mr. Welsman and his musicians were fully understood and enjoyed was evident from the continuous and spontaneous applause which followed every number on the programme.

PETERBOROUGH COUNTY DEPUTATION DESCEND UPON DOMINION CAPITAL

Seeking Aid for Bridges and Other Improvements--- Cordially Received By Ministers.

ATTENTION PROMISED.

Deputation Introduced by Mr. Stratton and With Ministers and Members Entertained at Dinner.

The deputation of the County Council of Peterborough, the Township of Harvey and the Village of Bobcaygeon, returned on Friday evening from Ottawa, where they waited upon the Government in connection with several matters affecting the county.

On Wednesday morning the Council waited upon the Minister of Railways and Canals, regarding the approach to the Buckhorn bridge at the south end, and the "turn-out" between the new concrete bridge and the canal lock.

Buckhorn Bridge.

Mr. Stratton, who introduced the deputation to the Minister, speaking for the deputation, pointed out that the County Council was not present in any complaining spirit. A splendid structure in the Buckhorn bridge and dam had just been completed, and the county was highly pleased with the way in which the work had been performed. The county had no hesitancy in paying over their apportionment of the cost of the bridge. However, the Council found that they themselves as much as the engineer, had failed to foresee that the approach at the south end, being in the form of a curve, would not permit the view of teams that might be on the bridge coming in an opposite direction and the approach should be widened or provided with a turnout. Besides the filled-in portion beween the swing and the concrete bridge will not allow of two wide vehicles passing with convenience. The county felt that no one was specifically to blame, but the conditions were such that a beautiful and substantial structure should not have its usefulness lessened for the sake of a nominal expenditure. The whole thing could be done within an expenditure of $500. The Minister said the engineers should be instructed to examine and report, and if the report showed that things were as represented he would direct that the work should be done at once.

Lakefield Wharf.

The next thing taken up was the matter of the necessity of lengthening the wharf now under construction at Lakefield. Mr. Stratton pointed out in this connection that an appropriation of $3,500 was being expended upon a concrete wharf at Lakefield. During the season a large number of steamers plying on the lakes make Lakefield a point of arrival and embarkation several times a day. At times—not unfrequent—the wharfage was not sufficient for the traffic. The work now being done was satisfactory as far as it went, but it did not go far enough. If the wharf were extended northward a short distance it would enable steamers to land passengers and freight more conveniently to the railway siding the Grand Trunk would, in that event, extend to this point.

The Minister replied that his Department had been expending an appropriation made by the Public Works Department and the additional expenditure made would come under the Public Works Department.

The deputation felt that the Minister was conversant with the situation, having been over the ground, and they wished to impress upon him the necessity of the work being done. At his suggestion the Minister of Public Works would be seen.

Buckhorn Swing.

The matter of dealing with the swing bridge at Buckhorn was next introduced. The deputation desired that the bridge should be dealt with in a manner similar to the bridge at Young's Point. The highway bridge, formerly passed over the lock, and when the bridge was open to admit of lockages there was a congestion of traffic on both sides and farmers and others were subjected to vexatious delays. The deputation suggested that if the swing at Buckhorn were dealt with in the same manner as had been done at Lakefield, the public convenience would be greatly promoted and a serious cause of complaint removed.

The Minister promised to have investigation made and if the proposed suggested was practicable and not too expensive it would be carried out.

The Township and Village

The Councils of Harvey and Bobcaygeon called attention to a similar condition at the village.

The Minister said that conditions were different at Bobcaygeon, and a new lock and swing were things that had to be considered, but if a small expenditure would meet the emergency temporarily the matter would be attended to.

Chemong Reserve Floating Bridge.

The deputation then waited upon the Department of Indian affairs and met Mr. Frank. Pedley, the Superintendent, in regard to a proposed floating bridge betwen Chemong Reserve and the Ennismore shore. The situation was presented and the Superintendent pointed out that the Government were trustees for the Indians and could only use their funds upon the approval of the several bands interested in this case, Chemong Lake, Hiawatha and Scugog. These had not all agreed to the expenditure involved in the proposal and until their approval was gained he did not see how the Department of Indian Affairs could act. The County Council intimated that they were present without authority but merely to show their sympathy with the proposal. The Government is guardian of the Indians and as such might assume responsibility of providing the convenience desired. It was suggested that the Governments of the Dominion and Province might contribute to works of this kind and the county might, assist to a small extent to show their sympathy with the interests of the Indians.

Another Floating Bridge.

On Thursday morning the deputation waited upon the Minister of Public Works in regard to securing aid for the construction of a floating bridge over an arm of Ball Lake to give South Harvey easier access to North Harvey and both easier communication with Bobcaygeon and vice versa. It was pointed out that Harvey was paying a bonus to the Pontypool and Bobcaygeon railway and from lack of connection represented by a floating bridge, they were debarred from convenient access to this railway otherwise in convenient distance—it was more convenient for the people of Harvey to go all the distance to a railway in Peterborough than a go to Bobcaygeon as conditions were. The bridge would be a great convenience and assistance to the farmers of Harvey to get their produce to the railway at Bobcaygeon.

The Minister's attention was directed to the wharf matter at Lakefield. He pointed out that this was a year of economy and the expenditures was limited to absolute necessities. However, he would be glad to be placed in full possession of the particulars and would lay the matter before his colleagues. If the work was not immediately done it would be dealt with later.

Dinner to Deputation and Others

On Wednesday Mr. Stratton entertained the deputation and others at a dinner in the House of Commons' restaurant. Among those present were the following: Messrs. R. N. Scott, warden and reeves: A. Brault, Norwood; A. J. Kidd, Lakefield; J. Knox, Havelock; W. Cumstock, Asphodel; J. W. Russell, Belmont; W. Tucker, Burleigh; W. Hales, Chandos; C. J. Darling, Dummer; F. Moher, Douro; M. After the dinner, a programme of toasts and brief speeches incident to such occasions was introduced by Mr. Stratton. Mr. Warden Scott, in a happy speech responded to the toast of County Council are bright crisp speeches by all the guests added to the pleasure of a delightful evening.

TO THE POLICY HOLDERS OF THE Canada Life Assurance Company

While the year 1908 has been in some respects an uneventful one in life insurance generally, the Report and Balance Sheet shows that in all that goes to make for stability, strength and permanent progress, the Company has enjoyed a large measure of prosperity.

The three outstanding features of the Report for the year have been a decrease in the rate of expenses, a decrease in the rate of mortality, and an increase in the rate of interest, al combining to bring about a very gratifying gain in surplus.

THE YEAR'S BUSINESS.

The number of applications received during the year was 5,445 for new assurances, amounting to $11,875,383. The policies issued (including revivals) were for $11,226,040.

It is very gratifying that the Canadian new business paid for exceeded that of the previous year. The paid-for new business from Great Britain and Ireland was about the same as the satisfactory amount obtained in 1907. Owing to the disturbed financial conditions prevailing throughout the United States during the Presidential election year, and also to the fact that the Company had less territory under agency contract, the new business from the United States was somewhat less than in the previous year.

The business in force upon the Company's books at the close of the year was $120,629,360.50, upon 56,937 policies. It may be of interest to point out that this amount includes over $3,400,000, which has been added from time to time by the Company to the sums assured of those policyholders who elected to apply their profits to ncrease the face of their policies.

RECEIPTS AND PAYMENTS.

A survey of the income and disbursements shows that the cash received for premiums and annuity considerations was $3,746,541.44, while the income from interests, rents, etc., amounted to the very satisfactory sum of $1,589,501.10, making a total income of $5,336,042.54. This represents an increase of $355,602.63 over the corresponding figures of the previous year. The payments to policyholders and annuitants during the year amounted to $1,979,249.59, including $1,348,361.46 for death claims, $317,153.29 for matured endowments, and $313734.84 for cash profits, surrender values and other benefits.

THE EXPENSES.

A substantial reduction in the amount of expenses of management has again been effected.

THE ASSETS.

During the year the ledger assets increased by $2,410,193.66, exclusive of the appreciation in market values, and the total assets, as shown by the balance sheet, now stand at 36,713,115.24. In view of the large payments made to policyholders, the Directors consider this increase very satisfactory.

THE ACTURIAL VALUATION.

A detailed valuation of the assurance and annuity contracts of the Company has been made as at 31st December, last, the basis of valuation being as follows: For all participating assurances issued after 31st December, 199, the Hm. 3 per cent. basis; for all other assur-ances, Hm. 3½ per cent., and for the annuity contracts the British Government annuity Experience Table, with interest at 3 per cent. and 3½ per cent. After providing for the above liabilities, and for outstanding claims, miscellaneous liabilities and capital stock, the balance sheet shows a surplus over all liabilities of $2,127,639.27, which, of course, includes the unallotted profits on policies that will be distributed to policyholders from time to time.

GROWTH OF THE CANADA LIFE.

The table hereunder shows the steady, solid progress that has been made in building up one of the strongest, soundest and most useful institutions in Canada:

Year.	Income.	Assets.	Business in Force.
1878	$ 698,482	$ 3,348,702	$ 18,603,975
1888	1,691,379	8,954,064	43,975,351
1898	3,005,298	20,038,817	75,234,240
1908	5,336,042	36,713,115	120,629,360

HE WAS NOT THE AUTHOR OF LETTER

Mr. R. J. Todd Refers to the "Anti-Cant" Epistle of Last Week

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir:—In your issue of the 30th inst., there appeared a letter signed "Anti-Cant." I was rather surprised this morning on being informed that I was being credited with being the author of this letter. I shall just ask permission to intrude sufficiently on your valuable space to say that I have had no part in this matter, nor have I anything to do with regard to the controversy over "Salome," and therefore I do not wish to be credited with what does not belong to me.

I might say in conclusion, however, if the motive and desire of the writers has been to reflect the meaning of "Salome," which is, according to Crudden — peaceable, perfect, or that rewards — good may result from the controversy.

With thanks,

Sincerely yours,

R. J. TODD.

LAKEFIELD TEAM WINS THE ROUND DEFEATED THE STRATHS BY 13 TO 6

High Commissioners' Weakened Team Were Outplayed in Lakefield Last Night—Were All at Sea in the First Half.

HALF TIME SCORE WAS 10-2

The Lakefield seven got back at the Strathconas good and plenty last night by defeating the Strathconas' City League team or rather the remnants of that outfit by 13 goals to 6 in a game at Lakefield before a crowded rink. The Straths were were without the services of Long, Dusty, Ray and Weatherstone of the original City League team, but made a better showing than the score would indicate considering the makeshift line up that had to be sent out. They were all at sea in the first half when Lakefield piled up ten goals to the Straths two, but they adjusted themselves to the small ice in the second half and outscored the homesters getting four goals to three. It was an interesting and hard fought battle and considering the fact that the players were necessarily bunched together on the little ice the hockey was of a brilliant nature throughout.

Lakefield piled up an early lead, ramming in seven goals before the Straths found the nets at all. They shot better than the red and white team and, of course, were at home on the rink while the Commissioners with combination out of the question, were not in the running, although they worked hard all the way. A big crowd saw the battle and the noise they made was something that can not be described. For the real simon pure rooters the Lakefield people cannot be overlooked. They yelled until they were red in the face, and they had considerable to get noisy about, too, especially in the first half.

Contrary to expectations the game was clean, only a few penalties being inflicted, and no one was seriously hurt, although Wilson had his head cut with a hard shot from close range. Reg. Murdoff, the old Lakefield cover point, refereed and gave every satisfaction, neither side having any complaint to make of his work in any particular.

The stars for Lakefield were Harry Simpson and Quigley. The former was conspicuous at all times, doing some remarkably effective rushing and stickhandling, while Guigley shot like a fiend from the left wing netting about half Lakefield's goals. The small ice did not seem to suit Quinn any more than it did the Strathconas and he found it hard to get away although he played his usual effective defence game.

Wilson played a fine game in the nets for the Strathconas, pulling off a number of sensational stops. McWilliams was about the most effective of the forward line although McMillan did great work in the second half. Seymour checked hard at cover point and Barber played a good game at point, considering that he had not been on skates for months.

Lakefield started scoring a few minutes after the game was called, Joe Quigley doing the trick on a shot by Simpson. For ten minutes afterwards the play was nip and tuck with neither side having the advantage, until Mick Sabatino lined a long one from centre which sneaked through the Stratheonas' defence for the second counter. The goal seemed to demoralize the High Commissioners and for the next few minutes they were played off their feet, Lakefield counting five times in rapid succession. Then Strathconas came along with two, Hall getting the first and McWilliams the second. Lakefield, however, breezed back with three in a row and at the half were leading by 10 to 2.

In the second half there was a complete reversal of the play. The Straths began to work in a two-man combination that was always dangerous and as a result they out-played and out scored Lakefield in the second period. They scored two right off the reel at the beginning of the second half, but Lakefield evened matters up by getting the next three. Then Straths scored twice more, Seymour and Barber finding the nets on shots from well out the last a few minutes before time was called. The teams lined up as follows:

Lakefield		Strathconas
Crawford
M. Sabatino
Quinn
Simpson
Moran		J. Quigley
	T. Sabatino
	Dobson
McMillan		Hall
	McWilliams
	Seymour
	Barber
	Wilson

The Lakefield team gave the losers a great reception and their visit will long be remembered. The Straths were the guests of the City League champions for 1909, at a dainty supper in the dining room of the Lakefield House after the game, and ample justice was done to the many good things provided. The hospitality of the Lakefield boys was greatly appreciated and it is pleasing to note that there was no hard feeling between the players, the men fraternizing in a pleasing manner.

After the repast Leo Quinn, on behalf of Lakefield, referred to the pleasant games that the two teams had had together during the season, while Manager W. J. Metheral for the Straths, thanked the Lakefield players for the hospitality shown to them.

A handful of rooters went up with the Straths and they pronounced the outing one of the most enjoyable of the season.

ANNUAL CURLING GAME BETWEEN GRITS AND TORIES RESULTED IN A TIE

The annual curling match between the Grits and Tories was played at the rink last night and one of the most interesting struggles in the history of the event ensued. Seven rinks curled on each side and at the end of the fray it was found that each had scored seventy-five points. Some of the games were most interesting and the game was productive of a most enjoyable contest. There were several tie games and great interest centred in the last end of the Brown-Ferguson game in which Mr. Brown, by pretty curling succeeded in scoring two, doing the trick with his last shot and thereby tying the two sides. The game will be played off next week. Following were the scores:

MR. W. A. BAILEY WAS IN GAME

And His Team Won Contest by Eleven Goals to Eight.

In a hockey match at the Driving Park, Park Views won by 11 to 8. The teams were: Jockies: Goal, V. Overend; point, K. Corkery; cover, L. Goschin; centre, L. Rose; right wing, J. Condon; left, L. Picard. Park Views—Goal, G. Martin; point, P. Butler; cover, W. A. Bailey; centre, R. Rose; right wing, R. Carson; left, D. McDonald. The game commenced at 4.30 p.m. on grand ice, before a fair number of spectators. It would be hard to choose the worst players, all, except Bailey, who is new to the game, played fine.

HURTUBISE TO MEET GOTCH

The Toronto Star says:—

That good grappler, Yankee Rogers, stood Champion Frank Gotch off for 15 minutes again last night. Gotch, sore because Rogers collected the coin Tuesday for staying 15 minutes, roughed it with Yankee last night. He kept the referee, G. busy keeping him on the mat, and from slugging his opponent. Rogers fought back in lively style, and while he was nearly always on the defensive, gave the crowd the idea that in a finish match he would keep the champion busy for half an hour at least. Gene Hurtubise tackles Gotch Saturday night.

HOCKEY

St. John's Church all star hockey team challenge the Collegiate Institute septette to a game of hockey to be played as soon as arrangements can be made for the Brock street rink.

Stirling, Feb. 26.—A fast game of hockey was played here last night in the Trent Valley League between Stirling and Marmora, resulting in a victory for the home team by 7 goals to 1. The referee, F. Filion, was strict and impartial.

An exciting game was played on the north end rink on Saturday morning, between the Seven Sluggers and the Alerts. The score was 3—2 at half time, in favour of the —Alerts. Both teams went over to the North End Club House at half time. The game was called again after a fifteen minutes' rest. The Seven Sluggers had the best of the game, although both teams worked hard, but it was a hard fight to make goals on both sides. The teams were as follows:

Alerts	Seven Sluggers
Goal
E. Murty	J. Geary
Point
J. Murphy	A. Nelson
Cover Point
W. Hayes	W. Phelan
Rover
F. Uny	J. Hefferman
Centre
H. Wolfe	W. Nelson
Right Wing
H. Long	V. Meharry
Left Wing
E. Johnston	A. Sullivan

The score was 3—4 in favour of the Seven Sluggers.

The secretary of the Church League has supplied the Examiner with the following official standing of the teams in the senior series:

Club.	Won.	Lost.	To Play.
St. Andrew's	5	1	0
Knox	5	1	0
Park Street	1	4	1
George Street	0	5	1

The above is the correct standing of the senior teams in the League, and the remaining game between George Street and Park Street will have no effect upon it.—J. F. Reed, Secretary.

STOP STARVING YOUR WEAK STOMACH

There Will be no More Stomach Trouble If You Will Do This.

Miserable indeed is the man or woman whose digestive system is unstrung—who goes to the table and can not eat or what little is eaten, seems to fill them and lies like a lump of lead in the stomach, refusing to digest.

If you, dear reader, suffer this way and will put on your wraps now and get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and eat one 22-grain Triangule after your next meal you would appreciate, five minutes later, how long you suffered unnecessarily.

There will be no more indigestion —no misery in the stomach — no sour risings or Belching of Gas, no Heartburn, Flatulency or Eructations of undigested food and acid or feeling of Nausea, Fullness, Headache or other symptoms of a weakened stomach.

Stomach trouble and Indigestion vanish like snow before the blazing sun.

When Diapepsin works your Stomach rests—gets itself in order. Diapepsin purifies and sweetens a sour stomach and freshens the intestines without the use of Laxatives, and what is more, it increases the gastric juices. This is what your stomach is begging for—more and better digestive juices. This is what makes you hungry and want to eat, and you can rest assured what you then eat will be taken care of properly and not left in the stomach to ferment and turn to gas and acid, and poison the breath with nauseous odours.

Get a 50-cent case from your druggist now—you ought to have Diapepsin about the house always. Should one of your family eat something which does not agree with him or her, or for a Sour Stomach or Excessive Gas, one triangule will always give immediate relief.

ADDRESS LAST NIGHT AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

The second lecture of the series to be given at the Normal School was held last evening. The spacious Assembly Hall was well filled with an appreciative audience, who listened with intense interest to a most scholarly address on the "Pre-Raphaelite Painters in England," by Professor J. Holme Cameron, of Toronto University. His remarks were illustrated with a number of beautiful slides.

Professor Cameron referred to the works of such famous painters as Hunt, Jones, Maddox-Brown and others.

The next lecture will be given on Friday evening, March 12th, by Professor Coleman. His subject will be "Mountain Building."

The Plan for "45 Minutes from Broadway" opens at the Box Office Monday at 10 a. m.

SPECIAL MEETINGS IN BETHANY TABERNACLE ARE INTERESTING

Special meetings in Bethany Tabernacle were continued yesterday with increased interest and a larger attendance.

At the afternoon session, the Rev. James Lyall spoke on "God in the Midst of His People," quoting passages in both Old and New Testaments, where the words "in the midst" are used.

Numbers, 14.14—Thou Lord art amongst this people, Thou art seen face to face, Thy cloud standeth over them (overshadowing), and Thou goest before them. The presence of God insures joy, peace and fulness of blessing to those who trust in Him.

Matt., 18.20—Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them. As priest to cleanse for worship, as prophet to teach us, and we ought to give heed to hear, obey and let Him use us. As king to reign in our lives and to lead us in triumph over temptations and difficulties. Hebrews, 2.11-12—In the midst of the church will I sing praises unto Thee. Praising God in songs of his people. Sing and make melody in your heart to the Lord. John, 20.19 — Jesus stood in the midst. In spite of closed doors, or place or circumstances, always, everywhere present. He gave them peace, and showed them his hands and his side as evidence that it was He who had made peace for those who will believe. He gave them also a commission, "As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you." He breathed on them and saith, "Receive ye the Holy Spirit." Great gladness of heart was and will always be the result of such personal knowledge and fellowship with Jesus.

The subject of the evening discourse was the "Will of God," and the blessedness and duty of knowing and entering into it. Many said at the close of the meeting that the hour had passed too quickly.

This evening both the Rev. Mr. Lyall and Rev. Dr. Zimmerman will take part in the meeting, and to-morrow morning, afternoon and evening these gentlemen will continue to give stirring messages to hungry and anxious hearts.

TOO LITTLE BLOOD

Responsible for Nearly all of the Misery Women Endure.

Anaemia is written on the features of ninety women out of a hundred. Unmistakable are the signs of "too little blood." The weaker sex is assailed at all ages by the evils resulting from bloodlessness, from the girl who is weak and languid, with dull eyes, pale lips, littul appetite and palpitating heart, to the woman who feels "never well," with pains in the back and across the shoulders, fainting fits and aching limbs. And later at life's turning point, nervous disorders and heart troubles make great calls on a woman's strength.

At all ages Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially valuable to the female sex, for they alone possess the power of making in abundance the rich, red blood of health. They fill the starved veins with new blood, so that enfeebled bodies are strengthened, weak nerves are fortified, and robust health is restored.

Mrs. E Smith, Windsor, N.S., says: "A few years ago my health began to fail. I suffered greatly from inward troubles, and in about a year's time my whole system was almost a wreck. My blood had turned to water, and my heart had become so badly affected that I could scarcely go about. In fact life had almost become a burden, and there seemed little hope for me. One day a friend asked me if I had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and told me that she had been in almost the same condition I was and that the Pills had restored her to her present splendid health. I took courage from what my friend told me and began to take the Pills. I took them regularly for several months, constantly growing stronger, and the internal troubles from which I had been afflicted were disappearing, and my whole system seemed to have gained new strength. I wanted to make certain that there would be no return of the trouble and I continued to take the pills for a time after I had really fully recovered. Since I have proved for myself what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can do, I have recommended them to a number of suffering people, and those who have given them a fair trial have proved with me that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just what they are recommended to be."

THREE FIREMEN FACE A SERIOUS CHARGE, THAT OF BRUTAL ASSAULT UPON THE ASSISTANT FIRE CHIEF

Bad Feeling Existing at Fire Hall Reached a Climax on Saturday Evening---Men Were Placed Under Arrest.

BAIL WAS REFUSED.

George Grange is Seriously Injured—Still in Semi-Conscious State—Prisoners were Remanded.

Th apparent ill feeling that has existed between Fireman Grange and a number of his fellow employees since the temporary appointment of the fireman to the position of assistant chief, reached a climax on Saturday evening between seven and eight o'clock, when a most outrageous assault was made upon Grange. As a result of the fracas Grange is lying in a semi-conscious condition at his home, 502 George street, and Harry Chapman, Bert Craig, and George Hawes are in custody of the police. They appeared before the Magistrate at the police court this morning, charged with making an assault upon Fireman Grange, beating and illtreating him, causing actual bodily harm. The prisoners did not elect nor plead. They were remanded for eight days without bail.

The Assault.

On Saturday evening, from six to eight o'clock Fireman Grange was acting as watchman. It was his duty to report to Chief Howard if any of the men came late, and the assault was the outcome of recording on the blackboard the hour at which the men were returning to their work.

Hawes was the first of the three prisoners to go into the hall after supper. It was thirty-five minutes past seven. He remarked to Grange that he might mark him five minutes late, as he (Grange) was so fond of reporting. The report was made, and as Hawes passed out into an adjoining room he threw some insulting insinuations to the Assistant Chief. Craig and Chapman, who had evidently been standing outside during Hawes' interview, then entered. They also, it is said, sarcastically remarked "You had better mark us five minutes, too."

As Grange turned to the blackboard to write, it is alleged that Craig took hold of him, with one hand and with the other struck a hard blow on the side of the head, causing him to fall to the floor. He attempted to get up, but was dazed and also weak from a recent illness. He was struck again and fell, striking his head on the table. He finally got out into the apparatus room, but was quickly followed by the three men, who persisted in kicking and striking him.

Chief Arrives.

Practically no assistance was offered Grange. He could not withstand the attacks of three persons. Fireman Hetherington attempted to aid the Assistant Chief, but was knocked aside by Chapman.

Chief Howard was notified and soon arrived at the hall. He at once began an investigation, but all seemed mute as to what had occurred. He had the men lined up, but a number were missing. Finally Craig appeared and confessed that a row had occurred between Grange and him. He also implicated others. In the meantime Grange had been removed to Dr. Greer's surgery and the three firemen were placed under arrest by Police Constables Newhall, Meagher and Meharry.

Grange's Injuries.

When a reporter called at the residence of Mr. Grange this morning, he was met by Mrs. Grange, who informed him that the doctor would not permit of anyone seeing her husband. He was in a semi-conscious condition and had to remain very quiet. "He was badly injured about the head and back," said Mrs. Grange. It is also thought that he is internally injured. Dr. Green is attending the assaulted man, who, it is expected, will recover.

Were Remanded.

At the police court this morning the three prisoners were charged with making an assault, beating and illtreating Assistant Chief Grange, inflicting actual bodily harm. Mr. F. D. Kerr was present in their interests, while Crown Attorney R. E. Wood appeared for the prosecution. Chief Rossel was not ready to proceed and a remand for eight days was granted.

These men have been life-long residents of this city, and two of them are married," said Mr. Kerr, "they can furnish bail."

Mr. Wood did not think it would be wise to grant bail, as Fireman Grange was yet in a very serious condition, his life being in danger.

The Magistrate said that he would not take the responsibility upon himself to grant bail. However, he promised Mr. Kerr that he would consider his application as often as he liked to make it. Probably if the injured man improved satisfactorily bail might be arranged.

BLOOD STAINED SCARF FOUND IN BACKYARD OF THE KINRADE HOME SISTER BREAKS DOWN TO-DAY

Examiner Special.

Hamilton, Ont., March 1.—The latest developments in the Kinraid murder, are the announcement that a lady's scarf blood stained, was picked up in the back yard of the Kinraid home when the police first arrived on the scene, a short distance from the back door. The authorities tried to keep this discovery in the dark but the news leaked out this mornig. Provincial detective Miller saw Miss Flossie this morning, but the girl broke down and was unable to tell her story. The detectives, who were following a man through Brant County returned this morning and stated the man did not answer the description of the murderer.

Farmers Are Hoping That Oil Will Be Struck In Smith

The farmers of Smith are interested in the boring for gas and oil which they understand will be begun in a short time. To an Examiner reporter one of them stated this morning that the farmers considered that there was a strong likelihood of a find being made. The fact that Mr. Dettman is willing to undertake the work of boring at his own expense seems to be significant and would indicate that he had good reasons for going on with the work. The man from Smith said: "I believe there is more in it than we have an idea of. The work will be started near Lily Lake and at nights we have seen men with lanterns down in the hollow. We could not find out what they were doing. Of course their anticipations may not be realized, but everyone is hoping they will."

Will Consider The Design Of The Church They Will Build

The session and managers of Knox church will meet to-morrow night to consider plans for the new church. The special committee have arrived home after a trip to Port Hope, Toronto, and Hamilton, where they visited various churches and have seen many designs which have suggested ideas. Their decision will be presented to the congregation at a meeting to be called in a short time.

REV. MR. KENNER ON THE CONTROVERSY

Replies to Mr. Mason's Communication on the Rev. Jackson Matter.

Mr. Editor:—As Mr. Mason has referred to me in a letter published in your paper on Saturday last, as being one of the ministers who had nothing to say at the George St. Methodist quarterly meeting when he read a statement made by Rev. G. Jackson, of his views on the book of Genesis, as published in the daily papers and protested against such interpretation of Scripture. I beg to say that on the account of my defective hearing I did not know what Mr. Mason was reading nor what he was talking about, for sometime, and then I just caught the word "Jackson." I can assure Mr. Mason, and all others that I have no more sympathy with the Rev. G. Jackson's teaching than he has, and am ready to proclaim as earnestly, but faithfully my opposition to all such teaching, let it come from what quarter it may. And let me say that there are men in Toronto who will look after the interest of the Methodist Church and the doctrine we have been taught to believe, and teach. We have men with equal experience, mental grasp, educational attainments, and dep piety and devotedness to God as the Rev. G. Jackson who will pronounce his teaching to be false and misleading.

I regard such expositions of God's word as good food for sceptics and infidels.

I remember hearing a Methodist minister say in England in one of his sermons when I was but a boy, "that there were mysteries in the world but the infidel had made too much of them," and now I would say there are mysteries in the Bible but some ministers and college professors have made too much of them. What church has not had to deal with such men?

Dr. Carman's reply to Rev. G. Jackson I think should proclaim to the satisfaction of all Methodist people the safety of the Methodist Church and its doctrine.

Let is go forth that the Methodist ministers and its college professors endorse the teaching of the Rev. G. Jackson that the account of Creation, etc., as given in the first chapter of the book of Genesis, is a myth (a fabulous story) and I will venture to predict that the church will be smitten with weakness from which she will not easily recover, but that will not be as long as we have such defenders of our faith as the Rev. Dr. Carman, backed up by thousands of our ministers and tens of thousands of our members. Acording to our view God has put his seal upon this record from Genesis to Revelation. See Rev. 22, 18-19 nothing is to be added to, nothing is to be taken from.

REV. W. KENNER.

WAX BULLETS IN FIGHTING A DUEL

Members of New York Athletic Club Try a Novel Experiment.

Examiner Special.

New York, Feb. 26.—In the presence of a score of members of the New York Athletic Club a duel with pistols took place last night in the gymnasium between one of the members and James Murray, the fencing instructor, who recently brought from Paris a paid of .44-caliber French duelling pistols, and some composition wax bullets and fuse cartridges. Each of the principals donned a black robe and adjusted a wire head mask, fitted with an oblong piece of thick plate glass to protect his eyes, nose and mouth.

All the conditions of a genuine duel were in evidence and the scene was strikingly realistic.

At a signal the two men, back to back, steppel out 10 paces, and then, facing about, took deliberate aim at each other and fired. One bullet struck the left side of the member's headpiece and the other hit Murray over the small ribs on the right side, causing him to flinch ever so little at the moment of the impact.

Several of the members then tried their skill with the pistols, which have a light steel shield, inclosing the hand and the trigger guard, to protect the hand from a shot coming toward the shooter. It is the intention to introduce matches with duelling pistols loaded with these wax bullets, the invention of M. Deviller.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE.

Our evening contemporary, the Review, concludes half a column of confused diatribe against Sir Wilfrid Laurier and things in general with the following:

There has been no failure on the part of the churches to 'teach' religion and "make known" the "glad tidings of great joy," but what do their efforts avail when as the Star says, the laws against combines are not enforced? Think what that means. It means the wholesale persistent robbery of the people, and by whom? BY THOSE WHO FAIL TO ENFORCE THE LAWS. We manage our business badly."

This applies specially to the failure of the Conservative government of the province of which Sir James Whitney is the head. The Confederation Act assigns the duty of administering the law to the provincial government, and it is responsible for any failure in this regard. If the law is not enforced, where is Hon. Mr. Foy Attorney-General? It is his duty to enforce the laws, and he is responsible, if in the matter of law enforcement "we manage our business badly."

MORE IMPORTANT THAN NIAGARA.

Under the above heading the Toronto Star, thus discourses upon the water power available outside the great cataract of Niagara.

Under the provision of the Waterways treaty, Canada is allowed to develop 400,000 horse-power in the form of electrical energy from water taken above the Falls. There is no limit, save that fixed by Nature, to the amount which may be taken from below the Falls. The available supply from the source is more than sufficient to meet all the needs that are likely to arise in Ontario for many years to come.

But, and this is a part which the discussion of the Niagara question is apt to obscure, the Province has unlimited possibilities altogether outside of Niagara. It his been estimated that a million horse-power can be developed along the line of the Ottawa, within fifty miles of the Federal capital. Something approaching this is possible on the St. Lawrence. The Trent Valley is no by means insignificant in this respect. The Sault and Spanish Rivers are great power reservoirs. In the vicinity of Port Arthur are vast masses of tumbling waters waiting to be chained. Almost all over the Province are minor sources of energy similar to the one which is being so well utilized by Orillia.

Even with Niagara wholly eliminated, there would still be enough white coal left to render it possible to make Ontario the greatest manufacturing centre of the continent. To see that these other resources are conserved and controlled is of more importance than would be the acquisition of Niagara for the sole use and benefit of this Province.

BUILDING OUTLOOK OF 1909.

The February issue of "Construction" has the following statistics of building operations for January, 1909, as compared with the corresponding months of 1907, which presented an encouraging outlook, which should give encouragement to other interests likely to share in the reviving condition of general business throughout the country.

If building corporations for the month of January can be taken as an indication of the amount of work which is to be carried on during the present year, Canada is entering upon a period of activity which in the past history of the Dominon will be without a parallel.

The returns for the month from various parts of the country, as submitted to Construction, show gains of such abnormal proportions as to seem almost incredible for any season of the year, much less a month like January, when it is generally expected for everything in the construction line to be practically at a standstill.

Of the fifteen cities reporting, twelve submit comparative figures. Of these nine registered increases ranging all the way from 7 per cent. up to 3,900 per cent., while three, Fort William, Toronto and Halifax are the only places to show a loss.

The greatest decrease is that of Fort William, where the comparative falling off has been 96.93 per cent. This decline, however, comes after a year of consecutive monthly gains, and can be regarded only as a temporary settling down. In view of the vast amount of work in prospect, Fort William will in all probability not only overcome this disparity, but on the year's operations pile up a greater total amount than was tabulated in 1908.

The other two places to record decreases are Halifax and Toronto, both of which failed to equal the amounts of January, 1907, by 20.43 per cent. and 19.90 per cent. respectively. Halifax also experiences this break after successive monthly gains and a year which topped its predecessor by more than 25 per cent., while Toronto's falling off for the month followed the second greatest building year in her history.

The largest increase for the month is that of Three Rivers, which is 3,900 per cent., while the next best showing is made by London with a gain of 1,525 per cent. Both of these places present an exactly reverse condition to that experienced in January, 1908, when the building trade was decidedly dormant.

In the Far West everything is apparently moving along in a most satisfactory manner.

Winnipeg although in the throes of her worst season, shows a phenomenal gain for the month of 203.92 per cent., while Calgary has added to her increase of December by an advance of 61.32 per cent.

Vancouver, Victoria and Edmonton are also ahead on the month, and register increases of 1.53 per cent., 42.46 per cent., and 7 per cent. respectively.

Montreal, in recording a gain of 52.72 per cent., is evidently starting off with a determination to more than offset her loss on the past year, and from the amount of work which is reported to be in prospect, there is every indication that she will succeed.

Two belated yearly reports to hand are those of Sherbrooke and St. Hyacinthe, both of Quebec province. The former shows that building operations to the extent of $300,000 were carried on last year, as against $250,000 in 1907; while the latter registers a total of $176,000 for 1908, as compared with $74,500 the year previous.

Reports as to future prospects in various sections of the country are as follows: St. Hyacinthe, P.Q., "very bright"; Edmonton, "look bright"; Vancouver, "all indications point to a banner year"; Calgary, "most promising"; London, Ont., "excellent"; Winnipeg, "bright"; Berlin, Ont., "good, great many buildings in contemplation"; Brandon, Man., "fairly good."

Berlin—Total cost permits, 1909, $2,000.

Brantford, Ont.—Total cost permits, 1909, $3,715.

Calgary, Alta.—Total cost permits, 1909, $21,650; total cost permits, 1908, $12,800; increase per cent., $61.32.

Vancouver, B. C.—Total cost permits, 1909, $361,130; total cost permits, 1908, $355,685; increase per cent., $1.53.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Having given the world the Dreadnaught type of battleship to think about, British authorities now propose to build a smokeless fighting craft, propelled by internal combustion engines, with a speed well up to thirty knots and a broadside fire equal to a Dreadnaught. The British naval constructor says the Montreal Gazette is not only at the head of the procession, but he has moved the head so far to the front that the procession hardly seems to belong to it.

If the mayor of Kingston is giving encouragement to those who oppose vaccination as a protection against small pox, he is assuming a serious responsibility. It may be true that vaccination introduces a counteracting poison in the blood, as is done in the case of injecting serum to cure diphtheria, which has not, at its worst, the repulsive fatality of smallpox. The complication sometime which, through carelessness or the use of improper vaccine matter, sometime follow vaccination, are but as a drop compared to the flood of death which smallpox represents.

The Government operation of the telephone in Manitoba, is an evidence of the manner in which deceptive efforts may be used to demonstrate the advantages of government ownership. Conservative journals are gloating over the surplus achieved by the Manitoba Government telephone system. This apparent surplus seems to be gained at the expense of the material efficiency of the system. The Bell Telephone Company when it managed the Manitoba system spent $1.14 in maintenance on every dollar it spent on operation. The Manitoba Government spends 42 cents on maintenance to every dollar it spends in operation; this shows that the government is starving the mechanical part of the system to make a temporary showing. And besides the rates as promised by Mr. Roblin have not been cut in two; Government operation of public utilities is only better than private corpartions, when it is better.

The season of Lent, which began on Wednesday, is a season of fasting and special prayer, and is observed in the Roman Catholic and Anglican Churches. It commemorates the forty days' fast of the Saviour in the wilderness, commencing on Ash Wednesday and continues until Easter Sunday. This is the first time in many years that St. John's Church was without services on Ash Wednesday, and this was owing to the parish being without a clergyman, and it is hoped that this will not be for long.

In this solemn season of Lent, greater efforts should be made to do something in the cause of Christ. A season for self denial.

VINOL CURES CHRONIC COUGHS COLDS AND BRONCHITIS

After Other Remedies Fail.

"I have been troubled with a chronic cold and bronchitis for a long time and have tried many remedies without finding relief. Through the kind suggestion of a friend I tried Vinol, and after taking four bottles, am entirely cured." A. H. Wilde, 733-8th Avenue, Minneapolis, Min.

S. McDonald, 147 W. Congress St., St. Paul, Minn., writes. "I contracted a severe cold last winter and thought I would never get rid if it. I tried Vinol as a last resort, and it has completely cured me."

Vinol combines two world-famed tonics, the healing, medicinal properties of cod liver oil and tonic iron, deliciously palatable and agreeable to the weakest stomach. For this reason, Vinol is unexcelled as a strength-builder for old people, delicate children, weak and runldown persons, after sickness and for Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis.

VINOL is sold in Peterborough, by McDermid & Jury, Druggists, Corner George and Charlotte streets, also Payne's Drug Store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

Hear Mr. Lovell's lecture "Life in Kingston Penitentiary," George St Church School Room to-night. 15 cents, or two for 25 cents.

A PETERBORO POEM

Peterborough lies in a valley rare
With hills abounding beautiful and fair
With Otonabee river running through
A city destined by nature to grow.

At Peterborough on the Trent Canal
There stands the lift lock wonderful tall,
Facing the Little Lake and Cemetery,
As well as the River Otonabee.

The lift lock stands east of the Armour hill,
A monument of engineering skill.
About half a mile from this famous lock
Stands the post office and the city block.

And the Little Lake with its crescent shape,
A rare panorama from George street makes,
And would be first rate for a skiff-boat race,
From shore to shore is a view of every place.

And our little creek is awful pretty,
Running across the streets of our city
And would be excellent for main sewer
Keeping our city clean, healthy, and pure.

And Jackson Park at the head of Park street,
Is excellent for a summer retreat,
The little creek pond reflecting the sky
And beautiful sights delighting the eye.

The Oval Park is another resort,
Where many go for their tennis ball sport;
Where the Otonabee river proudly flow
Through the great city of Peterborough.

Let our city council and Mayor Rush,
For railways to the north make a big pusha
Tap the Grand Trunk and Pacific Railway,
Push on the line to the Georgian Bay.

Everything She Ate SEEMED A BURDEN TO CARRY.

HAD STOMACH TROUBLE FOUR YEARS.

When your food has not been properly digested, your body has not received the benefit it should. The exertions of the gastric juice have been confined entirely to removing the unmasticated undigested portions of food which they cannot properly digest as speedily as possible from the body, thereby only giving the blood a small percentage of nourishment with which to feed the tissues. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the bowels, promotes perfect digestion, makes pure blood, tones the stomach, and thus restores perfect health and strength to the debilitated system.

Mrs. D. A. Francisco, Rossland, B.C., writes: "I was suffering from stomach trouble of the worst kind for about four years. Everything I ate seemed a burden to carry. I always arose in the morning with a sickening and feverish taste in my mouth and was also troubled with swellings in my hands and feet, which my physician said was due to the disordered state of my stomach. I tried everything that was purchasable, and also consulted two or three physicians, but could find no relief until one of my neighbors told me of a wonderful cure by Burdock Blood Bitters. I used altogether ten bottles and am now perfectly cured. I wish to recommend B.B.B. to anyone who may be so unfortunate as I was.

SISTER FAINTS AT THE FUNERAL

Sister of Murdered Hamilton Girl Breaks Down.

SUSPECT AT PORT HURON

Man Answering Description Is Found Getting Away on a Freight Train From Hamilton — Sister of Dead Girl Repeats Warning and Then Swoons at Ceremony—Thousands Gather to See Cortege.

Hamilton, March 1.—The funeral of Miss Ethel Kinrade, who was murdered Thursday afternoon, was held from the family residence, 105 Herkimer street, yesterday afternoon, and attracted thousands in addition to the friends of the bereaved family. The streets in the vicinity were jammed by a crowd running up to over 5,000.

Policemen were required to maintain order, and while there was no demonstration of any kind, the officers were not able to handle the crush. The house was besieged, and the front lawn and even the front verandah were crowded with the curious, who tried to peep in the windows when they could not get admittance to the house. The whole of the procession was lined with throngs, and there was the same jam at the cemetery.

The scene when the mother and Miss Florence Kinrade were brought downstairs to the funeral ceremonies was very pathetic. The mother bore up well, but Miss Florence seemed to be in a semi-conscious condition. When she reached the hall at the foot of the stairs she screamed "Ethel," and when she entered the room where the body of her sister lay she called: "Ethel, lock yourself in your room," and swooned. She had to be carried back to her room and given medical attendance.

The officers sent out into the surrounding country by Detective Miller on Saturday have failed to report anything as yet as to having come across any tramp who would fit in with the description Miss Florence Kinrade gave of the assassin.

Yesterday all kinds of rumors were flying around, but they all turned on investigation to be false.

The excitement over the affair appears to be growing. The newspaper and police officers are kept busy answering enquiries as to developments, and in denying the sensational stories that appear to be in everybody's mouth.

While practically the whole of the police force is more or less engaged in hunting for the murderer, Detectives Bleakley and Coulter are devoting their whole time to it, heartily co-operating with their old comrade, the provincial officer.

Suspect Arrested.

Port Huron, Mich., March 1.—In the arrest of Robert Norton, aged 36, supposedly a tramp, who claims a home in London, Ont., the local officers think they may have the man who is being looked for as the slayer of Ethel Kinrade in Hamilton.

The prisoner answers the description — 5 feet 7 inches in height, dark suit and overcoat, slouch hat and drooping brown moustache — to the letter.

Norton was arrested here on Friday afternoon by Special Officer John Carmody. The man had been put off a northbound Pere Marquette train three times at the different stops in the city limits.

Cobalt Lake Mining Co.

Ottawa, March 1.—At the annual meeting on Saturday of the Cobalt Lake Mining Co., the directors were reelected. The salary of D. B. Rochester, managing director, was reduced from $2,000 per annum to a monthly engagement at $200 a month. The engineer's report was hopeful of striking the McKinley-Darragh vein. Assets were valued at $3,929,166, including $1,070,834 stock in the treasury.

Painter Ends His Life.

Walkerville, March 1.—Alexander Stevenson, a painter, aged about 30 years, is dead in Sandwich East Township, from the effect of a dose of paris green taken with suicidal intent.

HEAVY COLDS

During the census year in United States there were nearly seventy-seven thousand deaths due to pneumonia, and although consumption leads this by 62,000, pneumonia is responsible for more deaths than diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox, and cancer combined. The trouble is that people are too careless about colds—let them run on, grow bigger every day—finally old Pneumonia steps in.

The very best thing to keep handy in every household is Nerviline, which you can depend on for curing colds. It affords certain relief and a quick cure. It has more potency, greater penetrating and curative power than any other liniment.

Nerviline Not Only Prevents, It Quickly Cures

When a cold is startling, give the chest and throat a vigorous hand rubbing with Nerviline, gargle the throat with Nerviline, and take a good stiff dose in hot water, you'll be surprised how fast the cold will disappear. Of course the chest should be protected by a Nerviline Porous Plaster, which will absorb all congestion and inflammation. You won't need to fear pneumonia, Grippe, Bronchitis, or cold of any kind if you keep Nerviline handy.

Some of Earth's Failures.

For one wishing to study the ways of the lowest dregs of this earth, I would advise him to give the slums of London a rest, and watch the throngs who besiege the offices of the agents who undertake to supply the cattle-boats with "help" at Montreal. German and Russian Jews, Doukhobors, Italians, negroes; broken-down "sharks" and "confidence men" from the large cities of the United States; one-time moneyed youth from the larger English towns, who in a single month (or less) in New York, Montreal, or Toronto have run through the capital given them to start up in business, and are returning on the off-chance of getting more. All bustling and hustling each other after the same prize—a free passage to London, the home and often the grave, of the desperate.—The Captain.

The Lamp-Post's Treasure.

An ingenious Manchester (Eng.) inventor has patented a lamp-post which, it is suggested, should be placed near every pillar-box in large cities. It is to be fitted with fire alarm, first aid telephone, roll-up ambulance stretcher, street map, and chemical fire-extinguisher, and will, it is said, cost very little more than the present lamp-post.

The prop will not rest. It is easy and springy to the foot. A pleasure to wear. It can be gradually heightened as the condition of the foot improves. The fingers of the Prop can be brought against the side of the arch with the desired pressure. Unlike the ordinary rigid steel insole, it does not occupy the entire inner sole of the shoe, but extends only to the ball of the foot, being held in place by the pressure of the heel.

TRAIN TO HAVE WIRELESS OUTFIT

An Experiment Which Means Much to Railway Traffic—Best Operators Stationed Along the Line—A Boost for a Show.

VIA WIRELESS WILL TRAVEL

Buffalo, Feb. 27.—Leaving Buffalo Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, the first railroad train ever equipped with the wireless ystem of telegraphy will leave Buffalo bound for Chicago. It will be a special train carrying two of Frederic Thompson's companies, "Polly of the Circus" and "Via Wireless" and will consist of 10 cars, making a train of 600 feet long exclusive of the engine and tender. The train will go on practically a mile-a-minute schedule—the same as the 20th Century Limited. Marconi stations have been established at various stations along the route and the most expert operators in the employ of the Marconi company will be stationed at various cities along the route. On the train will be G. Schaefer, of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. of the North German Lloyd Company. At Cleveland there will be A. M. Young, the operator on the White Star steamer Adriatic; at Toledo J. H. Quinn of the Sea Gate, L. I., Marconi station and at Chicago Neil McIntyre, the operator on the Cunard liner Lucania.

Mr. Thompson has put this experiment up to the Marconi people and they have assumed the responsibility for its success or failure. Their chief engineer, Sammis, will be on the train, as will be a number of newspaper men.

The apparatus on the special will be extended about 18 inches above the car roof so that it can pass under bridges.

Mr. Thompson arrived here from New York this morning and with Glenmore Davis, his chief press representative, will personally conduct this new invasion of the air.

While incidentally, this trip is a mighty good advertisement for "Via Wireless," it is a bonafide attempt to make use of the wireless system on trains, and if successful, the far-reaching consequences may be readily seen. The experiment will be closely watched by railroad officials and others who will be the guests of Mr. Thompson. The Buffalo contingent will go as far as Cleveland and will return the same afternoon. The private car of Mabel Tallierfero, who is Mrs. Thompson, will be attached to the train.

DOHERTY IS NOT ELIGIBLE TO PLAY

So Galt Won't Go After the Stanley Cup This Year

Guelph, Feb. 26.—Manager "Buck" Irving of the Galt team, champions of the Ontario Professional Hockey Association, is glad and sad to-day, but his sadness outweighs his gladness, and therefore the genial Norman is gloomy.

He is sad because he cannot go after the Stanley Cup. He is glad because his Galt team trimmed Brantford in Guelph last night. To understand the reason of Irving's joy at last night's victory in Guelph, when the result did not affect the standing, it is necessary to state that Guelph is the Irving domicile, and that before Buck went to Galt to manage a hockey team, many Guelphites openly expressed the opinion that it would be easier for an elephant to pick his teeth with a hairpin than for Irving the youngest to select a winning hockey team. Last night he showed them.

Irving's Galt puck chasers cannot go after the mug unless they drop Dougherty, the Norwood boy, who plays such a sturdy, consistent game at left wing, and Serviss, the lanky Portage la Prairie boy, who has starred in centre ice the last few games for Galt. Irving received a wire to-day objecting to these players on the ground that they had not been with the team the required length of time. As the Galt team's strength lays in its superb team work to go after the cup with the rest of the team, filling in with men who are eligible, would be foolish.

"We will go after that cup early next winter," remarked Irving.

HOW THE END OF LIFE WILL BE FORETOLD

Unknown Planet Will Collide With the Earth, And Then:

(By Associated Press.)

Boston, Feb. 26.—"A collision of an unknown dark planet with the sun will terminate life on the earth," said Prof. Percival Lowell, director of the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., in a lecture before the students of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"The event will be prophesied 14 years before the catastrophe occurs," continued the astronomer, "and chaotic confusion will reign in the world during the days preceding the calamity."

The chance of the catastrophe happening in the near future was declared to be very slight by Prof. Lowell.

CHANGES IN THE SCORING RULES

Some Important Amendments This Year in Connection With Baseball Scoring.

The new baseball playing rules have been told of, but there also are several changes of note in the scoring rules which have not been made public before. In case of an attempted double steal, from second to third and first to second, no steal at all shall be credited in case one of the runners is thrown out. This year the sacrifice fly goes, not only when the ball is caught, but also when, in the judgment of the scorer, the ball could have been caught. A wild pitch or passed ball that allows a batter to get to first is to be charged as a fielding error, not merely a battery error, as heretofore. In the case of a dropped fly on which a base runner is forced to move up, no error shall be charged to the fielder if he recovers and throws the runner out at the next base. Uniformity in scoring is the chief desideratum, and so far as fixing on a common method for scoring plays that hitherto have been scored in different ways is concerned, the changes are for the better.

Fire Chief Says One Runs Risk In Fulfilling His Duties

The three firemen said to have assaulted Assistant Fire Chief Grange, were immediately discharged by Fire Chief Howard. Three new ones have been temporarily appointed, and the prisoners handed over their uniforms this morning.

When asked by an Examiner reporter to-day as to what he thought of the affair, Chief Howard replied, "Well, it is a funny thing if a man, while carrying out his duties has to run the risk of being murdered."

Alderman Buller, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light committee of the City Council, expressed himself in the same way.

ROOM RUGS

Easy To House-clean — Perfectly Sanitary

It is generally acceded that the most sanitary floor covering to-day is the Rug. The harbor for dirt is done away with when the edges are not fastened down close to the wall and when dirt and dust is absent the germ is missing, for dirt breeds germs. What is nicer or more in harmony with good taste than to see beautifully polished borders around the outside of any room and a handsome Rug in the centre? Of course, where the floors are not suitable for self-polishing there are many ways, and inexpensive too, for giving the desired effect. You say, "It costs more to have the room finished in this way." Not so, for wood grained Linoleum is less expensive than carpet to cover the same space. Think of the less labour there is in house-cleaning a room where there is no carpet to stretch and tack down to the floor — simply remove the furniture and roll up the rug.

Let us show you our handsome range of Room Rugs — rugs for every room in the house, from the cheap Union to the most expensive Axminster, including Scotch Ayrian Wool, Tapestry, Jute Brussels, Brussels, Velvet, Wilton, etc.

Best Wool Rugs $10.25

Heavy Ingrain Rugs, 3x4 yds., green, blue and red, in two tones and combinations. Regular $15.00 value, for 10.25

MEETING TO-NIGHT TO DISCUSS FINANCING OF THE NEW ADDITION

In connection with the alterations to the Salvation Army barracks a meeting is being called for to-night when Staff Captain White will meet the soldiers to talk over the matter of financing the work and considering of other details connected with it. The Staff Captain spent the week with the local corps conducting Sundays' services which were attended by large crowds. It is understod that the tenders for the work to the building will be let in a few days. Already a number of donations have been received from friends outside the corps and others will lend their assistance in a material way. A large attendance of members is expected at to-night's meeting.

Newspapers Do Not Always Tell Truth, Says Local Divine

Newspapers are always looking for sensations and do not always hold to the truth. The foregoing remark was made by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt to his congregation at St. Luke's church yesterday morning.

The reverend gentleman took occasion to refer to the recent election of Archdeacon Sweeney, as Archbishop of the diocese of Toronto, in succession to the late Archbishop Sweatman. Dr. Langfeldt said that while the man that was thought most likely to receive the appointment had not, yet he believed that the Synod in their final unanimous choice had been guided by the wonderful power of God. He hoped that his congregation had not judged the work of the Synod by the reports in the newspapers. They were always looking for sensations.

Archdeacon Sweeney, Dr. Langfeldt said, was a fair-minded, reasonable man of great ability. In conclusion he asked for the prayerful co-operation of the people for the new Bishop in the arduous tasks that he had before him.

"MICROBE" REFERS TO THE QUARANTINE

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In the proceedings of the Board of Health last week the Chief of Police made it appear that a family living in the centre of the town were openly defying the law, and had made the statement that there was no law in the land that could compel them to remain in their home. This was only half told truth and you know what this is generally equivalent. What was said was that they did not believe there was any law that could compel people to remain in their homes without some provision being made to procure the necessaries of life, or even the medicine the doctor has prescribed. This was what occurred in this case. The doctor came, prescribed and the card came immediately after, even before medicine had been procured. Whose place is it to see that ways are provided to obtain both medicine and the necessaries of life? If one-half the precautions had been used in the source from which this family believe they contracted the disease as they have used for the prevention of the spread of the same, I do not believe we would ever have it.

In the quarantining of the Iroquois Hotel at Kingston for small pox, I am informed that the authorities not only providedd ways and means, but paid the expenses of the hotel in being quarantined, and is this not as it should be? The private individual contracts the disease from the public and for the benefit of the public he is quarantined, at possibly considerable loss and inconvenience. Who should pay? If the public paid, as I believe is their place to do, possibly they would get after the disease more assiduously and not be so pickayune in providing proper provisions for the stamping out of contagious diseases.

The chief shows great zeal, but I think it would be well for him to inquire into the particulars of a case before putting people to unjust expenses.

Yours truly,
MICROBE.

UNEXPECTED DEATH OF SMITH RESIDENT

Mr. George Scott Passed Away at Nicholls Hospital Saturday—Was Only Ill a Week.

The death occurred rather suddenly at Nicholls' Hospital this morning of Mr. George Scott, an old and much respected resident of Smith. The late Mr. Scott had been in apparently good health until a week ago, when, on driving into the city, he became suddenly ill. He was confined to his room until last evening, when he was brought to the hospital, where he underwent an operation at 10 o'clock. However, owing to his advanced years he was not strong enough to rally from the effects of it and passed away as stated above.

The late George Scott was 87 years of age, and was born near Newcastle in Northumberland county, England, in 1822. He came to Canada in 1831 wih his mother and step-father, the late John Paul. On coming to this country he first resided in Port Hope, afterwards removing to Brockville, where he lived for one year. In 1833 he came to Peterborough, settling on the farm where he was living up to the time of his death. In 1846, the deceased was married to Ann Hanson, who passed away in July, 1906. Mr. and Mrs. Scott, however, lived to celtbrate their diamond wedding.

The deceased was for many years a school trustee of Smith. In religion he was a Baptist.

Eleven children, six sons and five daughters, are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Messrs. George, of Brandon, Man., Joseph and John, of Souris, Man., and Dr. W. D. Scott, of this city, and Messrs. Robert and Alex. Scott of Smith. The daughters are Mrs. Truscott and Mrs. Robert Moffatt, of Elgin, Man., Mrs. Robert Jewton, of Brandon, Man., Mrs. P. Edmunson, of Smith, and Miss Sarah residing on the homestead. He is also survived by two half sisters and one half brother. The half sisters are Mrs. V. Eastwood, of Toronto, and Mrs. D. Eastwood, of Nebraska. The half brother is Mr. Wm. Paul, of Smith.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made awaiting word from relatives in Manitoba.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from his late residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

KING ENDORSES THE SALVATION ARMY

In reply to a letter describing something of the work the Salvation Army is carrying on among the very poor this winter, General Booth has received the following letter:

"Buckingham Palace, Feb. 8, 09.

"Dear Sir,—I have submitted to the King your letter of the 5th inst., and before His Majesty left London this morning I received his command to forward the enclosed cheque for one hundred guineas as a donation from His Majesty towards the great work in which you and your officers are with such success daily engaged in relieving the necessities of the deserving poor, both in the Metropolis and other parts of the kingdom.

"The king desired me to say how very glad he was to hear of the improved state of your health, and, further, to add His Majesty's hope that you may long be spared to carry on the great work to which you have unceasingly and with such success devoted so many years of a long life.—Yours faithfully.

PRESBYTERY TO MEET HERE ON 9TH

Has Been Changed From Port Hope on Account of the Small Pox in That Town.

The meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery which was to have been held in Port Hope on March 9, will take place instead in St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, on account of the smallpox trouble in Port Hope. The Presbytery will meet at 9 a.m., and one of the principal items of business to take up will be the hearing of a call from St. Andrew's church, Campbellford to Rev. G. A. Brown, of Burke's Falls.

STAFF BAND IS COMING HERE

Famous Salvation Army Musicians Will Play in Peterborough.

The Territorial Band of Toronto is expected to visit the city this month at a date which has not yet been decided upon. This is probably the premier band of the Salvation Army in Canada, and on a former visit to Peterborough created a most favourable impression. They will not likely arrive here until the end of the month.

DEBATE ON LOCAL OPTION WAS HELD

One of the features of the meeting of the Boys' Guild of the Charlotte St. Church, on Friday evening, was a debate. The subject taken by the affirmative was, "Resolved that Peterborough should have Local Option." B. Marshall and R. Brown took the affirmative, while N. Lewis and W. Giles handled the negative.

The judges gave their decision in favour of the affirmative.

BIBLE CLASS HELD INTERESTING RALLY

Special Service at St. Luke's Church Yesterday Afternoon.

The service held by Alderman Turner's Bible class of St. Luke's Church yesterday afternoon was most interesting and instructive. Special effort was made to bring together on Sunday afternoon, the adult members of the congregation as well as the young people for the study of the Bible lesson. A large number responded to the invitation of Mr. Turner to come to the service and the attendance was most gratifying and encouraging.

An intelligent exposition of the Bible lesson was given by Mr. Turner, which was followed by a few remarks by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt. Dr Langfeldt urged the members to attend the class regularly. One understood the Scriptures better—he said by attending a Bible class than by merely reading passages over at home.

A vocal solo was given in splendid voice by Miss Grieve, of Napanee, and after which the singing of a hymn and prayers by Mr. Turner brought to a close a most helpful service.

Telegrams wishing the class every success in its work were read from four former members in Winnipeg.

"BENIGHTED" SCOT ON HAND AGAIN

Has Something More to Say of "Satis" and His Remarks

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Permit me once more to intrude on your generosity by asking permission to reply to "Satis." He fails to let me know wherein I am befogged. In fact, he makes things as clear as mud, and states that I should have known that only a Scotsman could have quoted from "The Lady of the Lake." By the way it was "The Lay of the Last Minstrel," therefore I, who can quote from amongst others, "The Deserted Village," must necessarily be an Irishman. Truly this is logic with a vengeance. In the same manner of reasoning a child born in a stable must be a chestnut horse. Shades of Euclid!

He must understand that there are more than Scots who are proud of Scotland and things Scottish. The poem he quotes is world-wide in reputation—like the Scots—ubiquitous.

I don't for a moment imagine that my country is the best in the world, as none of it belongs to me, but I cherish its traditions. Can he tell me what true patriotism is—if it is not love of one's country (to the detriment of all others)—not love of empire as he fondly suggests.

Scotland's motto shall always be, "No one shall hurt me with impunity," without the "United we stand, divided we fall," thrown in. If we are patriotic, we must necessarily be united.

How could my Scotch (?) friend hope to give offence to no one by referring to Scotchmen in such a sneering manner? Had it been sarcasm I might have seen through it.

That he did not succeed in so doing was the outcome of the letter from

A "BENIGHTED" SCOT.

AFTER SUSPECT IN THE WOODS

Strange Man Fires on Detective Near Welland.

MAN HUNT IS ORGANIZED

Provincial Officer Clark of Niagara Falls Is Sent to Look For Man Suspected of Being Kinrade Murderer and Is Twice Fired on From Woods—Attempt Is Made to Surround Man—Gets Away.

Welland, March 1.—The Township of Pelham is deeply excited over the attempt made Saturday afternoon to shoot Provincial Detective Clark of Niagara Falls by a man who is supposed to be the murderer of Ethel Kinrade of Hamilton.

The officer had followed a fugitive into a bush, and, when passing through a gully, two shots whizzed past him from a vantage point on the hillside. The neighborhood was at once alarmed and the woods surrounded, but it was too late. The tracks were followed for a considerable distance, but with falling snow and in the darkness, were lost. He was seen at 9 o'clock three miles farther east, but that is the last trace of him.

County Constable Garner has ordered guards to be placed on all the canal bridges to prevent his escape to the frontier.

News of a strange man skulking in the Fenwick, Pelham Centre and Ridgeville district was brought to Welland by Mail Carrier Rice at noon Saturday.

Officer Clark had been deputed by Chief Mains to scour the county, and he at once took the car for Fonthill. Here he was joined by County Constable Jerome Bearss, and the two drove in the direction of Fenwick. John Terriberry informed the officers that he had seen the man cross the road and enter Ward's bush about an hour previous.

Clark started into the bush, leaving Bearss to hold the horse. He had been gone about twenty minutes when Bearss heard two shots fired, and summoned the workmen from Goodville's sawmill nearby. Clarke came running out and told the circumstances of the shooting. He was going through a gulley when two shots came whizzing past him over the hillside.

The bush was at once surrounded, and Clark and two others went back to the spot. They found the tracks where the man had stood on the hillside and were able to trace them to the clearing and into the fields, where, in the coming darkness and falling snow, they were lost.

Those who saw the man describe him as being of medium height and wearing a heavy black moustache. He had a soft felt hat and black overcoat.

May Sue Toronto.

Ingersoll, March 1.—The civic authorities are discussing the advisability of entering action against the City of Toronto to recover expenses incurred by the town in the case of Jacob Hartley.

When Hartley made application to the mayor and council for assistance, he was ill and penniless. Efforts were made to place Hartley in the Woodstock Hospital, but he was denied admission because of the fact that he was not a resident of the county. The same thing applied to the application to have him placed in the House of Refuge. In view of these circumstances, the question arose To what municipality did Hartley belong? The man himself claimed that he was a resident of Toronto, stating that he had resided there for three years, had voted, and was recognized as a citizen.

The Toronto authorities, however, refused to grant Hartley any assistance on his arrival there, and he was promptly returned to Ingersoll.

FRUIT—THE GREAT PHYSICIAN

Wonderful Medicinal Value of Apples, Oranges, Figs and Prunes.

How many people realize what remarkable curative principles are contained in fruit juices. There are two—the bitter and the sweet. There is about ten times as much of the sweet as of the bitter, though the bitter principle is the one which has the curative effect on disease. Apples, oranges, figs and prunes contain the highest percentage of bitter principle and thus are the most healthful.

It was a theory of a physician in Ottawa, that if the amount of bitter principle in fruit juice could be doubled, the curative property would be increased, not twice but many times.

After many tests, this physician succeeded in forcing into the combined fruit juices an additional atom of bitter principle, and in doing so formed an entirely new compound. To the combined juices were added valuable tonics and antiseptics and the whole made into tablets.

These are "Fruit-a-tives"—the only remedy known to science that is made of fruit. The wonderful cures in cases of Stomach Trouble, Biliousness, Constipation, Rheumatism, Chronic Headaches and Neuralgia, Kidney, Liver and Skin Diseases are due solely to the fact that "Fruit-a-tives" contain the medicinal properties of fruit. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. EXCESSIVE RED TAPE.

Earthquake Fund In Italy Is Being Badly Administered.

New York, March 1.—A cable despatch to The Sun from London says: The writer has refrained as long as possible from calling attention to the utter ineptitude and incompetence of the Italian authorities in administering relief to the earthquake sufferers. The whole world within a few days of the disaster contributed an immense sum for the immediate alleviation of the sufferings of the survivors. The bulk of these subscriptions was sent to a central fund in Rome, where a special commission of prominent men was appointed by the King to undertake the work of administration. It is now two months since the earthquake, and thousands of sufferers are still unfed, unclothed and without shelter. The central commission has expended barely 10 per cent. of the fund at its disposal and this appalling situation is the result.

It should be explained that there is not the slightest suspicion of dishonesty in connection with their work; indeed, it is the absurd, almost incredible, red tape with which they have been striving to make dishonesty impossible that has completely crippled their whole undertaking. They have appeared to regard themselves as possible objects of suspicion and have shown an excess of caution which would be ludicrous if it were not so tragic.

Some of the stories of mismanagement seem to pass belief, yet they are well authenticated. The Times' special correspondent, who arrived at Messina three days after the catastrophe there, and is still on the ground, writes:

"The situation of the villages in the earthquake zone of Sicily is very bad; in the villages of Calabria it is appalling. Even now some places are receiving hardly any assistance and the condition of the inhabitants is terrible.

"Even now, one is continually hearing of places which have been forgotten by the authorities. A village called Sciplio, near Roccalumera, for instance, was neglected until ten days ago, while none of the Italian authorities had been near Cannaria, forty minutes' walk from Messina.

"But if the conditions are bad in Sicily, they are far worse in Calabria, where in many places the people are still naked and starving, where women are sleeping with no covering but coats, and children are dying for want of nourishment. If there is no dishonesty there is, I am afraid, a dreadful amount of mismanagement."

New Northern Railroad.

Toronto, March 1.—Mr. Hearst, M.P.P. of Sault Ste. Marie, will introduce a bill in the Legislature to incorporate a new road for Northern Ontario. "The Blind River Colonization Railway." It is proposed to run north from Blind River to a junction of the National Transcontinental, through what are now wholly crown lands, with undeveloped minerals and timber wealth. It will also open up to the tourist many beautiful lakes and rivers.

The town of Blind River has voted $17,000 as a bonus. At present Blind River is connected only with the Soo branch of the C.P.R.

Falls From Gallery.

Philadelphia, March 1.—Plunging headlong from the gallery of the National Theatre during the performance Saturday night, Charles McDevitt of Ninth and Charlton streets, received injuries that will cause his death. He is in the hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull and internal injuries.

That there was not a serious panic was due to the coolness of Dave Goodwin, playing the hero in "Tony the Boodlebank." He saw McDevitt's body plunging through space and sprang to the centre of the stage and besought the audience to remain in their seats.

There an opportunity will be given for the various interests concerned to present their views on the proposed measure.

MAKE MOCKERY OF KING'S DEATH

Lisbon Carnival Is Marked by Serious Rioting.

ASSASSINATION RE-ENACTED

Persons Dressed to Represent Characters In Murder of Carlos and Crown Prince a Year Ago, Give Representations of Affair In Mockery—Skeletons Are Carried In Coffins—Many Persons Arrested.

Lisbon, March 1 (via the frontier).—The carnival celebrations held in Lisbon last week resulted in serious rioting and a number of encounters with the police, during which numerous people were more or less injured and about 200 arrests were made.

Precautions by the authorities were successful in preventing demonstrations early in the month on the first anniversary of the assassinations of King Carlos and the crown prince, but the population took advantage of the carnival time to indulge in the manifestations they wanted to hold three weeks ago.

The assassination of Feb. 1, 1898, were repeatedly enacted at various points throughout Lisbon by persons made up to represent King Carlos and the crown prince, Queen Amelie, Prince Manuel and the regicides Costa and Buissa as they were dressed on the day of the tragedy.

Other groups carrying coffins containing skeletons to represent King Carlos and the crown prince gave representations of the funeral processions to an accompaniment of blasphemous songs.

The police were taken by surprise, and when they attempted to stop the scandalous proceedings the lower classes sided with the masqueraders and received the police with volleys of stones.

Women aided by throwing missles from windows. The police finally had to make free use of their revolvers and swords. They charged right and left and a panic followed.

The streets finally were cleared by the military.

COLOR LINE DRAWN.

Negro Teacher In Essex Is Too Much For the Whites.

Windsor, March 1.—A miniature race war has broken out between white and negro school supporters of public section No. 9, a short distance from Puce.

The trouble arose over the hiring of a new teacher to take charge of the school at the beginning of the year. As the result of a previous election the school board is composed of Trustees Walls and Hersey, colored, and Chairman Standish, a white man. The board had several applications, but selected a colored girl from Amherstburg.

Then dissatisfaction broke out among the white supporters. Out of 20 white children registered at the beginning of the year only two or three are in attendance now.

If nothing else can be done they say they are prepared to start a private school.

Wireless From Train.

Chicago, Ills., March 1.—Messages were sent Saturday by wireless telegraph between a Lake Shore train moving 60 miles an hour and instruments in other stations. This is the first time that such a feat has ever been accomplished.

Forty miles out of Chicago a truck broke and a special train was called by wireless from Elkhart.

W. J. Daley, general passenger agent of the Lake Shore, said the success of the experiment meant much in eliminating train accidents.

"Our instrument is working in good shape," said Frederic Sammis, Marconi's first assistant, who was on the special train.

C.N.R. Mechanics Meet.

Winnipeg, March 1.—A general meeting of representatives of all mechanical departments of Canadian Northern Railway was held Saturday morning. About 50 men were in attendance, 30 from outside points.

All matters pertaining to agreements between employes and company were up for consideration and conference continue throughout the day. Great secrecy is maintained as to the intention of the unions, but it is not anticipated that trouble is brewing. The present working agreements expire May 1.

Chinese Will Fight.

Vancouver, B.C., March 1.—A year ago the City Council of Vancouver passed a bylaw against Chinese market gardeners and in favor of its own city market. Chinese were by this enactment prohibited from peddling around the city before 10 o'clock in the morning. A test case came up in the Police Court, and a Chinese peddler fined $5. He has appealed to a full court, and the Chinese declare they will carry the appeal to the Privy Council, if necessary, on the ground that this is class legislation.

Immigration Agent Dismissed.

Ottawa, March 1.—Nathan B. Miller, Dominion immigration agent at Napanee, has been dismissed "as a result," says Supt. Scott, "to your action in sending in commission claims 1,930 and 8,312, claiming to have placed certain immigrants as farm laborers with G. Deshane and C. Denison, whereas these parties were respectively foreman for the Grand Trunk Railway and grocerymen."

Great Persian Battle.

Constantinople, March 1.—The Persian central liberal committee here received a telegram Saturday night announcing a great victory of the Tabriz Liberals over the reactionaries.

The latter lost 2,000 killed and wounded and prisoners. The city of Shiraz, it is predicted, will soon be occupied.

The Tabriz Anjouman asks permission of the central committee here to march on Teheran.

Trail of Forgeries.

Welland, March 1.—Emil Bieber, who came to Welland a year ago to follow his trade as a shoemaker, a short time ago discounted a note at a local bank, and it afterwards turned out to be a forgery. He left town hurriedly and went to Niagara Falls, where two day afterwards he presented at the Royal Bank a note endorsed by a well-known builder. It was found to be a forgery also, and he was arrested.

Last Wednesday Magistrate Fraser found him guilty and gave him eight days to leave the country. He returned to Welland Thursday night to wind up his affairs. Friday morning he went to St. Catharines and called at the home of Henry Kottmeyer, a farmer near by. In the afternoon he presented to William Black, in the city, a check for $12, and asked to have it cashed. The mis-spelling of the name aroused Black's suspicions and he declined. Bieber escaped, and it is now learned that he has added another to his list of forgeries. He has not yet been apprehended.

Disappears Like Father.

Port Huron, Mich., March 1.—A startling coincidence and one that may link together two tragedies, with a father and daughter as victims, was brought to light when members of the family of Alfred Osborne, 710 Stanton street, notified the police of the disappearance of Mrs. Mary Osborn, aged 52, wife of Alfred, from her home Thursday evening.

Her disappearance is exactly the same as that of her father, Valentine Harrison, who wandered away from his home in Sarnia four years ago Thursday evening, at the very hour that Mrs. Osborne disappeared. Harrison's body was found the following day lying on the doorstep of a cottage near Lake View Cemetery. Members of Mrs. Osborne's family are fearful that a similar fate has overtaken their mother.

Vernon Booth Indicted.

Chicago, March 1.—W. Vernon Booth, president of A. Booth & Co., the so-called fish trust, which went into the hands of a receiver last September, and F. B. Robbins, former assistant treasurer of the company, were indicted Saturday. They, "with others to the grand jury unknown," are charged with entering into a conspiracy by means of which they secured "wilfully, maliciously, feloniously," &c., the sum of $800,000 from the Continental National Bank of Chicago.

W. Vernon Booth inherited from his father what is said to have been the largest fishing business in the world.

The liabilities are estimated at over $6,000,000; the assets have officially been estimated as low as $3,000,000.

Transcontinental Auto Race.

New York, March 1.—The Automobile Club of America has granted a sanction for the proposed trans-continental automobile race which the management of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition propose to hold some time next summer, between some point on the Atlantic seaboard yet to be determined, and Seattle, Wash.

A handsome trophy has been offered for the race by M. Robert Guggenheim, in addition to which substantial cash prizes will be given to drivers.

Contract With Cataract.

Brantford, March 1.—Announcement is made here that the power committee of the City Council has just about completed an agreement with the Cataract Power Co. for the supply of lighting for a short term to this city.

The price for street lighting is close to $47.50 per arc light per annum, and 7 1-2 cents per kilowatt for commercial and industrial lighting.

HOLLAND HOUSE.

One of England's Picturesque and Historic Mansions.

Few mansions in or near London are more picturesque in their surroundings or more interesting from their associations with the past than Holland House. The domain in which it stands is a perfect rus in urbe—a green oasis in a wilderness of bricks and mortar. When you pass from the noisy traffic of Kensington road and enter the great gates there is a transformation scene. In a few paces London has disappeared, and you find yourself all at once in the heart of the country. You might be in the forest of Arden, a hundred miles from Piccadilly—lawns shaded by noble cedar trees, woodland glades, a green lane with over arching boughs, and farther on terraced walks, the stone balustrades and the formal parterre of the Dutch garden. The house itself has a long, irregular frontage, a fantastic medley of turrets, gables, arcades and oriel windows. The series of sitting rooms on the first floor are warm, comfortable and homelike and filled with a priceless collection of family portraits and heirlooms. No wonder that Charles Fox was devoted to the place where he had passed a careless and happy boyhood and in his last illness drove over from Chiswick to view once more the familiar scenes, which he regarded with a special tenderness and affection. Naturally his memory is cherished here, and he is still to some extent the tutelary genius of the place. There is a statue of him at the end of the avenue in the park; there is a bust of him by Nollekens in the entrance hall; there is a characteristic note in his handwriting on the back of a miniature of Robespierre—un scelerat, un lache, et un fou (a rascal, a coward and a fool—and there is a picture of him by Sir Joshua as a youth with two charming damsels, one of whom made a romantic marriage with an actor, while the other refused the hand of a king and lived to become the mother of the heroic Napiers. Almost every room has its tradition. In fact, wherever you tread "a history is beneath your feet."—Blackwood's.

DUELING IN ITALY.

How the Count of Turin Came to Fight Prince Henry of Orleans.

The greatest duel of modern days in Italy was that between the Count of Turin and Prince Henry of Orleans. It came about in a curious manner. Prince Henry had insulted the Italian army after the battle of Adowa and one day received a telegraphic challenge to a duel signed "Victor Emmanuel." The challenge was accepted, and thus Crispi, who was prime minister, came to know of the crown prince's impulsive action and interfered. "But," said King Humbert, his father, "how can it be stopped? Our honor is now involved." Crispi thought a moment and then exclaimed: "I have it! The Count of Turin is Victor Emmanuel also!" And thus he was the one who fought.

This was followed by one of those genial practical jokes which convulsed Europe. France at that time hated Italy and never lost an opportunity to sneer at her. It must be explained that in Rome there was always at carnival time a characteristic figure of a little old man with an immense sword riding a donkey, who was a caricature of the age of chivalry and was called "General Mannaggia la Rocca."

One day in the French papers appeared an imposing announcement that General Mannaggia la Rocca threw his glove at the feet of the entire French nation and cast their base insinuations in their teeth, inviting any or all to mortal fight. Replies were not long in coming, one of which was from a noted fencer and duellist of his day, M. Tomeguenx, appointing his seconds and announcing their arrival in Rome France was on the quivive, from government personages to the humble bargee, and when the trick played upon them was discovered all Europe shrieked with laughter, and France the loudest of all.—Pall Mall Gazette.

GIFTED LUNATICS.

One Faculty Strongly Developed in Many Insane Persons.

One of the most peculiar features of insanity is that occasionally one faculty, either sight, hearing, smell, taste or touch, is extraordinarily acute. Certain insane persons, insensible to every other impression, have a pronounced taste for music and can repeat with accuracy an air which they may have heard but once. Others have a recollection of form and color and display an aptitude for drawing, while more frequently one may meet with an inmate of an asylum who has a special memory for figures, dates, proper names and words generally.

There is a case on record, for instance, of an imbecile who at twenty-seven had such an extraordinary memory that he could solve the most difficult problems in arithmetic and algebra and repeat word for word long poems after once hearing them. In another case a boy of fourteen, with a defective brain, who had the greatest difficulty in learning to read, could, if allowed two or three minutes to run over a page printed in a foreign language or treating of questions of which he was ignorant, repeat the words from memory as correctly as if the book had been lying before him.

Very curious was the case of another man, a devout churchgoer, who could remember the day when every person had been buried in the parish for thirty-five years and could repeat, with unvarying accuracy, the name and age of the deceased and mourners at the funeral. And yet he was a complete fool, and outside of the line of burials he had not one idea and could not give an intelligent reply to a single question or even be trusted to feed himself.

At Earlswood asylum, England, the have records of imbeciles who could not only repeat accurately a page or more of any book which had been read years before, even though it was a book they did not understand in the least, but also of an insane person who could repeat backward what he had just read.

Another curious case is that of an imbecile who, in the first place, never failed to go to church and who on reaching home could repeat the sermon word by word, saying, "Here the minister coughed; here he stopped to blow his nose," and so on.

In another case an imbecile knew the Bible so perfectly that if you asked him where such and such a verse was to be found he could tell without hesitation and repeat the chapter.

All these instances are well authenticated, and others equally amazing and true could be added. And just as there is one sense which is sometimes wonderfully acute in persons of weak intellect, so in the case of blind people the sense of smell or hearing is often very keen.

One of the most remarkable cases on record was that of Julia Brace, a female deaf and blind mute who could distinguish brothers and sisters by smell and who recognized anybody she had met before by the same means.

MOVING BIG TREES.

An Expensive Undertaking, Sometimes Requiring a Year.

Trees of a very great size can be moved successfully if time and money are of no account, but it is an expensive process and should be attempted only where immediate effect is wanted or in the case of a rare variety that requires to be removed and cannot be replaced.

To prepare a large tree for removal, says Horticulture, a deep trench should be dug around the tree from five to seven feet from the base of the tree and working under so as to cut off all the roots possible without disturbing the hole.

The ends of the roots should all be cut smooth and the trench filled up with a good compost of peat, rotten sods and manure and left for a year, when a second trench can be opened at the outside of the first and the tree carefully undermined with a pick, so as to remove the soil with as little injury to the young fibers as possible, and the tree carefully drawn over so as to cut whatever taproot may have been left.

If a supply of bass mats is at hand they can be carefully bound around the ball of earth, and if it is not too large it can be loaded on a drag and drawn to the place of planting, where the hole has been prepared beforehand.

If too large for a drag the ball of earth may be surrounded by boards or layers of hay and straw firmly bound with cords, a few boards passing underneath and the whole fastened to the stem, which should be well wrapped with hay or woollen material before any force for lifting is applied. It can then be raised with the use of a derrick on to a truck and taken to the desired place, lowered in the hole, the binding taken off, the roots carefully spread and the soil well worked in among them and well firmed.

Large trees can also be transplanted by digging around them in winter and allowing the earth around them to be frozen solid, having the ground prepared previously and covered with coarse material to keep out the frost, and removing them on a sled to their destination.

Hospitality Awaits Estate Claimants.

At Gopsall, Leicestershire, England, where Earl Howe has entertained the Grand Duke Michael and the Countess Torby, there is a plantation of thirteen fine Wellingtonias planted by the first Earl Howe to commemorate the birthday of his thirteen children. In the drawing-room of the hall hang superb paintings by Murillo, Rembrant, Teniers, and Van Dyck. Other treasures are original manuscripts of Handel, who was often a guest at the house, and a dinner service for sixteen people in solid gold, the gift of Queen Adelaide to the present peer's grandfather, who acted as her Lord Chamberlain. The hall, which was built in the reign of George III., cost $500,000. In the gardens is a memorial erected by Pope to his mother, which bears the inscription, "Best of mothers, most loving of women, Farewell." Lord Howe, who descends from "Black Dick," the famous admiral, and was born on April 28, 1861, is patron of no less than eleven livings, and owns about 28,000 acres. He is one of the most envied of men judging by the number of claimants to his title and estates. Some time ago he facetiously declared that he kept a dining table at Gopsall Hall ready at all hours for the visit of anyone who thinks he has a claim.

Gave Him a Brilliant Idea.

On a journey from Vienna to St. Petersburg Mr. Stuart Cumberland, the English thought-reader, entertained his fellow-passengers by guessing their thoughts. One of the travelers, a Polish Jew, who took the whole thing for a hoax, offered to pay Cumberland the sum of fifty roubles if he could divine his thoughts. Cumberland acceded to the request, and, seeing the chance of a joke, said: "You are going to the fair at Nishni-Novgorod, where you intend to purchase goods to the extent of twenty thousand roubles, after which you will declare yourself bankrupt and compound with your creditors for 3 per cent." On hearing these words the Jew gazed at the speaker with reverential awe, and without uttering a word he drew out of the leg of his ington boot a shabby purse, and handed over the fifty roubles to Cumberland. Thereupon the thought-reader triumphantly exclaimed, "Then I guessed your thoughts, eh?" "No, you didn't," replied the Jew, "but you have given me a brilliant idea!"

The Real Reason.

"Huh! Dar ain't no sich-uh thing as too much watahmillion."

"Well, den, dar wasn't enough boy."

VICAR AS AUTHOR.

English Churchman Confesses to Writing Under Nom de Plume.

Rev. J. Jessop Teague, vicar of St. Luke's, Woodside, a suburb of South Norwood, England, has admitted that he is the author of the many novels which have been published under the pseudonym of "Morice Gerard."

One of his stories, entitled "The Unspoken Word," is now appearing in an English paper, and Mr. Teague, while admitting the authorship, declared that he had nothing to do with the local publication of the story. That had been arranged by an agency which had purchased the story.

"Writing has been my hobby since I was a boy," he said, "and in my opinion there is nothing incongruous in a preacher following a literary calling. Not only that, but my work as a novelist has undoubtedly improved the literary quality of my extempore preaching, and may form a valuable adjunct to my sermons.

"Throughout my writings I have endeavored to suggest the highest ideals and to give a good moral tone to my work. The historical romances, I hope, have not been without their value from an educational point of view."

One of Mr. Teague's early successes was the winning of a $500 prize offered by The Newcastle Weekly Chronicle for the best serial story with "The Crowning of Esther." He has also written "The Rose of Blenheim," "The Red Seal" and "A Gentleman of London." He is bringing out two new books. One is finished, but the title is not yet selected.

OLD OYSTER BED.

Irish Supply Is Shipped to London For First Time.

Oysters from a wild part of the west coast of Ireland, which, in view of their origin, may be described as a "novelty 800 years old," were eaten for the first time in London a few days ago.

The oysters of the Red Bank Galways, were cultivated by the monks of the historic Corcomroe Abbey at least as early as the twelfth century. In 1861 Thomas Dinley, who had traveled all over Ireland, wrote of these oysters in Galway Bay—"oysters of middle size, far excelling our Colchesters, as owned by several judges of both."

Napoleon III., when establishing the oyster industry which has now become so important in France, sent agents who practically denuded the Red Bank to obtain the parent stock for what have become the famous French beds of Auray and Arcachon to-day.

The entire output of the Red Bank oysters, which, after drastic tests, are passed for consumption, will henceforth be reserved exclusively for the Carlton and Ritz Hotels, and a number of invited guests who recently tasted the oysters found them not only "fat," but of delicious flavor.

A Mighty Nimrod.

A remarkable career has been that of Mr. F. C. Selous, the famous hunter and explorer, who will accompany President Roosevelt on his African big game expedition in the spring. He was only twenty years of age when he went to Matabeleland, in days when railways were unknown there and when the interior of the country was a sealed book to the European. For years he was in unknown countries hunting elephants, lions, and other animals, and at one period he was nearly three years without seeing a newspaper, a telegram, or any kind of money, and he was perfectly happy. He spent nearly a quarter of a century of his life penetrating the interior of South Africa. Then he went to Alaska on a fifteen-thousand-mile tour in search of moose and caribou. It was while on this tour that, in the wildest part of the Yukon, Mr. Selous came across a trapper's hut occupied by two Englishmen. One had just got his discharge from the Northwest Mounted Police, and the other, who had earned the nickname of "Never-wash," was the son of a peer.

Errand Boy to Scientist.

Dr. George Gore, who has just died in Birmingham at the age of 82, was an entirely self-educated man. For four years he worked as an errand boy and for four years as a cooper. Working from six in the morning till eight at night, he had little leisure for study, but in the hours stolen from sleep he pondered deeply over scientific subjects, and laid the foundation of his future successful career. From Bristol he went to Birmingham when 25 years of age, obtaining a situation as time-keeper in the Soho works. Before long the originality of his researches began to be noised abroad, and he set up as a teacher on his own account. Before he was thirty he had discovered the substance known as "explosive antimony," and about the same time also discovered a liquid by means of which white nickel could be deposited as a bright white metal. This liquid, known as "Gore's Solution," was afterwards extensively used.

The Farthing Man.

So Tunbridge Wells, England, has termed Mr. R. Arnold, who eleven years ago first started his "farthing campaign" for London slum children's breakfasts. That year he collected 600 farthings. The following year he more than doubled that amount, and every succeeding year has seen an advance on its predecessor. During 1908 no fewer than 23,000 farthings were collected, making a total in eleven years of 70,000. A big effort is to be made in 1909 to get 30,000, so that the 100,000 mark may be reached in the twelve years.

A Rhymed Task Master.

In the studio of an artist on Madison avenue there is a sign that would seem suited for almost any place where there is work to do. Of course it is exceptionally well adapted to the needs of dreaming artists. It reads:

Whene'er a task is put to you
Don't idly sit and view it
Nor be content and wish it done—
Begin at once and do it.

In this studio it was of course artistically printed and framed. Within view of the motto every one was hard at work, and the man who sat nearest said it never gave him a moment's rest. He could not look at an unfinished job without seeing or hearing the jingle of the rhyme.

PHOTOGRAPHING A SPOOK.

W. T. Stead Tells of His Ghastly Experiments With Camera.

In the January issue of "The Fortnightly Review" Mr. T. W. Stead writes an article under the title "Do the Dead Return?" "I have the gift of automatic handwriting," he declares, and he justifies this assertion by relating the following anecdote: "A lady friend of mine, who can write with my hand at any distance with even more freedom than she can write with her own, had been spending the week-end at Haslemere. Late on Monday afternoon I wished to know if she had left the country, and, placing my pen on the paper, I mentally asked if she had returned to London. My hand wrote as follows: 'I am sorry to tell you I have had a very painful experience, of which I am almost ashamed to speak. I left Haslemere at 2.27 p.m. in a second-class carriage, in which there were two ladies and one gentleman. When the train stopped at Godalming the ladies got out, and I was left alone with the man. After the train started he left his seat and came close to me. I was alarmed, and repelled him. He tried to kiss me. I seized his umbrella and struck him, but it broke, and I was beginning to fear that he would master me, when the train began to slow up before arriving at Guildford station. He got frightened, let go of me, and before the train reached the platform he had jumped out and ran away. I have the umbrella.' I sent my secretary up with a note, saying merely I was very sorry to hear what had happened, and added, 'Be sure and bring the man's umbrella on Wednesday.' She wrote in reply: 'I am very sorry you know anything about it. I had made up my mind to tell nobody. I will bring the broken umbrella, but it was my umbrella, not his.'"

The following story furnishes seasonable reading. Referring to the authenticity of spirit photographs, Mr. Stead states that he once paid a visit to a photographer whose mediumship enables him to photograph the Invisibles: "I had hardly taken my seat before the old man said, 'I had a great fright the other day. An old Boer came into the studio carrying a gun. He fairly frightened me, so I said to him, "Go away; I don't like guns." And he went away. Now he's back again. He came in with you. He has not got his gun now, and he does not look so fierce. Shall we let him stay?' 'By all means,' I replied. 'Do you think you could get his photograph?' 'I don't know,' said the old man; 'I can try.' So I sat down in front of the camera, and an exposure was duly made. Before the plate was removed I asked the photographer: 'You spoke to the old Boer the other day. Could you speak to him again?' 'Yes,' he said; 'he's still there behind you.' 'Ask him what his name is!' The photographer appeared to put a mental question and to listen for a reply. Then he said: 'He says his name is Piet Botha.'

"When he developed the plate there was seen standing behind me a hirsute, tall, stalwart man, who might have been a Boer or a Moujik. When Gen. Botha came to London I sent the photograph to him by Mr. Fischer, who was Prime Minister of the old Orange Free State. Next day Mr. Wessels, another Free State delegate, came to see me. 'Where did you get that photograph?' he asked, 'the photograph you gave to Mr. Fischer?' I told him exactly how it had come. 'Why,' said he, 'that man was a near relative of mine. I have got his portrait hanging up in my house at home.' 'Really,' I said. 'Is he dead?' 'He was the first Boer commandant killed in the siege of Kimberley.' 'And what was his name?' 'Pietrus Johannes Botha,' he replied, 'but we always called him Piet Botha for short. I still have the portrait in my possession.'" Mr. Stead adds that no one in England, so far as he was able to ascertain, knew of the existence of Piet Botha.

Cupid on a Railway Platform.

There is a charming story told concerning the manner in which the Duke of Portland, who recently celebrated his 51st birthday, first met his wife. It is to the effect that the duchess—who before her marriage was Miss Dallas Yorke—was on a railway station platform, and the duke (who was waiting for the same train) was so struck with her beauty that he fell in love with her at first sight, and promptly secured an introduction. Whatever truth there may be in the story, it is a well-known fact that the duke preferred to marry for love. Amongst the many splendid jewels possessed by the duchess is a set of diamond horses, which have been given to her from time to time by the duke on the occasions of his successes on the turf. The duke has very strong opinions, which he expresses most frankly, on the absolute folly of betting. All the money his grace makes in racing is devoted to building almshouses and schools, and Welbeck Abbey is a model estate, in so far as it is entirely self-contained and self-providing. It contains workshops of every description, from a model dairy to a fire brigade.

At His Own Risk.

Caller (on crutches and with a bandage over one eye)—I have come, sir, to make application for the amount due on my accident insurance policy. I fell down a long flight of stairs the other evening and sustained damages that will disable me for a month to come.

The Alert Japanese.

Another little illustration of the mental alertness of the Japanese Every one of the American flags which they displayed in welcoming the United States fleet was provided with the full number of forty-six stars. Every one had been made to order for the occasion. No wonder the Japs use the rising sun as their emblem. They get up early in the morning.—Youth's Companion.

ANNIVERSARY OF CORUNNA.

Centenary of Sir John Moore's Death Is Observed.

La Corunna, where Sir John Moore fell in the hour of victory, just a century ago, celebrated, on Jan. 16, the centenary of the hero's death.

The general's tomb stands in the Alameda or public gardens, on a height which overlooks the bay. Palms and flowering shrubs wave green branches round the monument, built in the more forbidding style of the early twenties. Dark-eyed children run races along the sanded paths, and tie their toy horses to the formidable railings.

The spot, with its glorious view across the harbor, is a favorite resort of mantilla-draped ladies and picturesque peasant nursemaids.

There was the gleam of official gold lace, and the grandiloquent flow of Spanish eulogies, and music suitably solemn, around the tomb at the celebration, but every English participant in the fiesta thought of Charles Wolfe's well-known lines—

"We buried him darkly at dead of night,
The sods with our bayonets turning,
By the struggling moonlight's misty light
And the lantern dimly burning."

Just a few devoted friends stealthily came to the ramparts to scoop a shallow grave for the mighty dead. "I hope my country will do me justice" were his last words. His country will certainly appreciate the honor paid by the Spaniards to the British warrior.

La Corunna to-day is a prosperous town with wide, well-paved streets, in the upper quarter, a mule tramway service and modern ideas on the subject of town-planning and electric lightning. But the lower quarter is full of narrow, winding alleys and curious old squares, which have changed very little since the exciting month of May when the invincible Armada was fitted out at La Corunna for the disastrous expedition of 1588. The women still fill their heavy water-pots at the fountain of St. Andrew; the brass basins dangle outside the barbers' shops, reminding one of Don Quixote, the lean knight of La Mancha; the heavy ox-carts creak over the cobble stones. The corner round the old church of Santiago is redolent of the Middle Ages.

Older still is the famous lighthouse of La Corunna, built over Phoenician foundations, a landmark known to sailors the whole world over.

Round the harbor runs a road, bordered with palms and aloes, which grow with southern luxuriance in the warm Spanish winter.

"KILLED" BY PRAYER.

English Vivisectionists Receive a Threatening Circular.

Leading surgeons and physiologists in every part of England have received remarkable circulars, signed "M.C.," containing one of the most extraordinary threats ever leveled against vivisectionists. The circular is printed, but, contrary to a well-known act of Parliament, does not contain the name and address of the printer. Accompanying the circular is a facsimile typewritten letter, also without address, signed "M. Cowan."

It is understood that the authoress of the circular and letter is Mrs. M. Cowan, an Irish lady who frequently visits London, staying at a well-known hotel. The circular begins:

"Some little time ago, in the coffee-room of a London hotel, I chanced to hear one of the party at a table close by narrate how he knew a person who was in the habit of praying from time to time for the death of one of our leading vivisectors; he said that always the man indicated died.

"I tried to trace the speaker, but, as time had elapsed, did not succeed in doing so. I then thought, as I myself know of the efficiency of prayer, it would be well to try if this were actually so. I thought first of trying on Dr. Starling, but it seemed to me unfair to give such a stab in the dark without first letting it be known what was intended.

"It was, therefore, finally decided to make earnest prayer, giving much thought to the subject, that the Almighty, if the prayer were in accord with His will, would promptly remove the man most likely to cause future suffering to innocent sub, cts by his experiments. About a fortnight later one of our most distinguished medical scientists dropped, and the newspapers were lamenting the loss to science of this vivisector and the discoveries he was just about to make."

The circular concludes by adjuring the "scientists" to take "thought and be warned." "Their fate," says the writer, "is in their hands."

"The letter," said a well-known physiologist recently, "is an attempt at intimidation. The writer forgets that the circulation of the letter may incite some weak-minded fanatic to murder, for some have less faith in prayer than in physical means."

Anti-vivisection societies were unanimous in condemning the circular.

Playwright at Ninety.

As a rule, men who reach ninety years of age have finished with work, and are content to sit in quiet retirement. Mr. James Scott, of Chelmsford, England, is an exception to this rule, for although he has attained the age of ninety he is still at work on a play which he hopes to produce soon. Born in Sheffield, Mr. Scott has been by turns a saw-maker, a commercial traveler, a public-house proprietor, an actor, an actor-manager, and, later in life, the lessee of one or two provincial theatres. In this last capacity Mr. Scott engaged Chas. Kean for one of his houses, and his touring companies included such names as J. L. Toole, Charles Rice, Charles Dillon, Barry Sullivan, and Paul Bedford. Although Mr. Scott has not produced any plays for some years now, he still devotes two hours a day to writing, and he has now completed a four-act play dealing with the life of Dougal, the Most Farm Saunderes.

HOLLAND HOUSE.

One of England's Picturesque and Historic Mansions.

Few mansions in or near London are more picturesque in their surroundings or more interesting from their associations with the past than Holland House. The domain in which it stands is a perfect rus in urbe—a green oasis in a wilderness of bricks and mortar. When you pass from the noisy traffic of Kensington road and enter the great gates there is a transformation scene. In a few paces London has disappeared, and you find yourself all at once in the heart of the country. You might be in the forest of Arden, a hundred miles from Piccadilly—lawns shaded by noble cedar trees, woodland glades, a green lane with over arching boughs, and farther on terraced walks, the stone balustrades and the formal parterre of the Dutch garden. The house itself has a long, irregular frontage, a fantastic medley of turrets, gables, arcades and oriel windows. The series of sitting rooms on the first floor are warm, comfortable and homelike and filled with a priceless collection of family portraits and heirlooms. No wonder that Charles Fox was devoted to the place where he had passed a careless and happy boyhood and in his last illness drove over from Chiswick to view once more the familiar scenes, which he regarded with a special tenderness and affection. Naturally his memory is cherished here, and he is still to some extent the tutelary genius of the place. There is a statue of him at the end of the avenue in the park; there is a bust of him by Nollekens in the entrance hall; there is a characteristic note in his handwriting on the back of a miniature of Robespierre—un scelerat, un lache, et un fou (a rascal, a coward and a fool—and there is a picture of him by Sir Joshua as a youth with two charming damsels, one of whom made a romantic marriage with an actor, while the other refused the hand of a king and lived to become the mother of the heroic Napiers. Almost every room has its tradition. In fact, wherever you tread "a history is beneath your feet."—Blackwood's.

DUELING IN ITALY.

How the Count of Turin Came to Fight Prince Henry of Orleans.

The greatest duel of modern days in Italy was that between the Count of Turin and Prince Henry of Orleans. It came about in a curious manner. Prince Henry had insulted the Italian army after the battle of Adowa and one day received a telegraphic challenge to a duel signed "Victor Emmanuel." The challenge was accepted, and thus Crispi, who was prime minister, came to know of the crown prince's impulsive action and interfered. "But," said King Humbert, his father, "how can it be stopped? Our honor is now involved." Crispi thought a moment and then exclaimed: "I have it! The Count of Turin is Victor Emmanuel also!" And thus he was the one who fought.

This was followed by one of those genial practical jokes which convulsed Europe. France at that time hated Italy and never lost an opportunity to sneer at her. It must be explained that in Rome there was always at carnival time a characteristic figure of a little old man with an immense sword riding a donkey, who was a caricature of the age of chivalry and was called "General Mannaggia la Rocca."

One day in the French papers appeared an imposing announcement that General Mannaggia la Rocca threw his glove at the feet of the entire French nation and cast their base insinuations in their teeth, inviting any or all to mortal fight. Replies were not long in coming, one of which was from a noted fencer and duelist of his day, M. Tomegueux, appointing his seconds and announcing their arrival in Rome. France was on the qui vive, from government personages to the humble bargee, and when the trick played upon them was discovered all Europe shrieked with laughter, and France the loudest of all.—Pall Mall Gazette.

GIFTED LUNATICS.

One Faculty Strongly Developed in Many Insane Persons.

One of the most peculiar features of insanity is that occasionally one faculty, either sight, hearing, smell, taste or touch, is extraordinarily acute. Certain insane persons, insensible to every other impression, have a pronounced taste for music and can repeat with accuracy an air which they may have heard but once. Others have a recollection of form and color and display an aptitude for drawing, while more frequently one may meet with an inmate of an asylum who has a special memory for figures, dates, proper names and words generally.

There is a case on record, for instance, of an imbecile who at twenty-seven had such an extraordinary memory that he could solve the most difficult problems in arithmetic and algebra and repeat word for word long poems after once hearing them. In another case a boy of fourteen, with a defective brain, who had the greatest difficulty in learning to read, could, if allowed two or three minutes to run over a page printed in a foreign language or treating of questions of which he was ignorant, repeat the words from memory as correctly as if the book had been lying before him.

Very curious was the case of another man, a devout churchgoer, who could remember the day when every person had been buried in the parish for thirty-five years and could repeat, with unvarying accuracy, the name and age of the deceased and mourners at the funeral. And yet he was a complete fool, and outside of the line of burials he had not one idea and could not give an intelligent reply to a sing'e question or even be trusted to feed himself.

At Earlswood asylum, England, the have records of imbeciles who could not only repeat accurately a page or more of any book which had been read years before, even though it was a book they did not understand in the least, but also of an insane person who could repeat backward what he had just read.

Another curious case is that of an imbecile who, in the first place, never failed to go to church and who on reaching home could repeat the sermon word by word, saying, "Here the minister coughed; here he stopped to blow his nose," and so on.

In another case an imbecile knew the Bible so perfectly that if you asked him where such and such a verse was to be found he could tell without hesitation and repeat the chapter.

All these instances are well authenticated, and others equally amazing and true could be added. And just as there is one sense which is sometimes wonderfully acute in persons of weak intellect, so in the case of blind people the sense of smell or hearing is often very keen.

One of the most remarkable cases on record was that of Julia Brace, a female deaf and blind mute who could distinguish brothers and sisters by smell and who recognized anybody she had met before by the same means.

MOVING BIG TREES.

An Expensive Undertaking, Sometimes Requiring a Year.

Trees of a very great size can be moved successfully if time and money are of no account, but it is an expensive process and should be attempted only where immediate effect is wanted or in the case of a rare variety that requires to be removed and cannot be replaced.

To prepare a large tree for removal, says Horticulture, a deep trench should be dug around the tree from five to seven feet from the base of the tree and working under so as to cut off all the roots possible without disturbing the hole.

The ends of the roots should all be cut smooth and the trench filled up with a good compost of peat, rotten sods and manure and left for a year, when a second trench can be opened at the outside of the first and the tree carefully undermined with a pick, so as to remove the soil with as little injury to the young fibers as possible, and the tree carefully drawn over so as to cut whatever taproot may have been left.

If a supply of bass mats is at hand they can be carefully bound around the ball of earth, and if it is not too large it can be loaded on a drag and drawn to the place of planting, where the hole has been prepared beforehand.

If too large for a drag the ball of earth may be surrounded by boards or layers of hay and straw firmly bound with cords, a few boards passing underneath and the whole fastened to the stem, which should be well wrapped with hay or woollen material before any force for lifting is applied. It can then be raised with the use of a derrick on to a truck and taken to the desired place, lowered in the hole, the binding taken off, the roots carefully spread and the soil well worked in among them and well firmed.

Large trees can also be transplanted by digging around them in winter and allowing the earth around them to be frozen solid, having the ground prepared previously and covered with coarse material to keep out the frost, and removing them on a sled to their destination.

Hospitality Awaits Estate Claimants.

At Gopsall, Leicestershire, England, where Earl Howe has entertained the Grand Duke Michael and the Countess Torby, there is a plantation of thirteen fine Wellingtonias planted by the first Earl Howe to commemorate the birthday of his thirteen children. In the drawing-room of the hall hang superb paintings by Murillo, Rembrant, Teniers, and Van Dyck. Other treasures are original manuscripts of Handel, who was often a guest at the house, and a dinner service for sixteen people in solid gold, the gift of Queen Adelaide to the present peer's grandfather, who acted as her Lord Chamberlain. The hall, which was built in the reign of George III., cost $500,000. In the gardens is a memorial erected by Pope to his mother, which bears the inscription, "Best of mothers, most loving of women. Farewell." Lord Howe, who descends from "Black Dick," the famous admiral, and was born on April 28, 1861, is patron of no less than eleven livings, and owns about 28,000 acres. He is one of the most envied of men judging by the number of claimants to his title and estates. Some time ago he facetiously declared that he kept a dining table at Gopsall Hall ready at all hours for the visit of anyone who thinks he has a claim.

Gave Him a Brilliant Idea.

On a journey from Vienna to St. Petersburg Mr. Stuart Cumberland, the English thought-reader, entertained his fellow-passengers by guessing their thoughts. One of the travelers, a Polish Jew, who took the whole thing for a hoax, offered to pay Cumberland the sum of fifty roubles if he could divine his thoughts. Cumberland acceded to the request, and, seeing the chance of a joke, said: "You are going to the fair at Nishni-Novgorod, where you intend to purchase goods to the extent of twenty thousand roubles, after which you will declare yourself bankrupt and compound with your creditors for 3 per cent." On hearing these words the Jew gazed at the speaker with reverential awe, and without uttering a word he drew out of the leg of his Wellington boot a shabby purse, and handed over the fifty roubles to Cumberland. Thereupon the thought-reader triumphantly exclaimed, "Then I guessed your thoughts, eh?" "No, you didn't," replied the Jew, "but you have given me a brilliant idea!"

VICAR AS AUTHOR.

English Churchman Confesses to Writing Under Nom de Plume.

Rev. J. Jessop Teague, vicar of St. Luke's, Woodside, a suburb of South Norwood, England, has admitted that he is the author of the many novels which have been published under the pseudonym of "Morice Gerard."

One of his stories, entitled "The Unspoken Word," is now appearing in an English paper, and Mr. Teague, while admitting the authorship, declared that he had nothing to do with the local publication of the story. That had been arranged by an agency which had purchased the story.

"Writing has been my hobby since I was a boy," he said, "and in my opinion there is nothing incongruous in a preacher following a literary calling. Not only that, but my work as a novelist has undoubtedly improved the literary quality of my extempore preaching, and may form a valuable adjunct to my sermons.

"Throughout my writings I have endeavored to suggest the highest ideals and to give a good moral tone to my work. The historical romances, I hope, have not been without their value from an educational point of view."

One of Mr. Teague's early successes was the winning of a $500 prize offered by The Newcastle Weekly Chronicle for the best serial story with "The Crowning of Esther." He has also written "The Rose of Blenheim," "The Red Seal" and "A Gentleman of London." He is bringing out two new books. One is finished, but the title is not yet selected.

OLD OYSTER BED.

Irish Supply Is Shipped to London For First Time.

Oysters from a wild part of the west coast of Ireland, which, in view of their origin, may be described as a "novelty 800 years old," were eaten for the first time in London a few days ago.

The oysters of the Red Bank Galways, were cultivated by the monks of the historic Corcomroe Abbey at least as early as the twelfth century. In 1861 Thomas Dinley, who had traveled all over Ireland, wrote of these oysters in Galway Bay—"oysters of middle size, far excelling our Colchesters, as owned by several judges of both."

Napoleon III., when establishing the oyster industry which has now become so important in France, sent agents who practically denuded the Red Bank to obtain the parent stock for what have become the famous French beds of Auray and Arcachon to-day.

The entire output of the Red Bank oysters, which, after drastic tests, are passed for consumption, will henceforth be reserved exclusively for the Carlton and Ritz Hotels, and a number of invited guests who recently tasted the oysters found them not only "fat," but of delicious flavor.

A Mighty Nimrod.

A remarkable career has been that of Mr. F. C. Selous, the famous hunter and explorer, who will accompany President Roosevelt on his African big game expedition in the spring. He was only twenty years of age when he went to Matabeleland, in days when railways were unknown there and when the interior of the country was a sealed book to the European. For years he was in unknown countries hunting elephants, lions, and other animals, and at one period he was nearly three years without seeing a newspaper, a telegram, or any kind of money, and he was perfectly happy. He spent nearly a quarter of a century of his life penetrating the interior of South Africa. Then he went to Alaska on a fifteen-thousand-mile tour in search of moose and caribou. It was while on this tour that, in the wildest part of the Yukon, Mr. Selous came across a trapper's hut occupied by two Englishmen. One had just got his discharge from the Northwest Mounted Police, and the other, who had earned the nickname of "Never-wash," was the son of a peer.

Errand Boy to Scientist.

Dr. George Gore, who has just died in Birmingham at the age of 82, was an entirely self-educated man. For four years he worked as an errand boy and for four years as a cooper. Working from six in the morning till eight at night, he had little leisure for study, but in the hours stolen from sleep he pondered deeply over scientific subjects, and laid the foundation of his future successful career. From Bristol he went to Birmingham when 25 years of age, obtaining a situation as time-keeper in the Soho works. Before long the originality of his researches began to be noised abroad, and he set up as a teacher on his own account. Before he was thirty he had discovered the substance known as "explosive antimony," and about the same time also discovered a liquid by means of which white nickel could be deposited as a bright white metal. This liquid, known as "Gore's Solution," was afterwards extensively used.

The Farthing Man.

So Tunbridge Wells, England, has termed Mr. R. Arnold, who eleven years ago first started his "farthing campaign" for London slum children's breakfasts. That year he collected 600 farthings. The following year he more than doubled that amount, and every succeeding year has seen an advance on its predecessor. During 1908 no fewer than 22,000 farthings were collected, making a total in eleven years of 70,000. A big effort is to be made in 1909 to get 30,000, so that the 100,000 mark may be reached in the twelve years.

A Rhymed Task Master.

In the studio of an artist on Madison avenue there is a sign that would seem suited for almost any place where there is work to do. Of course it is exceptionally well adapted to the needs of dreaming artists. It reads:

Whene'er a task is put to you
Don't idly sit and view it
Nor be content and wish it done—
Begin at once and do it.

In this studio it was of course artistically printed and framed. Within view of the motto every one was hard at work, and the man who sat nearest said it never gave him a moment's rest. He could not look at an unfinished job without seeing or hearing the jingle of the rhyme.

PHOTOGRAPHING A SPOOK.

W. T. Stead Tells of His Ghastly Experiments With Camera.

In the January issue of "The Fortnightly Review" Mr. T. W. Stead writes an article under the title "Do the Dead Return?" "I have the gift of automatic handwriting," he declares, and he justifies this assertion by relating the following anecdote: "A lady friend of mine, who can write with my hand at any distance with even more freedom than she can write with her own, had been spending the week-end at Haslemere. Late on Monday afternoon I wished to know if she had left the country, and, placing my pen on the paper, I mentally asked if she had returned to London. My hand wrote as follows: 'I am sorry to tell you I have had a very painful experience, of which I am almost ashamed to speak. I left Haslemere at 2.27 p.m. in a second-class carriage, in which there were two ladies and one gentleman. When the train stopped at Godalming the ladies got out, and I was left alone with the man. After the train started he left his seat and came close to me. I was alarmed, and repelled him. He tried to kiss me. I seized his umbrella and struck him, but it broke, and I was beginning to fear that he would master me, when the train began to slow up before arriving at Guildford station. He got frightened, let go of me, and before the train reached the platform he had jumped out and ran away. I have the umbrella.' I sent my secretary up with a note, saying merely I was very sorry to hear what had happened, and added, 'Be sure and bring the man's umbrella on Wednesday.' She wrote in reply: 'I am very sorry you know anything about it. I had made up my mind to tell nobody. I will bring the broken umbrella, but it was my umbrella, not his.'"

The following story furnishes seasonable reading. Referring to the authenticity of spirit photographs, Mr. Stead states that he once paid a visit to a photographer whose mediumship enables him to photograph the Invisibles: "I had hardly taken my seat before the old man said, 'I had a great fright the other day. An old Boer came into the studio carrying a gun. He fairly frightened me, so I said to him, "Go away; I don't like guns." And he went away. Now he's back again. He came in with you. He has not got his gun now, and he does not look so fierce. Shall we let him stay?' 'By all means,' I replied. 'Do you think you could get his photograph?' 'I don't know,' said the old man; 'I can try.' So I sat down in front of the camera, and an exposure was duly made. Before the plate was removed I asked the photographer: 'You spoke to the old Boer the other day. Could you speak to him again?' 'Yes,' he said; 'he's still there behind you.' 'Ask him what his name is!' The photographer appeared to put a mental question and to listen for a reply. Then he said: 'He says his name is Piet Botha.'

"When he developed the plate there was seen standing behind me a hirsute, tall, stalwart man, who might have been a Boer or a Moujik. When Gen. Botha came to London I sent the photograph to him by Mr. Fischer, who was Prime Minister of the old Orange Free State. Next day Mr. Wessels, another Free State delegate, came to see me. 'Where did you get that photograph?' he asked. 'The photograph you gave to Mr. Fischer?' I told him exactly how it had come. 'Why,' said he, 'that man was a near relative of mine. I have got his portrait hanging up in my house at home.' 'Really,' I said. 'Is he dead?' 'He was the first Boer commandant killed in the siege of Kimberley.' 'And what was his name?' 'Pietrus Johannes Botha,' he replied, 'but we always called him Piet Botha for short. I still have the portrait in my possession.'" Mr. Stead adds that no one in England, so far as he was able to ascertain, knew of the existence of Piet Botha.

Cupid on a Railway Platform.

There is a charming story told concerning the manner in which the Duke of Portland, who recently celebrated his 51st birthday, first met his wife. It is to the effect that the duchess—who before her marriage was Miss Dallas Yorke—was on a railway station platform, and the duke (who was waiting for the same train) was so struck with her beauty that he fell in love with her at first sight, and promptly secured an introduction. Whatever truth there may be in the story, it is a well-known fact that the duke preferred to marry for love. Amongst the many splendid jewels possessed by the duchess is a set of diamond horses, which have been given to her from time to time by the duke on the occasions of his successes on the turf. The duke has very strong opinions, which he expresses most frankly, on the absolute folly of betting. All the money his grace makes in racing is devoted to building almshouses and schools, and Welbeck Abbey is a model estate, in so far as it is entirely self-contained and self-providing. It contains workshops of every description, from a model dairy to a fire brigade.

At His Own Risk.

Caller (on crutches and with a bandage over one eye)—I have come, sir, to make application for the amount due on my accident insurance policy. I fell down a long flight of stairs the other evening and sustained damages that will disable me for a month to come.

Manager of Company—Young man, I have taken the trouble to investigate your case, and I find you are not entitled to anything. It could not be called an accident. You certainly knew the young lady's father was at home.

The Alert Japanese.

Another little illustration of the mental alertness of the Japanese: Every one of the American flags which they displayed in welcoming the United States fleet was provided with the full number of forty-six stars. Every one had been made to order for the occasion. No wonder the Japs use the rising sun as their emblem. They get up early in the morning.—Youth's Companion.

ANNIVERSARY OF CORUNNA.

Centenary of Sir John Moore's Death Is Observed.

La Corunna, where Sir John Moore fell in the hour of victory, just a century ago, celebrated, on Jan. 16, the centenary of the hero's death.

The general's tomb stands in the Alameda or public gardens, on a height which overlooks the bay. Palms and flowering shrubs wave green branches round the monument, built in the more forbidding style of the early twenties. Dark-eyed children run races along the sanded paths, and tie their toy horses to the formidable railings.

The spot, with its glorious view across the harbor, is a favorite resort of mantilla-draped ladies and picturesque peasant nursemaids.

There was the gleam of official gold lace, and the grandiloquent flow of Spanish eulogies, and music suitably solemn, around the tomb at the celebration, but every English participant in the fiesta thought of Charles Wolfe's well-known lines—

"We buried him darkly at dead of night,
The sods with our bayonets turning,
By the struggling moonlight's misty light
And the lantern dimly burning."

Just a few devoted friends stealthily came to the ramparts to scoop a shallow grave for the mighty dead. "I hope my country will do me justice" were his last words. His country will certainly appreciate the honor paid by the Spaniards to the British warrior.

La Corunna to-day is a prosperous town with wide, well-paved streets, in the upper quarter, a mule tramway service and modern ideas on the subject of town-planning and electric lighting. But the lower quarter is full of narrow, winding alleys and curious old squares, which have changed very little since the exciting month of May when the invincible Armada was fitted out at La Corunna for the disastrous expedition of 1588. The women still fill their heavy water-pots at the fountain of St. Andrew; the brass basins dangle outside the barbers' shops, reminding one of Don Quixote, the lean knight of La Mancha; the heavy ox-carts creak over the cobble stones. The corner round the old church of Santiago is redolent of the Middle Ages.

Older still is the famous lighthouse of La Corunna, built over Phoenician foundations, a landmark known to sailors the whole world over.

Round the harbor runs a road, bordered with palms and aloes, which grow with southern luxuriance in the warm Spanish winter.

"KILLED" BY PRAYER.

English Vivisectionists Receive a Threatening Circular.

Leading surgeons and physiologists in every part of England have received remarkable circulars, signed "M.C.," containing one of the most extraordinary threats ever leveled against vivisectionists. The circular is printed, but, contrary to a well-known act of Parliament, does not contain the name and address of the printer. Accompanying the circular is a facsimile typewritten letter, also without address, signed "M. Cowan."

It is understood that the authoress of the circular and letter is Mrs. M. Cowan, an Irish lady who frequently visits London, staying at a well-known hotel. The circular begins:

"Some little time ago, in the coffee-room of a London hotel, I chanced to hear one of the party at a table close by narrate how he knew a person who was in the habit of praying from time to time for the death of one of our leading vivisectors; he said that always the man indicated died.

"I tried to trace the speaker, but, as time had elapsed, did not succeed in doing so. I then thought, as I myself know of the efficiency of prayer, it would be well to try if this were actually so. I thought first of trying on Dr. Starling, but it seemed to me unfair to give such a stab in the dark without first letting it be known what was intended.

"It was, therefore, finally decided to make earnest prayer, giving much thought to the subject, that the Almighty, if the prayer were in accord with His will, would promptly remove the man most likely to cause future suffering to innocent subjects by his experiments. About a fortnight later one of our most distinguished medical scientists dropped, and the newspapers were lamenting the loss to science of this vivisector and the discoveries he was just about to make."

The circular concludes by adjuring the "scientists" to take "thought and be warned." "Their fate," says the writer, "is in their hands."

"The letter," said a well-known physiologist recently, "is an attempt at intimidation. The writer forgets that the circulation of the letter may incite some weak-minded fanatic to murder, for some have less faith in prayer than in physical means."

Anti-vivisection societies were unanimous in condemning the circular.

Playwright at Ninety.

As a rule, men who reach ninety years of age have finished with work, and are content to sit in quiet retirement. Mr. James Scott, of Chelmsford, England, is an exception to this rule, for although he has attained the age of ninety he is still at work on a play which he hopes to produce soon. Born in Sheffield, Mr. Scott has been by turns a saw-maker, a commercial traveler, a public-house proprietor, an actor, an actor-manager, and, later in life, the lessee of one or two provincial theatres. In this last capacity Mr. Scott engaged Chas. Kean for one of his houses, and his touring companies included such names as J. L. Toole, Charles Rice, Charles Dillon, Barry Sullivan, and Paul Bedford. Although Mr. Scott has not produced any plays for some years now, he still devotes two hours a day to writing, and he has now completed a four-act play dealing with the life of Dougal, the Moat Farm murderer.

CAPTURING MONKEYS.

How the Shrewd Little Animals Are Lured Into Captivity.

A famous animal dealer has been telling recently how wild animals are captured for his great establishment at Hamburg. Monkeys, he says, are captured by wholesale in the Sudan by a simple device. First all the drinking places in a given region are covered with thorny bushes except one. In this way the monkeys are concentrated, when thirsty, at one spot. Corn is strewn on the ground near this drinking place, and after the monkeys have grown partial to that spot an enormous cage, similar to the thatched huts used by the native Sudanese, is carried to it in the dead of night. One side of the cage is propped up on a stake.

The daily allowance of corn is then strewn inside the cage. This is repeated for several days until the monkeys have no hesitation in entering the cage. Then at night a long cord is attached to the stake. The cord is covered with the desert sand and extends to the hiding place of the hunters. Presently a troop of monkeys appears, confidently enters the cage and begins to eat the corn there. The hunters then pull the cord, the stake falls, and the monkeys are prisoners. Natives force them to the ground by means of long sticks, enter the cage and bind the prisoners and then take them to the place of shipment. There is no cruelty in this method, except the mere act of making the monkeys prisoners.

The Riddler.

What is the difference between a cloud and a child who has been spanked? One pours with rain; the other roars with pain.

What musical instrument invites you to fish? Cast-a-net.

What river runs between two seas? The Thames, which runs between Chelsea and Battersea.

What is the difference between a fisherman and a naughty school child? One baits the hook; the other hates his book.

What is that which you break by the mere mention of it? Silence.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Skylark's Song.

The skylark of England does not sing in winter, but in the early days of spring the great flocks of these birds break up, and they go in pairs to hunt for places to build their nests and rear their young. It is then that the song of the bird is heard in all its sweetness. While the mother bird is sitting on her nest her mate often rises in the air and with quivering wing mounts straight upward so far that he looks like a mere speck in the sky. And all the time he pours forth his rich and beautiful song, ceasing only as he descends again to the nest.

The Oldest Bridge in Europe.

The Sublician bridge at Rome is the oldest in European history. It is made of wood and was erected in the seventh century. It has been twice rebuilt, but is in ruins at the present day.

THE LONG HALL.

The First Consideration is to Break the Length.

The long, narrow hall which almost invariably has a part in the arrangement of modern apartments seems to offer very limited scope for effective furnishing, and yet, being the index of the home, from which the visitor gains his first impression, it should receive at least as much care and thought as the rest of the house. A person who has had success in this respect gives the following suggestions:

"The first consideration is to break the interminable length, at the same time increasing its apparent width. To accomplish this plain paper should be used for the walls and of excellent quality even if at the expense of some of the other rooms. Then, in place of the long runner, shorter rugs should be substituted—three or four that range from five to seven or eight feet in length and of the hall width, placed not too close together. Now divide the hall into sections, according to the length, by hanging Japanese portieres across.

"These portieres come at very moderate prices in rush, but the bead ones are much handsomer. In either case the portieres may be separated in the center, drawn aside and fastened with a bead of some oriental stuff or a heavy cord. Not only is the effect more attractive, but the apparent width of the hall is increased if the portieres harmonize with or even match the wall paper. The height, too, is further accentuated by the suspension of a lamp or lantern from the ceiling at the center of the sections. The lanterns preferably should be rather small. There are some handsome little ones of wrought iron with colored glass that cost only $1.50, singularly suited for the purpose, the only disadvantage being that they must have candles, which come especially for them.

"Framed pictures, adding ever so slightly to the effect of narrowness, should be avoided, and if decoration is desired it may be accomplished by means of tapestries or handsome antique wall rugs. Armor plate, too, may be used with good effect, and where there is a sharp turn a tall picture screen with three leaves may be spread across the corner, giving a curve instead of the rather unsightly angle, or in this corner there may be room for a taboret for cards or for the telephone or both."

IT'S DONE IN A JIFFY.

An Easy Way to Clean the Family Silver.

Cleaning the entire stock of family silver has lost its terror since it has been discovered that it may be accomplished in a comparatively short time by the use of soda. Place over the fire a clean tin dishpan half full of water; when it has reached the boiling point throw in a handful of ordinary washing soda; put in all of the silver, boil ten minutes to loosen the tarnish, remove it and wash in hot, soapy water. Some of it may require a hasty scrub with moistened silver polish, and all of it will need the dry polish rubbed on with a flannel cloth.

While this method may be safely employed for silver, it is a dubious process for plated and oxidized ware, since the very purpose of it is the loosening of the surface coating, be it dirt or plate. Sterling silver is not injured by it.

To give silver the antique or satiny surface which is again in vogue, rub it with old fashioned bar sand. Ground corundum is not bar sand, although it often passes as such, and is to be avoided, having a sharpness that may be detected under a microscope and which is much too rough for silver.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

There is no better pudding cloth than a piece of cheesecloth. This material, being coarse, does not retain the grease and is easily cleaned.

Unplucked poultry should be examined by the following rules: Ruffling back the feathers to notice the skin. The eye should be bright and prominent if freshly killed. Young birds have down under the wings and short pinfeathers.

Breakfast Bacon.—In a house where there is a great deal of work to do the meat is apt to be spoiled by being cut too thick and in a hurry. This may be prevented if the cook will slice the bacon finely the day before, and it will taste equally good.

After frying fish, dry it before the fire on sheets of cooking paper just before serving. This will remove any superfluous fat.

To clean sultanas quickly place the fruit in a floured cloth. Tie the ends of the cloth and shake about well for a few minutes, when the stalks will be found to have fallen off and the fruit will be perfectly clean.

Cheese is often supposed to be very indigestible food, but for active people, if taken in small quantities, it really is not so, for it makes other foods digest. When cheese is made from new milk it contains the properties of cheese and butter; therefore it is far more wholesome than that made from skimmilk.

To make boots waterproof take boiled oil twenty ounces, rosin four ounces, sliced beeswax four ounces. Mix these ingredients and place in an earthenware jar, stand in a pot of water on the fire and heat gently till the ingredients are dissolved and thoroughly mixed.

No polish should ever be used for lacquered articles. If once applied the metal polish will spoil the surface of the lacquer. Lacquered goods should be rubbed up with a leather and, if dirty, washed with a little warm water and soap.

"Yes, she has reached the heights," said one Christian Scientist, speaking of another. "Now when she wishes to take a bath she simply becomes plunged in thought."

TRY THIS PLAN.

How a Business Woman Prevented a Breakdown.

"I'm down and out," said the stenographer as she walked home with a companion after office hours. "I'm afraid I'll have to give up my job, and what shall I do?"

"What's the matter?" asked her friend. "I'll bet it's your lunches! Aren't your dizzy and your head queer and your temper or nerves ready to strike fire like oil soaked cotton?"

The stenographer smiled. "Really. Sounds as if you'd been there yourself."

"I have. What did you have for lunch?"

"Didn't eat any. The chief wanted a paper copied at that time, and I had dyspepsia, anyhow."

"No wonder life looks coal black," growled her companion. "Just the way I went on until Mrs. Jones, in the billing department, brought me to my senses.

"You know how young she looks and that complexion we all thought paint until I was caught out in a storm with her! Well, I asked her how she did it one day when I was feeling rank. You know, she's old—a friend of my aunt.

"I found she didn't starve herself whenever she got rushed and eat a lot of silly stuff the rest of the time. She allows herself 15 or 20 cents a day for lunch, sometimes only 10 cents, but she gets the worth of her money.

"No pie and eclairs and charlotte russe for her or that sickening marron sundae all the girls are crazy about, which costs the price of a plate of vegetable soup and a sandwich.

"She ate light lunches at first because it was cheaper, and now she can afford more, because it doesn't make her logy in the afternoon. But she never eats the same thing two days in succession and has three or four places where she gets good food cheap.

"Sometimes she takes a plate of hot soup and a sandwich; again it's a cup of custard and a bowl of bread and milk or a cup of hot chocolate and a hot roast beef sandwich.

"Try her plan? I did and feel so fine I don't even get on edge when the chief takes one of his big customers out to lunch and 'grouches' all afternoon in consequence! I just say to myself, 'I was once foolish like that about eating.'"

A FAMILY FRIEND.

Few People Realize the Potency of Camphor in the Household.

Few people realize the valuable adjunct camphor is in the household. They use it as a moth preventive, when they do not growl about the cost and substitute tar balls, but beyond that give it little thought.

Yet camphor is valuable in many ways as a cleanser and insect chaser and as a medicine.

The darkest stain on mirror or window pane can generally be routed with a flannel dipped in spirits of camphor. Rub until dry.

Camphor, either in the lump or liquid form, is hated by mosquitoes and will keep them off when all other methods fail.

As a medicine it is invaluable if used judiciously. If six or ten drops are taken on a lump of sugar when sneezing starts, a bad cold in the head can often be checked. This dose should not be repeated closer than an hour apart.

It is important in taking camphor internally to be sure that it agrees with you. The mildest dose is harmful to certain people, and occasionally a person is found whom it throws into unconsciousness.

If taken too steadily, even when there seems to be no injurious effect, it lowers the circulation and eventually weakens the heart.

A few drops of liquid camphor will often stop nausea, while setting fire to the lumps and inhaling the fumes sometimes works a similar cure.

For cold sores a small vial of camphor should be carried in the pocket and rubbed on the lips at frequent intervals. If taken in time it will usually balk the blisters.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Fill a muslin bag with hops, dip in boiling water, and when the violence of the heat has passed off lay it on the part and cover with a warm towel. From time to time the dipping may be repeated. This is an old wife's remedy for colic. The water squeezed from the bag may be used as a fomentation to inflamed parts.

Every woman knows peroxide of hydrogen to be one of the "golden" hair washes. It has, however, well approved medicinal properties. One part of the pure drug mixed with seven parts of distilled water makes an excellent lotion for discharging sores. It may be used as a mouth wash when the gums are tender and discharging. As the drug is sometimes given in teaspoonful doses, it may be regarded as free from poisonous properties, but don't take it.

To sleep without plenty of fresh air is to take just so much poison into your system. It means that you breathe the same air over and over again, and then you wonder why you feel so heavy and languid in the morning. No matter how cold the night, open your window as far as it will go. If you wrap yourself up properly, you will not feel the cold. Wear a flannel gown and something over your head. The last thing before going to bed, fill a bottle with hot water, cork it tightly and place it in the bed. If you have plenty of bed coverings you will be as warm as possible all night.

"I had to leave my last situation because the missus said they were going to lead the sinful life and they would not want any servants about the place."—Punch.

ANOTHER NEW WOMAN.

At Estero, Fla., Victoria Gratia is Hailed as its Messiah.

Down at Estero, on the east coast of Florida, there is a small, self supporting colony of about 500 souls that recently has accepted a woman as its messiah. Victoria Gratia, "pre-eminent," has succeeded to the spiritual throne left vacant by the death of Cyrus Teed, "Koresh I.," and, as Dowie ruled Zion City in its early days and as Mrs. Eddy has stood in the forefront of the forces of Christian Science, Victoria Gratia henceforth rules supreme over the Koreshan Unity. She is a woman of mystery, but those who have met her admit she is possessed of remarkable force of character. Little ever has been learned of her antecedents except that she came originally from Boston and was one of the first to head a band of followers to join Teed in his chosen refuge in Florida after he had been driven out of Chicago. She is about fifty years old and at first sight would pass for the mother of any ordinary family in moderate means. Her dress is simple and unassuming and follows the usual matronly fashions without the slightest pretensions to style. A small silver sword with a jeweled handle is her favorite, almost her only, ornament. Her speech to casual visitors is slow, almost diffident, but she is said to possess a rare talent for organization, and when she rises to the heights of religious fervor her oratory is intensely emotional and effective. The Koreshan colony already has made its mark in Florida, and many are waiting to see how far the feminine rule of Victoria Gratia will prove able to carry it.

NEW SKIRT MEASURER.

Clever Device Hangs From Belt and Gives Exact Length.

Women need depend no longer on the more or less haphazard measurements of human hands to determine the length of their skirts, a matter of an importance so great that mere man can never appreciate it. A guide for this purpose has recently been invented that consists of a belt, which is fastened around the waist of the person to be measured. From the front of this belt depends a tape, with a weight at the bottom end. At the belt the tape runs through a slot which prevents it from paying out too freely, so that as it is pulled to the length of the skirt it remains stationary. In this way the exact measurement of a garment as it hangs may be obtained, and it is easy to be seen that the device can be put to other uses than the one for which it was originally intended.

Teakwood is now used as a substitute for ebony in making men's military brushes. It is carved or plain and bears the initials in silver or gold across the center of each piece.

CARPING.

Our good evening contemporary has a pain in its journalistic diaphragm over the fact that in the House of Commons the other day the Trent Canal was attacked, and none so poor to do it reverence—to rush to its defence. No need. The Liberal Government of the Dominion has by a settled policy of energetic construction to completion, raised the canal above the plane of doubt. Digging takes the place of defence. Construction ousts criticism, and even carping. "There is," indeed, "a screw loose somewhere," but it is not in the Government's head.

When the stage of action arrives, the time of argument and talk is past.

WHAT CANADA HAS DONE.

It has been said that Canada discovered herself at the conference held in Quebec in 1864 to consider the forming of a union with her sister provinces, or divisions. She discovered the possibility of expanding the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada into a Dominion coterminous in area with British North America, and this has been done. In 1867—forty years ago—she began with four provinces, covering 500,000 square miles, and a population of three millions. In succession the imperial expanse of the Canadian Northwest was added by the purchase of the Hudson Bay Company's "rights." Then, in 1870, Manitoba came in; British Columbia followed in 1871, and two years later Prince Edward Island added her mite to a Dominion of self-governing provinces, which, with the new provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, and the Yukon, cover an area of three millions of the 3,500,000 square miles of British North America, with a population of nearly 7,00,000. In 1867, Canada had 3,000 miles of railway for a population of three millions. In 1908, the railway mileage had increased to 25,000 miles, or 3,500 miles for every million of its population, while the total mileage of the United States represents only 2,500 miles to every million of population. Concurrently, with railway extension Canada has built or enlarged and improved the most extensive, important and useful system of canals in the world. What other country can furnish a more striking triumph over the difficulties of transportation.

Whether or not we are moving to separate independence, is small matter. We are doing well as we are firmly connected with the central power of the Empire by ties of affection and interest. We have practical independence, and what more is needed?

IN SELF DEFENCE.

A clergyman, say, of Toronto, on Sunday in an address to his congregation, made the rather broad statement that "the newspapers were always looking for sensations, and did not always hold to the truth." In self defence it may be remarked that if this statement is to be regarded as a sample of the truth delivered from our pulpits, one has occasion to recall the question of Pilate—"What is truth?" Newspapers are human agencies and, as such, subject to the frailities and liability to err that attach to humanity; but, as a rule, they make an honest effort to print only the truth. This attempt may not be made from merely high moral motives, but it is, at least, good business for a newspaper to gain, and maintain, as high a reputation for veracity and credibility as possible. If a newspaper errs in the matter of printing the truth, it is through defect of the information received. Newspaper workers are not mind-readers but, in the matter of news, have to depend upon outsiders for information. Sometimes they are misled, and the misleading, even unintentional, does not always proceed from the lay element of the community. As a matter of fact, no agency of our Christian civilization contributes so much auxiliary effort to the publicity department of church interests as the press, nor panders, or rather, contributes so much to the extra-ecclesiastical dissemination of the message of the real preacher, and, sometimes—in other places than this city—the exploitation of the spiritual vanity of the mere pulpiteer. As to the charge that "newspapers are always looking for sensations," it may apply to some newspapers, which, in our large cities, and sometimes by the help of visiting divines in smaller places, do not always find the pulpit an unprofitable field for foraging. There are newspapers and newspapers; some are good, some bad, a few worse. All of them do no live up to a high standard; and some ministers, as witness recent commotions, do not always measure up to the standard set by their congregations. If, therefore, ministers lay themselves open to criticism and expose themselves to culpability, it is not to be wondered that mere secular worms, like newspapers, stray out of the straight path. But it does not seem meet to include all newspapers within one sweeping condemnation any more than it would be fair to question the orthodoxy of the cloth as a body because an occasional few wander into the byways of heterodoxy, or practise sensational expedients, after the manner of some degenerate newspapers, which, after their kind, are always looking for sensations. The pulpit and the press, respectively the greatest sacred and secular influences for good of our modern civilizations, each in its sphere, can respect the other, and consistently co-operate in mutual exercise and extension of influence for good.

Let him that is without sin cast the first stone.

WATERWORKS EXTENSION

At the meeting of the city council last night two important bylaws were passed, to be submitted to the people. One was to authorize the raising of $120,000 for the construction of a new waterworks dam. The other was to authorize the raising of $15,000 for the purpose of providing a power development plant in conection with the building of the new dam.

In taking this course the council seems to have taken in both cases a wise course in the interests of the city. In the first place, there is need, to meet the growing requirements of the city in the matter of water supply, and also to meet the demands of the Underwriters' Association, for an increased pumping capacity of six millions gallons per day, to be provided by a new dam, or the repair of the old dam and works. The latter does not seem to be in line with good business. To increase the size of the present pump house, to reconstruct the existing forebays, wheel pits, etc., and provide a new tail race, there would be required an expenditure of from $70,000 to $80,000, and in the end we should have an unreliable dam to be replaced in the not remote future.

The proposal of the Water Commissioners is to employ the $120,000 asked for in the construction of a new concrete dam about 500 feet below the present one, where rock bottom can conveniently be reached, and where the dam would be 100 feet shorter than the present structure. On the completion of this dam the old one will be removed, and it is proposed that the present power house and intake will be used in connection with a steam auxiliary plant. The installation of such an auxiliary plant is a necessity in case of a breakdown, in case of low water, in case of anchor ice, and many other contingencies, which might and would deprive the city of water supply for general purposes, or in case of fire.

The construction of the new dam will provide a horse power capacity of 1200 at low water, increasing, of course, with the increase of river flow. Of this amount 500 horse power will be required by the waterworks, leaving available 700 horse power at the disposal of the city—for street lighting or for sale to manufacturers. This will be an economical beginning to the acquirement of increased power, which the city must have in the interest of industrial expansion—the increase of our indlustrial establishments.

Therefore, the course proposed is advisable for two reasons—the provision of absolutely increased pumping capacity, and the provision of power supply for the city on terms of the greatest economy; for the installation of a power plant can, for obvious reasons, be effected much more cheaply in connection with the building of the new dam.

There is a good argument in favour of the speedy construction of the new dam—it is urgently needed for the reasons stated; labour is plentiful, employment is needed by many of our citizens, and cement and other materials are cheaper than they have been in the past, or may be in the future.

The cost of the dam will not add a cent to the taxation of the people. The surplus revenue from the operation of management, is sufficient each year to pay interest and sinking fund on the cost of the new dam, not to speak of a considerable accummulation of surplus, some $35,000, now at the credit of the Commissioners. Of course the cost of the power plant, $15,000, will have to be borne by the city, which is fortunate in having placed at its disposal 700 horse power, which will cost the city $2 per horse power at the wheel. A similar amount of power cannot be developed by the city at so low a rate by any other way than in connection with the buiding of the new waterworks dam.

The joint proposals to be placed before the peaple, are well worthy of their favourable consideration. By consenting to the expenditure of $120,000 for a new waterworks dam, they will not be ading one cent to the tax rate, but will be provided increased pumping capacity of six millions gallons, necessary to bring the daily pumping capacity to ten and a half millions gallons, to meet the city's requirements, and the demands of the Underwriters' Association. By consenting to the expenditure of $15,000 for power development in connection with the new dam, the city will acquire 700 horse power for street lighting with a surplus for sale, and as an inducement to new industries to locate here. And this power will be secured at a very low rate of cost—$2 per horse power at the wheels.

If Peterborough is to be in a position to increase her industrial establishment we must have more cheap power to place at the disposal of new industries.

It Is No Trouble To Work Now

So Says Miss Elsie J. Allen After Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

She Suffered From Weakness and Kidney Trouble, But the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy Cured Her Completely.

St. Croix, N. B., March 1st, Special—That the pains and weaknesses which make life almost unbearable to so many women are easily and completely cured by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is once shown in the case of Miss Elsie J. Allen of this place—

"I suffered greatly from kidney trouble and weakness before I began taking Dodd's Kidney Pills." Miss Allen says, "I was so weak I could hardly get around, and work was almost impossible. Life was a struggle till I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I began taking them and soon felt better. I took seven boxes in all and they cured me.

"I can now do my work the year round and do not feel it. My back which used to trouble me so much is well and strong and I don't feel any pains at all."

The root of women's troubles is in the kidneys. There is not a weak, suffering woman in Canada that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not help, and in nearly every case Dodd's Kidney Pills will work a complete cure.

THE COMMITTEES WANTED MORE

There Was a Scramble for the Extra $4200 Provided by 19½ Mill Rate.

Ald. McIntyre brought up the question of the purchase of the Auburn Power proposition at last night's meeting of the committee of the whole council, and said that Mr. Kendry wanted the council to take some action at once if they wished to secure the property. It was decided to give the Power Committee $400 for the purpose of securing expert advice upon the value of the property.

As soon as the 19½ mill rate was decided on in committee of the whole council last night, several of the chairmen who felt that their appropriations had been cut down too much were eager to get a share of the $4,200 increase in revenue provided by the extra half mill. Ald. Buller wanted $1,000 for the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and got what he asked for, while Ald. Phelan asked for first $3,000 and then $2,500 for the Board of Works, but $1,000 was the best he could get.

Ald. Morrow moved that the amount be divided up as follows:

Board of Works	$1,000
Fire, Water and Light Committee	$1,000
Manufacturers' Com.	$500
Property Committee	$300
Miscellaneous	$1,400

The motion was carried, while an amendment by Ald. Phelan and McIntyre to the effect that the Board of Works receive $2,500 was defeated.

FEBRUARY WAS VERY MODERATE

Weather Was Below Zero Mark Only on Very Few Occasions.

The month of February, just passed, was one of the most moderate months for years. Only twice did we have it below zero. DEPRECATES ANY CHURCH CONTROVERSY

Rev. J. R. Webb Refers to This Problem in the Course of a Sermon on Sunday.

Speaking from the text—"He is the firstborn from the dead, that in all things He might have the prominence," at Murray Street Church on Sunday night, Rev. J. R. Webb said: "It is a great pity that good men wage war against each other in matters upon which they are practically agreed in their hearts. We see too often what Mr. McLaren so well pictured in the 'Bonnie Briar Bush.' The Grand Inquisitor and the modern preacher doing their arguing together and their praying apart. Both anxious to be true to the truth and yet failing to get each other's view point."

ALMOST SENSATIONAL

There is General Surprise at the Great Number of Persons in Peterboro' Who Praise Booth's Kidney Pills.

It's but a short time since the first box of Booth's Kidney Pills came to Peterborough.

What a work this stranger has accomplished. Dozens of residents benefitted and cured of lame, weak and aching backs, urinary and kidney troubles. It is remarkable: the reason for it is Booth's Kidney Pills are a new blend of vegetable ingredients having a peculiar action on the kidney tissue that brings quick help.

Mrs. M. J. Cook, No. 494 Aylmer street, Peterborough, Ont., says: "I always find quick relief in Booth's Kidney Pills. They strengthen and relieve my back of a dull, heavy pain, which settles in the small of it and extends into my shoulders. For years I had suffered with these symptoms of kidney trouble and could find no relief. I would have frequent spells of dizziness and headaches. I was restless and weak, and would often awake more tired than on going to bed. I had never found relief for these painful and weakening symptoms of kidney trouble until I used Booth's Kidney Pills, procured at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy. I have had little trouble since as I use Booth's Kidney Pills occasionally and they keep me in the best of health."

Sold by dealers. Price 50 cents.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"45 MINUTES FROM BROADWAY"

Cohan & Harris present George M. Cohan's phenomenally successful musical play "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" at the "Grand" next Wednesday, March 3rd. This piece is really a novelty and universally conceded to be Mr. Cohan's supreme effort and consists of comedy, burlesque, melodrama and musical comedy. In the conception of the play, selections of characters and originality of situations, Cohan has shown the same genius for getting together novelties and surprises. The book, lyrics and music are his own, and in addition, he cast the piece and rehearsed the company personally. Every theatregoer remembers the "Unknown" in "Little Johnny Jones." In "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway," Mr. Cohan has another in the part of "Kid Burns," played by Scott Welsh. Miss Francis Gordon plays the part of "Plain Mary," a house maid in New Rochelle. This suburb is just 45 minutes from Broadway by rail, and this circumstance gives the piece its title.

The finest leaves from Ceylon tea plantations are contained in "Salada" Tea. It is packed in sealed lead packets to preserve its delicious flavour and aroma. Sold by all grocers, never by peddlers, or in bulk. 118

SISTER GIVES ANOTHER VERSION

Sister of Murdered Hamilton Girl Gives Different Version.

MAN WAS WELL DRESSED

Fourth Form Which Survivor's Story Has Taken In Kinrade Mystery Completely Baffles the Detectives —Girl Goes Into Hysteria After Recital — Tells of Struggle at Window With the Murderer.

Hamilton, March 2.—Miss Florence Kinrade was yesterday morning interrogated by Provincial Detective Miller and City Detectives Bleakley and Coulter. She was in a very nervous and hysterical condition, and told an almost totally different story of the affair from which she first told.

She said that when she was upstairs she heard shots fired, that she ran downstairs past the man and got out of a side window, the man firing several shots after her.

She also said that when she came back into the house she grappled with him, and that when she ran out of the front door to give an alarm he fired several more shots after her.

She said that the murderer was not a tramp, as he was too well dressed. She could not be sure whether she would know him again.

The autopsy has confirmed the fact that seven shots were fired into the body of the murdered girl.

The police deny that they found a blood-stained scarf in the back yard as they were inspecting the premises after the shooting. The found a rag from an apron lying in the bushes, but say that it had no blood stains on it, and they attach no significance to it.

Interest is now being centred on the inquest, which is due for Wednesday night. It is not certain that Miss Kindale will be able to be present to testify, according to her father's opinion last night. It is anticipated, however, that there will be some surprising information from the medical men who made the post-mortem examination.

Meanwhile, everybody has a theory of his own. One prominent military man declares that the shooting must have been done by a strong man, well used to firearms, else the bullets would not all have found their billet, and in such vital region. It is certain some shots were fired while the woman was prostrate.

Another man who has been following the case closely holds to the theory that the shooting was done by someone who knew the family and the house; that Miss Florence realized that her sister was in danger and ran upstairs to tell her to lock herself in her room; that Miss Ethel, in fear, hurried down the backstairs to escape, only to be met by her assailant. He also suggests that the shooting was done some time before Miss Florence notified the neighbors, but that this delay was due to the fact that she likely had swooned in the interval. This theory is supported, in a way, in the statement that the coroner on arrival noted that the dead girl's hand was cold, as though death had taken place some time before; while it would also account for the fact that no man was noticed to leave the house just previous to Miss Kinrade's giving the alarm. Many other theories and stories are in circulation.

Mr. Kinrade has decided to offer the reward of $1,000 for the detection of the murderer. Mrs. Kinrade knows that her daughter came to her death, but has been told that it was the result of an accident.

Mr. Kinrade talks of taking his family away from the scene of the tragedy for a time.

The detectives will interview Miss Florence Kinrade again to-day. They say, in spite of reports to the contrary, that she appeared to be quite calm and collected during their interview yesterday, though laboring under a strain, until they were coming away when she went into hysterics again.

The fact that she has told them four different stories has proved baffling to them. Yesterday she said that when she jumped out of the side window, the man grabbed her and pulled her back into the house again. The police say that there were no indications of a struggle having taken place at the window, and they can find no trace of the bullets she says were fired after her when she jumped out of the window and when she rushed from the house to give the alarm.

The constables who have been out looking for suspicious tramps returned without making any arrests. They claim that they found the surrounding country overrun by armed hoboes.

Suspect Goes Free.

Port Huron, Mich., March 2.—Chas. Norton, the London, Ont., man held here on suspicion of being implicated in the Hamilton murder mystery, will be released from custody. Norton's family notified the officers of his absence from his home, near London, and arrangements were at once made for his release.

Chases Runaway Wife.

Kingston, March 2.—Elmer Sanford, Dexter, is separated from his wife, and the latter kidnapped their five-year-old daughter and came to Kingston. He followed, but neither he nor the police can locate the mother or child. Seach will be made at Napanee and Belleville.

Fireman's Suicide.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 2.—William Gearhart, captain of a fire company, who murderously assaulted Mrs. Anna Baxter, a widow, with a razor, and then seriously cut himself, committed suicide yesterday by jumping from the third floor of the Pittsburg Hospital.

SORE THROAT
Slight colds become more offensive and sickening every day. The inflammation extends further into the head, soon the ears begin to buzz and ring, the head aches, the eyes pain dreadfully, the nose gets plugged up, and this forces the patient to breathe through the mouth. Vile, filthy secretions are forced back into the throat, requiring a great deal of coughing to keep the air passages free. Finally, this foul matter finds its way into the stomach, causing dyspepsia and general ill-health. By this time the patient has SYSTEMIC CATARRH, which saps strength, depletes the vital energies till Consumption is the unhappy result.

It doesn't matter how long you have suffered, or how often you have failed to get relief, even though colds and Catarrh may affect every organ in your body, you can be permanently cured by inhaling the soothing vapor of Catarrhozone.
A few breaths through Catarrhozone Inhaler clears the phlegm out of the throat and stops coughing. The nostrils are cleansed of offensive mucous discharge, and sneezing and sniffling stop at once. NEWSPAPER SPACE.
For anyone wanting large local circulation, the newspaper is undoubtedly the medium. The man who wants his business to keep pace with the growing times, must use the newspapers. Newspaper publicity will make many new customers.
To be successful the newspaper space must be used as nearly every issue as possible, the space must be liberal. The best style of advertisement will be found to be about two columns wide, Six inches deep will make a well proportioned announcement, making 12 inches altogether to be used.

Palpitation of the Heart.
One of the first danger signals that announce something wrong with the heart is the irregular beat or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or again, there may be a most violent beating, with flushings of the skin and visable pulsations of the arteries. The person may experience a smothering sensation, gasp for breath and feel as though about to die. In such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart, restoring its normal beat and imparting tone to the nerve centres, is, beyond all question, marvellous. They give such prompt relief that no one need suffer.
Mr. Sylvester Smith, Hampton, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with palpitation of the heart and tried doctor's medicines, but they only gave me temporary relief. I heard of your Heart and Nerve Pills and bought two boxes and before I had used them I was completely cured and would recommend them to all similarly affected."
Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Court Peterborough No. 29, C. O. F., Celebrates The 30th Anniversary Of Its Birth

Grand Banquet and Toast List—Dr. A. M. Stanley Chairman, of the Medical Board of the High Court, Gave Splendid Address on the History of the Order—Other Fine Speeches.

AFFAIR LARGELY ATTENDED

Court Peterboro, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, celebrated the 30th anniversary of its inception by one of the most successful banquets which have been held in the city this winter. This splendid function was held on Monday night in the court's commodious and cozy lodge rooms on Simcoe street. Over two hundred members and visitors were present, composing an assembly who manifested in many ways the pleasure and pride they felt upon the progress and strength which the court has enjoyed and secured. The thirty years which have slowly lapsed since 1879 have wrought many changes in the membership of Court Peterboro.

Many of the original members have been called to their eternal reward, and the majority of those who remain are grey haired and by other signs are beginning to show the effects of declining years. The present influential position of Peterboro Court is to these pioneers a matter of pride and satisfaction, and many complimentary remarks were paid them upon their perseverance and long interest in Forestry.

The banquet tables were arranged parallel to that, at which was seated the chief guest of the evening, Dr. Stanley, chairman of the medical Health Board. With him in the seats of honour were Bros. Warden Scott, F. J. Jamieson, P.H.C.R., Mr. R. R. Hall, Bros. Jas. Kendry, H. C. Winch, Hon. J. R. Stratton, M. P., Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, Mr. E. M. Elliott, Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr., and Bros. E. A. Peck and H. Nesbitt.

The tables were tastily decorated and were burdened with the good things which Coleman Bros. provide. The various courses were served in a most acceptable manner, the caterers' work receiving many complimentary remarks.

The Toast List.

Bros. H. Nesbitt, the dutiful Financial Secretary of Court Peterboro, fulfilled the duties of chairman. He was pleased to see such a large number present. After proposing the toast of the King, which was duly honoured Bro. Nesbitt extended a hearty welcome to the members and visitors alike, remarking on the 30th anniversary of which the Court could well feel proud as having passed under most auspicious conditions.

The toast of the House of Commons and Legislative Assembly was proposed by Bro. E. A. Peck.

This toast, he said, carries us back to the time when the King was looked upon as absolute. Gradually, however, Legislative government developed, and as the result in every place where the Union Jack waves people gather under the good old emblem of freedom. In this country we have two legislative institutions, the government at Ottawa and the provincial legislatures. In those the humblest man may aspire to a seat and every man has a vote.

Mr. Stratton's Reply.

Mr. Stratton in responding to the toast of "The House of Commons," said he was greatly pleased to have the opportunity of speaking for the Parliament of Canada. The different parliaments in our history had done great things. Canada had led the world's race in the cause of human freedom and at its first parliament on the banks of old Niagara—passed a law abolishing human slavery—in 1828. Subsequently the British Parliament—in 1833—set aside a large sum to free 800,000 slaves in British possessions. A third of a century later the people to the south of us as a measure of war policy, abolished slavery. Canada through its parliament, was engaged and had been engaged in the work of nation building. A few scattered provinces comprised Canada less than half a century ago. To-day British constitutional government had its sway over three million square miles of the thre million five hundred thousand composing British North America, in the near future the arms of Canada would embrace Newfoundland and so round out the greatest colonial empire in the world. Canada through its parliament had done more in the construction of railways and canals than any other country of its population in history.

He was glad to meet the members and their friends of the Canadian Order of Foresters, one of the best fraternal organizations in existence. He could not claim to be one of the best members. Like the order, his business had grown and he did not have the time to attend metings as often as he would have desired. He referred to the fact this was the thirtieth birthday of the order which had been founded in London, Ontario, thirty years ago, and this year the high court was to meet there. The order founded on sound principles and well managed had shown great growth. The reserve fund of nearly three million was one of the strong features. It had grown from $883 in 1880 to $2,877,005 at present. While the membership and benefits had largely increased the greatest growth had been in the reserve fund. In 1880 it was $1.00 per member; in 1890 it was $10 per member, in 1900 it was $25 per member, and at the present time it was about $43 per member. The reserve fund investments were well destributed and of the soundest character—$150,000 in government stock and the balance in debentures of 250 municipalities. The interest receipts in 1908 were $101,000, enough to pay 26 per cent. of death claims. The death rate was lower than that of any similar organization. The average rate for 30 years being 5.12 per thousand and as a matter of fact the death rate was lower last year than the previous year. The reserve fund, if devoted wholly to the payment of death claims would pay them for seven years. Since its organization the order had paid out on benefits to widows and orphans amounting to nearly six millian. Thirty years ago the order began life with 850 members. Its membership roll was now 70,000, divided among 1,200 courts of which the three most flourishing were in Peterborough. The growth of the order had been sound and healthy. With its strong financial standing, its careful management, healthy membership and low death rate, it was known to continue growing. Its growth had been made without kite flying methods and loud advertising, and to his congratulations upon the flourishing condition Forestry he was justified in adding his hope that it would continue to prosper in even an increasing degree.

The High Court.

Bro. F. J. Jamieson proposed the toast of the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters, introducing Dr. Stanley. The latter was given a cordial reception. He regretted the fact that the High Chief Ranger, Bro. John A. Smith was unable to come to Peterboro. Speaking of the history of the Canadian Order of Foresters he stated that in 1879 it had been formed by 490 members of the Independent Order of Foresters of America, who had seceded from that body. The success that this small number had attained should be an inspiration to the young men of to-day, who, with an order now strong and influential, should profit by the experience of their predecessors, and build it up in keeping with the splendid foundation which had been raised during the past thirty years. One of the aims of the High Court was to give to the members life val at the lowest possible cost. The initial rate of fifty cents per head without regard for age, had existed until 1885. Then in June of that year, in Peterboro, the graded scale of premium was established, and continues to the present. Members from 18 to 25 years pay 60 cents, from 25 to 30 years, 65 cents, from 30 to 35 years, 70 cents, from 40 to 45 years, $1.00. Not one dollar of the surplus of the smallest earnings had ever been lost. "There is not an investment you have got," Dr. Stanley stated, "that will give you safer returns than that which you made with the C. O. F." It has been said that the Order could not hope to meet all requirements with such a premium as it has. The death rate has been very low. During the first ten years it was 5.01 per 1,000, in the second ten years 5.03 per 1,000, and during the last ten years but 5.33 per 1,000. "We have demonstrated that we can meet all the requirements that may be made.

Every cent of the premium income has been put away to meet death claims. If the time should ever come when an increase in premium was required, Dr. Stanley thought every member would stand willing.

Membership Increase.

In 1879 there were 490 members of the C.O.F. This grew to 6,000 in 1885, and on January 1st of this year there were 70,000 members. They would continue to grow until every city, town and village in Canada had a court. The average age of the members in 1906 was less in proportion to its liabilities than any other institution on the continent. Dr. Stanley referred to the Chief Executive, who, he said, carefully guarded the interests of the members and thereby the welfare of the Order. Dr. Stanley's address was received by continued applause.

Bro. Donald Menzies proposed the toast to the Mercantile and Manufacturing Interests of Our City, which was heartily received.

Mr. R. R. Hall, in reply, spoke eulogistically of the splendid address given by Dr. Stanley. During the past two years it has not been a "picnic" to be connected with commercial industries, owing to the financial weakness. The revenue of the country is an example of this. The revenue of Canada was ten millions of dollars less last year than in the previous year. However, an increase is being experienced thus far during the present year, which is an encouraging promise for the future. Peterborough, occupying a prominent position among the list of Canadian cities, occupies a splendid position for commercial activities. The canal and our present railways are great assets. The new line from Victoria Harbour to Peterborough will be a great benefit to this city, and add a stimulus to the city's business. Mr. Hall thanked the chairman for the honour conferred upon him, in replying to the toast.

Bro. Jas. Kendry also responded to the toast. He first referred to Dr. Stanley's speech, which he spoke of in words of praise for the splendid manner in which the merits of the Order were presented. He had been connected with the city's manufacturing interests for many years, and was one of the oldest now in business. The growth of the city had been marked and steady. Mr. Kendry thought that Peterborough ought to have secured more industries than it had. The stores of the city were as good as those found anywhere, and we could lay claim to a splendid commercial standing as well as industrial.

Learned Professions

The toast of the Learned Professions and Educational Institutions was proposed by Bro. Dr. Halloway and was responded to by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt.

The object of the meeting, he said, was to forward the interests of the order. He expressed his pleasure at being invited to be present and for the honour of being called upon to reply to this toast. It was difficult, he said, to get along without the doctor, the lawyer, and the parson. Each had his respective sphere, which Dr. Langfeldt spoke of in a humorous vein.

Bro. Adam Hall proposed the toast of the County and City of Peterborough. Bro. Warden Scott responded in a few well-chosen words. The members of the County Council were trying to give the people a good and honest representation. He went on to refer to the Canadian Order of Foresters, having been one of the first members of Bridgenorth Court.

Mr. E. M. Elliott, County Treasurer, was also called upon to reply to this toast. He was glad to see that there were so many gentlemen from the county members of the order. He remarked that the procedure of the House at Ottawa was copied from the County Council. The county's progress and standing were referred to and presented in a brief and interesting manner. Mr. Elliott expressed the hope that Peterborough Court and the entire order would continue to enjoy the best of success.

Sister Societies

Bro. W. S. Robinson, P.D.D.H.C.R. proposed the toast of Sister Societies and Visiting Brethren in an appropriate manner. Bro. R. L. Layfield, responding, said that the attendance was a fine example of the membership of the order.

Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr., on behalf of the A.O.U.W. was pleased to be present. He extended greetings from the order he represented. Every man should protect his family by a life insurance as the society provided. The C.O.F. was doing excellent work upon which it was to be commended. Mr. Turner congratulated Peterborough Court upon the splendid success of its anniversary banquet.

Bro. John Nugent on behalf of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows congratulated the Chairman and his assistants for the success of their efforts in making the affair such a success.

Bro. Nugent was proud to be an Odd Fellow and a Forester.

Mr. J. N. Telford, of Bridgenorth, stated that about twenty-five of the members of the court from the village were present to hear Dr. Stanley and he was confident they had all enjoyed the splendid lecture. Bridgenorth Court was in a flourishing condition, having a strong membership which had been secured by the active interest of the members.

Charter Members

The toast of the Charter Members and Past Chief Rangers proposed by Bro. W. A. Whitcroft, was honoured in an hearty manner. Bro. Geo. S. Kingdom and Bro. N. Lush made suitable replies in which they dealt with the many changes that had been experienced in the local court among the members and the progress made under their care.

Court Peterborough

In a happy speech Dr. Stanley proposed the toast of Court Peterborough. He coupled with it the names of Rev. J. G. Potter and Meldrum The former replying stated that the officers of the court, those members, who were bearing the brunt of its progress, deserved great credit for the success they have achieved. Rev. Mr. Potter considered that meetings such as that of last night should be more numerous. The members were brought together in a pleasant manner and the interest in the order was thus enlivened and a new impetus was incepted.

Bro. W. H. Meldrum as a member of Court Peterborough enjoyed such meetings. The progress of the court was similar to that made by the city. Their steps in advance had been in time. Mr. Meldrum expressed his pleasure at being present at the banquet and hoped that the court would long enjoy the prosperity which had marked the past.

The toast of the Press was proposed by Bro. Walter Hooper and was responded to by the representatives present.

During the evening Mr. Gordon Wright sang two songs which well deserved the hearty reception they received. One was "When All is Still" and the other, "Mary of Argyle," both of which were pleasingly delivered. The evening closed by the singing of the National Anthem and hearty cheers for Dr. Stanley and the chairman, Bro. Nesbitt.

The committee who arranged the celebration of the anniversary received many compliments upon the success of their endeavours.

INTHON MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

The attendance keeps on increasing in leaps and bounds every Sunday.

Sunday afternoon, ninety-six were in attendance.

If it keeps up much longer the Inthons will have to find larger quarters.

It looks good to see the room full and we hope it will be the same way every Sunday.

The Class motto: "We can IF I WILL," seems to fit in pretty good.

The President, Mr. W. B. Warne, was conspicuous by his absence, and not only was he missed, but he also missed hearing a very good lesson discussion which was carried on between the teacher (Rev. E. A. Pearson) and the Class.

After the lesson came the reports of the secretary and treasurer, which were very gratifying indeed.

The bouquet of flowers, which is supplied by the class every Sunday, was sent to Mr. William Might, who is at present very sick. His many friends will regret to learn that he has not improved very much in the last week.

The meeting of the Dominion Alliance next Thursday (the 4th) was brought before the Class. It was decided to send a delegate. Ex-Alderman Johnston was unanimously selected.

The meeting was then brought to a close, and after the "Friendly Inthon" handshake, the members and visitors dispersed.

OLD RESIDENT OF LAKEFIELD IS DEAD

Mr. C. J. Vizard Passes Away in His Ninetieth Year—Was a Mason.

One of the oldest if not the oldest resident of Lakefield passed away there Sunday morning at ten o'clock in the death of Mr. C. J. Vizard, who for the past fifty years had lived in that village. Mr. Vizard at one time lived in Peterborough, but moved to Lakefield fifty years ago and had resided there ever since. He was widely and favourably known to the people of the district, his many sterling qualities winning him the esteem and affection of those with whom he was brought into contact. He was a former member of Corinthian Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, and was a charter member of the Lakefield Lodge of Masons.

The deceased was in his ninetieth year, and death was due to old age.

One nephew, Mr. Patrick, of Lakefield, survives him. The funeral will take place to-morrow at two o'clock at Lakefield under Masonic auspices.

CITY COUNCIL'S LONG SESSION BY-LAWS AND REPORTS KEPT CITY FATHERS BUSY FOR HOURS

Thirteen By-laws in All Were Passed—The Most Important Being One to Provide $120,000 for New Water Works Dam.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The City Council at its regular meeting on Monday night had the longest session since 1907, adjourning just before twelve o'clock after the time had been extended twice. Thirteen by-law reports from nearly all the standing and special committees and a large number of communications were the items that kept the city fathers at their desks and a considerable amount of business was transacted, as there were no deputations to take up the time. The most important matters that came up were the striking of the rate and the consideration of the by-laws to provide $120,000 for the new water works dam, and $15,000 for a power house. All the aldermen were present with Mayor Rush presiding.

Manufacturing Committee.

The Manufacturing Committee reported and recommended as follows:

1. That this committee be authorized to send deputations to other places in regard to prospective industries and that their expenses be paid on the certificate of the chairman of this committee or the Mayor.

2. That a By-law be passed to amend By-law No. 1428, so as to authorize the Peterborough City Trust to give Wm. Weatherstone a deed of lots 26 and 27, Block A, Plan 14, which he purchased for the purpose of erecting on them a building for a mat factory without conditions.

The Finance Committee reported as follows:

1. Your Committee heard a deputation from the Board of Education and after receiving explanations we recommend that a By-law be passed for $10,000 to pay the balance of expenditure on permanent improvements for the Collegiate Institute, and that $4,000 be taken from this year's demand of the Board of Education for Public School purposes, and that a By-law be passed to issue debentures for that sum to pay the balance of expenditures for permanent improvements on the King Edward School, Queen Alexandra, Park Street and Central Public Schools.

2. We recommend that provisions be made that dog taxes be not placed on the Collector's Roll but that a list of all persons assessed for dogs be furnished by the City Clerk to the Police and that the Collector of taxes co-operate with the police in enforcing the collection of dog taxes.

3. We recommend that a By-law regarding Poll Tax be amended to provide that the Assessors furnish a list of those liable for the tax to the Tax Collector once a week.

4. We recommend that the Telephone be taken out of the Tax Collector's office.

5. We recommend that a cheque for $40.00 be issued to the Registrar of the College of Physicians and Surgeons for a fine collected in the Police Court upon an information laid by an officer of that College.

6. We recommend that a grant of $25 be made to the Peterborough Teachers' Institute in accordance with the statute.

7. We recommend that the annual membership fee of $36 be paid to the Union of Canadian Municipalities.

8. We recommend that one copy of the Ontario Gazette be subscribed for the city office, and that the Treasurer issue a cheque for the subscription fee.

9. We recommend that the following accounts be paid:

The Property Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That this Committee be authorized to arrange with the Real Estate Agents to sell the Nicholls' Estate building on the north side of Simcoe street at the price of $14.000.

2. That a By-law be passed to amend the Market By-law to take out the enactment forfeiting articles of light weight.

The Board of Works and Legal Committee, special Power Committee and Committee of the whole Council, also reported.

Ald. Hicks took exception to the first claim in the Finance Committee's report. He moved that the matter be submitted to the people at the January elections next year and the motion was defeated by a vote being taken.

Ald. Morgan was opposed to the recommendation from the Committee of the whole Council, that the Council should not oppose the request of the Radial Railway Company for an extension of time unless the council was given a guarantee from the Company that they would commence the extensionof heir new line this year.

Mayor Rush explained that the Company would not give a guarantee, but that he had a letter from Mr. Stuart in reference to the matter which he thought was satisfactory.

Ald. Morgan, however, moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the City oppose the request unless a guarantee was secured.

The amendment to the report was lost however.

Thirteen by-laws were voted on Ald. Morrow, chairman of the Finance Committee and Ald. Phelan, chairman of the Board of Works, contributing the majority of them.

Sveral of the by-laws were to provide for the cost of the construction of sewers and granolithic sidewalks.

The ohers were as follows:

To provide $10,000 to pay for the the Collegiate Institute.

To provide for the watering of certain streets in the city.

To provide for the borrowing of $120,000 for the consruction of a new water works and dam and pumping station.

To provide $15,000 for a powerhouse to be built at the water works dam.

To amend the market by-law.

To appoint Messrs. Vincent Eastwood and H. LeBrun members of the City Trust Commission.

Ald. Hicks took exception to the submitting of the by-law for $15,000 for the power house. He did not think that there was any need of hurry in the matter and was of the opinion that it would be better to wait until all the information possible in connection with the matter was at hand.

The question of holding a military demonstration here on the 24th of May was brought up and dismissed at the annual meeting of the 57th Regiment last evening, but nothing definite was decided upon.

There were about twenty-five officers present and a great deal of business was transacted. Col. E. V. Stevenson was in the chair. The reading of the financial report was left over until the adjourned meeting on Tuesday evening next.

The opening of the new armouries was discussed and it was in connection with it, that a military demonstration was proposed. If the city would do their part the regiment would see hat it would be a success. An invitation would be extended to other regiments to visit Peterborough.

J. C. Eaton Emphatically Denies That Store Will Be Opened Here

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eaton, Mrs. Timothy Eaton, and Mrs. J. C. Eaton's mother, Mrs McCrea, of Omemee, were in the city yesterday. They arrived here an the noon G. T. R. train on their private car "Eatonia" and returned to Toronto in the evening.

Mr. Eaton positively denied the rumour which has been current in Peterborough, to the effect that the Timothy-Eaton Co. were going to open a store here. His visit here, he said, had nothing whatever to do with that. He had been in Peterborough a few weeks ago and his trip then as it was yesterday, was to have some photographs taken at the Roy Studio.

RURAL POLICE FOR PROVINCE

Ontario Government Is About to Establish a Force-

WILL BE SALARIED MEN

Comprehensive Scheme Is Under Consideration by Which Ontario Will Have a Paid System to Enforce the Law and Protect the Outlying Districts—The Men Will Have to Know the Country.

Toronto, March 2.—The "Ontario Provincial Police" will be designed to insure law-observanve and law-enforcement. Its mission will be to establish and maintain Ontario's good name, at home and abroad—to make this province alike feared by evil-doers and respected by the people at large. It will co-operate in the enforcement of the liquor laws, the stamping out of disorderly houses and petty crime.

No official intimation as to the composition or character of the proposed organization has yet been forthcoming from the Government, but it has been learned that the project will probably be a comprehensive and thorough one.

It is unofficially reported that a provisional draft of the proposed organization and equipment of a force of provincial police is now practically in readiness for Government supervision. Under this plan a systematized organization is contemplated. The official head will, it is understood, be the Attorney-General, while immediately under him will be the chief executive officer, who will have supervision over the entire force. Associated with the chief will probably be two divisional superintendents.

In co-operation with the head office will likely be a staff—probably three to five—inspectors of criminal investigation, or secret service men.

The working force will, it is believed, be composed of sergeants and constables. A sergeant will be placed over each county or district. His headquarters will probably be at the county town in the organized parts and at the most central point in unorganized territory. He will be required to keep in constant touch with his men and their work, and with the divisional superintendent.

A strict code of rules will govern the constables. No one will be allowed to enter the force under the age of 21 or over that of 38 years. They may be required to qualify by test or examination, must know thorpughly the country in which they serve and have acquainted themselves with the statutes it is their duty to enforce.

The intention is, it is understood, to have the entire force paid by salary. The retention of fees or the acceptance of commissions will be absolutely prohibited.

Patrick Pleading His Own Case.

New York, March 2.—Lawyer Albert T. Patrick, serving a life sentence for the murder of William Marsh Rice, the aged millionaire, left Sing Sing Prison yesterday and appeared before the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Brooklyn on a writ of habeas corpus to argue his own case, contending that he either deserves execution or freedom, because his commutation to life imprisonment was illegal. Adjournment was made till Friday.

A Usury Case.

Hamilton, March 2.—Sylvester Nelson was committed at the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of lending and conspiring to lend money and charging interest over the amount allowed by the Usury Act. George Ferguson, the complainant, said that Nelson bought his furniture, advancing $50, which Ferguson agreed to pay back in three installments of $23. Ald. Creerar, who appeared for Ferguson, figured that the rate of interest was 112 per cent.

Ice at Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, March 2.—Fears of an ice famine in Port Arthur next summer are dispelled. Thunder Bay is frozen over and the crop now being taken is 16 inches thick, half the usual thickness.

Russia's Advice.

St. Petersburg, March 2.—The Russian Government has sent a telegram to the Servian Government, counselling Servia to renounce all territorial claims and await the decision of the powers.

Don't Neglect a Cough or Cold."

It can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It is without an equal as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Quinsy and all affections of the Throat and Lungs.

A single dose of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will stop a cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs, the healing properties of the Norway Pine Tree will proclaim its great virtue by promptly eradicating the bad effects, and a persistent use of the remedy cannot fail to bring about a complete cure.

Do not be humbugged into buying so-called Norway Pine Syrups, but be sure and insist on having Dr. Wood's. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and price 25 cents.

Mrs. A. Elles, Innisfail, Alta., writes: "Last spring I had Typhoid fever and Bronchitis, which left me with a terrible cough. I tried doctor's medicine but got no relief until my husband got me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and before I had finished it my cough was cured. My husband also uses it whenever he has a cough. I would not be without it."

A BLESSING TO MANY PEOPLE

May Mean Much Less Sickness Here When This Prescription is Known.

IS A HOME-MADE REMEDY

This is a simple home receipe now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble which have made so many cripples and invalids and weaklings of some of our brightest and strongest people.

The druggists here have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients, and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; and Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Recent experiments prove this simple mixture effective in rheumatism, because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It compels these most vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste impurities and uric acid, which are the cause of rheumatism. It cleanses the kidneys, strengthens them and removes quickly such symptoms as backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness, frequent urination, painful scalding and discoloured urine. It acts as a powerful stimulant to the entire kidney and bladder structure.

Those who suffer and are accustomed to purchase a bottle of medicine should not let a little inconvenience.

LIBEL LAW REVISION.

Hon. J. J. Foy's Amendments to Act Are Introduced In Legislature.

Toronto, March 2.—Thirty-six third readings were on the order paper of the Legislature yesterday, seven second readings, and one question. The business done consisted of the routine presentation of petitions and the introduction of four new bills, none of the regular orders being touched.

Hon. J. J. Foy introduced another of the statutory revision bills, the present one respecting the actions for libel and slander. The bill, though printed, he said, would not pass in that shape. The proposed changes he thought would be for the benefit of the newspapers and the advantage of the public. The time for issuing a writ, which was now three months from the time of the libel coming to the knowledge of the complainant, might be shortened. It was found in practice that the provisions for consolidating actions brought by one person against several papers did not accomplish the object intended. When exactly the same libel appeared in several papers one paragraph was taken in one paper, a second paragraph in another, another in a third, and so on, and the judges held that this was not within the statute of consolidation. The statute was also sometimes evaded by issuing several writs and only serving one, going on with that and holding the others till the time for consolidation had gone past. The amended act will provide for these and other contingencies.

W. H. Hearst introduced a bill to amend the Unorganized Territory Act, and J. J. Preston (Durham) a bill to incorporate the Ontario Eastern Counties Electric Belt Line Railway Co.

Mr. Fox will introduce a bill to amend the Municipal Waterworks Act.

Mr. Stock will move for a return showing: 1. The names of all the collegiate institutes, high schools and continuation class schools in the province. 2. Which of these schools were classed "approved" in the academic year July, 1907, and July, 1908. 3. The change (if any) made in the classification of each such school since July 1, 1908, to date. 4. The reasons for each such change in classification.

CASHIER IS GONE.

Frank Lee of Saskatoon Missing With $5,000 Shortage.

Saskatoon, Sask., March 2.—Considerable astonishment was aroused locally when it was stated yesterday morning that Frank Lee, teller in the Northern Crown Bank here, is missing along with $5,000 in cash.

Lee was a young fellow and well-liked and no one suspected anything wrong. About ten days ago he got leave to visit his mother in the east, who was reported to be dying, and left hurriedly. It is now rumored that along with Lee, a woman from the red light district went on the same train.

Inspector Tule of Winnipeg, and local Manager R. R. Morgan will say nothing other than they look to the bonding company to make good the shortage in his accounts.

In addition to being teller, Lee was also acting accountant, and it would be an easy matter for him to "cook" the books to cover up any shortage.

It is supposed Lee has gone south.

Not Enough Prohibitionists.

St. John, N.B., March 2.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, Premier of New Brunswick, yesterday addressed to J. Willard Smith, head of the temperance federation, a letter answering their request for a provincial prohibitory law. Mr. Hazen points out that the petition presented by the temperance people does not contain names enough to show that there is a sufficiently strong sentiment to warrant the passage of a prohibitory law.

He promises some amendments to the Provincial Act that will make it more workable, and more in line with the Ontario Act in the matter of shutting out licenses in any ward or district.

Must Give Up One.

Ottawa, March 2.—The Deputy Minister of Education has ruled that a school teacher cannot be a trustee.

Public School Trustee Thompson of Ottawa has been appointed to Stittsville High School, and a ruling was asked on the point.

Aylesworth Condemns Injustice of Cobalt Lake Decision.

DEBATE ON CHEAP PHONES

Haughton Lennox Declares That the Rates Are Too High, but A. K. MacLean Says Government-Owned Telephones of the West Are No Cheaper—Bill to Restrict Sale of Revolvers, Knives, Etc.

Ottawa, March 2.—"I only trust that the day will never come when they may see reason to regret from personal experience that they (the voters of Ontario) did not condemn at the polls, as it ought to have been condemned, this manifest encroachment upon the rights of property and the right to resort to courts," said Mr. Aylesworth, in concluding a powerful speech yesterday on a motion of A. H. Clark (Essex) for papers in connection with the request of the Florence Mining Co. for disallowance of the act respecting Cobalt and Kerr Lakes, passed by the Ontario Legislature in 1907.

Mr. Clark declared the act to be a clear violation of the eighth commandment, inasmuch as it not only confiscated private property, but prevented the Florence Mining Co., the prior claimants, from following up their case in the courts. The Florence Mining Co. had appealed in vain to both the Lieutenant-Governor and the governor-in-council at Ottawa to disallow the act, while Justice Riddell had decided that even to the extent of confiscation of private rights, the Legislature was acting within its competence.

The proposition to refer the matter to appeal to decide whether the property was open for exploration was refused. Then the act of 1906 was rushed through, which the Florence Mining Co. believe took from them property worth over a million dollars, without compensation. The company would take the case, if necessary, to the foot of the throne. Independent opinion in the country would be such that the Privy Council uphold the action of the Ontario Legislature, measures should be taken to provide a remedy even if it required an amendment to the B.N.A. Act.

"One of the principal grounds on which the question was rested," said Mr. Aylesworth, in his speech, "was that it affected the revenues of the province. No doubt it did. There was a million dollars hung up before the eyes of the voters of the Province of Ontario, and because the Ontario Government had secured from this operation the magnificent sum of $1,000,000, the voters of the province were asked to ratify what they had done and to say that it was a proper and legitimate transaction.

"I wonder if it occurred to any of my fellow electors that the Government of Ontario could, at any time make a good many millions of dollars if they pleased for the revenues of the province by confiscating farms enough, and by legislating these farms into the pockets of anybody willing to pay for them."

Mr. Borden said he regretted the "bad taste" of Mr. Aylesworth in attacking the Ontario Government. If the refusal of the Ontario Government to permit litigation in respect to the rights of the companies that claim to have been aggrieved was outrageous, he would like to point out that in no less than thirty or forty cases the Government refused to allow a reference to the Exchequer Court of claims against the Postoffice Department.

"Let me ask the Minister of Justice," he said, "to begin his investigations against the Government of which he is a member."

The resolution was passed.

That it has become the duty of the Dominion Government to initiate measures to remove long existing abuses in regard to the telephone service of the people of Canada and secure a rate at least as moderate as in countries where a national telephone service is maintained, was urged by Haughton Lennox, who moved last night a resolution along these lines.

The report of Francis Dagger, who had investigated the question, and the opinion of Sir Wm. Mulock, amply bore out the statement that Canadians were paying 100 per cent. more for telephone service than any other people in the world, he said. While not arguing for Government ownership he maintained that the Government should do something to relieve the people from the heavy burden they were bearing.

After eleven months of Government-ownership and operation of telephones, the Manitoba Government had a surplus of $38,000 after 1,468 miles long distance had been added and 2,168 new stations established.

A. K. MacLean (Lunenburg) denied that the people of the three western provinces where the Government owns and operates the telephone service were paying less for telephones than those of the other provinces. He claimed the national telephone service in Europe were as a rule very bad and the rates there could not fairly be compared with rates in Canada. Instead of a surplus it could be easily shown that there had been a deficit while the rates in Alberta were not lower than in the County of Simcoe.

He moved an amendment, expressing approval of the Government placing telephones under the control of the Railway Board.

Mr. Armstrong criticized the manner in which independent lines were treated by the Bell company in the matter of connections.

Mr. Lennox wanted to divide the House on the motion.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier protested that there would be abundant opportunity to resume the discussion, but Mr. Lennox insisted on dividing the House, and the members were called, resulting in the motion of Mr. Carvell being carried by 101 yeas to 47 nays.

E. N. Lewis introduced a bill in the House yesterday to amend the criminal code respecting offensive weapons and capital offences. An immigrant landing in Canada was almost sure to see displays of knives and revolvers in pawn shop windows, which encouraged them to regard weapons as necessary. The bill would permit the sale of weapons only by license. All capital sentences he would have executed at the nearest penitentiary, instead of in the county jail. Hangings, under existing conditions, really constituted incentives to crime.

In reply to Mr. Monk the Minister of Agriculture stated that Dr. J. G. Rutherford had tendered his resignation as veterinary director-general, but had withdrawn it.

A question by Mr. Foster elicited the information that subscriptions by the provinces and private individuals to the Quebec Battlefields Fund amounted to $450,880. Towards the tercentenary fund the Dominion Government subscribed $300,000, sales of tickets for pageants yielded $32,280, refunds, etc., $3,557; total $335,838. There was spent on the celebrations $321,168; out of the battlefields' funds, $24,450 only have been spent, leaving $436,426 in the fund.

Control of Streets.

Montreal, March 2.—A meeting of mayors and representatives of municipalities on and in the neighborhood of the Island of Montreal was held yesterday to take united action with a view to protecting the interests of the municipalities and the public against the encroachments of private companies.

W. D. Lighthall, secretary of the Association of Canadian Municipalities, said the municipalities should stand united in a protest to the Government against the rights to control their own streets being over-ridden by any charter granted to private companies by Parliament or the Legislature, and this was endorsed by the whole company present.

PURITY FLOUR

And Its Keeping Qualities

SOME people find it necessary to buy a considerable quantity of flour at one time—sufficient to last for a long period. Naturally they are anxious to procure a flour of the kind best adapted to lengthy storage.

There are two important reasons why PURITY FLOUR possesses these qualities. One is that it is made entirely from Manitoba Hard Wheat. The other lies in the fact that the careful milling necessary to produce "Purity" absolutely excludes all low-grade particles of the wheat berry. It's the high grade Manitoba Hard Wheat Flour that keeps—stands longest storage. That's "Purity."

"Purity" flour may cost a little more, but is more than worth the difference. Try it. Watch results both for quality and yield.

"Shakspere's Women" Subject Of A Delightful Paper At The Meeting Of T.A.S. Literary Society

On Friday evening Miss Mamie Theobald read a very interesting paper on "Shakespeare's Women," before the members of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S. The essayist handled her subject very creditably, and as an introduction she sketched briefly the generalities of Shakespeare's style in drawing portraits of his male and female characters.

The first character discussed was that of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice," an ideal woman, keen witted and brilliant of intellect, a great lover of all things beautiful, and possessing a disposition of rare humility and sweetness. In connection with this character, that of Portia in "Julius Caesar" was taken up, a woman with a marked and vigorous personality. No relation of man and woman in the plays of Shakespeare is altogether so noble as that of Portia and her husband, Brutus, and the story of their lives was prettily told. Portia's death, like her life, includes all common grief and joy. Shakespeare pays a high tribute to her when he says: "Portia, the ideal of moral loveliness, heroic and feminine."

Another beautiful study is that of the character of Juliet, a woman of Italy, whose great beauty seems in harmony with the beauty of the country, where she lives. Juliet has been called the embodiment of love itself — the passion is her state of being, and out of it she has no existence. The love that is so dignified in Portia, so constant in Imogen, so devoted in Desdemona, is each and all of these in Juliet.

An extreme type along a different line is the character of Lady Macbeth. She has a strong personality and is of high rank, but in her loveliness she feeds herself with day dreams of ambition, but she mistakes the courage of fantasy, for the power of bearing the consequences of the realities of guilt. However, all through her strong nerved ambition, the ruling passion of her mind, there is yet a touch of womanhood. She is ambitious, less for herself than for her husband. She wishes tto see him on the throne and the sceptre within his grasp, and the strength of her affection helps her on in her scheme.

The essayist also sketched the character of Cordelia, King Lear's daughter, beautiful and loveable, yet shy, reserved and seemingly cold. In strong contrast to her are the portraits shown of her two sisters Goneril and Regan, who were possessed with a very distinct and original impulse of malignity.

The essay closed with a brief review of Shakespeare's style and discipline as depicted in the different pen portraits drawn, and his truthfulness in revealing to us what he has grasped from life.

The musical programme during the evening was as follows:—
Selection — Mandolin Club.
Vocal Solo — Miss F. Carew.
Recitation — Miss Margaret Derocher.
Piano Solo — Master A. Weatherhead.

SHERIFF HALL THE SPEAKER AT SUNDAY'S TEMPERANCE RALLY

The auditorium at the Crystal was comfortably filled at the meeting in the cause of Temperance on Sunday afternoon. A number of hymns were sung as the audience gathered, after which the meeting was taken charge of by ex-Alderman Joseph Batten, chairman for the afternoon. A solo was rendered in excellent voice by Mr. Geo. W. Mulligan, the audience joining heartily in the chorus. The speaker for the afternoon was Sheriff Hall.

The Chairman

In his remarks expressed his pleasure at having the Sheriff with him. He felt safe with the Sheriff at his side, and was glad to see any strong man engaged in the great and noble cause of temperance. There was some good in the worst of men; our duty is to help them up, to lift thhem oart of the gutter and tell them of better things. Many had been rescued by kind words and prayer. None are free from danger; the best may be brought to disgrace. The only safety is to remove altogether the temptation. The women were braver than the men, and not afraid to come out and face the evil. Reference was made to a former campaign when the women marched and sang on our streets.

Sheriff Hall

Began his address by asking if there were any present who could not cast their minds back to many who began the race of life with them, but who had fallen by the way — victims to strong drink. He instanced two boys who were his own seat mates at school, one had died recently full of years and honours, while the younger and brighter of the two had been for fifty years in a drunkard's grave. He referred to his class in college, not large in number, but fully up to the average in ability, having furnished three Chief Justices, a Presbyterian Professor, and an Auditor General. One, the star of the class, was a member of Parliament at 30, a judge at 35, and filling a drunkard's grave before he was 45.

Those who had lived for some time in Peterborough were asked to cast their memories back to two murders in the town, both the result of drink. In one a man, ordinarily loving and gentle, shot his wife, and in the other a hotel keeper shot a drunken patron who threatened his life. The jury declared that he was justified. This evil does not affect men only. A young woman, refined and well educated, had acquired the taste for liquor. She left her room at night and went to a hotel, so strong was her appetite, and in the morning was found dead at the foot of the stairs.

Such is the work of this curse; is there a remedy? Can we get rid of it? The men who carry on this business are licensed. When small pox breaks out in a community, we shut up the places where it is — even if they are hotels. Small pox does not kill one for every dozen killed by strong drink. What are we to do? Shut up the bars. It will not be easy, but the people have the matter in their own hands. They can have it done if they want to, but they must want it pretty bad. The publicans are over on the look-out to know what the people want badly. They give it to them but not sooner. The temperance workers must take the advice given by Peter in one of his epistles: "Gird up the loins of your mind," which means briefly "Get to work in earnest." "Be sober," which does not refer to abstinence from drink, but to sober mindedness, self control, persistence, and steady onward movement. "Hope," which counsels to look ahead with confidence that if we do our duty things will work out all right in the end.

Rev. Mr. Potter pronounced the benediction, closing the meeting.

A Convict's Life At The Kingston Penitentiary

Interesting Address by Rev. Alfred E. Lavall at the George Street Church Last Evening—How the Criminals of the Country Serve Their Time.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

"Life in the Kingston Penitentiary" was the subject of one of the most interesting addresses that has been delivered here for some time. It was given last evening by Rev. Alfred E. Lavell, of Kingston, a son of a former warden of the Penitentiary, at the George Street Methodist church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid.

The Sunday School room was well filled, as a result of which a substantial sum has been added to the Society's funds.

The chair was taken by Mr D. W. Dumble, K.C., who, after devotional exercises, introduced the speaker of the evening. In doing so, the chairman compared criminal conditions of fifty years ago with those of the present day. The older people, he said, would remember when it was most necessary to lock their doors at night for fear of burglars. But many changes had taken place. The primary cause of these changes, conditions, he believed, was the American Civil War. At the close of it, many men were left without work, and now the country had what was commonly known as the tramp.

Mr. Dumble also compared the methods of punishment in the olden days to the present mode. Now, an attempt was made to make men good.

Prisoners were allowed out on ticket of leave if their behaviour during their incarceration had been worthy of recognition. The visiting speaker would have more, he said, to say on the subject, and without any further remarks on the part of the chairman, Mr. Lavell was called upon.

The Address.

The lecturer began by giving his audience a clear and distinctive outline as to the situation of the great Kingston Penitentiary, and the immense area of land that it covered. He described the massive structures enclosed in the prison walls, the beautiful form of the institution, and the daily, monotonous life of the unfortunate convicts. The people were deeply interested and after hearing Mr. Lavell's remarks one would have a greater dread of prison life than ever before.

Convicts were rarely intelligent or even sharp men. There were some intelligent ones, but these were the exception and not the rule. The prisoners were watched closely, each guard having nothing to do but to walk up and down counting his men, over and over again. They never knew when one might attempt escape.

The speaker asked his hearers to picture in their minds an ancient city, and then an old English castle within its domes, and high stone walls. That would give one a good conception of what the Kingston was like. There were two great gates at the entrance, fifty feet apart. At no time were they both open at once. Everything that went in and came out had to be examined, even to loads of rubbish. An iron rod was run through these, for fear that concealed in them prisoners might attempt escape.

Mr. Lavell went on to tell of the life of a convict from the time he entered the penitentiary until he had received his pardon. He spoke of the garbs they wore, the occupations and he plain but wholesome food they were given to eat. Convicts, as a rule, showed a strong disinclination to work, but at Kingston they had to work. Their's was no easy life. The atmosphere of the whole place was one of darkness and sadness, unparalleled anywhere from the Atlantic to the Pacific. If any one had any doubts as to the awfulness of the place let him live there for six days. In the line-up there, one saw the faces of old men, who had spent all their lives in crime, but more prominent were the young faces. The prisoners had to go to church. There were Roman Catholic and Protestant chapels in which services were held every Sunday.

At the present time, the speaker said, that there were between four and five hundred male and only about thirty female convicts at Kingston. If a convict behaved properly in Penitentiary he was allowed out on parole, or probably if his sentence had been five years it would be diminished to four. About ninety per cent. of the prisoners allowed out on parole remained out. If a prisoner misbehaved he served his full sentence. Escapes averaged about one in three years. Sometimes men were pardoned.

In conclusion the speaker said that efforts were made at the penitentiary to reform men in a rational, Christian way, but some men were a menace ta the country and could not be reformed.

Prayer by the Pastor, Rev. E. A. Pearson, closed a very interesting evening.

Have Pledged One Week's Wages For Fund To Meet Building Expenses

The soldiers of the Salvation Army met last night and with Staff Captain White, considered the question of securing finances for the addition to the barracks. Among the plans suggested was that of each soldier giving one week's wages to help build up the fund. Many of them pledged themselves to do this and other plans will be considered. Commissioner Coombs will give his illustrated lecture "From Bethlehem to Calgary" during the month and other methods will be used.

MORE MONEY NEEDED TO SEND DAVID HARTLEY TO NEW YORK

David Hartley, who will be one of Canada's representatives in the great International six-day go-as-you-please race in Madison Square Garden, commencing on Monday next, has been meeting with only fair success in his canvass to secure sufficient funds to pay his entrance fee and transport him to New York. A considerable amount is still required and any one who is anxious to help is asked to send his contribution to the Examiner office. The Peterborough veteran is in great shape and is confident of making a good showing in the contest. It should be remembered that the conditions in this race are widely different from those governing the race here when speed and not endurance was the necessary qualification. In the New York contest endurance will count and Hartley should show up to advantage against the best of them. It will be a great ad for Peterborough to have one of its citizens in the race, as one of the two Canadian representatives, and no doubt there are many who would like to help in the work. Those who desire to are asked to send in their contributions at once.

SIMPSON AND SHRUBB TO RUN AN EXCURSION FROM HERE

It has been reported in the city on god authority, that Fred Simpson, the Peterborough Indian, is to race Alfred Shrubb fifteen miles indoors in the Toronto Armouries on Friday night, but so far the Toronto press has been silent concerning the approaching go. A race between Simpson and the great little Englishman should prove about the best that has been seen for many moons. Simpson's time for ten miles indoors is faster than the record established by Shrubb in Boston, in December, 1907, when he ran ten miles against a relay in 53 minutes 15 seconds. It is possible that if the race is pulled off on Friday night, that an excursion will be run to Toronto by special train as a number of local people would like to see the contest.

PACIFICS WON ALL THREE FROM "B'S"

Newspaper Men Drop Several Places in the League Race.

The Pacifics strengthened their hold on the leadership of the Bowling League on Saturday night, by taking all three games of their series with the Examiner B. Neither team rolled in form and the scores, with the exception of that made by the Pacifics in the last game, were poor. McIlroy put on 202 in the last game, the only classy performance of the match. The Pacifics are well in the lead, and unless stopped soon, will have the League on ice. The scores on Saturday were as follows:—

EXAMINER B—
Dela Fosse	107	132	133—	372
Craig	159	152	141—	452
Clarke	111	151	172—	434

PACIFICS—

BOX OF CIGARS FOR BEST SCORE

The Smokes Will be Offered at the P. B. C. Alleys This Week.

There will be something to stimulate the bowling cracks to punish the pins at the P.B.C. Alleys this week, as the management has decided to put up a box of cigars for the highest single score made during the week. This will add to the interest, as higher scores are always made when there is something to beat. It will take a score well over the 200 mark to land the smokes, judging by the way some of the good ones are rolling just now. Martin had an average of 206 for five games the other day, and some of the others are putting on scores in proportion.

RUNNING.

American sporting dope is not, as a rule, any too reliable. An example is shown by the following statement from the Buffalo News.

Shrubb has never been beaten at 15 miles. He has been the champion at two miles for 15 years, and carries around in his training satchel the trunks he wore when he broke the amateur record for that distance in England.

Any one who has followed Shrubb's career knows that the little Englishman has been defeated more than once at fifteen miles. He was beaten twice at that distance by Fred Appleby, the English fifteen-mile champion and joint holder with Sid Thomas, of the world's record for fifteen miles —1.20 4-3-5. Then again John D. Marsh defeated Shrubb in Winnipeg last year at fifteen miles, although in justice to Shrubb it must be stated that the Englishman had to drop out owing to a bad ankle and that he was bleeding when he quit.

Sporting Editor of the Examiner—What is Shrubb's best time for ten miles indoors and out doors.—"Inquirer."

Answer.—Outdoors, 50 40.3-5, made at Glasgow, Scotland, June 11th, 1904. Indoors, 53 min. 15 sec. Boston, Dec. 28, 1907.

The Junior City League champions —Jack Thirnbeck's "Chieftains"—challenge All Saints team, the champions of the Junior Guild League, to a game of hockey to be played at Brock Street rink to decide the actual junior championship of the city.

Sporting Editor the Examiner,—Will you kindly answer the following questions. When did Fred Simpson make his first appearance in a race? (2). Has Simpson ever won a race? (3). What is the best time he has made? (4). Did Simpson beat Longboat in England, and has Longboat ever beaten him? (5) Was he born in Hiawatha?—Subscriber.

Answer 1.—In the Examiner road race Thanksgiving Day, 1906, the same day that Longboat sprang into prominence by winning the Hamilton Herald race.

2.—The only race that Simpson has won is a ten-mile race at Lindsay on July 1, 1907.

3.—The best time he has ever made was ten miles in 52.30 in Toronto last week.

4.—Simpson beat Longboat in England as the famous Tom did not finish. Longboat has beaten him twice in a ten-mile race at Lindsay on Labour Day last year, and in the Montreal Star race of fifteen miles at Montreal October 24th, 1908.

5. Simpson was not born in Hiawatha although he has lived there the greater part of his life. He is a native of Alderville in the Alnwick reserve.

HOCKEY

To the Sporting Editor, Peterborough Examiner.

Dear Sir.—In your valuable issue of the 24th inst., we notice in your account of the hockey match between a team from the T. A. S. and Keene, that you belittle the playing prowess of our team, and that it was owing to difficulties and mishaps on the journey down that the T. A. S. were defeated.

Keene won the game on their merits and the visiting team were outclassed at every stage of the game, and Keene boys can repeat the dose at any time or place the same teams compete.

It is very much in doubt if the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. team can administer a defeat on our own ice.

Apologizing for taking up this valuable space in your paper.

Yours truly,
"MURCHY."

In the Mercantile League game last night at Brock street Rink, between 9.30 and 10.30 o'clock, Ackerman's were beaten by the Quakers, 11 goals to 0.

The half-time score was Quakers 4, Ackermans 0.

The referee, Leo Derocher, was very satisfactory.

The line-up:—

Pratt, Hefferman and Rightmyer deserve special mention for Quakers, while Godfrey was best for Ackermans.

The game was strenuous in spots and Ackerman's outclassed in second half.

Standing of the League.

	Won	Lost	Tied	To Play
Quakers	3	0	1	0
C.G.E.	2	0	2	0
Ackermans	2	2	0	0
Auburn	0	2	1	1
G.T.R.	0	3	0	1

The C.G.E. and Quakers, being tied for first place, play off on Thursday night for the championship at eight o'clock, before the Church League play off at nine o'clock. A win for the Quakers will give them the Cup, while a win for the C.G.E. will mean that they will have to play off their tie game with Auburn.

Lindsay defeated St. Catharines easily in Toronto last night by 11 goals to 3, and will therefore go into the finals against Ingersoll or Stratford. The fruit growers were easy picking for the Midgets, who were never in difficulties.

The more the easy manner in which Lindsay has climbed into the finals is considered, the more the fans realise the fact that Peterboro had a team this season that was head and shoulders above the average intermediate O.H.A. teams. It took Lindsay two extra games to put Peterboro out of the running, in fact Peterboro was the only team to defeat the Midgets this season. On the other hand Lindsay beat the Toronto Rowing Club and St. Catharines with ridiculous ease. Keep your eye on the Petes next season.

CALLS COUNCIL AGRICULTURISTS

"Pro Bono Publico" Doesn't Like Their Action in Street Railway Matter.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir:— The expected has happened! The City Council has fallen down at the feet of avarice, and the people of this city must possess their souls in patience for another year, or more. If the Street Railway Company of this city wishes it, notwithstanding the fact that Aldermen were loud in their declarations a few days ago that the extensions should be made this year.

Truly the City Council are a bevy of men fearfully and wonderfully made (with one exception). They have shown marked ability in some of their re-organization work; we have had an instance of that in the last forty-eight hours — and the end is not yet. Orchardists have a system of grafting, the limb of one kind of a tree on to that of another. Well, what has that got to do with the Street Railway? Well, nothing perhaps! but the fact remains that the people must wait for another year, and then if they want another extension of time just ask for it and get it. To be plain and outspoken, I solemnly believe that the Council of this City are the most scientific lot of agriculturists in this province.

Kindly give me space for the above and oblige,

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM PRENEVEAU

Examiner Special.

Preneveau, March 2. — Miss Mabel Stewart, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Albert Dunk, returned to her home in Minn last week.

Mr. John A. Sexsmith, M.P., has been attending the session in Ottawa for some time past.

Mrs. W. Anderson entertained on Wednesday evening.

Rumour says a wedding in Preneveau in the near future — well time will tell.

Mr. Thomas Warren, sr., and Mr. Thomas Warren, jr., of Marmora, spent last Sunday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Warren, at "Maple Lodge," Preneveau.

Several of the young people in this vicinity spent a most enjoyable time on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Jas. Ketchen.

Miss Violet McLaughlin, of Trent Bridge, is spending some time with her grandmother, Mrs. Roe.

Preneveau society received a very valuable addition lately, when Mr. and Mrs. Bert Robson took possession of their new home, east of the "Star" Cheese Factory.

Miss Irene B. Smyth has handed in her resignation to the School Board of School Section No. 3, Belmont.

Valentines are, no doubt, things of the past, still it is worth while mentioning that some of the prominent people of Preneveau received some beauties.

If this Spring weather continues long, we will soon be entertained by our local band, so universally admired, for frogs usually sing in Spring, do they not?

Nature Study is one of the subjects on the Public School Curriculum now-a-days. It seems better suited to some of the older students of School Section No. 2, Belmont, to hold human nature study lessons. This seems to prove that the rising generation in our neighbourhood are developing rapidly.

Miss Ida Spinks and Mr. Allan Hubel were married on Wednesday, February 17th, 1909, by Rev. Mr. Strike, of Campbellford. We extend heartiest congratulations.

Mr. S. J. Fisher visited at Mr. Jos. Seabrook's home this week.

Brockville, March 2.—For neglect in the payment of the annual fee of $2 to the Ontario Medical Council Detective Rose, prosecuting officer for the council, is bringing many doctors throughout this section to time.

Sifton Will Be Asked.

Winnipeg, March 2.—The legislative committee appointed to investigate the charges as to the Manitoba lists at the last election have decided to ask Hon. Clifford Sifton to appear to give evidence. As the Ottawa House is in session he cannot be summoned. The Liberals still refuse to take any part in the enquiry.

Perth, March 2.—Mr. A. Montgomery, drover and fur dealer of this town, died suddenly yesterday near McDonald's Corners. The cause of his death is supposed to be heart failure. He was 79 years of age, and was one of the best horse and cattle judges in this section.

TEN LIVES LOST IN FIRE

New York, March 3.—Cut off from escape by a burning stairway, ten Italians were burned to death to-day in a 7th Avenue tenement.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF $135

A man and a woman were arrested this morning and placed in the cells at the police station, on the strength of a warrant sworn out by a Millbrook hotelkeeper.

The informant accuses the two of stealing one hundred and thirty-five dollars from him. It is alleged that the theft was committed while the three were driving to Burleigh. The hotelkeeper, it is said, was the worse of liquor and the money disappeared from him rather mysteriously.

The case is being heard at five o'clock this afternoon by Magistrate Dumble.

CHARLES MACK IN "COME BACK TO ERIN."

Come back to Erin, mavourneen, mavourneen,
Come back, aroon, to the land of thy birth.
Come with the shamrock in springtime, mavourneen,
And it's Killarney shall ring with our mirth.

Where is the person having once heard the above song does not wish they could hear it again?

The above is but one of the many god old songs you hear in "Come Back to Erin." "Come Back to Erin" is recognized as the prettiest Irish play ever written. As the curtain goes up you see a faithful reproduction of Kate Kearney's cottage on the banks of the Killarney, that beautiful spot where the song says:

Angels often pausing there,
Doubt if Eden were more fair.
Beauty's home, Killarney,
Ever fair, Killarney.

"Come back to Erin" will be the attraction at the Grand next Saturday, March 6th, Matinee and Night.

WAS FLORENCE KINRADE ENGAGED TO A YOUNG ACTOR IN PORTSMOUTH?

Examiner Special.

Hamilton, March 3.—Despatches from Virginia to-day state that Florence Kinrade sang in various theatres of Portsmouth, and was engaged to a young actor mechanic named Baum. The engagement was broken off only a few weeks ago, it is said, at the request of the girl and her mother, in order that Florence might marry a Canadian preacher.

MINISTERS REQUEST BOARD OF EDUCATION TO PREVENT PUPILS OF COLLEGIATE FROM DANCING

Mr. Kenner Gave His Opinion That the Practice Should Not Be Allowed—Occurred on Two Occasions and a Parent Wrote to Minister Regarding It—Will Not Be Permitted in Future.

THE FAIR CO-EDS MUST NOT

No more of the light fantastic at the P.C.I., at least as far as the students are concerned. Then a last farewell to the graces of the dance in the bright assembly hall of our new Collegiate Institute. On two occasions the students gave expression in the form of motion of their musical instinct. It was after the formal opening and again the night of the closing exercises, while the parents were still present, that the students cleared the seats from the centre of the hall and enjoyed a half hour's tripping through the fanciful mazes of waltz and two-step. But lo! Accounts of these two events drifted in upon the ears of the members of the Ministerial Association, who "gave the matter some consideration" at their last meeting. The outcome was that a letter was forwarded to the Board of Education strongly disapproving of the permission of dancing at the Collegiate and asking that steps be taken to suppress it in future.

Mr. Dumble thought that the letter should be received and that it be given due attention.

A discussion followed, in which it was evident that the Board did not wish to put dancing under the ban under hard and fast rules that it should not be tolerated at all. However, Mr. Kenner was asked what his opinions were on the question. He plainly and unhesitatingly stated that he thought dancing should be prohibited on every and all occasions at the Collegiate Institute. That practically settled the matter, and the Ministerial Association's communication resulted in the action desired. The feeling of the Board as expressed was that the members were capable of caring for the welfare of the students. There was no vote of thanks to the Ministerial Association either thought of or expressed, for their taking up the question. Mr. Hill laughingly remarked "the more we allow the ministers to interfere, the worse it will be for this Board."

The Letter.

The letter is addressed to Mr. Kenner, and is as follows: "At the meeting of the Ministerial Association today, it was stated that the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute had been used occasionally as a dance hall. We do not wish to intermeddle in matters beyond our province, but may we respectfully suggest that such steps be taken as will prevent the recurrence of this. Our attention has been drawn to this by parents who greatly deprecate such procedure in connection with the school life of their children. Perhaps we are misinformed; certainly we believe that you will be guided by what is in the best interests of your excellent institution. Yours respectfully,

EDWIN A. PEARSON,
Secretary of the Ministerial Association of Peterboro."

Claims He Saw Young Woman Leave Kinrade House Half An Hour Before Police Were Informed

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

Hamilton, March 3.—A peculiar aspect has been lent to the Kinrade murder mystery by the story of Ernest Stone, a street railway motorman, who was discovered by the police today. Stone says that while he was travelling west on Herkimer street, on the afternoon of the murder, a young woman rushed from the Kinrade home across the street into Mrs. Hichey's residence, hatless, with her hair loosened and looking terribly excited. The strange part of the story is that when Stone saw the girl it was 3.35, while it was not until three minutes past four that the police received word of the shooting. The removal of the Kinrade family to Toronto necessarily will put a crimp in the inquest this evening. The authorities have not yet decided whether to take the evidence of the other witnesses or to postpone the enquiry.

Deputation Asked For The Repeal Of Three-fifths Clause

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

Toronto, March 3.—A large deputation from the Dominion Alliance Convention which opened to-day, waited on the Government at the Parliament Buildings, and asked for the abolition of the three-fifths clause licenses in clubs, etc. Premier Whitney suggested that the three-fifths clause was being hugged by the Church Courts. He considered the United States no example.

No promise was made.

FORMER LOCAL BANDMASTER PASSES AWAY IN CHICAGO

The New York Clipper contains an obituary reference to Mr. Arthur H. Rackett, sr., who will be well and favourably remembered by the older generation of Peterborough citizens. He was a former resident of Peterborough, and for four years was leader of the band when the regiment was in command of the late Colonel Poole. Mr. Rackett and his family were most popular during their residence in ePterborough, and those who knew the deceased while he was here will regret to learn of his death. The Clipper says:

Arthur H. Rackett, sr., died in Chicago on Feb. 6. He was the father of the Rackett Bros., musicans and vaudeville performers, and was in his seventy-fourth year. As a young man in his twenties, Mr. Rackett was a noted cornet soloist and bandmaster in the British Army, and was one of the last surviving veterans of the Crimean War. He came direct to America from the siege of Sebastopol and settled in Canada, where he was married, subsequently removing with his family to the United States, where for years he directed on orchestra composed of himself and his son. For eight years he was bandmaster of "A" Battery Royal School of Artillery, stationed at Kingston, Can. He was one of the original members of the famous Carncross & Dixie Minstrels. He is survived by a widow and eight children, including Harry J. (Three Rackett Bros.), Arthur H., jr. (Rackett and Hazard), William D., (Musical Lemoines), Alfred G. (musical director, Folly Theatre, Chicago), Ernest A. (Two Racketts). Mr. Rackett was a Mason, a life member of Lodge No. 9, Philadelphia, Pa.

SEMI-READY WARDROBE

THE SPRING SUIT

THERE'S A DIVERSITY of opinions when you ask the managers and salesmen of the different men's stores, "which is THE NEW SPRING SUIT?" Some will say this is the proper thing—another will pronounce an altogether different style as the only one, and so on, but when it comes down to the bare point of "which is THE SPRING SUIT?" We say there is only one and that is the customer's own ideas combined with the authoritative styles that are provided by the fashion artists. You have your idea of THE SPRING SUIT and we have ours, so with this in view we try to carry a stock that will fill the requirements of all, and when we cannot suit you from stock, we have a whole volume of natty samples which represent goods that can be made up to your own ideas, upon very short notice.

WEDDING BELLS

SEABROOKE—MIDDLETON.

A very pretty March wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Middleton, 617 George Street, at 5.30 o'clock Tuesday evening, when their youngest daughter, Miss Clara V. Middleton was united in marriage to Mr. Harry L. Seabrooke, of Smith township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Pearson, of the George Street Methodist Church, in the presence of between fifty and sixty guests. The nuptial knot was tied beneath an arch of evergreens and wedding bells, and as the bridal couple entered the drawing-room through an aisle of ribbons held by four flower girls, Miss Beatty, of Albert College, Belleville played the wedding march. The bride was given away by her father. The bride looked charming in a directoire gown of point d'esprit, over cream satin, trimmed with valenciennes lace insertion, applique and touches of gold cloth. She wore the conventional wedding veil, caught with sprays of lily of the valley, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride was assisted by her cousin, Miss Edna Middleton, who was prettily gowned in point d'esprit over white silk, and trimmed with lace and pale blue ribbon. She carried a bouquet of bridesmaid's roses. Miss Gertrude Middleton, niece of the bride, made a very pretty flower girl. She wore a pretty dress of white silk, trimmed with blue, and carried the ring, embedded in a basket of flowers.

Mr. H. C. Seabrooke, of the firm of J. L. Squire, Havelock, assisted the groom.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a delightful wedding repast was served, and the health of the young couple was heartily honoured by the guests. Rev. E. A. Pearson proposed the health of the newly-married pair, and Dr. J. E. Middleton responded on their behalf. Many costly presents were received, including several from Revelstoke, B.C., and Brantford, Ont., from friends who were unable to be present at the ceremony.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl crescent, while he presented a gold locket to the bridesmaid, a pair of gold cuff links to the best man, and a pearl pin to the flower girl, as souvenirs of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Seabrooke will reside in Smith township, where they will be at home to their friends after March 22.

MR. SOMERVILLE'S ARTICLE

Mr. F. L. Somerville, M. C. S. C. E., a former well-known resident of Peterborough, has contributed an article to "The Canadian Engineer," which has been reprinted in pamphlet form, on "The Railway Crossing." The article treats of the level railway crossing, its development and elimination, and gives practical suggestions for dealing with it in order to remove the menace to public safety which it constitutes. The article is broadly conceived, well reasoned and practical, and constitutes an important contribution to the discussion of a subject that is too frequently and painfully brought to public attention.

Mr. Somerville is to be heartily congratulated upon the able article he has written.

The value of an article discussing any subject has a close relation to the fact that the writer knows what he is writing about and is able to give clear and coherene expression to his ideas.

THE MEANING OF RAILWAYS

A report issued by the Dominion Government states that the people of Canada have paid in cash subsidies to railways no smaller a sum than 185 million dollars, and 52 million acres of land, not to speak of grants made by the Provinces of Ontario and Manitoba, which would, it is estimated bring up the popular contribution to railways to a total of 300 or 400 million dollars. Add to these figures the direct investment of 1,172 million dollars and in railways and 100 million expended on canals and other millions on harbour and other improvements and we shall have a total of more than 2,000 million dollars expended by Canada upon means of national development, which have been of untold advantage in bringing this country to the position of eminence and prosperity it now enjoys and represent a foundation broad and solid for future advancement. The achievement effected in and through this vast expenditure, the laudable ambition, and energy it typifies, have challenged the admiration of the world. Those who look with miscropic and fault finding eye upon the short-comings of railways, the comparatively petty inconveniences which may sometimes be laid their charge and at the same time forget the incalculable benefit they bestow are bestowing and will, for all time bestow upon the country, fail to appreciate that is for the real good of the country. They are as children, grown to man's estate who looking back, remember only the punishments and restrictions inseparable from sound parental training, and forget the sacrifice the solitude and care to which they owe the manhood that gives them an honoured place in the world.

We can only appreciate the value of our railways in contemplating the calamitous national relapse that would follow the removal of all our railways.

A PROTEST.

And now the Ministerial Association is after dancing. They object to the children dancing at the Collegiate Institute. There is nothing bad in this world. The evil that is in things is like cold, which is simply the absence of heat, not a positive thing in itself. Dancing is only bad when it is made bad. Intemperance or improper use of things, the absence of good, constitutes what is called evil. There can be, and is intemperance in eating and drinking, and in religion—intemperance in religious criticism and in religious objection to it. In the case of the dancing to which the Ministerial Association objects, if there are any earthly conditions in which dancing is as innocent as the capering of a kitten, it is in circumstances and conditions which render impossible anything that can make dancing morally wrong or dangerous by reason of undesirable association and temptations to evil; it is when a company of innocent school boys and girls pursue the pastime under chaperonage and under conditions entirely removed from the dangers which make dancing an evil. Man-made moral codes which make sin of what in itself is no sin, represent an exercise of recognized authority, which tends to weaken the force of, and impair the respect for, such authority, when applied to prohibition of things that are essentially evil. No doubt the Ministerial Association is within its rights and acting under a sense of duty in taking the course it has done; but it is to be remembered that "blue laws"—peremptory, dogmatic and arbitrary prohibition—have a tendency to eliminate the operation of conscience as a factor in the regulation of moral conduct. The primitive apostles were enjoined to be "wise as serpents and harmless as doves." It is possible for neglect of this injunction to intensify an evil it is honestly intended to lessen. Recently a minister rushed into print to denounce a play which he considered objectionable. The result was to bring a still larger number under the alleged malign influence of the play. One of these interested in the financial success of the performance stated that the denunciatory letter in question, increased the subsequent receipts at least $50 or $60, representing an increased public patronage.

THE C. P. R. HAS SUBMITTED TO THE RAILWAY COMMISSION.

The following from the Manitoba Free Press contains a good deal of interesting information as well as a demonstration of the ability of the Railway Commission and its important value in protecting the public interest.

The matters which came up for discussion in the House at Ottawa in connection with the question of the new issue of capital stock of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company are unquestionably the most important that will be discussed during the present session of parliament. "While "we want lower duties when we can "get them, the question of duties and "tariffs," as Mr. Turriff began his speech in that debate by saying, "fades into insignificance as compared "with the question of freight rates, "so far as the people of the West "are concerned." More vigorous utterances on behalf of the people of Western Canada have never been made in Parliament than the speeches of Mr. Turriff and Dr. McIntyre, of Strathcona, in that debate. Both declared strongly the principle that the C. P. R. should be compelled to yield some concessions in the public interest every time it comes to Parliament asking for legislation.

Mr. Aylesworth, the Minister of Justice, in his speech in that debate made the announcement upon which the Free Press has already commented, that the C P. R. has submitted its rates to the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission. This is the most important announcement that has been made from Ottawa in a considerable time. Mr. Aylesworth prefaced it by a clear and comprehensive review of the position held by the C. P. R. under its charter, granted in 1881 by the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald. "The bargain which was made with that "Company," said Mr. Aylesworth, "was a bargain so advantageous to "the Company and so disadvantage-"ous to the Dominion of Canada that "it should not have been entered in-"to." At the same time, the country is bound by that contract. No Government can take any other position, whatever may be the attitude of the Company politically; and the whole country knows that the C. P. R. has never been noted for its friendliness to the Liberal party.

Of the many points in the C.P.R. charter greatly to the advantage of the Company and the disadvantage of the country, none is worse than the celebrated Ten Per Cent. Clause by which the Company is declared exempt from any and every form of Government control of its rates so long as its profits do not exceed ten per cent. of the amount expended in the construction of the railway. Again to quote Mr. Turriff in this connection: "It might be well for "a moment to consider what the "Canadian Pacific got originally. "They got $37,000,000 worth of com-"pleted road handed over to them. "They got 25,000,000 acres of "land handed over to them. They "got no less than six or seven mil-"lion acres of land in connection "with the charters for the branch "lines that they purchased. And "they got $25,000,000 in cash as "well." Mr. Turiff passed over tax exemptions and other things that were also granted; he was directing attention to the capital expended in construction, and reminding Parliament that the Company did not by any manner of means provide all the money that built the road. The Dominion of Canada put in a very great deal. But such are the arts and mysteries of corporation book-keeping that there has never yet been a showing on the part of the C. P. R. that would destroy the exemption from Government of control rates which that corporation has enjoyed under that monument of legislative disregard of the public interest, the Ten Per Cent. Clause.

Early in 1904 the Dominion Government took action to have the Supreme Court of Canada determine the exact amount expended in the construction of the railway, upon which the ten per cent. should be calculated. The case was entered for hearing in May of that year. Mr. Aylesworth, in his speech of Friday last above referred to, explained at length how that litigation, had it been gone on with, would have been protracted over a long period. The Company decided to back down. It made the proposal to the Dominion Government that rather than go on the case should be left standing before the Supreme Court, in a position enabling either party to go on with it at any time, the Company in the meantime submitting itself to the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission, as if the Ten Per Cent. Clause were not in existence. That is the position to-day. The case can be gone on with at any time. But if it were fought out to a finish, at a great expenditure of time and money, and the result were to be a complete victory for the contention that the earnings of the C. P. R. had passed the point which brought the C. P. R. rates under Government control, the situation would be identical with what it actually is, while the C. P. R. remains in its present mood of obedience to the Railway Commission.

HAPPY THOUGHT.

(Montreal Herald.)

What Senator Forget has been saying to British manufacturers is what many other Canadians have often thought. If they want to hold the Canadian market for their wares, why don't they do as the Americans have done, and start factories here? They are the princes and pioneers of the woollen trade; why don't they come to Canada and run the woollen industry? They could do it if they wanted to, and they could do it in such a way that the absurdly uneconomical methods sometimes used could be dispensed with and still all the native wool supply be used up. There are several woollen mills in Canada that are doing well, largely because they prefer doing one thing to doing everything. There is room for more of that. The curious part of it is that British manufacturers have done this very thing in Germany and in France. Why they don't do it in Canada is rather a mystery, considering the interest they all at present profess to take in this market.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Rather late in the day the Toronto News is inquiring "what is truth?" The Mail and Empire cannot answer the question."

The Toronto News continues to wail over the assumed wrongs inflicted upon Alberta and Saskatchewan in "depriving them of their public lands and the right to set up their own educational systems." The people of these two provinces have had the opportunity of two general elections to voice their objections and as they have not done so the News seems to be tilting against a windmill and trying to create grievances where none exist.

Last night Dr. Vogt and 250 members of the celebrated Mendelssohn Choir left Toronto for Chicago, where the choir will give three concerts on Wednesday—to-day — Thursday and Friday. The fame of this great musical organization has preceded it and as a result, the largest auditorium in Chicago has been entirely sold out for these concerts. The visit of the choir will demonstrate that Canada has made as remarkable achievements in the development of musical art as it has made in the field of action and enterprise.

ST. VALENTINE OR A BACKSLIDDEN SAINT

Good St. Valentine, will you just tell me, I pray,
How such change has come o'er you since my youthful day?

Then with sweet acts of kindness the Memory was crowned,
And the soft billets-doux and love's tokens went round.

And then when Old Sol sank to sleep in the West,
No bitterness rankled to trouble our rest.

But such treacherous deeds in thy name are now done,
That Satan, indignant, himself might disown.

The coward, by thy help, stabs his friend in the dark,
If detected will say "Oh, it just was a lark."

When some of dwarf soul would their neighbour malign,
They just send him in secret a vile Valentine.

And many a heartache, rent friendships, I fear,
Are set down to thy credit with each passing year.

Now, good Saint, let us hope in the future that you,
To thy time-honoured customs may ever be true.

DID HARVEY HAVE AN EARTHQUAKE?

No! It Was an Explosion of Acetylene With Miraculous Escape.

Hall's Bridge, March 2. — A good many around here have been sick with the influenza, la grippe, etc. We are glad to learn that all are improving.

Our residents wonder at the miraculous escape of Mr. Woodleigh, who was standing in the door of Mr. Eastwood's acetylene gas house when it was blown away last week. The shock shook nearly all the houses on the Harvey side of the river, and some thought that an earthquake had paid us a visit.

The game of hockey last Friday afternoon the 25th, resulted in a victory for the Lakefield juniors, 3 to 2.

Ice harvesting has been in operation for the past week.

Messrs. E. Purser's and Nicholls' boys have been purchasing some fine new horses, and making other preparations for going West this Spring.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50 cents.

'ROUND THE STORES.

The Turnbull people have another underselling event on which is being well patronized. These between season money saving sales are stimulating trade at a time when the tendency is usually the reverse. White Victoria Lawns, 40 inches wide, at 5 1-2c is a sample of the price reductions. Sateen and heatherbloom petticoats at $2, instead of $4. A leader in cretonnes is a 35c French chintz for 17 1-2c. But see the page of price lists.

Lent has, as always, taken us by surprise. One hardly realized winter was nearly gone, and that after forty days, we should be into the spring time again. As we see the world of summer time beckoning to us, the desire for freshening up and re-decorating our homes takes hold of us. The new Spring wall paper announcements become interesting reading, and the impulse to arrange for papering at least some of the rooms engages attention. Home beautifying becomes a pleasant duty, when such high-class decorative effects as are shown in the new Spring styles opened out at Stratton's.

Most every lady is an admirer of diamonds. But there are diamonds and diamonds. The man or woman who does not understand diamonds may be very easily imposed upon. A safe method is to interview a jeweller whose reputation is known and whose name stands for integrity. It is perfectly safe, for instance, to consult Schneider, the jeweller, as he understands diamonds and is known to be thoroughly reliable in diamond matters.

TOOK SIX—GOT WELL.

Mrs. R. C. Small, of Ottawa, certainly ought to know a lot about Rheumatism. Goodness knows, she suffered long enough. For years, she was almost a cripple and at times, the pain was so severe that she was compelled to lie helpless in bed.

"About a year ago," writes Mrs. Small, "I saw Fruit-a-tives advertised and decided to try them for my Rheumatism. After I had taken two boxes, I was much better. I took six boxes in all — have had no pain for over six months—and feel that I am completely cured. I have gained over ten pounds in weight and am strong and well."

And yet there are some people suffering with Rheumatism, who have not given "Fruit-a-tives" a fair trial. Perhaps they don't want to get well.

"Fruit-a-tives" are a positive cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia and all troubles arising from impure blood.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO GET MATERIAL

Sleighing This Winter Has Been Good Enough to Draw Logs Into Factory Here.

A local manufacturing concern has experienced great difficulty this winter in getting logs used by them in the course of manufacturing certain articles, into the city. This is due, it is said, to the varied kind of weather that has prevailed during the winter months. Every time it snows, rain almost invariably follows, leaving the roads in such a condition that to draw heavy loads on sleighs would be impossible.

As a result the Company's mill has been able to work only when material can be in, whereas if the sleighing was good the mill would be running overtime.

Overcomes All Distress In Stomach.

You Can Eat Your Favourite Foods Without Fear of Misery.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of a case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take Diapepsin after eating.

Your meals will taste good and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes belching, dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, nausea. Indigestion (like a lump of lead in the stomach), biliousness, heartburn, water brash, pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. Each triangule will digest all the food you can eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist and start taking to-day, and by to-morrow you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the lightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

WHY AM I ILL?

HOW TO TELL.

Does every cold affect your back, and cause a feeling of chilliness, followed by disturbance of the kidney action.

Does the use of spirits, tea or beer excite the kidneys? Are you easily worried and annoyed over trifles? Are the feet and hands cold? Circulation bad? Do the feet and legs swell? Is there puffiness under the eyes? Do you have rheumatism, poor eyesight, headaches and backaches? Is there gravel or any unnatural action of the kidneys?

If you have any of the above symptoms your kidneys are either weak or diseased, and these symptoms are warnings of more serious troubles to follow; Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy.

Whatever you do, whatever you think your disease is, look well to your kidneys at the first sign of anything wrong. Give them just the aid they require in Doan's Kidney Pills, the Great Quaker Kidney Medicine, and see how well and fit you feel after even a few doses.

Mrs. O. Warren, Radisson, Sask., writes: "I was troubled with very severe pains in my back for years. I tried everything I could think of but they did me no good. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking two boxes, I have not been troubled since."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co Limited, Toronto.

CASE OF BRONCHIAL CATARRH PROMPTLY RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

MR. J. C. HERVUS PELLETIER

Bronchial Catarrh Unless Stopped Often Spreads To The Lungs, Causing Catarrh of Lungs.

J. C. Harvus Pelletier, Dep't de l'Agriculture, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "The Peruna is particularly efficacious in the cure of catarrhal affections of the lungs and bronchial tubes, and it is in consequence the remedy most appreciated here in Ottawa. Six bottles cured me this winter of bronchitis. I am completely restored and I owe thanks to the Peruna. I have recommended this remedy to a large number of my friends afflicted with the same trouble, and they have verified my good opinion of this valuable remedy."

CATARRH of the bronchial tubes often very quickly becomes catarrh of the lungs. Catarrh of the lungs makes the patient an easy victim to the germs that cause tuberculosis. Sound lungs protect themselves against disease germs.

Peruna has acquired a lasting reputation in relieving catarrh of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. This should prevent the tubercular bacilli from gaining any foothold in the lungs, and saves the patient from the inevitable result.

Mr. Wickliffe R. Smith, Editor of The Potlatch Herald, formerly Principal of the Schools at Cameron, Idaho, writes: "For some time I suffered with catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes. I tried many remedies, but could find nothing that would give me relief.

"Finally I tried Peruna. Three bottles cured me, made me sound and well. I believe it will do as much for others as it did for me. I shall be glad to recommend it to those suffering with catarrh."

Many Thoughtful Offers To The Board Of Education

Regular Meeting Held Last Night —St. James' Sunday School Express Gratitude for Use of School—Hon. J. R. Stratton Presents Handsome Atlas—Reports of Committees.

THE BUSINESS TRANSACTED

The regular meeting of the Board of Education was held last night with Chairman L. M. Hayes presiding and all the members present. The usual preliminary business was desposed of in the customary manner.

A communication was received from Thos. T. Robertson, secretary of the Newmarket High School Board, asking the Peterborough School Board if they considered some of the demands made by the inspector necessary. They believd that certain appliances recommended were not really required and the board intended to interview the Minister of Education regarding these questions and asked Peterborough that if they were of the same opinion to strengthen the movement by a representation. The letter was received and on motion of Mr. Hill it was decided to write Mr. Robertson stating that the board did not desire to take any action in the matter.

Express Appreciation

The following letter was received from Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of St. James Methodist Church.

W. G. Morrow, Esq., Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—Will you please convey to the Peterborough School Board the thanks of St. James Sabbath School committee for the use of the King Edward School. It will be gratifying to the board to know that the favour was of great advantage resulting not only in keeping the school together but in an increase in the attendance.

The Sabbath School committee made its own arrangements with the caretaker and will meet any expense the School Board may have incurred through granting the favour.

The letter was referred to the Supervision committee.

An Atlas Presented

A letter was received from Hon. J. R. Stratton, accompanying an elaborate and complete atlas of the Dominion of Canada. It was issued by the Department of the Interior of the Dominion Government. A copy had been forwarded to Mr. Stratton but he asked the board to accept it in order that the pupils of the Collegiate Institute might enjoy and profit by its use. The atlas is most comprehensive in its information and the maps are the latest made.

The secretary was authorized to write Mr. Stratton acknowledging with thanks the gift of the atlas. Mr. Kenner stated that he had received it and added it to the library. It was a splendid addition and would be of great value to the students.

A communication was received from Mrs. A. Stevenson, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. Board, expressing their thanks for being allowed the use of the Collegiate Hall for their gymnasium exhibition, which will be held on Friday, March 26th.

On motion of Messrs. Hill and Fair the request was granted for March 25th and 26th, and the charge for lighting, etc., will be fixed by the Supervision Committee.

Lighting Expenses

Mr. Dumble called attention to the bill for electric lighting at the Collegiate. Frequently he passed the building and noticed it practically all lit up, while the caretaker was at work. He considered that only the room in which work was being done should be lighted.

It was shown that for two months the lighting had cost $31. Mr. Dumble suggested economizing as much as possible in this respect.

On motion of Mr. Hill and Dr. Burnham, the account of the Jas. Smart Manufacturing Co. was ordered to be paid.

Will Use Hard Coal

Mr. Hill introduced the question of burning hard coal in the schools instead of soft as heretofore. The latter was injuring the Collegiate Institute and King Edward school buildings. It damaged the floors and walls by collecting on them and caused considerable annoyance. On motion of Messrs. Hill and Fair the chairman of the Property Committee was authorized to use hard coal instead of soft during the rest of the season as an experiment.

HAWKING MACHINES.

Catarrh Sufferers Are Nothing But Hawking, Spitting and Blowing Machines, Says an Authority.

It is possible that in these days when cleanliness and sanitary reform are being preached in the churches, schools and at public gatherings, that thousands of people will continue to suffer from catarrh when there is an absolutely certain remedy always on hand.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is a pleasant, medicated, and antiseptic air. Breathe it in and it will cure catarrh. It will stop foul breath, watery eyes and crusts in the nose in a few days.

Mrs. H. W. Wilson, of Johnson, street, Wallaceburg, Ont., says: "Yes, we are great friends of Hyomei for the reason that Mr. Wilson has had catarrh for several years and tried several remedies and doctors, but nothing has relieved the trouble like Hyomei. His trouble is from pains across the eyes and a burning or huskiness in the throat. Sometimes much difficulty in breathing, the glands in his eyes and nose swollen and the disease made him literally sick all over. He cannot say enough in praise of Hyomei, and there is nothing that can give better relief to catarrh than this remedy, which we heartily recommend."

A complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a strong, hard rubber pocket inhaler and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1.00, and extra bottles, if afterwards needed, cost only 50 cents each. Wm. Madill sells it and guarantees it to do exactly as advertised.

Hyomei also cures asthma, bronchitis, coughs, colds, and infant's croup.

FEEBLE OLD LADY

Has Strength Restored By Vinol.

Mrs. Michael Bloom, of Lewiston, Pa., who is 80 years of age, says: "For a long time I have been so feeble that I have had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair. I had no strength and took cold at the slightest provocation, which invariably settled on my lungs, and a cough would result. My son learned of the cod liver preparation called Vinol, and procured a bottle for me. It built up my strength rapidly, and after taking three bottles I am able to do most of my work, and I can walk a quarter of a mile easily. Every aged or weak person who requires strength should try Vinol. I am delighted with what it has done for me."

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness, Vinol is unexcelled. If it fails to give satisfaction we will return your money.

A Home Artistically Decorated

Is Not Papered in the Old Fogy Style with Cheap Inartistic Paper

READ THIS!

THERE was a day when the average buyer was contented to paper the home with any old paper—sometimes the colour and pattern was considered, often. or they were not, occasionally the person who wanted the best money could buy made an attempt at a colour scheme, those were the days when Art was in its infancy. To-day Art is full grown and the atmosphere is permeated with it, everybody buys the decorations for their rooms from an artistic standpoint, and what a difference in the home of to-day and that of our forefathers.

It is not absolutely necessary to pay an exorbitant price to get an article that is high in the artistic scale—not at all, we find that the cheapest often is just what is needed, just the right colour blend and pattern scheme, of course the price is a secondary consideration in most cases. Our stock comprises the most artistic room decorations in wall paper that are made, and the prices are right. Visit this new department on the third floor in connection with our large Home Furnishing Department. Our manager is an expert in the art of room decorating and will be glad to give you ideas, whether you wish to purchase or not. All are welcome to come and inspect our stock.

NOTE— Mr. E. Manning the well known wall paper man has taken charge of this new department and is always ready with the best service at his command to cater to the Peterborough public.

Mr. Barlow Cumberland Presents Prizes To Boys Of The Collegiate

The boys of the Collegiate Institute will doubtless be moved to greater interest in one form of natural history by the offer of Mr. Barlow Cumberland, who recently addressed the Historical Society of this city on "The Attack on Fort York." He has made an offer which is explained in the following letter from Mr. W. J. Dunlop, Secretary of the Historical Society, which was read at the Board of Education meeting last night:

Mr. Barlow Cumberland, of Toronto, wishes to offer through the Peterborough Historical Society a first prize of the value of two dollars, and a second prize of the value of one dollar to the boys of the Collegiate Institute for the identification of birds.

Each boy who enters the competition will write an essay, giving the name of the bird, its appearance, kind of song, and exactly when and where he saw and heard it. To the two boys who thus correctly identify the largest and second largest numbers of birds the prizes will be awarded.

If the offer is accepted the Historical Society will secure a competent judge to make the awards.

Mr. Cumberland made this offer after seeing the splendid collection of birds in the Collegiate Institute, and his idea in making it is to encourage the boys of the Institute to make use of that collection in identifying living birds."

Mr. Hill moved, seconded by Mr. Dumble that Mr. Cumberland's offer be accepted and acknowledged through the Secretary conveying the thanks of the Board.

Six Scholarships Offered To Pupils Trying Entrance Exams

The pupils of the city's schools in writing on their entrance examinations next June will have six scholarships as an incentive to win and thereby require their best efforts. Inspector Mowat's letter to the Board of Education deals with the matter as follows:

"Through the generosity of Dr. Burnham, and Messrs. L. M. Hayes, W. G. Morrow, T. F. Matthews and R. Neill, I am in a position to offer six entrance scholarships for 1909 instead of two as heretofore.

I should like to receive authority from the Board to accept these offers as I believe they will serve as an incentive to good work on the part of the students."

Mr. Mowat explained that Dr. Burnham has been awarding two prizes of five dollars in gold each to the girl and boy securing the highest marks. Dr. Burnham would likely continue this indefinitely. The four new ones will be for four dollars each. Mr. Mowat stated that they were only for 1909, but he would see that they were continued in the future. There are 200 pupils writing on the examination and the two prizes were hardly a sufficient stimulus to the pupils for extra efforts."

The secretary of the Board was asked to write the donors of these prizes, thanking them for their thoughtful presentations.

The Faithfulworkers Mission Band of St. Paul's Church will give an entertainment on Friday evening, March 5th, at eight o'clock. A good musical programme will be provided. Home-made cakes and candies will be on sale. Admission 15 cents.

All The Evidence Received In The Douro Election Case

The Counsel for Each Side Begins Argument—New Money Transaction Brought to Light—Mr. Wm. White, Sr., Received Two Dollars—To be Concluded This Afternoon.

CONCLUDING STATEMENTS

The hearing of the Douro election protest was resumed this morning, before Judge Weller, with once more a crowded court room of interested electors from that township and Peterborough friends of Messrs. Maloney and Moher. The new evidence brought out was that of Mr. Jas. Welsh, in which he stated that he had given Mr. Wm. White the sum of two dollars to vote for Mr. Moher, but it was entirely his own doing. Mr. Moher knowing nothing about it. Mr. McWilliams, representing Mr. Maloney had one witness to examine, and Mr. Peck for Moher, had one witness for the defence. After these had been heard the argument for both sides was begun, and continued until an adjournment was called, when Mr. Peck was about to present his statement for the defence.

The latter stated that he had notified Mr. McWilliams that he would not examine any of the witnesses whom, on Friday last, he was given permission to examine when the hearing would be called to-day. He objected to Jas. Welsh being called. He understood the case had been closed on Friday and Mr. Welsh should have been called then.

Gave Two Dollars.

Mr. Jas. Welsh was sworn and stated: I voted at the last Douro elections. I had a conversation with Mr. White, Sr., before he voted. I drove to his house; Maurice O'Brien was also there. I think I had a conversation with Wm. White, Jr., before he went down to the barn with Maurice O'Brien. I spoke with the old gentleman and persuaded him to go to vote. Witness did not think he should answer the question as to what he had given Mr. White, Sr. He was promised protection as far as necessary for himself and continued as follows: Mr. White was a feeble old man, and did not want to go to vote, however, he asked for $2.00 to go and I gave it to him. I was supporting Mr. Moher and had asked Mr. White to vote for him. I went to White's house to get the two men to go out to vote. Excepting Mr. White, I did not ask any other men to vote for Mr. Moher. He understood, I think, how I would vote. I did not canvass others. I did not take Mr. White, Sr., to the polls that day. I did not give the son anything of any kind.

Was Not Planned.

To Mr. Peck, witness said I tried to get the old man to go, but he held out for a dollar or two and on the moments thought I gave it to him. I did not go there with the intention of giving him any money. Mr. Moher did not ask me anything in regard to the matter. I had no authority from him whatever to give Mr. White any money.

In connection with the charge of the three dollars which Mr. Edward Welsh received Mr. Peck called Mr. Augustus Whibbs for the defence.

Mr. Whibbs stated that he knew Ed. Welsh, of Douro. I spoke to him shortly before the Provincial election. Mr. Moher, myself, and another man arranged to get a scrutineer, they leaving the matter to me. After I suggested Mr. Welsh I met Mr. Welsh and I asked him to act. He wanted to know if there was a day's pay in it. I stated that I had no authority from anyone to give him any money, but I advised him to go on and take the position and he would get a day's pay for the work. He asked me five or six times about the pay. I told him to see Mr. Moher, he was the Douro man and would give it to him. Mr. Moher had more money than I had. I sent Mr. Welsh to Mr. Moher to sign the necessary papers. I told Mr. Moher afterwards that Welsh was looking for his pay. Mr. Moher said we had to pay Welsh anyway. After the Norwood fair, Mr. Moher said to me "I'll pay Welsh any time I see him, but I can never see him." I did not tell Mr. Thompson afterwards about the matter. I only saw him once, and then there were 4,000 or 5,000 people around and I did not think it a good place to tell him about it."

I understood that Ned Welsh would get a day's pay and that we would likely have to foot it. I did not pay him myself nor did I render any charge to Mr. Thompson or his agent. I never wasted ink enough to put it down.

Argument for Prosecution.

Mr. MacWilliams then presented his argument for the prosecution.

He stated that these two gentlemen, Mr. Moher and Mr. Maloney, had contested in close municipal elections, sometimes won by Mr. Moher, at others by Mr. Maloney. The law in regard to corrupt practices at elections did not aim at the individuals. The first charge was that of making a payment of $3.00 to one Ed. Welsh. He had been a Maloney supporter and well known as such. It was very desirable that Mr. Moher should turn his vote. He canvassed him at his house, during which he made a transaction which was now in question. Mr. Moher did not owe the money to Mr. Welsh. He had not promised anything. Another party had done this. Mr. Moher was, therefore, under no obligation to pay it. He lived only one and a half miles from Mr. Welsh, and had seven months to pay him if he had to. It was clear that Mr. Moher and Mr. Whibbs expected the pay, if there was to be any, to come from Mr. Thompson. Two months after the election the claim for remuneration as scrutineer was void, according to the Act. It was impossible for Mr. Moher to hold that he was in any way indebted for the claim. It was impossible to assume that Mr. Moher did not make the payment, but as an inducement to Mr. Welsh to vote for him.

Mr. McWilliams then dealt with the payment of Wm. White, Sr., of two dollars by Jas. Welsh. He held that Mr. Moher was liable for this.

Regarding the charge of Mr. Martin McManus having had his way paid to Lakefield by Mr. Moher, Mr. Maloney's counsel held that there was very little difference between the original charge and the evidence which had been produced. Instead of hiring a buggy he had secured a conveyance of another form. The quality of the act was just the same. Judge Weller asked if it could be said that if a man purchases a ticket he thereby hires the train. The train was going anyway. You pay for the privilege of taking one seat in it. The statute says you must hire the vehicle. Mr. McWilliams held also that this was an inducement to Mr. McManus to vote. Going back to the payment of Mr. Ed. Welsh counsel stated that Mr. Moher represented himself as agents of Mr. Thompson. The evidence of Mrs. Welsh and the younger son was, he said, to the effect that Mr. Moher expected to get the money back from Mr. Thompson. Further argument was presented by Mr. McWilliams, when an adjournment was called.

Italian Was Fined Ten Dollars For Striking Young Girl Going Along Charlotte Street Last Night

Nicolo Marrono, of the city's Italian population, brought himself into prominence last evening by assaulting a young girl as she passed along Charlotte street on her way home. He was arrested and appeared before the Magistrate at the police court this morning. He was fined ten dollars to be paid forthwith or thirty days in gaol. Frank Marino came forward and paid the fine.

Marrono has only been in this country a short time and speaks very little English. Mr. Thos. Minnicola acted as interpreter. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, denying having committed any assault on the previous evening.

P. C. Newhall was the only witness called.

He was standing outside the Queen's Hotel on Charlotte street last evening about ten o'clock. The prisoner and another man were also standing there. Two girls came along the street. The prisoner stretched out his hand and hit one of them on the back of the neck. Marrono then walked around in front of her and blew some smoke from a cigarette in her face. The officer did not get the girl's name, but she told him that her home was on Sherbrooke street. The girls were going along quietly. When the two Italians saw the policeman they ran into the hotel, where Marrono was arrested.

"You must learn that you can't assault a peaceable woman going along the street in this country," said the Magistrate, and he imposed the above penalty.

THE MERCHANTS ANXIOUS TO HAVE STREET RAILWAY LINES EXTENDED WITHOUT DELAY

At the meeting of the City Council on Monday night, a report was read from the Committee of the Whole Council authorizing the council to help the Radial Railway Company to secure from the Ontario Legislature, one year's extension of time in which to commence operations upon extending their lines. A petition had been sent in signed by 80 of the merchants and business men of the city as follows:

Having noticed by the press of the city that the Peterborough Radial Railway are applying to the Provincial Legislature at its present session for a further extension of two years in which to make up their mind whether or not they will extend their line to Lakefield and Young's Point, as called for by their charter, and believing this is too long an extension, as they have already had a two years' extension.

And believing that if the road were extended to the places mentioned, it would result in a large increase in the business of our merchants,

We therefore beg to petition your Honourable Body to take such steps as will prevent any extension of time being granted for a longer term than one year, and for that time only on said Railway giving satisfactory assurance that they will commence to extend the road inside of the one year mentioned, and continue the work so as to have the road in operation for the summer of 1911.

Speaking to the Examiner this morning, one of the gentlemen connected with the petition remarked, "As is well known there has been a strong feeling among our citizens who spend their summers at Stony Lake, that some steps should be taken to have the street railway extended or else to have the charter cancelled. But as Mr. Robert Stuart, of Chicago, had written the Mayor, stating that he would make a strong effort to get the work under way this coming summer, the council thought it would be better to go before the Legislature and support a one-year extension than to ask to have the franchise cancelled. It is therefore to be hoped that the council will prevail upon Mr. Stuart to take up the work without delay as an extension of the lines outside the city limits would mean an increase of business for all our merchants."

"Mr. Stuart has not yet given any definite assurance that he will proceed with the work and does not wish to give any binding agrement to that effect but the council are hopeful that the work will proceed.

"Why in the City of Brantford they are pressing on their street railway company to rebuild the eight miles of track now in use and to extend eight miles more in the city and as a guarantee of good faith the company has to deposit with the city a bond for $25,000 that they will comply with the council's wishes.

In our case, however, the council are relying on Mr. Stuart going on with the work without putting up any bond and we all hope that he will do so and that in the summer of 1910, the road will be in operation."

HANDS COVERED WITH ECZEMA

"For three weeks I actually had to be fed like one feeds a baby, because my hands and arms were so covered with eczema that they had to be bound up all the time."

That is the experience of Miss Violet M. McSorley, of 75 Gore Street, Sault Ste. Marie. She adds: "I could not hold spoon nor fork. From finger tips to elbows the dreaded disease spread, my finger nails came off and my flesh was one raw mass. The itching and the pain were almost excruciating. I had three months of this torture and at one time amputation was discussed."

"Zam-Buk alone saved my hands and arms. I persevered with it and in the end had my reward. To-day, I am cured completely of every trace of the dreaded eczema, and I fervently hope that sufferers from skin disease may know of my case and the miracle Zam-Buk has worked."

Zam-Buk is without equal for eczema, ringworm, ulcers, abscesses, piles, cracked hands, cold sores, chapped places, and all skin injuries and diseases. Druggists and stores at 50 cents a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for same price. You are warned against dangerous substitutes sometimes offered as "just as good."

HAVE TO RESORT TO FORMER AFFAIR

Conservatives Again Bring Up Bill Miner Episode.

J. D. TAYLOR LEADS ATTACK

British Columbia Member Raises the Question and House Gets Into a Heated Controversy on the Matter—Minister of Justice Attacked — Mexican Investments Are Discussed In the Senate.

Ottawa, March 3.—One is forced to the conclusion that the ammunition of the Opposition must be running very short when they are found endeavoring to make a political issue of Bill Miner's escape. Yesterday the spectacle was witnessed of the House of Commons solemnly, and at times heatedly, discussing the question of whether the rumors that the convict's hair and moustache had been allowed to grow before he made his dash for liberty, together with vague hints by anonymous newspaper correspondents of a conspiracy of connivance, were sufficient to warrant a reinvestigation by a special committee into the circumstances attending Miner's mysterious exit.

J. D. Taylor brought the matter up. He averred that the Department appeared to treat the matter of the escape with indifference. One writer in The Vancouver Province had declared that the story of thefts of bonds belonging to the Australian Government was a pure invention, and that negotiations were conducted for Miner's escape on the understanding that Miner was to reveal the location of cached money and divide the booty. Further, in The New Westminster Columbian, Mr. Taylor's own paper, there appeared a letter from Bourke, acting warden of the penitentiary at the time of Miner's escape, which said that when Inspector Dawson was in New Westminster he showed him the original of the telegram and it was addressed to "The Inspectors," and not to Dawson personally, as was claimed by Mr. Aylesworth. Bourke concluded that the telegram fell into the hands of "someone at Ottawa who saw that to falsify it would mean a better chance for Miner to escape and to bring about my retirement."

Mr. Aylesworth exhibited some heat. It was unfortunate, he said, that this matter should be the subject of trial by newspapers, especially when one of those papers was the property of a member of the House. A despatch from Ottawa had been altered and it had been made to appear that Chief Constable McIntosh stated in his evidence that Miner had told him that Bullich said Miner would be pardoned if he would surrender the Australian bonds, and upon this falsified despatch an interview had been obtained for Taylor's paper.

"The despatch," said the Minister, "was correct in every other British Columbia paper."

Amid a scene of disorder Mr. Taylor asked if it was right that a Minister should charge a member with conniving at the forging of a telegram.

"I ask," Mr. Taylor said, "if the Minister, when he is informed that he is wrong, is to be permitted to insult me?"

"Take it back," yelled the Opposition in unison, but the Minister, unable to hear what the uproar was about, sat silent. Mr. Speaker intervened with the statement that the Minister was in order in referring to a newspaper.

Mr. Aylesworth was finally able to proceed. By the enterprise of a newspaper he had been held up to the scorn of an outraged British Columbia. He was unable to say whether the telegram had been forged. What more, he asked, could he done than had been done to bring about the recapture of Miner?

Mr. Borden followed. There could be no doubt that Mr. Aylesworth had attempted to cast discredit upon Mr. Taylor. Did the Minister adhere to the statement?

Mr. Aylesworth answered that he had been told so by another. He did not make a personal investigation.

"Then," said Mr. Borden, "it would be more becoming of the Minister of Justice if before undertaking to cast discredit on a member of the House, he made a personal investigation. I say that his statement is absolutely unfounded." It was to be regretted that the Minister should have made such a statement. Such eccentricities were not, however, uncommon with the Minister of Justice.

"Order!" demanded the Prime Minister.

What was the meaning of all these rumors, and what was the meaning of the Minister's apologetic tone in his reference to Bourke? asked Mr. Borden. This man had been charging that there was a conspiracy in connection with the escape of a prisoner. It was the duty of the Government not to allow the matter to stand where it is.

Mr. Fielding informed Mr. Foster yesterday that he was unable to say when he would bring down the budget. There were two or three things to be considered first.

On the second reading of a bill respecting the Brazilian Electric Steel & Smelting Co., Ltd., and one respecting the Mexican Land & Irrigation Co., in the Senate yesterday, Hon. Mr. Lougheed questioned the advisability of endorsing the principle of such bills. There was some doubt whether Canada had constitutional right to give companies authority to carry out works in foreign countries. Canadians who desired to invest abroad should be compelled to take the risk of incorporating under the laws of the countries in which they proposed to invest. Capital was needed in Canada.

Hon. Mr. Scott said that he believed that he was responsible in the first place for these companies which had been incorporated to do business in Mexico and South America. The first application made for such a charter was when he was administrating the Companies' Act as Secretary of State, made by James Ross of Montreal, who had organized in that city and Halifax a company with very large capital to develop a power project in Mexico. He was startled at first, but Mr. Ross assured him that the Mexican Government had a very high regard for the Canadian Companies Act and for Canadian business methods, and that they would allow a company with a Canadian charter to operate in that country. Handsome returns were now coming back to Canada and he believed hat the profits were greater than could be obtained if the money had been invested in Canada.

Free Lumber Barred.

Washington, March 3.—Although the lumbermen had almost given up the fight as lost, an agreement has been reached by the House Ways and Means Committee to fix the duty on rough lumber at $1.50 per thousand. This is a reduction of 50 cents a thousand from the present duty, and while it does not entirely satisfy the lumbermen, it gives them the reasonable assurance that the industry will not be destroyed, as they contended would have been the case had the product been placed on the free list. The reduction of 50 cents a thousand is a concession to the demands which were made for free lumber. The fight over this schedule has been more keen than over any other item in the new bill, not even excepting steel or iron.

HAVE LEFT SCENE OF THE MURDER

Kinrade Family Leave Hamilton For Toronto.

TO TAKE EVIDENCE LATER

Family Physician Advises That Relatives of Dead Girl Be Allowed to Get Away From Scene of Crime —Police Hope to Get a Clear Story After Miss Florence Is Rested—Is Still Hysterical.

Hamilton, March 3.—Every member of the Kinrade family left last evening on the 8.55 train for Toronto. They went with the permission of the crown. They will be absent for a period of a week or two, and none of them will be called at the inquest Wednesday evening. The enquiry will have to be adjourned to hear their evidence later. It was not arranged until 7 o'clock that they were to go.

The step was taken on the advice of Dr. White, the family physician. He said that it was necessary for the health of the mother and daughter that they should have a change of scene, and the crown hopes they will soon be able to give a clear story. The nurse accompanied the mother and daughter. The mother had to be almost carried to the cab.

The police here say they have information that Miss Florence Kinrade did sing in a Richmond, Va., church, in spite of rumors to the contrary. It is denied, however, that a Pinkerton man is to make enquiries there.

Mr. Kinrade is very much annoyed by the many sensational stories that have been floating around and has announced that he would sue several newspapers for libel and gossip for slander. The police officers on the case all agree that he has done everything in his power to help them in their work. He has requested them to leave no stone unturned to ferret out the murderer.

The police interviewed Miss Abbott yesterday and learned that the man she saw getting on a car at the corner of Park and Herkimer streets did not board the car until 5.30 on the afternoon of the shooting and that he did not fit the description of the assassin as given by Miss Kinrade.

The detectives did not interview Miss Kinrade yesterday. Yesterday, just as the police were leaving, and while hysterical, she cried, "See, there is the man," and pointed into space.

Drowns Her Son.

Skin Diseases.

A diseased or disfigured skin will always leave its stamp on the mind of the individual. Many people suffering from disfiguring skin diseases avoid society and lose all pride in their personal appearance. When the skin breaks out in eruptions and sores it is due entirely to an impure condition of the blood.

In all such cases Burdock Blood Bitters will quickly purify the blood and drive all the impurities out of the system.

ITCHING RASH CURED.

Mrs. J. J. Magee, Jr., Kinmount, Ont., writes: "In the spring of 1906 I was troubled with a Rash that broke out all over me. It was the worst on my face and head, had a dry, scaly top, and when I would get warm it would become very itchy. I tried the doctor's medicine but it did me no good, so I then got one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and before it was all used the Rash was entirely gone."

SORES ON FACE.

Mrs. Harvey Barkhouse, Gold River, N.S., writes: "I was greatly troubled with Sores on my face and finally became so bad I had to go to the doctor about it, but he could do nothing to help me.

"I thought about Burdock Blood Bitters and decided to try a bottle. I cannot recommend B.B.B. enough, as I had not taken all the bottle before my face was cured."

RUNNING ATHLETICS HOCKEY

COLLEGIATE BEAT THE ROUGH RIDERS EASILY BY SEVEN TO ONE LOSERS WERE NOT IN THE RUNNING

The Collegiate Institute seven handed out a decisive trimming to the Rough Riders in a hotly contested game at the Brock street Rink yesterday afternoon, beating the Rough Riders by seven goals to one after a contest in which the Students had an overwhelming share of the play. At half-time the score was 3-0 in favour of the winners, who had the Indian sign on the Riders all the way, and won away out in front under wraps. The Collegians had the speed shooting ability, and combination, and that is about enough to win most games. From point right out through the forward line they broke away fast, handled the puck nicely and carried it right in on the nets with a two and three man combination that was bound to result in only one thing — goals and plenty of them. They came back with their checks in lightning fashion and smothered up the Riders line so that the latter only very rarely were allowed to work down on the defence unhampered, while on the other hand the losers did not seem to have the speed to hold the Collegians when they tore loose and as a result the defence was kept working overtime to stall off the winners.

The Rough Riders spoiled what chance they might have had of making the game close, by adopting tactics that were, to say the least, questionable. A number of the players on the losing team seemed to go out on the ice with the determination to "get" the Collegians in any shape or form, and for a junior game some of the work done was disgraceful. Several of the Rough Riders seemed to have nothing in their repertoire but a cross check or a slash, tripping and body checking being the offences, and the way they waded into the Students, especially during the last few minutes of the game, was something fierce. It is a very bad sign to see such deliberately rough tactics used by junior players, and the sooner they are cut out the better it will be for the game. Referee Leo Derocher had his hands full, but made the best of a bad job, handing out a large number of penalties, seven-eighths of them going to the Rough Riders, who were generally a man short and ended up with three on the boards.

The Collegiate team attended strictly to business, and although there isn't one that doesn't bear some memento of the fray, they played clean hockey and were scoring goals while their opponents were looking for scalps.

All the winners played fine hockey. Meldrum handled some hard shots nicely, while Dennison and Wallis were a hard checking, reliable defence. It would be hard to pick the star of the forward line, as the four combined excellently and checked back splendidly. Fortye's shooting and Crane's rushing were features.

Cyril Giroux, Elliott and Wade were the best of the losers and did good work.

Leo Derocher refereed satisfactorily, and the teams were as follows—

The Rough Riders failed to find the nets at all in the first half, while the Collegiate scored three times. Fortye got the first one on a beautiful rush by Crane, and a pass just at the right moment. Shortly after goal No. 2 was shoved in from a mix-up in front of the nets. Crane scored neatly just before halftime; Fortye carried the puck down the wing and shot dead on the nets, Giroux saved, but Crane slammed it past him on the rebound.

The Rough Riders got their first and only goal shortly after the breath spell Elliott doing the trick. The Collegiate came right back with another, Geale scoring on a pass from Conroy after a pretty combination rush. Dennison got the next for the School, starting a rush and passing to Crane, who dodged several players and handed it back, and the point player found the nets. Fortye got the next one, and Geale hammered the last one past Waram, who was subbing for Giroux in the nets before time was called.

A big crowd saw the battle, the majority being Collegiate Institute pupils, the girls turning out in large numbers to cheer for the school.

The same teams played last week, and the Collegiate won out by one goal to nothing.

HIGGINS, DAVE HARTLEY'S "PAL," HAS A GREAT RECORD AS "PED."

David Hartley, who will be one of Canada's representatives in the big International six-day go-as-you-please, has received a letter from Anthony Higgins, of Montreal, who will be his partner in the contest, giving the latter's records which would indicate that Higgins is some walker, both as a sprinter and at the longer distances.

He writes as follows:

The following are a few of my latest records:

Belfast to Cork City, 375 miles in four days 12 hours per day), April, 1908.

Three-mile track championship of Ireland, July 1908—23 min. 20 secs.

One-mile championship—6 min. 40 secs.

Fifty miles on the road in 10 hours 25 mins.—an Irish record.

My plan for the race is to start in on the first day walking and continue the same all through for the six days, as I think it will be best and more certain, as those who run will not be able to keep it up for long and the ground I will lose in the first few hours, I will be able to make good before the twelve hours are up.

THE CHURCH LEAGUE FINAL GAME TO BE PLAYED TO-MORROW NIGHT

The final game for the championship of the Church League in the senior series will be played at Brock Street rink to-morow night, at nine o'clock, St. Andrews and Knox church being the opposing teams. It should be one of the warmest battles seen in the Church League this season. The teams are tied in the race, each having defeated the other once, and there will be no dull moments to-morrow night. Both are in good shape and may be depended upon to put up the hardest kind of a fight from start to finish. Both teams are confident of winning and there will be lots of excitement, as both have big followings. It is likely that Mr. R. M. Glover will referee the contest. The fans will get their money's worth of hockey as there are several other games on the bill of fare including the Mercantile League final game between the Quakers and the Canadian Electric Company's team. This will be played at eight o'clock sharp. The admission to the two games and to the other matches billed for to-morrow night will be 15 and 10 cents, for the whole bill of fare.

The St. Andrew's team will practise to-night at Brock street rink, between 7 and 8 o'clock, in preparation for their championship game with Knox Church to-morrow night. A full turn-out of players is expected.

CURLING.

Four rinks of the Peterborough Curling Club will go to Orillia tomorrow morning to meet four rinks from that town in the second half of the Neill—Shepherd trophy contest. The first half was played here at the time of the Peterborough bonspiel, and Orillia was 4 shots up. This, however, is no guarantee that Orillia will win the much-prized trophy, as it would be an easy matter for the locals to win by 10 or 12 shots in the northern town, and it is the intention to bring the prize back with them if possible. The skips who will go are Messrs. R. Neill, Morrow, Matthews and Medd.

HOCKEY

There will be a wild game at Brock St. Rink to-morrow night between 7 and 8 o'clock, when the Wild Cats and the Rink Rats will do mortal battle for a number of prizes donated by Check Room Larone. Returns From Three Weeks' Business Trip To Calgary

Mr. Walter Davidson Pays Visit to Western Canada—Met Several Former Peterborough People.

CALGARY A FINE CITY.

Mr. Walter Davidson has returned home after a three weeks' business trip to Calgary, Alta. Mr. Davidson, like most easterners, who visit Western Canada, was very impressed with the country out there. Combining pleasure with business, he had a very enjoyable trip.

While Calgary was his objective point, he visited a number of towns and cities. Banff was one of these. It is a general custom among a large number of Calgary people to spend Sunday at the Banff Springs. It was a strange thing, he said, to see persons in bathing in hot water in the open air, while all around them was snow and ice. Mr. David Galately, a former organist of St. Paul's church, has charge of one of the public baths at Banff. The large C. P. R. and King hotels were closed. They are not opened until May.

Mr. Davidson also spent a few days in Fargo and Grand Forks, North Dakota, in Maple Creek, Sask., Regina and Winnipeg. At Maple Creek he was the guest of his brother, Mr. Fred Davidson. He also had supper with Mr. John Dixon, at Maple Creek. Mr. Dixon is a former resident of Peterboro. In Mr. Davidson's opinion, Calgary is the best city in the West, outside of Winnipeg.

Rev. R. E. Knowles To Lecture Here On The "Cotter's Saturday Night"

The lecture to be given by Rev. R. E. Knowles, M.A., of Galt, under the auspices of St. Luke's church, wil be held on Friday, March 26th. The subject of the lecture will be "The Cotter's Saturday Night," by Burns. Rev. Mr. Knowles is well known in Peterborough, having given a lecture here about two years ago. On his visit to the city on that occasion he also preached at St. Luke's church.

Mr. Knowles is a clever man of marked ability and his addresses are always awaited with much interest. He is an author, as well, and his books are eagerly sought after by the public.

Any number of prints may be submitted, but only such as in the opinion of the Jury of Selection show distinct artistic merit will be accepted.

Pictures must be mounted and may be submitted framed, if desired.

Each picture must bear on the back the title, also the name and address of sender and a list with this information must be forwarde dby mail to the Secretary.

Each exhibitor will be furnished with a copy of the Exhibition Catalogue, which will constitute the official list of pictures accepted.

Exhibits from points outside of Canada must be sent by post.

Three competent and disinterested must be forwarded by mail to the Secretion and make awards. Their decison will be final.

LECTURE ON EGYPT 'A GREAT TREAT

Mr. T. F. Matthews Delighted a Large Audience at the Y. W. C. A.

The parlors of the Y.W.C.A. were well filled on Tuesday evening to hear the lecture of Mr. T. F. Matthews on "Some Impressions of Egypt." Two musical numbers were splendidly rendered before the lecturer was introduced. Mrs. Thackeray and Miss Elcome delighted the audience with a piano duet and the vocal solo of Miss Laing was equally enjoyed.

The lecture on Egypt has not been given in Peterborough before, but those who heard it on Tuesday evening were enthusiastic in their praise of Mr. Matthews. The description of the country and its resources, its people and their life, its universities compared with the halls of learning which we know, commanded the closest attention of the audience. The works of irrigation were so carefully described, that one almost saw the workers and certainly pitied those who work from morning till evening for a sum amounting to about ten cents of our money. It is evident that Mr. Matthews kept his eyes and ears open during his Oriental tour, and the people of our city are now reaping some benefits from it.

A vote of thanks, moved by Rev. J. R. Webb, and seconded by Miss Weir, was tendered to the lecturer through Mrs. Rogers, who occupied the chair.

Our ratepayers are delighted at the action of the County Council in deciding to erect a new bridge at McColl's Mill, and assuming control of it hereafter. Our new Reeve comes in for a share of the public approval.

The Chandos Council held a special meeting in the Town Hall, Apsley, on Wednesday, the chief business being to pass a by-law appointing Dr. Bell, as Medical Health Officer for Chandos. So much small pox and scarlet fever in the front township has alarmed them.

CALLS IT SLANDER

Premier Whitney Roused by Mr. Aylesworth's Remarks.

MR. A. G. MACKAY'S STAND

Liberal Leader Disagrees With Intemperate Statements of Leader of the Ontario Government — Estimates For the Present Fiscal Year Amount to a Total of Nearly Seven Million Dollars.

Toronto, March 3.—In moving the adjournment of the Provincial Legislature yesterday afternoon Premier Whitney drew the attention of the House to "the violent spirit of animosity towards the Province of Ontario exhibited by the Minister of Justice for the Dominion of Canada in the House of Commons at Ottawa on Monday," in connection with Florence Mining Co. petition for disallowance.

In tones that conveyed no uncertain meaning, Sir James referred to two statutes passed by the Legislature, the first of which was on the statute books of the province for months without producing any stricture from Hon. Mr. Aylesworth. There was a fundamental principle of British law all over the world that no action could be brought by any claimant against a British Government, nor be allowed to take his cases into a court of law without leave from that Government. The Prime Minister quoted precedents within the province to show that this principle had been accepted, but would only draw attention to the point when the hon. gentleman (Mr. Aylesworth) had attempted to draw conclusions contrary to this fundamental principle.

The Prime Minister felt that this course was quite in line with other evidences that had come lately from Ottawa of hostility towards the people and Province of Ontario. "because, forsooth, the people of the Province of Ontario have said to everybody to whom it was necessary to say it, that they proposed to be governed by a Government of their own choice."

Continuing, the Prime Minister said that Hon. Mr. Aylesworth's statement was made with a knowledge of the facts of but one side — an ex parte judgment—which it was hardly possibly to believe. The duty of the Minister of Justice was to pronounce upon the constitutionality or unconstitutionality of the act.

"Happily," said Sir James, "the people of this province are not in the habit of paying much attention to Mr. Aylesworth in his capacity as statesman. We do not think they are likely to do so in the future, except as they regard him as a curiosity."

"There is no difference of opinion as to matters over which this House has jurisdiction," said Hon. A. G. MacKay for the Opposition, in reply to Sir James Whitney. "I merely rise lest my silence should indicate that I agreed with the intemperate remarks of the Premier." This legislation referred to he considered most vicious and pernicious. The Florence Mining Co. had a case set down for trial, and their claim would have been decided by the judges of the land, when this Legislature intervened with the special act. He did not wish to be understood as thinking that the law was any better now than ever it was.

A summary of the estimated expenditure of the Province of Ontario for the fiscal period of ten months, ending Oct. 31, 1909, shows:

SAID TO HAVE ROBBED A MAN OF HIS MONEY WHILE DRIVING WITH HIM TO A DANCE AT BURLEIGH FALLS

J. Sothern and Susan Phillips Arrested Charged With The Theft.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

John Handley Fell Asleep in Cab And When He Awoke He Found His Money Gone.

The details of a robbery said to have been committed in a cab between Lakefield and Burleigh on Tuesday night, February 22nd, were told in the police court yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. On warrants sworn out by John Handley of this city, John Sothern and Susan Phillips, of Millbrook were arrested by Chief Roszel and P. C. Meharry. They appeared before the magistrate, charged with the theft of one hundred and thirty-five dollars from the person of John Handley. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the prisoners. Sothern did not elect nor plead. Miss Phillips elected to be tried summarily and pleaded not guilty.

"The charges are jointly laid, your Worship and when there is a difference they cannot be tried now," said Mr. Gordon. However, the preliminary hearing was proceeded with and the two were committed for trial. The magistrate consented to bail, Sothern stating that he could give his marked cheque for one thousand dollars on the local Bank of Montreal. However, when it came to getting it, it was learned that his money was in the bank at Millbrook. The two prisoners spent the night in goal. Application for bail was made by Mr. Gordon to Judge Weller this morning.

It appears that on Tuesday night, February 22nd, Handley and Mr. and Mrs. Sothern drove out to Burleigh to attend a dance. Miss Phillips, although she stated that she was not married, went as Mrs. Sothern. Handley had on him in the neighbourhood of $135, when he left town. Shortly after his arrival in Burleigh he missed his money. Suspicion at once rested on Mr. and Mrs. Sothern. Handley came to the police station this morning and swore out warrants for their arrest. Mrs. Sothern was taken in custody at her boarding house on Water St., while Sothern was arrested on his way to the police station.

The Evidence

John Handley sworn, said that on Tuesday, February 22nd, he went out to Burleigh. He drove in a cab in company with Mr. John Sothern and his wife. They left the city about seven in the evening. They stopped between here and Lakefield and then again at the village, remaining there only a few minutes. Witness bought cigars there for Mr. Sothern and himself. He paid for them with a five dolllar bill. He had the roll of bills in an inside vest pocket. When he left Peterborough he had something like $135, one hundred dollars of which he drew from the Bank of Montreal on Tuesday morning. It was mostly in five dollar bills. There was one ten dollar bill and some change. He never took any money out only at Lakefield. The prisoners were aware that he had the money. Mr. Sothern told him that it was a good idea to put the money inside his vest. From Lakefield to Burleigh witness did not know what had occurred. He was intoxicated and went to sleep.

He missed his money about an hour after their arrival at the Burleigh Falls Hotel. He had several drinks there, spending the remainder of the five dollar bill he took out at Lakefield. When it was spent he proceeded to take out more but the roll was gone. Two cigars wrapped in two lady's handerchiefs were in the place of the money. He did not know how they got there. He thought that probably Mr. Sothern had taken the money to keep it for him but the prisoner told him that he had not seen it. They went to Burleigh to a dance.

Had Whiskey in Cab

Before starting witness bought a dozen bottles of beer, and a quart of whiskey. It was about two weeks after Christmas when he first met Sothern. They were pretty friendly. From Peterborough to Lakefield there were only three in the back. He could not say as to the rest of the journey, how many were in it. One hundred dollars of his money was in five dollar bills. He denied having spent the night with two women. He talked to several women at the dance.

"Did you know that Mr. Sothern had a bank account in the Bank of Montreal?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"No, I did not," the witness answered.

At the hotel, Mr. Sothern consented to be searched in the presence of the witness and Mr. Darcy. Mrs. Sothern was also searched. No money was found.

"What were you doing with so much money?" asked prisoners' counsel.

"I intended going to Spokane, and in order to bid some of my friends good-bye, went to the dance," witness replied.

He emphatically stated that he had missed the money before meeting any women. Asked if he knew whether Sothern was married to the woman prisoner, he replied that he did not know She was introduced to witness as Mrs. Sothern.

Prisoners Return Alone.

Ernie Laurence, hack driver for Robt. Gibbs said he remembered driving the prisoners and the last witness to Burleigh, on Tuesday last. It was a quarter to twelve when they reached Burleigh. No others but the three were in the hack. He first heard of the money being lost at four o'clock next morning. He saw him change a five dollar bill at Lakefield. He could not say whether the last witness' vest was open when he reached Burleigh.

Next morning the hack was thoroughly examined. Mr. and Mrs. Sothern returned to town on Wednesday afternoon. They left the complainant there.

Money Under Carpet

P. C. Meharry was called. In company with Chief Rozzel he went to arrest the prisoners, where they were rooming on Water St. Sothern was not home but Mrs. Sothern was there.

"I have a warrant for your arrest," said Chief Rozzel to her. "You are charged with the theft of $130."

"It wasn't me who stole the money," she said.

"Do you want him too? If you do he is at the National."

Sothern was arrested on his way to the police station. He was examined and a little over four dollars was found on him. In the station, Mrs. Sothern was told that anything she said would be used in evidence against her. She asked that if she told everything would they not lock her up. First she said she had not any money, but afterwards she gave Chief Roszel eight five dollar Bank of Montreal bills. She said that Sothern gave it to her on the following morning after their trip to Burleigh. She said that she and Sothern were standing in the Burleigh Hotel on Wednesday morning. He told her to go into a bedroom and under the carpet she would find some money. Coming home she gave it to him and he gave her back forty-five dollars. Sothern told her that it was Handley's money.

Mrs. Sothern wanted to go into the box and tell her story but her counsel finally prevailed upon her not to do so. The case was rested here. His Worship committing the prisoners for trial.

WOMAN HEARD THREE SHOTS WHILE DRIVING PAST HOUSE OF KINRADES AT 3 O'CLOCK

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

Hamilton, Ont., March 4.—A report reached the police to-day that a farmer's wife driving past the Kinrade home on Thursday afternoon last, heard three shots fired in the house. The unusual sound attracted her attention, but she passed on. The peculiar thing about this statement is that the time was 3 o'clock, while the police were not notified of the shooting until 4:30. The report corroborates Motorman Stone's statement. Provincial detective Miller returned from Toronto to-day and resumed work on this most mysterious case.

Lindsay's Night Constable Is Assaulted And Brutally Beaten By Men Yet At Large

P. C. Shortt Had Arrested Cousin of the Ringleader and Was Responsible for His Being Sent to the Penitentiary—This is Considered the Motive.

SEARCH FOR "MICK" CARLIN

Lindsay, March 4.—Police Constable Shortt was set upon last night by four men shortly after midnight, was brutally beaten and is now lying in the hospital as the result of his numerous injuries. The assault which in its every motive was of a most brutal nature was committed near the market opposite the Moore Hotel.

The leading assailant is stated to be "Mick" Carlin, who returned to Lindsay about 10 days ago, after spending as is asserted a lengthy term in an American prison. The character he bears in this town is not in his favour, and following Constable Shortt's statements regarding the fracas, a search was instituted for Carlin, but he has not yet been arrested. The three others who are said to have been with Carlin and to have assisted him in the assault are Leslie Goheen, Leo Carlin, and another.

The Motive

It is generally believed that Carlin was actuated in the assault by the fact that Constable Shortt was responsible for the arrest of his cousin, Fred Carlin who, three weeks ago was sentenced to five years in Penitentiary. The reason for the other men taking part, if as stated they did, cannot be learned here.

Constable's Injuries

Police Constable Shortt is the night watchman in Lindsay. The injuries he received are rather serious, but are not expected to result in a fatality. He has a long gash on one side of his head and one hip is badly injured.

The affair occurred at fifteen minutes past twelve o'clock, while the constable was on his rounds. A report states that he is resting easily this afternoon.

BIG STICK DEPARTS

William H. Taft Succeeds Roosevelt as President of United States —"Teddy" Ushered Out By Severe Storm

THE INAUGURAL PARADE.

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

William H. Taft began his four-year term as President of the United States to-day at five minutes to one o'clock, when he was officially sworn in to the highest position his country offers its people. His assumption of the presidency was simultaneous with the end of Roosevelt's tenure. Taft's smile went in at the front door as the big stick disappeared through one of the rear portals.

The inaugural parade this morning was marred by a severe windstorm accompanied by snow and sleet, but the weather failed to keep the countless throngs from crowding the streets.

The following despatches were received by Mr. J. N. Barber over a special wire from Washington and New York:

New York, March 4.—(Special) 10 a.m.—The last news received from Washington was during the early hours this morning. It stated that a big store was raging. All decorations were ruined by the wind and sleet. At 9 a.m. all communications with the outside world was cut off, not a wire was working with Washington. About six inches of sleet fell during the night taking down wires, poles and doing great damages to trees.

Washington, March 4.—10:30 a.m.—It is stater here that there are fifty trains held up outside of Washington by the storm that will not reach Washington in time for the inauguration.

Washington, March 4.—11 a.m.—It is still storming and the streets in all directions are filled with snow and slush. Great crowds are in the streets. President Roosevelt and President-Elect Taft reached the Capitol at 10:45, in a closed carriage.

Washington, March 4.—1 p. m.—William H. Taft was formally sworn in as President of the United States at 12:55 p.m.

Washington, March 4.—1:45 p.m.—The summary of the new President's inaugural address was caught as follows:

To continue the Roosevelt reform policies.

Federal supervision and restriction of excessive corporate issue.

To free lawful business from alarm.

The modification of anti-trust laws.

Proposed tariff revision should be prompt and on protection lines.

Graduated inheritance tax.

Strong navy and land defences needed.

BE JUST AND FEAR NOT

The Christian Guardian seems to take a sane attitude in declining to print letters on the Jackson-Genesis episode on the grounds that "the prospects that a heated and prolonged controversy touching it would serve the cause of truth and the well being of the church, are only small indeed." In regard to both sides of such controversies one is tempted to exclaim, "a plague o' both your houses!" As in worldly things, so in theology and religion there are too much talking and too little doing—too much preaching and too little practice. Every ordinary citizen knows his duty and it only remains for him to do it—understands his religious obligations and how to fulfil them. If the main business of preachers and of hearers, were successfully directed to this end the world would be morally revolutionized in six days. No man was ever made a better citizen or a better Christian by theological muck-racking to discover whether Creation was a myth, or whether the whale swallowed Jonah or Jonah swallowed the whale. These are questions as insoluble as they are insignificant. The Redemption and all that it implies is a fact and the practice of its teachings is the only real and significant thing. We hear too much preaching; we know our Christian duty and that knowledge brings its heavy responsibility which is made heavier by every sermon we hear. If we can't live up to our little knowledge how can we live up to a great deal more; which is to assume that we learn our duty better by listening to more sermons. Too often we go to church to get bread and we get a stone—a dissertation on how geologic rocks give the lie to the Mosaic Scriptures. If we make an undue fuss over such theologic divagations, we neglect the Christian duty of doing—of showing our faith by our works. The teaching of the Master's life was right living. If we fear God we have nothing else to fear.

We pay our tithes of mint, anise and cummin and neglect the weightier matters of the law.

CONCRETE

The first annual meeting of the Canadian Cement and Concrete Association, held in Toronto, has aroused a new interest in the structural utility of cement concrete. The papers read and the accompanying discussion showed that the full measure of adaptability of concrete to structural work, has not been reached, but diligent expriment is going on to bring out the full extent of its capabilities. The importance of concrete as a building material largely arises from the fact that while its intrinsic merits are undoubted, its general use will lessen the drafts upon our too rapidly lessening timber resources. Peterborough has a direct interest in the demonstration of the advantages of concrete, especially for bridge work. One would think from the city's favourable experience, no more wood will be used in the construction of bridges in this city. The excellent and substantial reinforced concrete bridges, spanning the creek at its intersection with Sherbrooke, Charlotte, Hunter and Brock streets, seem to be in every way satisfactory. While their initial cost may be in excess of wooden structures they are sure to be more lasting, especially if the concrete surface has been carefully compounded and applied. The practically everlasting character of granolithic pavement as compared with sand surface indicates that the concrete flooring of bridges should be reinforced with grained granite of the quality of syenite, which would add immeasurably to the life of a concrete bridge floor under the heavy traffic conditions to which it is subjected upon our busiest streets.

What is of especial interest to Peterborough, in view of the proposal to erect a new bridge at Smith street is the adaptability of cement to bridge construction. It is stated that the new bridge is to be 300 feet in length, with concrete abutments and piers, steel superstructure and concrete floor. Some little suggestive attention was given to the idea of an all-reinforced concrete bridge, but steel was selected as being cheaper, though, of course, not so durable as concrete. But is all-concrete more costly than steel and cement combined? This question is raised by a paper read, before the Cement Association meeting by Mr. Frank Barber, engineer of York County, who is reported as saying:

"The first concrete arch was built, he said, in 1889, and since then so rapid had been the growth of cement's popularity that one firm alone had erected 1,000 concrete arch bridges. The largest concrete arch in Canada was erected, he stated, near St. Thomas, last year. It had a clear span of 116 feet. The life of a steel bridge, is usually about 40 years. Concrete will last much longer. It is better than stone, because the action of time disintegrates the latter. Concrete improves with age, and after a concrete bridge has stood a given load it may be relied upon to stand that load in the future, while such may not always be the case with a steel structure. As for cost, I estimate that of two bridges built to withstand the same strain the concrete would cost about three-fifths as much as the steel."

If Mr. Barber's estimate is correct—and it appears to be worth investigating—it seems that an all-concrete bridge at Smith street would be more cheaply constructed than a steel bridge, whose life is admittedly shorter. If, as Mr. Barber shows, a 116-feet span in concrete is practicable, such a bridge is also practicable at Smith street, where, with two river piers the spans for a 300-foot bridge would be only 75 feet. Assuming the York County Engineers' statement to be correct the city would gain in several ways by the erection of an all-concrete bridge; it would be cheaper to build, more lasting, and in point of architectural appearance more dignified and beautiful to the eye.

This last consideration is not to be despised. As has been pointed out in these columns, the river banks in the vicinity are capable of having their natural beauty greatly enhanced by a little artificial improvement, so as to make them correspond in attractiveness of character with the splendid pleausances on either side of the river—Nicholls Park and Inverlea Park. While these parks and the adjacent river banks could be brought, so to speak, into consonance of appearance, it would be complementary to a general harmonious effect to have them joined by a bridge, which, in elegant substantiality of appearance and architectural dignity should be worthy of its environment.

In this as in all departments of our street work and civic improvements, the old proverb holds—what is worth doing is worth doing well.

ALLEGORY AND GENESIS.

The following is taken from exchanges as the laymen's view of the higher criticism and doctrinal controversy:

Every now and again these furious controversies arise among those who may be called ecclesiastics. In the old days freedom of thought was considered a crime by those who claimed to have charge of people's consciences, and the guilty ones were burned or immured in prison. Scientists were persecuted for believing that the world revolved on its axis, and other things which are now matters of common knowledge brought persons under grave suspicion if not penalty in those "good old days." And no doubt the persecutors were as sincere in their course as the Apostle Paul when he was called Saul, before his conversion. Nowadays we abhor the lengths to which the persecuting spirit carried these men, and smile at some of their notions. But they were perfectly sincere in believing themselves to be guardians of right knowledge, and the true receptacles and interpreters of Divine revelation. Like Rev. Dr. Carman thy felt that the true faith was in dire peril if the adversary in the person of the offending thinker was not at once and sharply put down. If he were not promptly crushed, it seemed to be feared that the whole fabric of Christian faith was in danger of crumbling.

Ordinary laymen have a simpler way of looking at these things, and perhaps they may be as near right in the end as the ecclesiastics who display the old persecuting and intolerant spirit.

The average preacher dearly loves a controversy; in a sense it is his trade. But Christ dabbled little in controversy. When attacked by Pharisee or other critic His answer was short and intensely practical and pointed. His time was too precious for the class of controversy which ecclesiasticism loves. When disciples very much set upon themselves asked him to condemn others who were not working upon exactly the same lines as themselves. He greatly reproved them and in the broadest way gave sanction to the work of all who were humbly and sincerely trying to do His will.

In the long run we suspect it will be shown to be comparatively immaterial to the fate of Christianity whether Dr. Carman or Mr. Jackson is right. Just as to-day it is in no way detrimental to hold that the world is round and revolves. Mr. Jackson speaks as if the opening chapters of Genesis were more likely to be allegory or myth than science or history. Webster defines allegory as a "figurative sentence or discourse, in which the principal subject is described by another subject resembling it in its properties and circumstances. The real subject is thus kept out of view, and we are left to collect the intentions of the writer or speaker by the resemblance of the secondary to the primary subject." Thus the Saviour's remark, "I am the Vine, ye are the branches." One of Webster's definitions of the word myth is "A story of great but unknown age, which originally embodied a belief regarding some fact or phenomenon of experience, and in which often the forces of nature and of the soul are personified," or "a wonder story of prehistoric origin."

The opening of Genesis is one of the most dignified and sublime passages in literature. Apart from the language of the rocks it is the only revelation we have of the creation of the world. We should think it possible for more than one view of those opening chapters to be compatible with true Christian faith. A revelation it evidently is, of Divine origin, but it is not a complete revelation. Room is left for interpretation, and it would seem that a fair amount of freedom of interpretation should be permitted. Those chapters may be a combination of fact and allegory. The part relating to Adam and Eve and the serpent is almost surely allegorical.

The laity will do well to, as the expression is, "sit tight" on this matter and not allow the strife of controversy to befog them. The controversy is not a vital one. No human's dictum can be conclusive. The supernatural origin of Christianity is too evident after 20 centuries of trial to be disturbed. Christ's teaching and its fruits are undeniable and unimpeachable, whether Genesis is fact and history or allegory. If the laity do anything, they should sit on the dogmatists. Sincere as they are, they should be brought to respect the sincerity and freedom of others.

A LOST OPPORTUNITY

The New York Journal of Commerce employs no uncertain tone in indicating to the United States the loss they have sustained by maintaining a hostile trade attitude and policy towards Canada. It says:

"The tendency of material development in Canada, has been away from closer trade relation with this country, made so by the attitude of our own government and especially by Congress in the passage of the Dingley Act. The farming interests being shut off from the south, have sought the development of the home market and manufacturers have profited by a barrier against the United States. The result is the building up of the transportation facilities east and west instead of north and south. When the Grand Trunk covered only Quebec and Ontario and had its connections on this side of the border, its influence was for reciprocity. Now, with the aid of the government, it is building up a great system in the west to reach the Pacific and extend eastward to the New Brunswick coast. Its interest will henceforth be between the grain region of the west and the manufacturing communities of the east and with the development of foreign trade across both oceans. The whole transportation system of Canada has been shaped at great expense for industrial and commercial growth independent of the United States.

"This has been the effect of an artificial trade barrier along the geographical boundary, erected by the United States and practically forced upon Canada against its desire. Forced back upon itself it has gone resolutely and persistently at work to develop industry and trade independently and to establish advantageous relations with the Mother Country and with Europe and the rest of the world, giving up all effort in the direction of the United States. That is the result of a childish policy on this side and the loser is the United States. A change of policy would probably find response in Canada, but it would still be of advantage to her people, but conditions have been so changed in the course of Canadian development that the commercial coalescence that was possible twenty years ago is now out of the question."

"A change in policy," as the Journal of Commerce remarks, might find a response in Canada, but it would hardly be the response the United States expects or might have expected any time within the past forty years, except the last twelve or fifteen. Uncle Sam has had his eyes opened too late. Canada as is pointed out in the above article has gone forward too far on her own way to turn aside to consider any trade proposals which must come from our neighbours—unless they are of a sufficiently advantageous to be a temptation to Canada. While we value highly trade with the United States—by reason of proximity, our natural market, the selfish trade policy has so estranged us that our trade has taken new channels, which for patriotic and imperial reasons too well serve our purposes and interests and even self-respect, to consider with favour, any change of trade relations, that would imperil the commercial independence of our neighbours which their unneighbourly trade policy has—if you will—forced us to achieve.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has said—and we all say "amen" to it, "that if there is any proposal for international reciprocity on this continent, it must proceed from the United States.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto News says that Mr. Borden's "leadership is unchallenged." Mr. Foster's leadership is question-able.

A speaker at the Good Roads Association meeting said that the public roads in Ontario were in the same condition as the country roads in England in 1810—ninety-nine years behind the times.

It served a Toronto vag. right to be sent to jail for begging a street car ticket—prima facie evidence of insanity.

The Toronto Star has a cap-and-bells article on the Trent Canal. A "sharp-Alec." can turn anything to nonsense; even the Creation and Jonah and the whale make sport for the polemist.

CROSSINGS MEASURE GOES TO COMMITTEE

Senate Gives Mr. Lancaster's Bill Its Second Reading.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

After Effort by Senator Ellis to Pass Proposed Act Without Amendment, a Vote of 40 to 15 Sends It to the Railway Committee—House of Commons Spends Time Discussing Experimental Farms.

Ottawa, March 4.—The Senate yesterday, after a long discussion, decided to send on to the Railway Committee Mr. Lancaster's bill providing for the guarding of level railway crossings by the companies or the limiting of the speed of trains through towns and thickly-settled districts to ten miles an hour.

Senator Ellis had charge of the bill, and when the second reading was carried he moved that it be considered in committee of the whole next Tuesday. Sir Richard Cartwright, however, moved that the bill be sent to the Railway Committee. This carried by 40 to 15.

After the Senate had heard the arguments of Senator Ellis for the passage of the bill, Hon. Mr. McMullen informed his colleagues that the railroad companies had the greatest regard for human life, and had gone to great expense to promote the safety of the public. He thought this bill should be delayed until the Minister of Railways had brought down his bill.

Senator Ferguson favored the Lancaster bill. The C.P.R. had 45 per cent. of its level crossings protected, and had no level crossing accidents last year; the Grand Trunk had only 3 per cent. of its grade crossing protected, and had eighteen killed and thirty-eight injured.

Senator Beique, who was for the bill, wanted to put the Senate right. There was a popular opinion that the Senate killed this bill last year. It had not done so; instead, it had merely attempted to improve the bill from the Commons and make it effective. Before the final stage was reached, he would move that this bill and the bill as amended by the Senate last session be sent for opinion as to their effect to the Department of Justice, or to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Sir Richard Cartwright was strongly in favor of the bill. Over and over again disastrous accidents had occurred at crossings, and the railway companies had taken no steps to protect the public. He thought the bill had been rather rushed through the Commons owing to the unfortunate accidents which had occurred within a very short space of time. The bill as worded might be the means of subjecting, not merely the railways, but the whole public to very great inconvenience and difficulty in carrying on the business of the country.

Senator Gibson, while strongly favoring the proper protection of crossings by railways, thought there should not be undue haste in dealing with this bill, and he did not know that it would be for the benefit of the public to press the railroads beyond reason.

Senator Dandurand said that last year the Senate had given a great deal of time and study to this bill, to which the Commons appeared to have given little attention and to have neglected to even look into what the Senate had done in regard to improving this bill. If the Commons failed to give this bill attention, that was no reason for the Senate neglecting it. He favored the principle, he favored protection of crossings, and he proposed to vote for the second reading and thought the bill should go to the Railway Committee.

This, the last Wednesday for private members, was given over to a discussion on experimental farms.

"The physician attending me prescribed, on my rallying from an attack of rheumatism, your Scott's Emulsion, which I have been taking every winter since. I find it most valuable in strengthening and building up one after a severe illness. I have not had rheumatism since the time mentioned above and I owe it to your most valuable Emulsion. It is my life now, and makes me strong and healthy."—R. PICARD, Grand Ligne, Quebec.

For two hundred years before SCOTT'S EMULSION came Cod Liver Oil was used for rheumatism.

Scott's Emulsion

is modernized Cod Liver Oil; the purest and best oil partly predigested, made palatable and suitable for the most delicate child or invalid. Assimilates the blood, tones up the entire system, and drives out rheumatism.

PIMPLES, BLACKHEADS, ECZEMA, SALT RHEUM

These disfiguring skin diseases are caused by impure blood which becomes disordered through Imperfect Digestion, Torpid Liver, or Inactive Kidneys. The pores of the skin close up, poisonous accumulations which should be eliminated are retained, and weaken and putrify the blood. Ferrozone has a specific action on blood impurities and drives them quickly from the system. It stimulates the Kidneys and Liver to healthy action, neutralizes Uric acid, keeps the pores of the skin open, and destroys germs. Ferrozone is a specific for every form of skin disease, and is used with astonishing success the world over. It acts directly on the blood, freeing it of the foul matter that breaks out in such painful and distressing blemishes. There are no unpleasant after-effects from Ferrozone, which does not depress the heart, and is free from Mercury, Potash, and harmful drugs. By using Ferrozone you have the BEST treatment for Skin Diseases and Blood Disorders. No doctor can prescribe anything better, probably nothing so good. Price 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50. Sold everywhere by druggists.

"For five years my face was disfigured by raw, bleeding eruptions, that resisted all treatment. Three Kingston doctors did their best for me, but failed. I used Ferrozone and was perfectly cured." Mary Shanly, Pittsburg, Ont.

FERROZONE CURES

Nearly a score of members talked long and more or less relevantly in French and English, and it ended up in a speech by Hon. Sydney Fisher, who accepted the resolution and expressed satisfaction that it had been presented.

Will Banquet Mr. Borden.

Delegate to Opium Conference Said to Be Stranded In China.

Ottawa, March 4.—It is rumored that Mackenzie King, M.P., who went to China in January to represent the Government of Canada at the opium conference, is stranded in Shanghai without the necessary money to pay his hotel bill and pay his passage home.

Before he left Ottawa he drew sufficient money to take him to China, expecting that he would be able to draw on the Finance Department for his return fare. The other day when the conference was concluded he wired for money, but, as there has been no appropriation for the trip, the auditor-general refused to endorse the expenditure, and Mr. Mackenzie King has been forced to rely on his own resources to get back home.

The cost of his trip will, however, be provided for in the supplementary estimates.

"So Nervous—I Would Start at Least Sound."

Miss Minnie Reid, of Tearwater, Ont., says: "I caught a cold, but very foolishly let it go on without taking much notice of it, thinking that it would soon pass off again. Instead of this it fastened upon me, until I became downright ill, and when the cold did get better it left me in a terribly weak condition and a martyr to Catarrh."

"My health was quite broken up, nor did I make any improvement. I was tired all the time, lost my appetite entirely, while the pain in my head was at times intolerable. I got so nervous that I would start at the slightest sound, until life did not seem worth living under such conditions."

"I had almost despaired of getting rid of the trouble, when a friend advised the use of PSYCHINE."

"I took several doses of PSYCHINE and the result was marvellous. The continual feeling of heaviness which had been a burden to me for so many months, and made me so wretched, was removed as by magic. My appetite returned and I was able to enjoy my food again, and my system was thoroughly built up."

"I cannot express what your medicine did for me. From being a sick, broken-down, shattered woman, it made me strong and well. The nervousness has gone and I have had no return."

If you are run down Psychine will "pick you up" in good time. As unfailing remedy for Throat, Chest, Lung and Stomach Troubles. Sold by all druggists and stores at 50c. and $1 bottle.

A BAILEY EPISTLE.

W. A. Bailey, whose name is not unknown to Peterborough newspaper readers, sends the Examiner the following characteristic epistle:

Peterborough, March 2, 1909.

Sir,—In my letter of the 23rd ult. "employer" should have read "employed." It is the employed who should bear the responsibility of the unemployed. The bogus agitations about "the employer and employed," "capital and labour" should be discouraged.

Enclosed letter shows that the ill-feeling towards the English in Canada is not justified; they are not all as I am.

Yours truly,
W. A. BAILEY.

Mr. Bailey encloses the following post card:

England, Jan. 21st, 1909.

Sir,—The statements on your post card of January 8th, regarding Canada are absolutely untrue. I am in the closest daily touch with the Country from Atlantic to Pacific and since 1888 have carried on a business aggregating millions of pounds. I have always found the kindest feeling towards English people and a remarkably high standard of honesty, never having, as far as I can recollect, made a bad debt in Canada. Not a single case of corruption has come within my personal knowledge and I have never been held up in any way. I am afraid you must seek within yourself the cause of your discontent.

Yours truly,
R. M. H. P.

HEALTHY PLANTS.

Require the Most Careful Attention As Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rose bush which—despite the most beneficient environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the rouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

WAS IN BED FOR THREE MONTHS.

PEOPLE SAID SHE HAD CONSUMPTION.

Read how Mrs. T. G. Buck, Bracebridge, Ont., was cured (and also her little boy) by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

She writes: "I thought I would write and let you know the benefit I have received through the use of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A few years ago I was so badly troubled with my lungs people said I had Consumption and that I would not live through the Fall. I had two doctors attending me and they were very much alarmed about me. I was in bed three months and when I got up I could not walk, so had to go on my hands and knees for three weeks, and my limbs seemed of no use to me. I gave up all hopes of ever getting better when I happened to see in B.B.B. Almanac that Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup was good for weak lungs. I thought I would try a bottle and by the time I had used it I was a lot better, so got more and it made a complete cure. My little boy was also troubled with weak lungs and it cured him. I keep it in the house all the time and would not be without it for anything."

Price 25 cents at all dealers. Beware of imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Ask for it and insist on getting the original. Put up in a yellow wrapper and three pine trees the trade mark.

Two Of The Charges Against Mr. Moher Have Been Dismissed

Third Charge Will be Heard by Judge Weller on Friday Afternoon—Yesterday's Proceedings—The Judge's Summary.

GROUNDS FOR DISMISSAL.

Two of the charges against Mr. Frank Moher, reeve of Douro, were dismissed by Judg Weller yesterday and judgment in the third was reserved until Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, when the counsel for both parties will present their arguments in the remaining charge. The latter is that Mr. Edward Welsh received three dollars from Mr. Moher, the payment being made with the intention of influencing his vote. The two charges that were dismissed were, first, that Mr. Moher through his agents, Michael Welsh and Maurice O'Brien did pay to William H. White the sum of two dollars, and, second, that Mr. Moher by himself or through some other person on his behalf did pay one Maurice O'Brien the sum of three dollars for the hire of a conveyance for the taking of certain voters to the polls.

The above was the wording of the original charges, but as the evidence produced the facts, certain amendments were made. For instance in the last mentioned, when Mr. Martin McManus was examined it was learned that he did not drive out to Lakefield as the relator had been informed, but that he had gone there by train and that Mr. Moher had given him his railway fare which, after the election, he returned to him. This, in the opinion of the Judge, changed the nature of the charge, and after all the evidence was received, it was dismissed.

In the instance in which Mr. W. H. White received two dollars it was not stated whether it was the father or the son who received the money, or whether Mr. Welsh or Mr. O'Brien had paid it. It was brought out as the hearing proceeded that Mr. Welsh had paid the old gentleman two dollars, but had done so of his own accord, he said, without the knowledge of Mr. Moher and without even mentioning it to him. This was the second charge that was thrown out.

On the third charge it is acknowledged that Mr. Moher paid Ed. Welsh the sum of three dollars, but Judge Weller stated that the importance of the affair was not the fact that he had paid the money, but had he done so with the intention of influencing Mr. Welsh's vote.

Mr. Peck's Summary.

The afternoon session yesterday opened with Mr. Peck's statement for the defense. He had no good reason for putting the defendant on the stand. The witnesses had, he thought, given their evidence in an honest and fair manner, that entitled them to commendation. Reviewing the case of the three dollars paid to Ed. Welsh, Mr. Peck stated that Mr. Moher was instrumental in getting Mr. Welsh, and as a matter of honesty he was obliged to pay him. He made no attempt at concealment, and nothing was said about the election until after the money was paid.

Regarding the payment of two dollars to Wm. White, Sr., Mr. Peck said the affidavit had to be amended to read Mr. Jas. Welsh instead of Michael Welsh and Maurice O'Brien. JamesWelsh was not to be assumed the agent of the respondent. He said he had a casual conversation with Mr. Moher before the election, but had not asked to do anything. There was no connection between his act and Mr. Moher. In the third case, in which Mr. Martin McManus received his railway fare to Lakefield, Mr. Peck submitted that in the present condition of the law in regard to municipal elections this was not an illegal act. The charge arose out of the evidence and Mr. Peck asked his Honour to entertain it at his discretion.

Judge Weller.

His Honour stated that the punishment in a case of this kind was very severe. The relator, if found guilty, is deprived of his seat and is ineligible for two years at any municipal election. He refused to allow the amendment asked by relator. A man should know, in a matter of this kind, what he is about in the beginning. He should not go out with a fish and line. He ought not to rely upon any kind of amendment based on what is found in the expedition. There was no such a word as agent found in the Municipal Act. "Every person, either directly or indirectly, by himself, or by any other person on his behalf," is the way it reads. Behalf, the judge said, meant with expressed or implied consent of the party to do the Act. It was not to be considered that a man who, without authority whatever from the candidate, goes about with gifts is doing so on "behalf" of the candidate. He knew nothing about it. Every candidate might be disqualified if such were the case. His Honour did not find that Jas. Welsh paid the two dollars on behalf of Mr. Moher. He paid from good feeling towards the candidate and wanted to see him elected.

In regard to the payment of Mr. McManus' fare to Lakefield the Judge stated that a railway coach is not included among the conveyances as referred to in the Act. A man pays for his ticket for the privilege of being carried to the place indicated on it. The company would be equally liable for the Act mentions every person who receives pay for the use of the conveyance. The man who pays and he who receives are both liable under the Act. This charge was also dismissed.

Further Adjournment.

The paying of the three dollars to Mr. Ed. Welsh by Mr. Moher seemed to the Judge the most serious charge of the three. He reviewed the evidence which has already been published. His Honour stated that it appeared to come within the terms of the Act, but he wished to give it due consideration, and asked Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Peck to appear before him on Friday for the purpose of arguing the law in respect to this charge.

Science And Religion Dealt With In Interesting Sermon

"Faith Has to Do With Unseen Things, Science With Material or Seen Things"—Modern Idolatry is Discussed—How Can Scientist Aid in Our Spiritual Being?

A POSER FOR SCIENTISTS.

Philip Mauro, Council-at-Law, New York, has been holding a series of interesting meetings in Toronto. The following sermon is interesting in its ideas:—

Mr. Mauro's address was under the caption "Modern Idolatry," and he made his subject very broad, broad enough to include the following of and admiration of art, letters, commerce and invention as idolatrous.

"A man to-day is making his idols as he did thousands of years ago," said Mr. Mauro; "using wealth and the comforts which he has manufactured for himself as the idols which he worships.

"Science is the great, reliable teacher to which men look, but if I were to ask any of the devotees of science to furnish me with a specimen which has a spiritual or moral value to mankind, he could not do it. I have spent twenty years in the search, and I have not found it yet.

"Science is not a revealer of spiritual truth, but this idol is not only set upon a level with God, but even set above God.

Faith and Unseen Things

"Faith has to do unfailingly with unseen things; science has to do with seen things or with the material universe."

In saying that astronomy was but a branch of a science which is an idol, Mr. Mauro said: "Astronomy has to do with the stars, and if religious information is to be had from science surely we can learn it from the stars, but all we know is that the heavens are said to be made of the same sort of stuff as our own earth. How will this benefit us in the trials and tribulations which beset us here?"

"Chemistry may teach us how to make new kinds of soap, but it will not tell us how to obtain clean hearts.

"Geology is the most youthful and the most cocksure of the sciences, and the first thing it did was to seek, to upset the first chapter of Genesis.

"What I want is the name and address of science, so that I can go there for my soul's health and peace of conscience."

A Poser For Scientists

"If an intelligent scientist can give us no reason for our own physical being, how is he going to aid us in our spiritual being?

"Money is an idol," Mr. Mauro concluded. "The pursuit of it is the chief occupation of men and women. It is much worse in the country that I come from. Money is more and more filling the thoughts and minds of men, because money bestows honours, dignities and rank."

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY DISCUSSES GIRLS AND THEIR IDEAS OF LOVE

The writer of numberless "classics" which may be found on the ten cent counter of book stores, and which have been read by many women and girls — Laura Jean Libbey — is quoted as follows in a leading New York daily:—

"Yes, my writings are always about love — always," shyly admitted the authoress.

"It is the one thing — the only thing in the world, you know. It's the little silver thread that binds two hearts together. What would we do without it? Oh, no, I do not believe the New York idea or any other idea is just money—it couldn't be.

"And — yes, I have always treated it romantically, for young girls must dream their long sweet dreams of what it will be to be married and have a home of their own, even if afterward they have to find things are — different."

"Different!"

This from the original dreamer of love's young dream. This from her who discovered the mighty golden rule, "Be married for love and you must be happy." Immorta' Cupid, what next?

"But, Miss Libbey, does marriage mean disillusionment in love?"

Ever so gently, her beautiful brow was corrugated for a brief instant, and her plump little left hand, all glittering with diamonds, moved the least little bit tremulously.

But then she smiled bravely and hesitated no longer.

"Disillusionment is too harsh a word," she murmured gently. But of course it's true that the sweet dreams of beautiful young girls about life with the man they've married for love can never, never be fulfilled.

"They don't realize that, dear little flowers. They think that after they're married to him he will always stoop to pick up their handkerchiefs. They believe he will always stand aside and hold open the door for his wife and smile and say, 'After you, my dear!'

"They think, these young girls, that all their lives will be one long love affair, that he will always be just as he is when — when he's courting them," and the fair speaker blushed so prettily.

"But it's not like that," she half sighed, half smiled. "After people are married there are so many other things to think about besides love — business, for instance. There isn't time for all the — romance!

"A man's getting married is like you running for a street car. You run and you run; you get very much excited and all out of breath. Then when you've caught your car you sink down in your seat and you're not excited any more. You're just quiet and satisfied.

"Marriage means just that calm kind of happiness — just a sweet, strong friendship.

"You see it all comes very gradually —and the girls change after marriage just exactly the way their husbands do. They get so they just enjoy their quiet happiness better than all the first sweet thrills, don't you see?"

"Oh, don't you believe in affinities?"

"But the author of "Parted on Their Bridal Tour," firmly shook her head.

"Oh, no," she smiled. "That is not a heaven-born thought. No man that is married should ever find that his mental vibrations should attune with any one's except his wife's. He is married, has a home, a dear little woman waiting for him there, trying so hard to keep everything lovely for him. That should be enough — he doesn't need an affinity.

Was Allowed Out On Bail Will Appear For Trial In June

John Sothern and Susan Phillips, who were committed for trial yesterday afternoon at the Police Court on a charge of stealing $135.00 from John Handley, were allowed out on bail this morning. Their counsel, Mr. G. N. Gordon, made application to His Honour Judge Weller, who fixed Sothern's bail at $500.00, and Miss Phillips' at $250.00.

They will not appear for trial until the June Assizes, which open here on the second Tuesday in June, if they elected to be tried by jury.

Handley, the complainant, was to have left for Spokane, but it is understood that he intends to remain until after the trial is concluded.

THE LIBEL CASE AGAINST MR. W. ROBINSON OF HAMILTON TAKEN OUT OF HANDS OF JURY BY JUDGE

Hamilton, March 3.—"The proper course, I think, is to withdraw this case from the jury on the ground that there is no evidence to connect F. C. Mills with the libel. There was not the slightest justification for its publication, and it is a disgrace to journalism that anyone should be assailed in the columns of a newspaper, as someone has been in this paper," said Justice Latchford yesterday afternoon after the evidence for the complainant in the action brought by F. C. Mills against M. M. Robinson had been submitted.

His lordship instructed the jury to return a formal verdict of not guilty, and then dismissed the action without costs.

Thus ended an action that has been the principal talk of newspaperdom for the past few months.

The case started about 3 o'clock and was finished by 5 o'clock. S. F. Washington, K.C., prosecuted the charge for Mr. Mills, and George S. Lynch-Staunton, K.C., defended Mr. Robinson. Mr. Staunton had his objection stop pulled wide open, and it seemed for a few minutes that his first objection would be fatal to the case.

After the evidence was all in Mr. Staunton moved that the action be dismissed on the ground that it had not been proved that Robinson wrote the article, and also that as Mr. Mills was not in Brantford on the night of the wrestling match referred to, he could not have been libelled as claimed in the indictment.

His lordship held with this contention, but said that the person who wrote the libel deserved severe punishment. He said, unfortunately for the prosecutor, it had not been shown that Robinson had written it. But there was a more fatal objection. There was not a Referee Mills at Brantford that night, according to the evidence put in, and certainly F. C. Mills was not there. Robinson and he were talking that day, and that night Robinson saw Mills at the theatre, and he knew he was not in Brantford.

In addressing the jury his lordship said he did not consider there was any evidence to sustain the principal part of the charge; that F. C. Mills was exposed to ridicule, hatred or contempt. The article was designed to injure someone, and it might have been that Robinson designed it to injure the complainant Mills, but there was not sufficient evidence to put the prisoner on his defence.

The jury quickly disposed of the matter by returning a verdict of not guilty on his lordship's instruction, and he dismissed the action without costs.

Mr. Staunton thought his lordship had no discretion in the matter of costs, and that he had to allow them, but the judge thought he had and would not make an order.

How One Is Meeting With Success While Another Is Almost Down And Out

New Comers to This Country Are Not All Alike—One Man is Making Business for Himself, the Other Seems Unable to Find Any

TWO GOOD ILLUSTRATIONS.

The fact that some immigrants make good here, while others fail, that the one show alertness, adaptibility, and a willingness to work for a living, while the other is looking for help, handouts, and appears to have come to Canada expecting providental supplies of silver, this difference is illustrated by recent experiences the local immigration agent has had with two men. Dispositions differ among the native born, as well as among visitors, but these examples are interesting from the fact that the distinction is so marked.

Did Not Want Work.

Immigrant No. 1 had been visiting regularly at the local immigration office. Almost daily since the beginning of the winter he has spent several hours on the cozy side of the coal stove. His desire to get work was only equalled by his ability in eluding it. He had many narrow escapes from being accepted by farmers, and would have on several occasions had he not suddenly discovered something which proved a deterrent. He was a participant in all conversations, and was not at all backward in expressing his opinions on the subject under discussion.

On Friday last there was a place vacant on a farm north of the city, two or three miles. To make a long story short No. 1 again backed out. He would not walk up there probably to find another man secured.

He was too wise for that. Saturday he came back to the office again and was making himself at home when he was told he was no longer a welcome visitor. He ha' been given many chances to see employment but had failed to accept any of them. After having been turned away the man decided to go out to the farm and arived there about four o'clock on Saturday afternoon. He did not work that day nor on Sunday. On Monday he went out to the barn and did some work, after asking many questions about his wages and the number of hours a day and such like. He was to get six dollars a month and his board. He emphasized the fact that he had started on the 28th of February and that on the 28th of March his month would be up. This was the main topic with him. It annoyed the farmer, who was not particular about the time. The next morning he started to talk about it and after some argument his employer called him to the barn door. "Do you see that gate?" he asked. Of course No. 1 did. "Well, just you go take a long walk and don't come back. I have had enough of your talk." Several days later he returned to the office and stated that the farmer was a cunning man. He wanted to cheat him out of four days wages.

Friend No. 2.

This man is about 33 years of age. When he first arrived here a Smith farmer met him and was very much impressed with him, but as he had a man then he could not hire him for several weeks. No. 2 showed expert knowledge of fruit culture, which had been his occupation in the Old country. He told the farmer that he was going out to see him, if it was only for the four-mile walk there and back. Looking over the farmer's horses one was pointed out which was for sale. No. 2 was told that he could have it for $150. He did not say anything, but several days later he overheard a man saying to another that he wanted to get a good horse, and immediately he turned and told him that he knew where he could get what he wanted. The sale was ultimately made and No. 2 received $2.00 commission. Another day a man told him that a fair price was fifty cents apiece for good hens. A short time afterwards he saw a sale advertized and among the articles was a number of hens. He attended the sale and bought 12 hens, paying 30 cents each. He sold them to the man that wanted them and made twenty cents on each. This man has now a business of his own. He has a window cleaning business which, it is understood, is developing rapidly. Our friend states that Peterborough merchants have too many and too attractive show windows to allow them to be dirty, and it is this business that he is exploiting and from all accounts is on a fair way to making a success of it. In fact he has already secured numerous orders that will require the assistance of several men.

These two cases should be sufficiently illustrative of what a man can do if he has energy, ambition, and foresight and especially an independent spirit that urges him to go out and make his own living.

Congregational Reception At St. Andrew's Was Success

The reception to the congregation of St. Andrew's Church by the Ladies' Aid Society was a decided success last night. In spite of the disagreeable condition of the weather a large number gathered in the assembly hall and enjoyed an exceptionally pleasant evening. The people mixed with one another in a most cordial manner and many new members became acquainted with the older members. The large hall was very tastefully arranged for the occasion. Many small tables were placed around from which refreshments were served, while the floor was covered with rugs and mats.

An impromptu programme of music was given by local talent which added to the pleasure of the evening. Vocal solos were given by Miss May Lang, Mr. Herbert Rush and Mr. Gordon Wright. Instrumental numbers were rendered by Mrs. McClellan and Miss Mary Potter. Mr. Johns gave several readings and Mr. Clarke several banjo selections.

Mr. R. Lees on behalf of the session, and Mr. Andrew McFarlane, on behalf of the Board of Managers, spoke appreciatively of the work of the Ladies' Aid and special reference was made to the value of fostering the social side of church life.

The pastor, Rev. Mr. Potter, stated that it was with pleasure that he could testify to the good work that had always characterized the Ladies' Aid Society during past years. He also referred to the willingness and readiness of the ladies to do their part whenever the occasion arose.

The gathering was dispersed with devotional exercises.

The Faithfulworkers Mission Band of St. Paul's Church will give an entertainment on Friday evening, March 5th, at eight o'clock. A good musical programme will be provided. Home-made cakes and candies will be on sale. Admission 15 cents.

TO LESSEN THE COST OF LITIGATION

Long Looked-For Measure Introduced in Legislatuse.

LIMITATION OF APPEALS

Carrying Cases to Present Divisional Court and to Privy Council Are Important Features of Bill—Division and Divisional Courts Abolished —Contracting Is Legal—Other Business in the House.

Toronto, March 4.—The Government's long-expected measure of law reform was introduced into the Legislature yesterday by Attorney-General Foy, who moved the first reading of "An Act for the better administration of justice, to lessen the number of appeals and the cost of litigation, and for other purposes." Hon. Mr. Foy explained that the bill was not printed for distribution to the members, and he merely moved the first reading in order that it might go to the printer and be placed in the hands of the members without further delay.

The bill has four main features: The abolition of appeals to the present Divisional Court; the limitation of appeals to the Privy Council; the increase of the jurisdiction of county and district courts, and the rendering permissible of contracts between solicitors and clients.

All division and divisional courts of the high court of justice are abolished, and two branches of the supreme court of judicature are to be established, to be known respectively as the appellate court of the supreme court and high court division. The court of appeal will be known as the appellate division of the supreme court of Ontario, and the bill states that this division shall not be deemed to be a new court, but only a continuation of the old court of appeal. The high court division will be similarly regarded as a continuation of the old or existing high court. All the jurisdiction power and authority of the old court is vested in the new appellate division. It is also provided that there shall be as many divisions of the appellate court as are necessary for the despatch of business. Neither the chief justice of Ontario, nor any of the present judges of the court of appeal shall, without their consent, be required to perform any duties except sitting on appeals.

Appeals may be heard and disposed of by a court of four judges, except in cases of controverted elections and criminal appeals. Appeal by right to the Privy Council is abolished and leave to appeal granted by His Majesty is also abolished except where some constitutional matter is concerned, or where the matter in controversy exceeds $10,000 in value exclusive of costs, and where the questions involved affect rights or interests of such magnitude or importance as to warrant an appeal—and the divisional court so certifies, and where the liberty of the subject is involved. In other words, the amount upon which an appeal can be taken is increased from $4,000 to $10,000.

An important feature of the bill is that relating to contracts between solicitor and client. A solicitor may make an agreement in writing with a client in respect of the amount to be paid him for his service, either in a gross sum or as a salary, but where the agreement is made in respect of business done in any court, except the division court, the amount payable shall not be received by the solicitor until it has been allowed by the taxing officer. If the taxing officer thinks the agreement unfair, he may require the opinion of the court or judge to be taken upon. In such cases the court or judge may reduce the amount to be paid under the agreement or order the costs to be taxed in the old way.

A solicitor will not be allowed to contract himself out of non-liability for negligence or improper conduct of litigation.

A solicitor, under the bill, cannot purchase any interest or part of his client in any action or other contentious proceeding. The object of this clause is to prevent cases being taken purely on speculation. Security may legally be given under the bill in advance for solicitor's charges.

Routine proceedings in the Legislature yesterday were entirely devoted to private bills.

P. H. Bowyer (East Kent) moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Pharmacy Act. This, he stated, was designed to relieve an injustice now inflicted upon the farmers by the present act, which prevented country storekeepers from dispensing common and well-known drugs, except those provided in the list of twelve, which accompanies the present act. When the present act was passed no notification of its provisions was sent to the country storekeepers, who had been in the habit of keeping a limited line of drugs, thereby making it possible for the farmers to purchase such commodities as carbolic acid, hellebore and iodine. Last fall an officer of the Ontario College of Pharmacy descended upon the East Kent storekeepers and laid information, which resulted in a large number being fined $20, as provided in the act, half of which went to the informant and the other half to the College of Pharmacy.

The Minister of Education, Hon. Dr. Pyne, admitted there was a great deal in the bill to commend it to the House. One part, however, would cause discussion and perhaps dissention, and, therefore, in accepting the second reading he wished it to be sent to the municipal committee, where it could be dealt with in detail.

In moving the second reading of bill No. 103, to amend the Assessment Act, Mr. Fripp (East Ottawa) explained that this was intended to increase the income exemption on householders from $1,000 to $1,500 and on the incomes of non-householders from $600 to $900. He also wished to relieve the wage-earners, those "who are not employed by the year or month at a state wage or salary, and whose remuneration is dependent upon number of hours or days" worked.

TAFT BEGINS TO-DAY.

Washington Makes Great Preparations For Inaugural.

Washington, March 4.—A vast army of people last night tramped the streets of the national capital in a downpour of rain in eager expectancy of the nation's greatest of all pageants, the Presidential inauguration. The spirit of celebration is supreme and everything is in complete readiness for the great quadrennial event.

Mr. Taft will be the 27th President of the United States. He will be the fifth President to be elected from Ohio and the sixth President produced from that state.

The rush of visitors from all parts of the country continued unabated yesterday and the city is in the usual preinaugural state of congestion. It is estimated that fully 250,000 people are already here. Trains from all points are being run at intervals of a few minutes, in order to accommodate the crowds, and railroad officials estimate that upwards of 60,000 persons arrived here yesterday by rail up to midnight.

The latest estimate of the number of men who will march is placed at 50,000, not the least of which will be the governors of fourteen states, each accompanied by his staff.

Having encircled the globe with the battleship fleet, 3,000 bluejackets are here to take part in the parade.

Men who have been 50 years in the White House have no recollection of scenes such as marked the last day of President Roosevelt's administration. They declared it was unprecedented in the number of persons who called to exchange farewell words with the retiring chief executive. Although no exact count of the number of visitors was kept, it is estimated that between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. there were at least 2,500 of them.

Caught Stealing, Cuts Throat.

London, March 4.—A man giving the name of Dr. R. Pullman of Chicago, committed suicide at the Savoy Hotel by cutting his throat with a razor when he was discovered attempting to leave the premises with $10,000 in jewelry that had been sent in to him. He had only $3.75 in his pocket and his only baggage was a valise filled with newspapers. He was about 35 years old.

The jewelers' assistant, who took the goods to the hotel, became suspicious when Pullman passed from the room where they were talking into an adjoining room. He promptly grappled with Pullman, whereupon the would-be thief drew a razor and cut his throat. The assistant went to get help and when he returned Pullman had managed to climb through a window and was descending a fire escape. At the bottom, however, he fell dead.

Ten Perish In Fire.

New York, March 4.—Cut off from escape by a burning stairway, ten persons met death early yesterday in a five-storey tenement house at 374 Seventh avenue. The victims, who were all Italians, with the exception of an unidentified Frenchman, ranged in age from 30 years to an infant girl of four.

There were about 30 families in the tenement and policemen and firemen rescued many by ladders and by swinging them across from windows to neighboring buildings. Several babies were thrown from the windows and caught by firemen.

Shoved Chisel Down Throats.

St. Thomas, March 4.—The Englishman, Plumbridge, who terrorized the farmers in the western portion of Elgin County, by his freakish method of killing their cattle, such as poking a chisel down the throats of the animals, causing them to bleed internally and depriving them of their eating and drinking organs, and ultimately causing them to die, was adjudged insane yesterday morning by Magistrate Hunt, after expert testimony was given by several physicians.

Plumbridge will probably be deported.

Some Further Developments in Kinrade Murder Mystery.

THE INQUEST IS ADJOURNED

Sister of Murdered Girl Sang Illustrated Songs In American Town and Was Friendly With Young Actor Mechanic There—Jurors Exhibit Impatience at Delay—Conductor Adds Information.

Toronto, March 4.—There were several developments of interest in the Kinrade murder mystery yesterday.

Despatches from Virginia tell of Miss Florence Kinrade having appeared on the stage of the Orpheum Theatre at Portsmouth, with the stage name of "Mildred Dale"; that she was on friendly terms with a young actor mechanic by the name of James Gordon Baum. Reports there have it that she was engaged to him, but that within the past two or three weeks she broke the engagement because of her affections for C. N. Wright, the Victoria divinity student, and that her mother wrote Baum, asking him to cease corresponding. Miss Kinrade is highly spoken of by her acquaintances in the south, and Baum is also given a good reputation. He professed, yesterday, to having learned for the first time of the tragedy of last week.

Mr. Kinrade declined yesterday to allow any one to interview Miss Kinrade, but stated that he was aware that she had been on the stage.

"My daughter had a position singing in the Mancheser Presbyterian Church, Richmond, Va., said Mr. Kinrade. "She was a good musician, and was always fond of music. One night she was sitting at the window playing and the manager of an amateur theatrical company, heard her. He offered her $20 a week to come and sing a couple of songs. As her duties in the church choir were not onerous, she was pleased with the opportunity of supplementing her income of $6 or $7 a week, which was paid by the church.

"We were fully informed of what she was doing, and acquiesced. There happened to be some people she knew in the amateur company, which made her work all the more agreeable.

"I consider that the report of my daughter's attachment to a southerner absolutely without foundation. She may have had some friends down there, and perhaps some of them were attracted by her. But she is, and has been engaged to a student, with whom she has been in constant correspondence."

The inquest was opened last evening in Hamilton and adjourned for a week, after some jurymen had expressed dissatisfaction that the crown attorney had allowed the Kinrades to leave the city at this time.

Ernest Sope, Hamilton Street Railway conductor, says that when he passed the Kinrade home on his car at 3.15 p. m., he saw Miss Florence running across the street to give the alarm. This fixes the time of the shooting as being earlier than was first supposed, and shows that the police were not on the scene immediately after the murder, as they thought.

Insurance Company Quits.

Winnipeg, March 4.—At the annual meeting of the Canadian Masons' Mutual Life Association, which did business in the three prairie provinces, having some 3,000 risks on its books, considerable consternation was expressed at the announcement that the company was going out of business and that its assets and liabilities would be taken over by the Western Masons' Mutual Life, an American organization. It is understood that the Great West Life also made an offer for the company's business. John McKechnie is the president.

$100,000 Fire at Sorel.

Montreal, March 4.—A fire which originated shortly before 5.30 o'clock yesterday morning in the back shed of a grocery store on the main street of Sorel, caused nearly $100,000 damage to buildings and stocks in the centre of the lively little shipyard town. The sufferers are C. A. Trempe, P. E. Chevalier, G. A. Lussier, L. T. Trempe, A. A. Larochelle, P. E. Lizotte and Judge Bruneau.

A detachment of the Montreal fire department entrained on an emergency cable, but were stopped en route.

"WOMEN!"
" Are You Nervous?"
The results of modern civilization are evidenced in an increase of nervous disorders. It could not be otherwise with the way we eat, drink, lose sleep, and keep up a continual round of excitement. The work, the worry, the excitement, all tell upon the nerves till they cry out in revolt, and will not be placated till a remedy such as
MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS
come along with their nerve-strengthening and energizing properties, and restore them to their normal condition.
Mrs. Wm. Levi, Markdale, Ont., writes: "I had for several years been troubled with nervousness, and, like many others, spent lots of money on medicine that did me no good. I was so bad that the least noise would make me jump and my heart would thump so you could hear it plainly and I could not lie on my left side at night. I saw a few testimonials of others and decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and to my great joy and surprise they completely cured me and it only took six boxes to do it. I have a neighbor, Mrs. Rickett, and I induced her to try them and they effected a cure. I can endorse their use for anyone afflicted as I was."

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis
Cured by "CATARRHOZONE."
A Breathe-able "Direct" Medicine.

BREATHE CATARRHOZONE.
IT CURES QUICKLY.
Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing medicine which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs, attacks the trouble at its source, destroys the germs of disease, and cures the ailment promptly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."
The germ-killing, balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, medicinal essences, whereas, if a liquid or tablet remedy were used, the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through upsetting the stomach with drugs.
Remember this: You don't take drugs when using Catarrhozone; you simply inhale a healing vapor that cures every type of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, throat and nose soreness, and irritation.
No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhozone." Doctors, hospitals, sanitariums—all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh, lung trouble, deafness or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as "Catarrhozone."
For certain cure, for relief in an hour, use Catarrhozone, the only direct, breathable medicine. Two months' treatment guaranteed; price $1.00, smaller size 50c; at all druggists, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

THE CHURCH LEAGUE FINALS BIG BILL OF FARE FOR TO-NIGHT

Great interest is being taken in the Church League final game between St. Andrew's and Knox Church teams, at Brock St. rink at nine o'clock to-night. Both teams are in the best of shape and it should be one of the best games of the season accordingly to those who have followed the Church League games this season. A loss for either team means the championship for the other, so that a hard fought interesting battle may be depended on. There will be a big bunch of rooters on hand for both teams, and excitement is certain to reign supreme.

The Mercantile League final will also take place to-night at 8 o'clock between the Quakers and the C. G. E., and it should be a lively struggle. It will be a great night's hockey all through and there should be a big crowd on hand for the two games.

STRATFORD DOWNED INGERSOLL MEET LINDSAY IN THE FINALS

Brantford, March 3 (Special).— Stratford intermediates decisively defeated the Ingersoll septette here to-night in a sudden death game by the score of 9 to 3. The winners fairly outclassed the Ingersoll team, which showed lack of strength in several departments. At half-time the score stood 3 to 0 in Stratford's favour.

The exhibition was fast in spots, and some classy hockey was put up. Stratford brought down a crowd of 400, and the teams drew a $400 gate, in spite of bad weather. Dr. Wood, of Toronto, refereed, and handed out numerous penalties for minor offences. Towards the finish the game became rough, and there was considerable slashing on both sides.

The Ingersoll players appeared pretty well battered up after the game in Stratford, and in the first half took few chances with the husky Stratford defence. Hay and Mason were the greatest sufferers. Simpson, for the Classic City, featured the play frequently by beautiful individual rushes, and his work was responsible for several scores. The winners checked back strong, and had it on their opponents at all stages. For Ingersoll, Hay and Cross were the best, although the big cover point did not bore in as usual. He was closely watched. In the second half play was decidedly faster, and Stratford put the game to the velvet, in one and one-quarter minutes by scoring two goals. Line-up :—

DAVE HARTLEY OFF FOR NEW YORK BUT $15 MORE IS REQUIRED

David Hartley will leave to-mororw for New York, where he will be one of Canada's representatives in the International six-day go-as-you-please race in Madison Square Garden. Fifteen dollars is still needed to pay the expenses of the trip and it is hoped that some of the sport-loving citizens of Peterborough will respond to the call and contribute enough to pay Hartley's expenses as far as Gotham. He only asks for enough to send him there and is content to take chances on coming back. Any person who would like to help in sending Peterborough's representative to the big event may leave their subscriptions at the Examiner office. Hartley will help to advertise Peterborough if he makes any kind of a showing, and he should under the conditions, and will help to keep up the good work in that line that Fred Simpson has already started and looks likely to keep up. Hartley's partner, Higgins, of Montreal, is the ex-Irish walking champion, and the pair should be all to the merry in the long distance event.

OTTAWA THE CHAMPIONS

Ottawa, March 3.—(Special).—The championship of the E. C. H. A. was decided to-night, and with it the Stanley Cup returns to Ottawa. A howling crowd of 7,000 spectators saw the local team put Wanderers into the ex-champion class at the Arena, and the score, which was 8 to 3, left no doubt as to Ottawa's right to the championship.

Itwas a great game in all respects until Wanderers blew up in the second half, and then there was really nothing to it but Ottawa. But many things happened before that, and not until ten minutes after half-time did it look reasonably like Ottawa. They were even at the half, 3 to 3. Ottawa had scored the first two, then Wanderers, then Ottawa again, and with a couple of Ottawa men on the bench Wanderers jammed in the two which tied the score.

They fought it out hard in the second half, but this time Wanderers suffered through the loss of men, and when Ottawa got away in the lead they could not be stopped. Kerr made it 4 to 3, and Walsh added another after a fifteen-minute struggle. This seemed to break Wanderers' heart, and Kerr plugged three more goals in behind Riley Hern before time was called.

The visitors went to pieces in the last five minutes. The game was clean, the only foul of note being a smash which Johnson dealt Lake, knocking out several of the Ottawa point's teeth. Vair was cut across the knee in the first half, and Johnson, who had been on the sick list was put in his place. Johnson strengthened the Wanderer team, and for a while it looked as if the move would defeat Ottawa. Taylor was easily the crack performer of the night, but Lesueur's work in goal was also a feature.

Kerr was not conspicuous in the first half, but his scoring streak in the second redeemed him. Lake, Stuart and Walsh were, as usual, unbeatable, Gilmour was slightly off colour in the first half but he was subjected to a lot of tripping. His stick-handling surpassed that of any other player save Taylor. Ross, Small and Joe Hall were the pick of the Wanderer team.

ALL SAINTS' TEAM BEAT WILDCATS

In an interesting game between the Wild Cats and the All Saints' Junior Church League team, the former won by four goals to two, leading at the half by 3-2. Lebar and Allen starred for the winners, while Mahoney, Folley and Garside were the best for the Wild Cats. W. Collins refereed satisfactorily and the teams were as follows :—

HOCKEY

Stratford cleaned up Ingersoll last night and will now play off with Lindsay for the championship, the first game in Lindsay to-morrow night and the return in Stratford on Monday. From here it looks as if Stratford is about as near the championship right now as they ever will be. Long shots have been coming home all winter, but that Stratford bunch has the happy knack of being right there with the goods at critical moments. Unless Lindsay accumulates a lead of half a dozen goals to-morrow night they will not have a look in and even at that it would be a good sporting bet that the Indians would clean up the round. It is likely that a number of local fans will go up to Lindsay for the game.

A game of hockey was played yesterday afternoon between the Aberdeens and the Snowflakes, resulting in a win for the Aberdeens. The score was 6 to 1. The teams lined up as follows:

Local fans are going to see the greatest hockey struggle ever waged on local ice, when the Midgets meet the fast Stratford seven, who defeated Ingersoll last night. There is nothing talked of on the street but this game, and a record crowd is bound to witness it. The locals are going to enter the game with a vim and a determination to roll up a respectable score. They realize that they have a hard job ahead of them, but they feel equal to the occasion. The Classic City Septette is a speedy one in all departments and can dish up a quality of hockey of the phenomenal brand. However, the locals will take their measure on Friday night. The boys can beat them, but we wish that beating to be a decisive one.—Lindsay Post.

PROPER SPRAYING OF FRUIT TREES

If fruit growers wish to have healthy trees and clean fruit they must spray. It is an absolute necessity, but it is of no use to spray indiscriminately, that is to say, just to put the spray on the trees at any time and imagine that you have eradicated or prevented all and every kind of disease which attacks fruit trees. The careful fruit grower examines his trees and knows well what he is going to spray for. He then takes care to spray at a time when he is most likely to kill the pest or disease which is attacking the trees. It is a very common error (of small orchardists especially) to think that the materials used can be mixed by guess work. They should be measured most carefully, following the instructions given by practical men of experience, or or manufacturers of the article used. Some fruit growers spray when the trees are in bloom. This is not a good practice. Some people will tell you that if there be a surplus of blossoms it was a good way of thinning them, but it often produces abortive fruit and may possibly kill bees which do so much to fertilize the blossoms. Others imagine that if you spray your trees once and the disease is not entirely eradicated, the formula recommended must be a failure. This is a very great mistake. The most careful sprayer will often miss a small portion of the tree, and it may be the very place he has missed is infected with the insects or disease he is trying to kill. It may possibly be that one dose will be sufficient, but it seldom is so, and no man can make a mistake by spraying twice with the same mixture in one year.

With regard to Cooper's Fluid, which has been spoken so highly of for both San Jose Scale and Oyster Shell Bark Louse, it has been proved beyond doubt to have a most beneficial effect as a tonic to the trees, a fungicide and scalecide, if used both in the fall after the leaves have fallen and again in the spring before the buds burst. It is the opinion of most practical men that orchards should be sprayed at least three times in the year, once in the fall, especially for fungus, once in the spring before the buds burst for scale, oyster shell bark louse and other diseases, and once in the summer when the trees are in leaf, in order to deal with insect life.

The greatest care should be taken in mixing and measuring the spray mixture, in getting a very fine spray like spray and in covering every branch and twig as well as the trunk of the tree, and even a circumference of three feet around the base of the tree.

The Dominion Permanent Loan Company

EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

The Eighteenth Annual Meeting of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company was held at the office of the Company on Wednesday, March 3rd, 1909. A large number of Shareholders were present. The President, the Hon. J. R. Stratton, occupied the chair, Mr. F. M. Holland acting as Secretary. The President presented the following Report of the Directors for the year ending December 31st, 1908.—

VALET RUNS AMUCK AND IS SHOT DEAD BY A MINISTER

Examiner Special.

Temple, N. H., March 3.—While crazed with drink, George L. Marcott, a valet in the employ of Brigadier-General James Miller, U. S. A., (retired), ran amuck late yesterday, and, after shooting at several villagers who attempted to disarm him, was shot and killed by Rev. Harvey Eastman, pastor of the local Congregational Church.

General Miller telephoned to Temple for asistance, and in response, eight men, armed with shotguns and revolvers, hastened to the Miller homestead. They surrounded the house, hoping to induce Miller to surrender, but the valet refused to do so and maintained his threatening attitude.

Finally Marcott left the house by the back door. Reverends Eastman and Davidson were nearer to Marcott than the others and endeavoured to persuade the man to lay down his pistols. A shot was the invariable reply. As the last resort, Davidson, who was armed with a revolver, fired at Marcott, but missed him. The valet continued to shoot, but his aim was so wild that he did not hit anyone.

Finally, the Rev. Mr. Eastman pointed a shotgun at the valet and demanded that he surrender. To save his life, the minister discharged the gun, the contents striking Marcott in the forehead and killing him.

The authorities took no action, except to hold a formal inquest. Marcott was thirty-five years of age, and had been in the service of General Miller thre years. He was unmarried.

WEDDING BELLS

BROWN—SKINNER.

Picton, March 3. — In St. Andrew's Church here to-day, the marriage by Rev. William Shearer of Mr. Stewart Brown, of Bloomfield, and Mrs. Skinner took place. The groom, who is 81 years old, has been three times married, and the bride has passed the three score years and ten period. The church was closed against the crowd of curious townsfolk who gathered. The groom is a wealthy farmer, and very active, despite his advanced years. It is understood that by the will of her former husband the marriage cuts the bride out of half of her income, which is considerable.

O'CONNELL-HARRINGTON

A very pretty, but quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, on Tuesday, February 22nd, in presence of a large number of friends and acquaintances, when Miss Loretta Harrington was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Vincent O'Connell. The bride wore a very pretty suit of dark blue with a dainty white hat, and carried a beautiful white prayer book, and pearl rosary. She was assisted by her cousin, Miss Marie Houlihan, who wore a very becoming tailor-made suit of grey and a dark blue hat. The groom was assisted by his friend, Mr. Bernard Gilliece, Kings' Wharf. Immediately after the nuptial mass the choir, of which Miss Harrington had for some time been a faithful member, presented her with an address and a handsome marmarized clock. The bride replied briefly to the address and thanked the members for their consideration. The young couple drove to the home of the bride in a handsome bus from Lindsay. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell will reside in Mr. O'Connel's home about one-half mile west of Downeyville.

THE CHURCH LEAGUE FINALS
BIG BILL OF FARE FOR TO-NIGHT

Great interest is being taken in the Church League final game between St. Andrew's and Knox Church teams, at Brock St. rink at nine o'clock to-night. Both teams are in the best of shape and it should be one of the best games of the season accordingly to those who have followed the Church League games this season. A loss for either team means the championship for the other, so that a hard fought interesting battle may be depended on. There will be a big bunch of rooters on hand for both teams, and excitement is certain to reign supreme.

The Mercantile League final will also take place to-night at 8 o'clock between the Quakers and the C. G. E., and it should be a lively struggle. It will be a great night's hockey all through and there should be a big crowd on hand for the two games.

STRATFORD DOWNED INGERSOLL
MEET LINDSAY IN THE FINALS

Brantford, March 3 (Special).— Stratford Intermediates decisively defeated the Ingersoll septette here to-night in a sudden death game by the score of 9 to 3. The winners fairly outclassed the Ingersoll team, which showed lack of strength in several departments. At half-time the score stood 3 to 0 in Stratford's favour.

The exhibition was fast in spots, and some classy hockey was put up. Stratford brought down a crowd of 400, and the teams drew a $400 gate, in spite of bad weather. Dr. Wood, of Toronto, refereed, and handed out numerous penalties for minor offences. Towards the finish the game became rough, and there was considerable slashing on both sides.

The Ingersoll players appeared pretty well battered up after the game in Stratford, and in the first half took few chances with the husky Stratford defence. Hay and Mason were the greatest sufferers. Simpson, for the Classic City, featured the play frequently by beautiful individual rushes, and his work was responsible for several scores. The winners checked back strong, and had it on their opponents at all stages. For Ingersoll, Hay and Cross were the best, although the big cover point did not bore in as usual. He was closely watched. In the second half play was decidedly faster, and Stratford put the game to the velvet, in one and one-quarter minutes by scoring two goals.

Line-up :—

Stratford — Goal, Rankin; point, Forbes; cover, Dunbar; rover, Easson; centre, Simpson; right wing, Barlow; left wing, Varner.

DAVE HARTLEY OFF FOR NEW YORK
BUT $15 MORE IS REQUIRED

David Hartley will leave to-mororw for New York, where he will be one of Canada's representatives in the International six-day go-as-you-please race in Madison Square Garden. Fifteen dollars is still needed to pay the expenses of the trip and it is hoped that some of the sport-loving citizens of Peterborough will respond to the call and contribute enough to pay Hartley's expenses as far as Gotham. He only asks for enough to send him there and is content to take chances on coming back. Any person who would like to help in sending Peterborough's representative to the big event may leave their subscriptions at the Examiner office. Hartley will help to advertise Peterborough if he makes any kind of a showing, and he should under the conditions, and will help to keep up the good work in that line that Fred Simpson has already started and looks likely to keep up. Hartley's partner, Higgins, of Montreal, is the ex-Irish walking champion, and the pair should be all to the merry in the long distance event.

OTTAWA THE CHAMPIONS

Ottawa, March 3.—(Special).—The championship of the E. C. H. A. was decided to-night, and with it the Stanley Cup returns to Ottawa. A howling crowd of 7,000 spectators saw the local team put Wanderers into the ex-champion class at the Arena, and the score, which was 8 to 3, left no doubt as to Ottawa's right to the championship.

Itwas a great game in all respects until Wanderers blew up in the second half, and then there was really nothing to it but Ottawa. But many things happened before that, and not until ten minutes after half-time did it look reasonably like Ottawa. They were even at the half, 3 to 3. Ottawa had scored the first two, then Wanderers, then Ottawa again, and with a couple of Ottawa men on the bench Wanderers jammed in the two which tied the score.

They fought it out hard in the second half, but this time Wanderers suffered through the loss of men, and when Ottawa got away in the lead they could not be stopped. Kerr made it 4 to 3, and Walsh added another after a fifteen-minute struggle. This seemed to break Wanderers' heart, and Kerr plugged three more goals in behind Riley Hern before time was called.

The visitors went to pieces in the last five minutes. The game was clean, the only foul of note being a smash which Johnson dealt Lake, knocking out several of the Ottawa point's teeth. Vair was cut across the knee in the first half, and Johnson, who had been on the sick list was put in his place. Johnson strengthened the Wanderer team, and for a while it looked as if nove would defeat Ottawa. T was easily the crack performer o night, but Lesneur's work in goal was also a feature.

Kerr was not conspicuous in the first half, but his scoring streak in the second redeemed him. Lake, Stuart and Walsh were, as usual, unbeatable. Gilmour was slightly off colour in the first half but he was subjected to a lot of tripping. His stick-handling surpassed that of any other player save Taylor. Ross, Smaill and Joe Hall were the pick of the Wanderer team.

ALL SAINTS' TEAM
BEAT WILDCATS

In an interesting game between the Wild Cats and the All Saints' Junior Church League team, the former won by four goals to two, leading at the half by 3-2. Lebar and Allen starred for the winners, while Mahoney, Folley and Garside were the best for the Wild Cats. W. Collins refereed satisfactorily and the teams were as follows :—

HOCKEY

Stratford cleaned up Ingersoll last night and will now play off with Lindsay for the championship, the first game in Lindsay to-morrow night and the return in Stratford on Monday. From here it looks as if Stratford is about as near the championship right now as they ever will be. Long shots have been coming home all winter, but that Stratford bunch has the happy knack of being right there with the goods at critical moments. Unless Lindsay accumulates a lead of half a dozen goals to-morrow night they will not have a look in and even at that it would be a good sporting bet that the Indians would clean up the round. It is likely that a number of local fans will go up to Lindsay for the game.

Following is the line-up for the final game in the Mercantile League:

Referee—Leo Derocher.

A game of hockey was played yesterday afternoon between the Aberdeens and the Snowflakes, resulting in a win for the Aberdeens. The score was 6 to 1. The teams lined up as follows:

Local fans are going to see the greatest hockey struggle ever waged on local ice, when the Midgets meet the fast Stratford seven, who defeated Ingersoll last night. There is nothing talked of on the street but this game, and a record crowd is bound to witness it. The locals are going to enter the game with a vim and a determination to roll up a respectable score. They realize that they have a hard job ahead of them, but they feel equal to the occasion. The Classic City Septette is a speedy one in all departments and can dish up a quality of hockey of the phenomenal brand. However, the locals will take their measure on Friday night. The boys can beat them, but we wish that beating to be a decisive one.—Lindsay Post.

PROPER SPRAYING OF FRUIT TREES

If fruit growers wish to have healthy trees and clean fruit they must spray. It is an absolute necessity, but it is of no use to spray indiscriminately, that is to say, just to put the spray on the trees at any time and imagine that you have eradicated or prevented all and every kind of disease which attacks fruit trees. The careful fruit grower examines his trees and knows well what he is going to spray for. He then takes care to spray at a time when he is most likely to kill the pest or disease which is attacking the trees. It is a very common error (of small orchardists especially) to think that the materials used can be mixed by guess work. They should be measured most carefully, following the instructions given by practical men of experience, or or manufacturers of the article used. Some fruit growers spray when the trees are in bloom. This is not a good practice. Some people will tell you that if there be a surplus of blossoms it was a good way of thinning them, but it often produces abortive fruit and may possibly kill bees which do so much to fertilize the blossoms. Others imagine that if you spray your trees once and the disease is not entirely eradicated, the formula recommended must be a failure. This is a very great mistake. The most careful sprayer will often miss a small portion of the tree, and it may be the very place he has missed is infected with the insects or disease he is trying to kill. It may possibly be that one dose will be sufficient, but it seldom is so, and no man can make a mistake by spraying twice with the same mixture in one year.

With regard to Cooper's Fluid, which has been spoken so highly of for ...sh San Jose Scale and Oyster Shell Bark Louse, it has been proved beyond doubt to have a most beneficial effect as a tonic to the trees, a fungicide and scalecide, if used both in the fall after the leaves have fallen and again in the spring before the buds burst. It is the opinion of most practical men that orchards should be sprayed at least three times in the year, once in the fall, especially for fungus, once in the spring before the buds burst for scale, oyster shell bark louse and other diseases, and once in the summer when the trees are in leaf, in order to deal with insect life.

The greatest care should be taken in mixing and measuring the spray mixture, in getting a very fine spray like spray and in covering every branch and twig as well as the trunk of the tree, and even a circumference of three feet around the base of the tree.

VALET RUNS AMUCK AND IS SHOT DEAD BY A MINISTER

Examiner Special.

Temple, N. H., March 3.—While crazed with drink, George L. Marcott, a valet in the employ of Brigadier-General James Miller, U. S. A., (retired), ran amuck late yesterday, and, after shooting at several villagers who attempted to disarm him, was shot and killed by Rev. Harvey Eastman, pastor of the local Congregational Church.

General Miller telephoned to Temple for asistance, and in response, eight men, armed with shotguns and revolvers, hastened to the Miller homestead. They surrounded the house, hoping to induce Miller to surrender, but the valet refused to do so and maintained his threatening attitude.

Finally Marcott left the house by the back door. Reverends Eastman and Davidson were nearer to Marcott than the others and endeavoured to persuade the man to lay down his pistols. A shot was the invariable reply. As the last resort, Davidson, who was armed with a revolver, fired at Marcott, but missed him. The valet continued to shoot, but his aim was so wild that he did not hit anyone.

Finally, the Rev. Mr. Eastman pointed a shotgun at the valet and demanded that he surrender. To save his life, the minister discharged the gun, the contents striking Marcott in the forehead and killing him.

The authorities took no action, except to hold a formal inquest. Marcott was thirty-five years of age, and had been in the service of General Miller thre years. He was unmarried

WEDDING BELLS

BROWN—SKINNER.

Picton, March 3. — In St. Andrew's Church here to-day, the marriage by Rev. William Shearer of Mr. Stewart Brown, of Bloomfield, and Mrs. Skinner took place. The groom, who is 81 years old, has been three times married, and the bride has passed the three score years and ten period. The church was closed against the crowd of curious townsfolk who gathered. The groom is a wealthy farmer, and very active, despite his advanced years. It is understood that by the will of her former husband the marriage cuts the bride out of half of her income, which is considerable.

O'CONNELL-HARRINGTON

A very pretty, but quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, on Tuesday, February 22nd, in presence of a large number of friends and acquaintances, when Miss Loretta Harrington was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Vincent O'Connell. The bride wore a very pretty suit of dark blue with a dainty white hat, and carried a beautiful white prayer book, and pearl rosary. She was assisted by her cousin, Miss Marie Houlihan, who wore a very becoming tailor-made suit of grey and a dark blue hat. The groom was assisted by his friend, Mr. Bernard Gilliece, Kings' Wharf. Immediately after the nuptial mass the choir, of which Miss Harrington had for some time been a faithful member, presented her with an address and a handsome marmarized clock. The bride replied briefly to the address and thanked the members for their consideration. The young couple drove to the home of the bride in a handsome bus from Lindsay. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell will reside in Mr. O'Connel's home about one-half mile west of Downeyville.

The men of the congregation of St. Mary's church, Campbellford, have formed a Total Abstinence Society. This action was decided upon by Rev. Father Whibbs, the parish priest, who, it is stated, has taken this course especially for the help and protection of the young men against the liquor habit. Father Whibbs has always shown special interest in the material and moral welfare of his congregation, and with his enthusiasm thrown into the total abstinence cause it should meet with the desired success. The older men of the congregation, the fathers, are taking a keen interest in the movement, with the hope that St. Mary's congregation of men may be purged of the drink habit as far as it exists.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Two Cordova Boys Just Missed Being Crushed To Death In The Felling of a Tree—Fell Beneath Log.

A LIMB SAVED THEM.

The two little sons of Mr. W. R. Purdy, of Cordova, had a narrow escape from death last week. The little chaps were sitting on a log in the woods watching workmen cutting timber, when a log fell on the one they were sitting on, rolling it over and throwing them both underneath. The workmen rushed to the spot expecting to find the children crushed to death but fortunately a small limb held up one end of the log and the two escaped with slight bruises.

BUILDING NEW BOAT

Government Steam Punt To Be Used Between Hastings and Healey Falls Under Construction in East City.

NEARING COMPLETION.

The new government steam punt, being built by Mr. William Hickey, at lock No. 6, in Ashburnham, is rapidly nearing completion. The planking and woodwork is practically finished and in the course of a couple of weeks the work of installing the machinery will be commenced. It will be ready for launching when navigation opens.

The new boat will resemble the "St. Charles" tug. It is not like the ordinary punt in shape, inasmuch as it is not square at the corners. It is the intention of the Government officials to use the new steam punt during the coming summer between Hastings and Healey Falls. It is likely that a new dam and new locks will be built at Hastings and the steamer will be used for the purpose of drawing cement and as a supply boat.

ANOTHER CASE NOW

John Handley Gave Information in Evidence Which Resulted in a Charge Against An Hotelkeeper.

IN POLICE COURT TO-DAY

The story told in police court on Wednesday afternoon by John Handley, the complainant in the case against the man and woman charged with the theft of $130, as to where he bought the liquor they carried with them in the cab to Burleigh Falls, led to an information being sworn out against a local hotelkeeper. It charges him with unlawfully selling liquor, on a tavern license in larger quantities than a quart.

Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the accused. The defendant is out of the city but as Handley, the chief witness, intends to leave for Spokane in a few days, his evidence was taken this morning. Any farther proceedings in the case were deferred until the defendant's return.

John Handley swore to having purchased twelve bottles of lager at the accused's hotel on Tuesday evening, February 22nd.

HE WAS HIT BY A CAR

Mr. Walter Strickland, Formerly of Lakefield, Had Very Narrow Escape From Being Killed in Toronto.

WAS NEARLY CRUSHED.

Toronto, March 5.—Crushed between two cars a moment after jumping from the fender of one of them on which he had been caught up, Mr. Walter R. Strickland, the well-known architect, had a most remarkable escape from death on King St. yesterday afternoon. Mr. Strickland is lying at his home at 286 Huron St. suffering severely from bruises and shock, and it will be several days before he will be able to be about again.

The accident occurred just east of Yonge street. Mr. Strickland had come down Toronto street and was crossing the tracks to catch an eastbound car when a car running west that he had not noticed came up behind him, the fender striking his leg.

CHEAPER THEATRE

Strong Possibility of Vaudeville House Being Erected Here By Toronto Theatrical Man At Popular Prices.

WOULD SEAT ABOUT 880.

"Peterborough could easily make it profitable for a vaudeville house," a theatrical man stated to an Examiner reporter this morning, "and I know that a Toronto man, prominent in the theatrical line, has an eye on this city, and is looking out for a suitable location. If he gets the place at a fair price he will build a house, which will surprise them. The prices would be 10, 20, and 30 cents, which ought to catch a good line of trade every night in the week. The programme would be changed twice a week, thereby retaining popularity. Oh! no, it would not be as big as the Grand, not nearly so, but big enough to provide a total seating capacity of 800. Sure, I think it ought to be feasible and ought to prove a payer. I don't know whether an attempt will be made to begin this summer or not, but I'm just telling you to be prepared for developements."

PERMITS ISSUED

Total Cost of Building Thus Far in 1909 Has Not Reached Very Large Sum—Prospects Brightening.

GOOD SEASON ANTICIPATED.

The Spring building boom is showing signs of getting under way. Permits were taken out for two brick veneer buildings to be erected in th Fifth Ward at a cost of $1,600 each. Snce the first of January there have been seven permits taken out, amounting altogether to $6,-$465.00.

This amount is composed of $2,000 for the Weatherstone mat factory, $1,000 for repairs to the S. H. Knox & Co store, and two new houses. The rest is made up of small buildings. The total figures is not very large, but the prospects are beginning to brighten and from now onward the list is expected to lengthen and the figures at the bottom of the column to increase.

Steps Under Way To Make Law Against Vags Much More Severe

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, March 5.—E. N. Lewis, of West Huron, proposes to tighten up the Criminal Code in respect to the tramp danger. Mr. Lewis this afternoon will bring in his bill, which was left over last session, to increase the penalties for assaults on women and children. Two new provisions are that: "It shall not be lawful for a justice of the peace before whom any person is brought charged with being a loose, idle and disorderly person or vagrant, to discharge such person on condition that he leaves the municipality in which he then is."

"Any person who has been convicted of vagrancy twice shall, on the second conviction, be sentenced to an indeterminate sentence at hard labour at such central prison or penitentiary as the convicting justice deem meet, there to be detained until he satisfies the inspector of prisons that he is willing to work sufficiently to earn his own living, and, if at liberty, will not be a menace to his fellows."

The West Huron member, by adding these two new sections has, it is said, headed off a bill which a Liberal member was to have brought in under Government directions.

Mr. Harry Lattimer Accepts Position In Milwaukee

The Grafters Athletic Club tendered a complimentary banquet to Mr. Harry Latimer last night. Mr. Lattimer is a popular young man among his associates. He has been connected for some years with the drafting department at the C.G.E. and he is leaving to-morrow for Chicago where he has accepted a position. The banquet was held at Jacobi's restaurant, where tables were set for about 40 guests. The menu was an excellent one and the service was first-class. The boys were well pleased with the spread and complimented the caterer.

After justice had been done to the good things an informal toast list was run off and a couple of stories, and speeches which was interspersed with selections by the C. G. E. Mandolin Club.

Peterborough Boy Is One Of The Candidates In Competition

"The Standard of Empire," which is published by "The Standard," the great daily newspaper of London, Eng., and which is now being circulated through Canada, is offering a three weeks' trip in England, Ireland and Scotland and Wales, to the twelve High School students or students of similar institutions, who secure the greatest number of subscriptions between Feb. 23 and June 1st, 1909. Three are to be sent from Ontario, two from the Province at large and one from the City of Toronto, while the other provinces will have an opportunity of supplying a candidate.

Harold Lees, a student of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, has been nominated and will be one of the candidates for Ontario. He is already working hard and with the support of the citizens should secure a free trip to the old country.

His Excellency the Governor-General has approved of the scheme. The King and the Prince of Wales head the subscription list.

Junior O. H. A. Team Is To Play Collegiate Institute

Peterboro fans will have an opportunity of seeing at least one more good game of hockey. A match has been arranged between the Collegiate Institute seven and the Peterboro junior O. H. A. team to take place in Brock street rink on Thursday night of next week, and those who have seen the two teams in action know that they will dish out about the prettiest exhibition of the year. The Collegiate team, which defeated the Rough Riders so handily on Tuesday are a clever, fast young team of good stickhandlers and splendid shots, and have the faculty of playing combination all the way. That they will give the O.H.A. team a hard battle goes without saying, and their admirers are not in the least backward about saying that they will take the Petes into camp. At any event it will be a great game of hockey.

The O. H. A. seven are taking no chances and will be out to practice to-night with the West Ends, in order to keep in shape for the big game. The Petes will have the same team that represented them in the O. H. A., with the exception of Charlie Ray, who is still out of the game with a sore hand.

Landscape Gardener Will Be Secured For Cemetery

Mr. Frank Wise, Superintendent of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, is in Toronto to-day for the purpose of engaging the services of a competent landscape gardener, whose chief duty will be the beautifying of the cemetery during the coming season. The company has decided to make a special effort in this direction, and they are hopeful, that with the co-operation of lot holders, they will excel anything in the past. We are all proud of our cemetery, and the special effort being made by the directors, will, we know, receive the hearty approval and support of all our citizens.

YOUNG MAN OF TEST DEPARTMENT OF C. G. E. BURNED ABOUT THE HEAD BY AN ELECTRIC ARC AT SWITCH

While opening or closing a switch in the Test Department of the C. G. E. Co. Herbert L. Sheen was rather severely burned about the head and on one hand by an arc which resulted from a short circuit. He staggered back and had to be assisted by several of his fellow employees. Dr. Young was called and the Dan Spence ambulance summoned. After his face and hand had been dressed he was taken to the Nicholls Hospital, where it is expected that he will be confined for a couple of weeks.

The formation of the arc was accompanied by a roar that was heard throughout the machine shop, and the brilliant flash was almost blinding. Sheen was standing close to the switch board and the switch was practically on a level with his face. The current in that particular wire was about 550 volts or more. The cause of the short circuit was not explained. The heat from the arc must have been intense at that close distance and the flash was almost blinding, particularly as it happened so unexpectedly. It is not thought that Sheen's sight will be impaired. He is a young man about nineteen years of age and is very popular in his department.

FINED $5.75 OR FIFTEEN DAYS IN THE COUNTY JAIL

For creating a disturbance in a local hotel last evening, a young man was fined $2 dollars and costs at the Police Court this morning. It amounted to $5.75, payable forthwith, or fifteen days in goal. All that the accused could find deep down in his pockets was $3.75, and he had to go down to his cell until the other two was procured.

"GEE WHITAKER" PASSES AWAY

Connecticut Man Who Gave Origin to a Favourite Ejaculation.

Hartford, Conn., March 5.— Few persons who "cuss" by saying "Gee Whitaker!" are aware how the ejaculation originated, or that the man to whom it was first applied lived in Ashford, near Willimantic.

George Whitaker, who died to-day in his home, was a famous Forty-niner, and organized the police force of New Britain and became its first chief. He was a terror among the town's criminally inclined, and was familiarly dubbed "G. Whitaker."

Mr. Whitaker, who died of apoplexy, was eighty-two years old and a civil war veteran.

EX-MEMBER OF THE LEGISLATURE HAS PASSED AWAY

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

Brampton, March 5.—John Smith, Ex-M.P.P., died here to-day after a few days' illness from pneumonia.

A SUCCESSFUL AFTERNOON TEA

Held Under the Auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Knox Church.

An afternoon tea was held at the residence of Mrs Henderson, 170 Perry street, yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Knox Church. There was a large number of ladies present and a very enjoyable time was spent in social intercourse. Refreshments were served during the afternoon. Quite a large sum of money was realized for the funds of the Society.

To-morrow the Examiner will publish the first of a series of articles on "Landscape Gardening," written especially for this paper by Mr. A. B. Cutting, editor of the Canadian Horticulturist, an acknowledged expert upon such subjects. Mr. Cutting will deal with the best methods of beautifying lawns and grounds and his articles will, no doubt, be read with interest and profit by the readers of the Examiner. They will appear every Saturday for an indefinite period.

PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY

Death of Mr. Thos. H. Darcy of Burleigh Falls at Noon, After An Illness of Only a Few Hours.

HAD PARALYTIC STROKE.

With shocking suddenness came death at noon to-day at Nicholls Hospital, of Mr. Thomas H. Darcy, proprietor of the Park Hotel, Burleigh Falls. Mr. Darcy had been spending a few days with his son, Mr. Fred. Darcy, Charlotte St. Last night he was in apparently good health when retiring, but this morning at seven o'clock he was seized with a paralytic stroke. This was the second one within a year. He was removed to the hospital but he gradually grew worse until the end came.

The late Mr. Darcy was 57 years of age and was well and universally esteemed. As the proprietor of the Burleigh Falls summer resort he came in contact with a large number of people and by his kind and genial manner won for himself a host of friends. His demise will be deeply regretted. He was also for a number of years, a resident of Peterborough, having owned about thirty years ago the Hotel Hub, then on Hunter St. He also ran an hotel under the old opera house, but when the Scott Act came into force he removed to Rochester, N. Y. He returned to Canada eight years ago, taking up his residence at Burleigh Falls, where he conducted the Park hotel until the time of his death. He was married to Elizabeth Kelly, who still survives him.

Three sons and one daughter are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Messrs. Fred., of Peterborough, Warren and Rollie, at Burleigh Falls. The daughter is Mrs. Val Trainor, of New York City. Mrs. Wm. Cowie, Simcoe St., is a sister of the deceased.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

THE POULTRY ASSOCIATION

A Profitable Discussion Took Place at Regular Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association was largely attended last night in the Bank of Montreal chambers. President Geo. Paxman occupied the chair. Mr. Baptie gave a valuable talk on silver-laced Wyandottes, white Wyandottes, barred rocks, white rocks and buff rocks.

The young members are becoming very enthusiastic and are taking a keen interest in the better breeding of birds.

EDMONTON TEAM WILL HOLD CUP

Edmonton, Alta., March 4.—In one of the hardest-fought games ever seen on the local ice Edmonton demonstrated its superiority over Winnipeg Shamrocks last night by defeating them in the second game of the series for the Fit-Reform Cup, by 9 to 4.

The ice was very soft and the latter part of the game was played in water. The heavy ice told against the Irishmen, who fell off in the second half.

The first half was fast and both teams played for all they were worth for supremacy. The result was constantly in doubt, and the 1,600 people who packed the Thistle rink went wild with excitement.

Edmonton scored the first goal after 18½ minutes of alternate, rushes, in which both goal tenders distinguished themselves. Breen evened the score for the Shamrocks seven minutes later, and the first half ended in a brilliant exhibition of hockey with the score a tie.

The second half was looser, both teams showing the effect of the hard play on the heavy ice. Edmonton tallied three in the first 15 minutes. Breen netted another, and Edmonton came forward with 3 more in about 2 minutes. Hewer tallied, and Whitcroft came forward with two more. Hewer closed the scoring one minute before time with another past Winchester.

LADIES' AID AND NOT THE CONGREGATION

It was the Ladies' Aid of Knox Church who made the donation of $30 to the cause of Local Option in Peterborough, and not the congregation as was reported in yesterday's paper.

TWO WERE KILLED BY AN EXPLOSION AT MADOC TO-DAY

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

Madoc, Ont., March 5.—While a gang were engaged in drilling on what is known as the Vankleek gold property in Elzivir Township, about 10 miles north, out of Madoc, this morning an explosion took place as a result of which Dan Phillips was killed instantly and Felix Eloro was so badly injured that he died soon after. George Young was slightly injured about the head and J. C. Moore had his hands badly torn. It is supposed an unexploded blast was struck.

Sergeant Donaldson Was Killed By Big Walrus

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, March 5.—From a report which reached the mounted police department to-day, it would seem that Sergeant Donaldson, of the police detachment at Fullerton, on Hudson bay, whose death was reported in a recent message from the north, met his end in an encounter with a walrus off Marble island. The sergeant, with Corporal Reeve and an Indian interpreter named Ford, were making their way from Churchill to Fullerton, travelling in a small sailboat which is used by the police for this hazardous trip. Near Marble island they encountered a number of walrus and killed several. Donaldson, Reeve and Ford went ashore in their dinghy to collect the bodies. They had towed some of them to their sailboat, but on one of their trips a walrus attacked them and put a tusk through the bottom of the dinghy. Thep stopped the hole as well as possible with a jacket and pulled for the shore. When nearing it Donaldson said that he would swim the rest of the way, as the boat was filling. In jumping out he upset the boat. Reeve held to the boat and got to shore. Donaldson was never seen again, and it is thought that he was attacked and pulled under by a walrus.

Dramatic Suicide In Well Known London Hotel

Examiner Special.

London, March 5. — After failing to secure $10,000 worth of jewels by a confidence trick, an American giving the name of D. R. Pullman, of Chicago, comitted suicide by cutting his throat at the Savoy hotel on Monday afternoon. Pullman was about 30 years of age. Late Monday afternoon he visited the Burlington Arcade jewellers, stating that he wished to make a present to his wife and that he only wanted "Some of the very best stuff." Finally six diamond rings and a diamond necklace were selected by Pullman, who agreed to have them sent to the Savoy for his wife's approval. An assistant took the jewels to the hotel. Pullman took the jewels into an adjoining room. Presently he returned, saying: "My wife would like to see the necklace." He took it into the next room.

Soon Pullman emerged, wearing a big overcoat and motor cap. The assistant immediately grabbed him. Pullman exclaimed, "Let me go."

"Where's the jewellery?" demanded the assitant, who began to yell for assistance.

Pullman then produced five rings and the necklace, declaring that he had not any more. The assistant insisted that there was another ring. Pullman then produced a razor from his coat and deliberately cut his throat. He then fell bleeding along the corridor and down the staircase to the ground floor where he fell dead. The sixth ring, valued at $500, was found in his pocket.

Expectorating In Railway Cars Must Be Stopped

Ottawa, March 5.—The latest tribute to the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis Association of Canada is a draft order which has been issued by the Railway Commission to prohibit spitting in passenger cars, stations, and waiting rooms on the railways of Canada except in proper receptacles. The application in this case was received from the Montreal Board of Trade and has commended itself to the judgment of the Board. The railway companies have all received copies of the draft order and will appear before the commission on Tuesday next to submit their views on this question.

The draft order of the Railway Commission requires every railway Company within three months time:

1. To properly clean and disinfect and thereafter to keep clean and disinfect, its passenger cars, stations and waiting rooms, in order to prevent dissemination of tuberculosis or other infectious or contagious diseases.

2. To cause printed notices to be placed and maintained in each of its passenger coaches, one at each end of the car, and in some conspicuous place in each of its stations and waiting-rooms, prohibiting the practice of spitting in the said cars, stations and waiting rooms, except in proper receptacles provided for the purpose, and prescribing a penalty for violations thereof. In the Province of Quebec such notices to be printed in French as well as English.

3. That every such railway company be liable to a penalty of a sum not exceeding fifty dollars for every failure to comply with the foregoing regulations within the time for their coming into force and thereafter.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

As intimated last Saturday, to-morrow's Examiner will contain the first of a series of articles on the general subject of landscape gardening as applied to private lawns and grounds. These articles supplied by Mr. A. B. Cutting, editor of The Canadian Horticulturist, will be practical as well as scientifically reliable. Mr. Cutting is especially well qualified for this work, and it is trusted that his articles will not only be read but be preserved for re-reading. If the lessons they carry are heeded the results will be very far-reaching and satisfactory. In this connection it is a pleasure to state that the directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company are taking steps to practically encourage the movement for the beautification of the city. A competent landscape gardener is to be employed to make the most of the existing conditions, in order to add further to the attractiveness of one of the most attractive cemeteries in the country. This will be an incentive to private citizens and tend to enlist their aid in contributing to the beauty of Peterborough; for it is only by general popular co-operation that the best results can be attained.

The will to do a good thing is greatly increased in value by knowing how best to do it.

GOOD ADVERTISING.

It may be a sordid view, to regard the Mendelssohn Choir as great advertisers of Canada; but it is no degradation of their magnificent art to regard their triumphant visit to Chicago as a splendid national advertisement. Our Yankee cousins have been wont to look upon Canada with good-natured or even ill-natured condescension, and exasperating patronage. But it must have been borne in upon the Chicago people that a country, which can produce a musical organization like the Mendelssohn Choir, capable of electrifying a western audience with the most perfect possible exposition of choral singing, must have behind such art resources, resources of a more material character and a spirit of enterprise that constitutes a national asset to be reckoned with. "American" eyes, as the result of the visit of the choir will be turned with wider interest to the agricultural resources of our Great West, which is already sucking in the flower of the farmerhood of the Western States. Nothing, perhaps can contribute more to mutually advantageous entente cordiale, closer international harmony than the peerless harmony of the Mendelssohn Choir.

The basic secret of advertising effectiveness is to keep one's business name and resources before the public.

THE GROWING WEST.

We, in Peterborough, pride ourselves on being citizens of no mean city; imagine ourselves to be alive and growing. But when we get a western journal like the "Special Publicity Number" of the Lethbridge Daily Herald, of 64 pages, we seem, by contrast, to be asleep, and standing still. This special number of the Herald is put out by a journal only three years old. But it is a lusty three-year-old, something to be proud of all the more so because it is a product of the brains and enterprise of a Peterborough boy, Mr. W. A. Buchanan, managing director and editor. The special publicity number of the Herald is a splendid example of publishing enterprise. Its eight sections of 8 pages each are full of live matter, describing the resources of Lethbridge and district. The several special articles are written by experts in respect of the subjects and sections dealt with, one being from the pen of Mr. James McCaig, formerly of our Collegiate Institute staff. They are also splendidly and plentifully illustrated with half tones which give graphic ideas of the great growth and resources of Lethbridge, with a building record in 1908 of half a million dollars; 8 churches, 6 banks, and 7 schools, beautiful residences and a growth of population from 2,313 to 7,000 in two years. The fruitfulness of the Alberta wheat fields is demonstrated by the fact that "Alberta Red" weighs 67 pounds to the bushel, and illustrated by a picture showing 90 stocks of straw from one kernel, and a head with 110 kernels. The Lethbridge Daily Herald's "Special Publicity Number" is a splendid credit to its publisher and a splendid reflection of the present thriving condition and promising future of Lethbridge and its environments. A perusal of it convincingly shows that "westward the star of empire takes its way."

Wheat was first exported from the Canadian west—from Manitoba—to Europe in 1877.

FINANCIAL SAFETY.

There is some discussion as to the necessity of private banks in small communities to meet the wants of local enterprise, which, it is alleged, the chartered banks do not do. This seems to be arguing from premises that do not exist. The competition between chartered banks where, as is the case in Peterborough, there are six, constitutes conditions providing all the accommodation which the security offered justifies advancing. A private bank could not do more unless it took risks which sound financing would not warrant, as such banks seem inclined to do, considering how often they come to collapse, and spread local ruin or loss, out of all proportion to the local advantages they confer. Safety is the essence of finance. Any sacrifice of it may be temporarily advantageous, but in the long run it unsettles confidence or leads to trouble, if not disaster. Our banking system, as it exists and is applied, seems to admirably serve all the necessities of legitimate enterprise, combining the elements of safety and confidence. The note holder and depositor are perfectly protected and all enterprise, industrial or commercial, worthy of assistance and promising success, is practically encouragd.

As a rule, an article is never bought cheaply—it is worth only what is paid for it. Easy money pays high interest.

ADVANCING.

Things are coming Canada's way in some things rapidly and in others by slow degrees. Not much more than a dozen years ago the making of steel was unknown in Canada. We looked to Great Britain and the United States for our supplies of steel rails and structural steel. The United States Steel Trust was, so far as this continent was concerned, considered master of the situation. It not only dominated the United States, but attempted to fix its suction pumps on Canada, by the acquirement of the great industries at the "Soo," but was prevented from effecting its purpose by th prompt and patriotic action of the Ross govrnment in advancing aid to revive the works and prevent them from falling into the hands of the Steel Trust of the United States. As a result the works resumed operations and contributed a supply of steel rails for the building of our railways. Recently they received the stimulus of British capital and are now firmly established as one of the most valued of our national industrial assets. They are playing an important part in gridironing the bosom of Canada with steel rails. But not only that; they have invaded the United States market, heretofore regarded as hermetically sealed to most forms of foreign steel products. The New York Central Railway has placed an order for 5,400 tons of steel rails for delivery between now and August 1st with the Soo steel rails mills.

The first smelting of iron in Canada took place at the St. Maurice forges, P. Q., in 1733.

PRESIDENT TAFT.

The inauguration of a President of the United States to a limited term of unlimited monarchy, is a matter of interest to Canada. The government of one of the gratest of nations, lying contignous to this country with its tremendous industrial and commercial influence, and its reactionary social influence upon us, cannot be a matter of indifference to this country. Canada has been subject to the commercial hostility of our neighbours, which, though not benignly intended, has wrought out to the benefit of Canada, by developing a spirit of independence, and giving impulse to enterprise which has opened avenues of trade in place of those from which the restrictionary policy of our neighbours has debarred us. In this connection the advent of Mr. Taft to the Chief Magistracy probably means that the internal reforms initiated by the late President Roosevelt will not only be advanced, but that a positive amelioration of trade hostility will not be wanting under the new regime. President Taft may lack the pyrotechnic strenuosity of his predecessor, whose unquestionable administrative ability did not involve an excess of personal effacement, but he, too, has shown the possesion of undoubted ability which, however, has more dignity and poise, and will doubtless exercise a reign which, as is earinestly hoped, will be for the good of the great nation he governs.

The King is dead; long live the King!

EDITORIAL NOTES.

How can the Mendelssohn Choir help being good under such capable and de-vogt-ed training.

If President Taft had come to Ottawa for his inauguration he would have had fine weather instead of blizzard, snow and sleet.

The Conservatives expect the Government to produce "original documents" when called upon to do. But they have not so far shown remarks the Ottawa Fre Press, any great anxiety to persuade Mr. Borden to produce the original of the telegram which he received from the Victoria Colonist on October 24 last.

The proposal of Ontario's Minister of Mines to set apart a million acres of land in the Rainy River district, adjoining the international boundary, to be used as a forest and game reserve is worthy of commendation; all the more so as it is understood that the state of Minnesota will set apart a similar area adjoining to the south for similar purposes. This dual reservation will involve joint action against despoliation. The preservation of the forest growth is the main point, but the protection of game is not uninteresting, especially as the areas mentioned are of the few in which moose are yet to be found.

BANQUET TO BORDEN.

Conservative Members Pay Tribute to Their Leader.

Ottawa, March 5.—The Conservative members of the House of Commons and Senate, to the number of about 100, tendered a banquet in the Commons' restaurant last night to R. L. Borden. It was a most enthusiastic affair, practically the whole representation of the party in the two Houses being present.

F. D. Monk, chief lieutenant from Quebec, presided, and proposed the toast of the guest of the evening.

The company acclaimed the leader with loud applause, many times renewed. Mr. Borden, in replying, featured the appearance of "The Duty of the Hour" and the part of the Grand Trunk Railway in the recent contest.

"We desire no feud and seek no alliance with any great railway corporation," he said. "But if any great railway corporation insists on projecting its open influence into every election contest, it is well that the directors of that corporation should be given to understand that some day the gage of battle will be taken up.

"In this connection let it be remembered that the 87 Conservative members of Parliament represent more than one-half of the honest and independent vote of the electorate of Canada. It is especially noteworthy that notwithstanding the frantic and unworthy appeals of our opponents, the Conservative vote in Quebec increased by nearly 20,000.

"The credit and resources of Canada are too great for even this Government to destroy or dissipate in a measurable term of years, but if they had intended to accomplish that undesirable result their course could not have differed in any marked degree from that which they have pursued.

"The Government during the past twelve months has plunged this country into debt to the tune of $48,721,413. What does that mean? It means an annual interest charge of nearly two million dollars upon the people of Canada for ever. How long is this pace to continue? Ordinary prudence has been so far forgotten that the conditions are becoming alarming.

"We have in our ranks men who can do splendid work in the public service," said Mr. Borden, after referring to the work that has to be done in Canada. "It is no discredit to the old members of this house, it is no discredit to the Conservative membership of former Parliaments to say that the present Opposition musters a stronger and more effective force than at any time since 1896."

Mr. Borden closed with the quotation: "Life is neither a pleasure nor a sorrow, but a serious matter, which has been committed to our charge and which we are bound to carry on and bring to a conclusion with honor to ourselves."

To the toast "New Members," responses were given by Goodeve, British Columbia; Magrath, Alberta; Haggart, Manitoba; ex-Mayor Stewart of Hamilton, for Ontario; Blondin, Quebec; Crosby, Nova Scotia; Doherty, Quebec. There were but four toasts.

Colleen Weds Chinaman.

Brantford, March 5.—A happy culmination of her arrest as a vagrant by the local police came to Norah McLaughlin, a winsome Irish girl, aged 18 years, fresh from Dublin, at the police station here last evening, when her marriage with Harry Chong, a prosperous local Chinese restaurant keeper, was solemnized by Rev. H. R. Cracken.

Magistrate Livingston, Chief Slemin and the Chinaman's lawyer were the only witnesses. In court yesterday morning the bride was given the chance to go to the Salvation Army or go to jail. Chong heard tell of her predicament, and having previously seen her made the offer of marriage to a lawyer.

The magistrate was glad to make the desired release, and the happy couple repaired to the restaurant after the ceremony.

Woollen Mills to Close Down.

Montreal, March 5.—The Montreal Woollen Mills, which in the height of their prosperity gave employment to 900 hands, will be closed up at the end of April, and the factory premises sold. The reason the firm gives for going out of business is that with only 30 per cent. protection, it has found that woollen manufacturers in Canada cannot hold their own against British competition.

19-Year-Old Girl a Bigamist.

Ottawa, March 5.—Mabel Hillier, an English girl, 19 years of age, appeared in the Police Court yesterday charged with bigamy. She is charged with having married Alphonse Pommerville and not being satisfied with him, she is alleged to have married George Bourassa, both of Ottawa. Both men were in court, but the case was adjourned.

Navy For Australia.

Adelaide, Australia, March 5.—Minister of Defence Pearce said the vast majority was behind his party on the Australian navy question. An attempt had been made to make Australians believe the Admiralty opposed the idea of an Australian navy, but from despatches he had seen he believed the British authorities emphatically favored it.

Health Board Resigns.

Kingston, March 5.—Because the City Council repealed the Compulsory Vaccination Act, four members of the Board of Health have resigned, Drs. Knight and Connell, Etherington and Francis King, and have passed a resolution condemning the action of the City Council.

An Anti-Spitting Order.

Ottawa, March 5.—The Railway Commission has issued a draft order prohibiting spitting, except in proper receptacles, in passenger cars, stations or waiting-rooms of railways in Canada. This is the result of an application from the Montreal Board of Trade.

Big Fire In Yarmouth, N.S.

Halifax, N.S., March 5.—Fire at Yarmouth yesterday morning destroyed the greater portion of the buildings and plant of the Burrell-Johnson Iron Co. Two hundred men are thrown out of work. Loss $100,000; insurance $39,000.

Good Roads Conference.

Toronto, March 5.—Hon. Dr. Reaume, Minister of Public Wrks, addressed the Good Roads Convention yeaterday. His Department was keeping a record of roads all over the province, "and," he said, "we are watching with interest the working out of certain plans now in vogue. In new Ontario the roads are paying their own share of maintenance, but in some of the older counties they are not. I want to make these old counties which have been dragging on Government support, self-supporting."

The old officers were re-elected.

Three Years and Thirty Lashes.

Belleville, March 5.—Before Judge Deroche yesterday Joseph Samuel Smith of Coe Hill, a married man, about 50 years old, was found guilty of improper relations with Gertrude Heams, a girl under 14, who lived in his house.

He was sentenced to three years in penitentiary, with 30 lashes. Smith has been twice married.

May Amalgamate Plants.

Brockville, March 5.—Brockville is seriously considering the advisability of amalgamating the light and water plants, in view of extensive improvements being urgently needed in both departments. It has been decided to employ the services of an expert engineer for a report, including the question of the transmission of cheap power from Iroquois.

Franco-Canadian Treaty.

Paris, March 5.—The tariff commission, which already has adopted the amended Franco-Canadian treaty, yesterday approved a report of the subcommittee, which, while recommending the ratification of the treaty as a whole, suggests certain reservations.

The matter soon will be discussed in the Senate.

Malpractice Proven.

Detroit, March 5.—After three hours' deliberation, the jury in the case of "Dr." Eliza Landau, aged 70, charged with the murder of Etta Sowler, the 18-year-old London, Ont., girl, upon whom it is alleged that criminal malpractice was performed at the Landau house, was found guilty as charged.

The Year 1909.

This year, 1909, corresponds with the year 7417-18 of the Byzantine era; to 5668-70 of the Jewish era; to 2962 since the foundation of Rome, according to Varro; to 2569 of the Japanese era; to 2685 of the Olympiads (the first year of the six hundred and seventy-second Olympiad beginning July 1, 1909); to 1326-27 of the Mohammedan era.

Building Up Gowganda.

The scene at the end of the prospectors' road in Gowganda is perplexing, says A. C. Pulver in The Toronto World. Each lot has its squatters, who get their rignt to squat by clearing a space about 60 by 40 feet and laying the foundation of a cabin. This done, they are apparently safe, until a buyer comes along and pays the price, which is anything above $250. I have not heard of a lot being turned over for less than that, and the usual figure amounts to $300, while in one case $500 was the sum paid. For some time the sound of blasting stumps and clashing of axes has kept the whole camp awake. In the daytime the air is cloudy with smoke from burning brush heaps. It's a scene of confusion and at the same time there is a certain method in the seeming madness. Several fistic encounters have taken place between various claimants of lots and now there is always a man on guard—usually a big husky fellow, who gets so much for his reputed skill as a fighter, and there are some good ones in the camp.

House Hunting need not be a toil. Instead of trudging up one street and down another, simply turn to these Classified Columns. If the kind of House you want is not there, place an Ad. stating what you want in next day's paper.

RUNNING ATHLETICS HOCKEY

ST. ANDREW'S WON THE CHURCH LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP LAST NIGHT BY TRIMMING KNOX CHURCH 3-0

St. Andrews are champions of the senior church league. The Presbyterians from Brock Street Hill defeated their brother Presbyterians of Knox church last night by 3 goals to 0 in the final game for the League championship, after about as rough and badly played exhibition of hockey as has been seen in Brock Street rink this winter. St. Andrews had all the better of the play and should have won from farther out if they had not had hard luck in shooting, while in addition Crowe played a splendid game in goal for Knox. There was little real hockey in the whole affair, but St. Andrew's had an overwhelming share of what there was. They tried combination and got away with it while they have several speedy forwards and a hard-checking defence that was always reliable last night.

Both teams followed the puck all over, and during the greater part of the game three quarters of the players were fighting for the rubber the wings straying into centre and the centre players wandering out to the wings, wherever the puck happened to be.

Rough? Well, some. Knox players were the worst offenders and they wooded up most unmercifully especially towards the close of the game. Such a carnival of slashing and tripping has not been seen on Brock St. rink for many moons, and a free-for-all scrap was thrown in by way of adding to the excitement. The spectators climbed over the boards and until law and order was restored the go was all to the merry. It seemed to be a case of get the puck if you can't get the man, and Mr. N. E. McWilliams, president of the league, who handled the bell, had his hands full in keeping things from boiling over.

St. Andrews led at half time by one goal to nothing, Rae doing the trick on a combined rush. In the second half Flanagan tallied on a pretty rush from centre, and Rae slammed the last one past Crowe. There were no particular stars. The checking was too close to permit of much individual work, and the way in which the players wavered from their positions made combination an impossibility. There was a big crowd of fans on hand and they rooted vigorously for their favourites, with the result that the excitement was at fever heat all the way.

The teams were as follows:

St. Andrew's—Goal, Patterson; point, Stanton; cover, Flanagan; rover, H. Rae; centre, Dorner; right wing, Currie; left wing, N. Rae.

Knox—Goal, Crowe; point, Thompson; cover, Henderson; rover, Barclay; centre, Hillier; right wing, Benson; left wing, Galley.

PROGRAMME OF GREAT RACES

Events Which Would in Every Case be Well Worth Seeing—A Classy Card.

The Toronto Star speaking of some races Toronto people would like to see says:

Fred Simpson and Dorando at 15 or 20 miles.

Alf. Shrubb and Fred Appleby at 12 and 15 miles.

Fred Simpson, the Ojibway Thunderbolt, and Fred Meadows at 8 miles.

Alf. Shrubb in a 15-mile relay against Simpson and Meadows.

Alf. Shrubb and Tom Longboat at any distance, indoors or out.

Dorando and Longboat at 15 or 20 miles.

Simpson and Henry Jackson, the Midland Indian, at any distance.

Simpson, Jackson, and Johnny Hayes in a Marathon.

Sjaanberg, the Swede, in a race with Shrubb, Longboat, or Simpson at any distance.

QUAKERS ARE THE CHAMPIONS OF THE MERCANTILE LEAGUE

The Quaker Oats' Company's team captured the championship of the Mercantile League last night by defeating the Canadian General Electric Company's seven in the final game at Brock St. ring, by 4 goals to 3, after a great game. It was hard-fought all the way and was by far a better exhibition of hockey than the Church League game that followed. Both teams worked hard and it was anybody's game until the final bell rang. It was fast all the way and the big crowd thoroughly enjoyed the battle. The Quakers have had a great season and have earned the honours which they won last night. Leo Derocher made a most satisfactory referee and the teams were as follows:

Quakers

Canadian General Electric

THE BELMONTS MADE CLEAN UP WON EIGHT OUT OF NINE GAMES IN BOWLING LEAGUE LAST NIGHT

There were doings in the bowling league at the P. B. C. alleys last night and the Belmonts were chief factors in the excitement. Captain Wareham's bunch, who were behind in the schedule, owing to the absence of their leader, tackled the Bankers and the Pacifics, and what they did to the leading teams wasn't worth doing. They were content with two from the Bankers, but took all three from the Pacifics, with the result that the Examiner A, which had fallen into third place, as the result of their stump, this week climbed back into the second berth, over the heads of the Bankers, while the Belmonts boosted themselves with a vengeance by their two wins and the three games they got from the Midgets by default. Wareham was in great form, bowling 593 against the Bankers, and 559 against the Pacifics, while McElroy put on 604 for his team, only four pins behind Geo. Cairns' high water mark for the best three games.

For a real classy game, however, the one between the Examiner B and the Lock Works had the Grecian bend on anything that has been seen on the alleys in a league game this season. The scores ran from 95 to 186, but 150 was magnificent rolling, and 135 was excellent. The newspapermen won the first game with 557, by a margin of 17, tied the second and won out the third, thus winning the second, as total pinnage counted in the decding of the issue.

The scores were as follows:—

HAMILTON CRITIC SAYS THAT SIMPSON SHOULD HAVE RACE

Hamilton Spectator: There is a disposition in certain quarters in Toronto to confine the game to a certain clique, Shrubb, Dorando, Longboat, and the rest of the Powers' stable. Although Shrubb is his own boss, he is necessary to the Powers' interests, and he is kept in the bunch. However, Freddie Simpson and a couple more of them are not in the swim, and find it exceedingly troublesome to get a race, owing to the fact that Powers and Flanagan are bent upon cornering the market. Simpson is too good a man for them to overlook, yet he is not in their stable, and therefore not wanted. However, Simpson will demand, and will have to be given, a race very shortly, his record and ability, giving him the right to every consideration.

An effort was made to bring Simpson and Dorando together in Hamilton, but Dorando's managers—and they are many—would not hear of it.

CURLING.

A rink from Keene played two friendly games at the Charlotte St. rink yesterday. In the afternoon Keene lost by a score of 13 to 9, and in the evening they won by 18 to 15. Sixteen ends were played at night, and the locals had the game tied until McIntyre played his last stone and laid shot. It was a close contest all through.

The afternon rinks were as follows:

Keene	Peterborough
Briscon	James
Moore	Taylor
McIntyre	Tooley
McWilliams—9	Moore—13

The evening rinks were:

Keene	Peterborough
Briscon	Lyle
Moore	Reed
McWilliams	Hicks
McIntyre—18.	Lang—15

There was some pretty fair curling last night. It is seldom that it is necessary to play four extra ends, but such was the case in the game between Messrs. Ferguson and Hollingshead. At 12 ends the score was a tie and also at 14 ends. But during the next two ends, Hollingshead took six shots, making the final score 13-19. The rinks and scores were:

Davidson	Tovey
Evans	Moore
Webb	Hill
Hall—18.	Knapman—14
Craig	Tooley
Dodds	Ackerman
Dr. Wightman	Bowes
Cameron—6.	Talbot—16
Taylor	Bennett
Winch	Collins
Stevenson	A Moore
Ferguson—13.	Hollingshead—19

Again the Orillia curlers captured the Neill-Sheppard trophy. This is the second consecutive year and it was a hard game to lose. The northern curlers were four shots in the first half, which was played here and yesterday they increased their lead by 11 shots, making the total win 15 shots.

The four Peterborough rinks left in the morning, and as soon as they had dinner went on the ice, and after the game took the 4.30 train for home arriving at 9 o'clock. They report having had a very good trip, but are sorry to have lost. None of the scores were very close. The skips were as follows:

Neill — 10.	Madden — 21
Morrow — 23	Monah — 26
Matthews — 11	Stewart — 17
Medd — 10	Scott — 17

The Peterborough rinks were:—

Adamson	L. Hall
Montgomery	Thompson
Brightman	Davidson
Neill	Medd
Harstone	Carton
Orr	Baptie
Brown	Hay
Matthews	Morrow

HOCKEY

There was an exciting game of hockey played on Park street between the Beavers and the Maple Leaves. At half time the score was 4-2 in the favour of the Maple Leaves. The stars of the winners were L. The referee was satisfactory for both sides.

The following was the line up:

Maple Leaves

G. Martin, goal; L. Letellier, point; C. McDonald, centre point; L. Rose, rover; J. Condon, centre; H. Rogers, left wing; L. Picard right wing.

Beavers

A team of Keene Juniors defeated All Saints' last night at Knox Rink by the score of 6 to 4. The score at half time was 4-1. Though All Saints won in Keene 6 to 3, the visitors last night turned the tables on them. Their victory was due to superior combination, the All Saints' aggregation playing more of an individual game. Both teams played fast hockey, and Referee Layfield handed out but three penalties, two to All Saints and one to Keene. Wier, Campbell, and Taylor starred for Keene, while Allen, Hillier, Lebar and Armstrong played good hockey for All Saints. Mr. D. Layfield made a satisfactory referee.

It was learned this morning that Lakefield's prominent citizens are interested in the team's progress, and one of them, Mr. Tate, was authority for the announcement of a new rink for Cementville for next year's team.

The feeling in the village is one of pride for the seven who brought home the championship after going 3 years for it, and to encourage the boys to remain together until the new rink will be put under way.

HAYES MANAGER ASKED HIM TO THROW RACE, SLATER SAYS

Auburn, March 2—The ten-mile race between Johnny Hayes, the London Olympic Marathon winner, and Tom Slater, of Oswego, scheduled to be run at the Burtis rink to-night, did not materialize, much to the disappointment of a crowd of 1,000 enthusiasts. Slater refused to go on with the race, on the ground that Hayes' manager insisted that he (Slater) was to allow Hayes to win. His refusal to agree to lay down, so Slater says, to let Hayes stick to the original agreement that he was to run ten miles while Slater walked seven miles. This was afterwards changed so that each was to run ten miles. Slater had trained for four weeks for the ten-mile run and was in no condition for fast walking.

After wrangling for over an hour, Hayes finally ran a relay of three runners, consisting of John L. Sullivan, of Marcellus, Fred Saroney, of Port Byron, and Tony Debottis, the former running five miles and the other two 2½ miles each. Hayes won by seven laps, in 55 minutes, 40 seconds. Sullivan defeated Saroney and Debottis in a five-mile relay, as a preliminary to the main event.

The Hayes-Slater fiasco has killed the easy-money running game in Auburn, it is thought, for this season at least.

RUSSEL PEARCE FELL NEAR END OF RACE AGAINST FOUR FAST MEN

A relay race of ten miles between Mr. Russel S. Pearce and four fast runners from Norwood was run off on the Lock Works track on Saturday evening, the latter being represented by Messrs. Kemp, Finlay, Johnson, Alex. Kemp and R. Finlay, the latter taking the place of Thomas Finlay, ill. Notwithstanding the bad track, there was a fairly good crowd present, the race being the only topic in local sporting circles, some days previous. The visitors seated four rounds each, Johnson being the first to enter the arena. At the end of the fourth lap McNeil got entered the chase and was followed in turn by Kemp and Finlay, all of whom set a hot pace. Pearce appeared to have plenty of speed and kept close behind each contestant until the last lap, when he quickened his pace and in attempting to pass Finlay he fell, thus settling the race. Many of Pearce's backers have great confidence in him as and are sure that he would come out ahead if another race was put on.

Oswego Man Defeated a Toronto Wrestler by Disabling Him in a Hard Bout.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., March 4.—Charles Kaiser, of Oswego, and Jack Kelly, of Toronto, wrestled in Elks' Hall here last night for the welterweight championship of the world. Kaiser won the first fall on a crotch hold in 31 minutes and 46 seconds. In the second bout, after a minute's wrestling, Kelly bumped his head against a bench, and was knocked out, and unable to proceed. Kaiser was declared the winner. The men will meet again.

YOUNG MAN GOT A MONTH IN JAIL HAD NO MONEY TO PAY HIS FINE BROKE INTO GRAND TRUNK CAR

Twenty dollars, or one month in gaol, was the option that was given Albert Brandt, at the police court this morning. He was charged with breaking into a sealed car belonging to the Grand Trunk Railway Company yesterday afternoon, and stealing therefrom a quantity of currants.

He pleaded guilty, but stated that he was drunk at the time. Had he not been intoxicated, he said, he would not have done such a thing.

Station Agent Mr. Sandy testified to the seal of the car being broken. One box of dried fruit was emptied to the extent of about three pounds.

The prisoner said that his home was in Uxbridge. When he heard the fine imposed upon him, he replied: "I cannot pay it." The only alternative was to spend a month in gaol.

He Took Novel Method Of Breaking The News Gently He Had Seven Children

Examiner Special.

New York, March 3. — He promised her that she should live like a princess and never have to worry. She was eighteen and tired of working all day long. He was many years her senior and persuaded her. There was a wedding and Elizabeth Harrington became Mrs. Michael McCabe. That was on January 2. Yesterday Mrs. McCabe told her story in the Harlem Court, where she accused her husband of abandoning her.

Her first disillusionment had come she said, on her wedding day, when her husband discharged the maid in their East 120th street flat. The next was in the morning when she awoke to find a little boy standing in the doorway of her room. She thought the youngster must have entered the apartment by mistake and started to set him right, when her husband interfered. The child was his, he said. The young wife made no complaint, was even glad of the boy's company.

When she arose next morning she found a little girl playing in the kitchen with the boy. She thought it was a playmate, but was a little surprised when the girl sat down to breakfast with them. It was all right, her husband assured her, the girl was also his. The third morning revealed the presence of a third child, a girl again this time. It appeared that she was another daughter of McCabe's. The fourth morning brought still another child, as did the fifth and the sixth. It became a regular thing now for the bride to prepare the first meal of the day for one more than she had served the supper of the night before. She began to wonder when this would end. On the seventh morning she made a search of the house and found three more children. Then McCabe gave her a crumb of comfort by assuring her there were no more.

She struggled along as the household drudge for some weeks, and then left, returning to her family.

Constable Short Gave Chase To His Assailants After Assault

Followed Them in Dazed Condition But Could Not Get Within Range —Kicked Him About the Head and Shoulders until Helpless.

CARLIN STARTED THE ROW.

Constable Short, of Lindsay, who was badly injured on Wednesday night shortly after 12 o'clock, is rapidly recovering from his injuries and is expected to be out in a few days. The Daily Warder describes the assault as follows:

Shortly after twelve o'clock last night Night Constable Short left the Big 20 restaurant, after having his usual lunch, and proceeded to traverse his beat, going up the north side of Kent to Cambridge St. He noticed a number of men standing on the street immediately in front of the Moore House, and walked across to them, greeting them with one of the police salutations, "move on gentlemen." Instead of doing so, he was told by one of the number in no polite language, in fact in language unbefitting a gentleman, to move on himself, or words implying as much, and without further ado or warning Carlin stepped forward and struck Constable Short a stinging blow on the face, which sent the minion of the law to the ground.

Two to One

Immediately Carlin jumped on top of him and proceeded to use his fists. However, Constable Short, who has a reputation of being a hard man to overpower, became disentangled and got on top of Carlin. But not for long was he on top, for as soon as it was seen that Carlin was getting the worse of the struggle, another of the young men jumped into the fracas and helped Carlin. They kicked Constable Short until he was compelled to let go his hold, and even after the constable had been overpowered they proceeded to kick and abuse him unmercifully about the head and shoulders, while the other three men stood by and refused to interfere.

After pounding the night constable into a semi-conscious condition the gang took to their heels and ran down Kent St., to William St., and were lost sight of.

Followed Assailants.

With a heroic effort Constable Short pulled himself together, and although half dazed, he got to his feet and went back to the Big 20 restaurant, where he secured his revolver and immediately set in pursuit of his assailants. He went down William St. to Durham, and then spied three of the men running east on Durham St. He gave chase and shot two or three time at the fleeing men, but they turned south on Lindsay St., and ran for the open country.

Constable Short, who was suffering extreme pain, and who had lost considerable blood, was becoming weak and faint at the corner of Lindsay St. and Durham St., he decided to return to town and notify the other constables of the direction taken by the fugitives.

About this time Mr. J. H Sootheran and other citizens wer returning home from a party, and as Mr. Sootheran was about to enter his house he met Constable Short returning on Lindsay St. He was bespattered with blod and his face was a mass of ugly bruises. Mr. Sootheran gleaned the story from Constable Short.

OUR READERS ARE APPRECIATIVE

The "Vegetable Prescription" for Kidney Trouble Filled Many Times.

DID YOU MIX SOME OF IT?

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well-known local pharmacy supplied the ingredients for the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, headache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well-known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It can not be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first-class drugstore will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults is one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.

Thought He Was Not Giving Best Of Service---Gave Up His Work

Conscientiousness has cost a man his position, which was bringing him five dollars a week, and now he is looking for help from the city, stating that his family is in actual want and he is unable to get any work. What nonesty! He was working at a local hotel where, besides the five dollars, he was getting his board. But he did not think he was doing all that he should for his employer, although the latter did not find any fault with the manner in which he was doing his duty. The days went by and his mind was so taken up with the thought of what he was not doing and what he should do, that at last he threw up the job. It was entirely of his own accord. He was not even threatened that he would have to do better. Everything on the surface was as tranquil as a wheat field on a warm, still, summer afternoon. But beneath that was where the trouble was brewing. The explanation that has been given out on the side is that his hours were a little long, and thus his honesty was brought in as an excuse. Now he is looking for charity — still looking, however.

She is six years of age. The family were in poor circumstances and the Society decided to take the child off their hands.

Driver On G. T. R. Flyer Tells Of Big Snowstorm Near Markham

Mr. George Pratt, the driver on the G.T.R. flyer in conversation with Mr. Chas. Noyes, the Charlotte St. gateman this morning, said that on the previous evening there had been a big snowstorm in the vicinity of Markham and Stouffville. He remarked that the snow was so high along the track that he could put his hand out of the window and touch it.

A SUCCESSFUL CARNIVAL HELD

Warsaw, March 5.—The most successful event of that order ever held in this place was the carnival given by the Warsaw Skating Rink Co., on Wednesday evening, March 3rd.

The weather though somewhat cool was quite favourable to the event and the ice was in excellent condition. RADIAL COMPANIES BEFORE LEGISLATURE

Toronto, March 4.—The Legislature's Railway Committee, this morning, met for the first time this session.

The Committee reported the Eastern Ontario Electric Railway Company bill to incorporate an electric line from Cornwall to the west towards Toronto. The capital stock of the company is set at $7,500,000.

The committee also reported the bill referring to the Dunnville, Welland-port and Beamsville Electric Railway, an extension line from Beamsville to Jordan, which will open up an important fruit district.

The hearing of the Cobourg, Port Hope and Havelock, and of the Cobourg, Peterborough and Kawartha Lakes bills was postponed, and they will be heard together.

School Girl Thinks That Dancing Should be Prohibited in the Schools.

Peterborough, March 5, '09.
To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I observed from the Examiner of March 3rd that our Principal, Mr. Kenner, has taken a noble stand against dancing in our school. It seems to me that the enormous outlay of our means on the P. C. I. is for the purpose of developing the intellectual instead of the heels and toes. One writer asserts that "youth who have become dyed in pleasure and vanity, rarely take any other colour." I believe that in this fast age there is already quite too little of genuine mental culture and too much of that which is superficial and showy.

Our educational institutions are for th people and numbers of the people have well-grounded scruples against dancing. Should their rights be respected or not?

Yours truly,
SCHOOL GIRL.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARY A. HARTLEY

Mr. William Hartley has just returned home from Lawrence, Mass., where he had been called by the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Hartley, which occurred very suddenly at the residence of her son, Mr. John Hartley, on the 28th of February. While the deceased had been in failing health for some time her demise was not expected and came as a great shock to her friends in Peterborough and Lawrence. She had resided in Lawrence for a number of years, but previous to moving there, she lived in this city.

Four sons are left to mourn her loss. They are Wm. G., of Peterborough, John, of Lawrence, Mass., Frank of Providence, R. I., and James, in Minneapolis, Minn.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Lake, of the 2nd Baptist Church of Lawrence, of which the deceased was a member. Interment took place at Bellevue cemetery.

B. A. C. MEN HELD INTERESTING DEBATE

"Ability is a Greater Factor Than Environment."

That a young man's success in life depends more on his ability than on his environment was the decision of the judges in a debate held by the B.A.C. at the Knights of Pythias hall last night. Messrs. Ray Best, leader, W. Cochrane and E. Bruce were the speakers for the affirmative, and Messrs. W. D. Campbell, leader, D. B. MacRae and C. Harmer upheld the negative, the subject being "Resolved that a young man's success in life depends more on his ability than his environment."

The judges (Messrs. W. Warne, C. E. Sisson and Dr. J. E. Middleton) decided in favour of the affirmative by five points to four.

PRESENTED WITH PIPE BY YOUNG BANKER FRIENDS

Mr. James McGrail, who has occupied the position of teller in the local branch of the Bank of Toronto, was pleasantly surprised by the members of the Big Five Club last night. He is leaving for Parry Sound, where he will assume the duties of teller and accountant in the branch in that city. His friends of the "Big Five" presented him with a handsome pipe.

Mr. McGrail has formed many friends since coming to the city, and will be greatly missed among the younger set.

EVENING

1. Evening shadows round me hover,
And the East is growing dim;
But the sun has left his glory
On the clouds that followed him.

2. As I gaze upon that glory,
With its calm, and peace, and rest,
Gently falls a benediction
Stealing softly from the West.

3. Nature's healing balm comes o'er me,
Like the dew upon the mead;
Giving strength to weary spirit,
Rousing hope for manly deed.

SWEARING OFF

"It is strange how your friends try to get you to break your promises," a young man lamented last night. "It's just the same with your New Year resolutions. They seem to look upon it as a foregone conclusion that you are going to return to your old ways and to them it resolves itself to a question of the length of time you will remain firm. A friend of mine and I arranged to quit smoking for the month of March. Somehow or other all my friends know about it and if there is one bet there are fifty that I will fall off the waggon as they say.

Ladies and gentlemen friends alike. It is bonbons here and gloves there. Frank has the cigars up and Jack has a higher stake. If all the people who have followed the Lenten practice and sworn off favourite habits have as hard a road to hoe as I have they are having a lively time. I don't know whether I will make good or not. I could have cigarettes to last me a year if I accepted all the offers that I am now receiving. Fellows that used to be boilermakers come along with a new pack still untouched and ask me to have one. 'No, thank you,' bravely little Willie answers, 'I have sworn off. No more of the nasty things for mine.' What a sacrifice I am making, the only satisfaction I have is in knowing that my pal is walking the same plank. At least I think he is. On the quiet we are watching each other as alert as cats, and if I catch him at the weed I certainly will collect with the greatest of pleasure. I wish I could nab him to-night, but I will make sure that he does not get me."

WAS NEARLY CRUSHED BY A STREET CAR

Mr. Strickland was swung around suddenly, jumping as he did so. He landed on the fender, and not seeing the car coming from the east, jumped back on to the "devil-strip." Before he had time to step away he was caught between the cars. He was twisted around violently several times and then fell, fortunately clear of the car tracks on either side. When the cars were stopped Mr. Strickland crawled from his painful and dangerous position.

He was assisted into the King Edward drug store and was there attended by Dr. H. C. Parsons of Bloor street. Later he was taken in a carriage to his home.

Mr Strickland is very well known in Peterborough, and is a brother of Mr Roland Strickland, of Lakefield, and the late Mr. H. C. Strickland, of Peterborough.

VITAL STATISTICS FOR THE MONTH

In 1908 the deaths were 22, births 37, and marriages 11; in February of this year the deaths numbered 22, births 38 and marriages 6.

HOCKEY

It is understood that there will be a series of games between the Quakers' St. Andrew's Guild team and the Strathconas for the city championship.

• • • •

The Eurekas, Toronto's crack Junior O.H.A. team, demonstrated that they are a classy aggregation last night, by defeating Johnny Dyment's Barrie Colts in the northern town by 11 goals to 7, winning the round by 15 to 8. Barrie has the reputation of being the greatest home ice team in the O.H.A., but they were beaten worse in Barrie last night than they were in Toronto. It's Eurekas and Stratford for the finals and from here it looks as if the Eurekas had more than an even chance for the total.

• • • •

Stratford and Lindsay meet to-night in Scugogville, in the first game of the intermediate finals, and it should be a battle royal. Local speculation seems to figure Lindsay for to-night's game, and Stratford for the round. That Stratford aggregation, however, is a pretty good road team and it wouldn't cause much surprise if they beat that bunch of Midgets right in Lindsay. In any event Lindsay won't be safe unless they can go to Stratford with about eight goals tucked under their apron. The small rink may handicap the Indians, but they have been doing a lot of campaigning on small rinks this season and getting away with it too.

YUKON INDIANS DYING OUT.

Not Like Other Tribes — Have Color and Beard of a Jap.

The Yukon Indians are just passing away, writes a trapper; the squaws are living, the children increasing apparently, but among the men, old and young, you hear the hollow cough of lung trouble.

The Pelly River band had in 1899 twenty children, twenty squaws and fourteen men. That winter ten of the men died of pneumonia. You see the Hudson Bay brand among them, too; a great scar across the neck and throat, where the old scrofula has healed up.

More than one half of the adult Indians on the coast have this brand, called by this name because of the frightful disease brought on that coast 100 years ago by the sailors from Boston under Capt. Grey and from Liverpool by Capt. Vancouver, from Spain, in fact all over the world, and spread by the employes of the Hudson Bay Co. among the natives after fur. The Russians did more than their share.

The Yukon Indian is not like other North American red men; he is different in build, habit and certainly inferior to the average Sioux or Chippewa or other tribes of the northwest. He is more like the Jap; has the same complexion, beard and hair, is a little taller and not so clean. The people are light built, undersized and great beggars. A few work at boating and wood-cutting, but generally they are lazy and indolent.

They never have vegetables unless eating with a white man. Every tribe could raise vegetables at their summer camps if they would. They have good soil and every chance to raise radishes, lettuce, cabbage, turnips and potatoes, as white men are raising all of these for market and their own use.

The tribes are small, from twelve to fifteen families; they are found in places from 100 to 200 miles apart. They live near a stream or lake when at home, but when winter comes they go for fur and meat. They travel all winter with the whole family outfit of kids, dogs, squaws and some old people, going from 200 to 500 miles on these winter trips, generally in a great circle.

They stay a few days in a place, build new camps, make new trails, and find new game. They live on meat they kill and fish they catch with nets. When good luck comes with meat or fish in plenty they dry and smoke a large quantity and put it into log pens where nothing can get to it. This pen is called a cache.

These Indians kill fur at all times of the year, except directly after selling their winter catch in March; after selling their winter catch in winter that they have plenty to eat, so what is the use of trapping? They just lie around camp and smoke.

One had about 20 years of age shot a black fox and sold it for $600. It was worth $1,000 or $1,200. He bought $200 worth of calico, tobacco by the caddy and two blankets at $50 each. This young man, a full-blooded Indian, could talk a little English, wore hat, coat and vest, short breeches with knee stockings, had a watch and chain and a new model Winchester rifle. They are inveterate gamblers and will lose their last cent at cards and don't care, but keep coming to the limit.

An Election Dodge.

There is a story told at the expense of one of the political parties at Ottawa. The incident is said to have occurred long ago, and it too had its origin in a bye-election to fill the seat for Ottawa, which at that time returned only one member. The Government had set their hearts on winning, and so they did, but, as their opponents claimed, by the aid of the "dandelion brigade."

It was early in June, and the dandelion, pretty as it is in a pasture or along the roadside, is only a weed in a lawn such as that which surrounds the Parliament Buildings. The lawn was sprinkled with the yellow buttons, and suddenly, a few days before polling, they became an eyesore to the Government. They must be dug up, root and branch, and so a gang of the "honest and independent electors" of the capital were hired at so much a day to do the digging. They sprawled over the lawn, knives in hand, digging dandelions until the victory was won—and then; well, the dandelions soon went out of bloom and were lost to sight, and so, too, were the diggers.

No wonder the late Mr. Tarte said that elections were not wholly won by prayers.

Bristol Was Absent-Minded.

Here's a real true one about Edmund Bristol, M.P. During the days of the strenuous campaign between Mr. Bristol and Mr. T. C. Robinette for election as member of the House for Centre Toronto, he was an exceedingly busy man. Afterwards, when he was preparing to go to Ottawa, and was mixing in other multitudinous duties, his intimate friends say he used to do some absent-minded things.

One day he pulled his watch out of his pocket to see how much time remained to allow him to keep an engagements, and found the hands standing still, set an hour slow.

"Here," said Mr. B.. to his office boy, "I don't know what has got into that watch; it's been behaving badly for days. Run around to Ryrie's with it, and tell them to fix it up as soon as possible."

After twenty minutes the boy returned. With entire lack of expression on his face, he said, as he handed watch and chain back to Mr. Bristol:

"The man at Ryrie's says to wind it."—Toronto Saturday Night.

Luxury in New Camp.

A few nights ago guests at the King Edward Hotel, Gowganda, slept in bunks for the first time. The bunk house is a welcome addition, as men have been sleeping three and four on a mattress.

A barber has arrived and patrons are shaved while sitting on a stump near the stove.

The saw mill blew its first whistle recently and commenced turning out lumber, for which the demand was great.

Mnemonics.

"I suppose there is a great deal of mental strain involved in the conduct of immense interests like yours?"

"I should say so," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "It's mighty hard to go on the witness stand and remember the list of things your lawyer told you to forget."—Washington Star.

The Servant Problem Again.

"Did you hear that Mrs. Skiddso caught her husband flirting with that pretty cook she engaged a month ago?"

"Is it possible?"

"It is, indeed. She was terribly upset by it."

"I should imagine she would be. Did she send the cook away?"

"Why, no. She has sent her husband away."—Judge.

Strangers Now.

"No," snapped the thin woman, "I have never yet thanked a man for offering me a seat in a street car."

"Indeed!" quoth her plump companion. "Perhaps you have never been offered one."

The truth proving unpalatable, the thin woman haughtily grimaced and turned away.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Logical Deduction.

"Say, paw," queried small Tommy Toddles, "is a man who loves books a bookworm?"

"He is frequently so called, Tommy," replied Toddles senior.

"Then," continued Tommy, "I suppose a woman who loves silks is a silkworm, isn't she?"—Chicago News.

Men Wouldn't Bother Her.

"I did mean to go to the ball," said Miss Hoamley, "but I can't secure a chaperon."

"Why, it isn't a masked ball," replied Miss Cutting. "So of course if you don't wear a mask you won't need a chaperon."—Catholic Standard and Times.

HOW HOUSE OPENED.

Calgary Herald Tells Story of Local Inaugural Its Own Way.

Part of The Calgary Herald's report of the recent opening of the Alberta Legislature seems to be worth reproducing here:

Up in Edmonton the province of Alberta is making law.

Did you ever make a law? No? But you have broken many of 'em, eh? Well, if you are in the habit of bucking laws, attendance at the opening of the session would have cured you.

Solemn! It had an Indian war dance faded for solemnity; and impressive, too, it was. When the new home of the Legislature is all finished and fine, it will be a hundred times more impressive. To-day the writer was on an equality, in matter of altitude, with the King's representative, and the Attorney-General, for want of room for his hands, had to store them in his pockets. When the new Parliament House is completed and the halls are marble and gold, then the opening will be grandly impressive, and then will the dignity of it be in keeping with the great country represented there. Simplicity is nice; democratic simplicity is a fine term; but costly magnificence in its Legislature Hall will be merely in keeping with the unthinkable wealth that is bursting into realization in this great province.

"The Ministers' wives sit on the floor of the House?" I asked.

"Yes; you cannot hang them upon the wall," I was told.

Every one sit on the floor—that is, chairs—in the House at Edmonton. In the making of laws up here every one is on the level. True, the throne is elevated, but just enough that you would stump your toe against it in the dark. Time will be, three years or so hence, when it will be different; and the fact is, the contractor on the new Parliament building will need to hustle to keep up with the general growth of the country, for there is going to be things doing.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Bulyea told in the speech from the throne how there is a vast country to the north, the wealth of which only railways can realize, and how that in the south there is wealth that only more railways can adequately serve, and the promise was given that bills will be presented providing for both the north and the south in this regard.

Strong words those! Spoken in a low voice, interrupted by a cough, but losing none of their mighty significance to this country. They should have wafted down from a gilded hall; should have echoed from marble halls.

But this is a new country; the newness of it is startling. A few years hence we will have the roads to the north and south, and we will have also the marble walls. Considering that the Provincial Government is only forty months old, that announcement is a marvel.

There is a spirit in this country, and its name is Progress.

We would rather have such an announcement from the little flat throne in the little squat hall now, than to wait to have it from the grand throne that will be in the hall on the hill.

Language and Religion.

La Semaine Religieuse, the organ of Mons. Begin, Archbishop of Quebec, has a crow to pick with The Catholic Register of Toronto, touching a recent article entitled "The Vernacular."

The Quebec paper says that the article of the Toronto paper appears to be a plea to Roman Catholics to give up their own tongue, citing the words of an eminent ecclesiastic to the effect that the object of the mother church is to save souls rather than to save tongues.

"We also," adds the Quebec paper, "place the question of faith above everything else, and it is precisely for this reason that we are so tenacious on the question of preserving our mother tongue. As a matter of fact, The Register admits that thousands of people in the United States ceased to practice the Catholic religion because the bishops could not find priests enough to serve the people speaking foreign tongues.

"It is not for us to say at the present time what is going on in the States, but we cannot lose sight of the fact that there are thousands of our compatriots in the Province of Ontario and other English provinces whose souls must be saved, and the conservation of their mother tongue is almost an essential means of saving these people of the Catholic faith, and we hope that the Catholic Church Extension Society of Canada and The Register will never leave room for doubting their acts relating to foreign [illegible]"

SLOAN'S NOMINATION.

"Bill's" Opponent Backed Down After Nerve-Racking Wait.

In Mr. William Sloan, familiarly known as "Bill" Sloan, who resigned his seat in Comox-Atlin to give a seat to Hon. Wm. Templeman, the House of Commons, has lost one of its giants (physical, not political) and a highly popular member. Standing well over six feet, Bill has the physique of a Life Guardsman and muscular strength capable of prodigious feats. As prospector, miner, and lumberman, he has roughed it with the best, and encountered adventures innumerable. But, as he himself says, none of his wild west experiences was half so exciting as an incident which occurred during the last election.

Comox-Atlin is one of the largest, if not the largest, constituency in the Dominion, having an area several times greater than New Brunswick, while the facilities for traveling are by no means the best. A campaign, therefore, is both an arduous and expensive business. Before the elections drew near, Bill entertained hopes that he would be saved the trouble and expense of a contest, but in this he was doomed to disappointment, the Conservatives putting up a candidate who seemed determined to give the sitting member a run for his money. As the campaign progressed, however, Bill's opponent began to lose courage and when nomination day arrived the story got wind that he was a quitter.

Both candidates were present at the nomination meeting, and the excitement was intense. It became known that the Conservative candidate had his nomination papers in his pocket, but that he was of two minds as to putting them in. Slowly the time dragged along and still he made no move. Occasionally, when an exuberant Liberal was disposed to assume that Bill Sloan was as good as elected, the Conservative would significantly place a hand in his his pocket where the papers lay, and then the Liberals trembled. It was, Bill put it, as if the sword of Damocles was held over his head.

The climax came within a few minutes of the hour fixed for the closing of nominations. The Conservative was still waiting and watching. Bill Sloan sat with his watch in his hand counting the seconds as they passed. Suddenly the tension was broken by a shout:

"A thousand dollars that Bill Sloan is elected by acclamation!"

It came from a miner who, unable to restrain his enthusiasm, was prepared to back the favorite with all he was worth. And it still wanted three minutes to the closing hour!

There was some sulphurous language around that room for a few moment, while the over zealous miner was roughly ejected. And then everybody turned to the Conservative candidate expecting to see him close with the challenge. Slowly he rose to his feet, his hand once more sought his pocket, and then—he sat down. The struggle was over, and a minute later Bill Sloan was declared elected by acclamation.

"I never had such a close shave all my life," he says.

A Mushroom Town.

The trite phrase of towns "growing overnight" is scarcely hyperbole so far as the new places along the Grand Trunk Pacific are concerned. The manner in which they have been springing up is perfectly astonishing. One month there is the bare prairie, a month later the traveler finds an energetic and busy little town, with Board of Trade, newspaper, possibly a publicity agent, and everything that goes to make up an embryo city. Rivers, Melville, Watrous and dozens of other little new places are already terming themselves bread baskets, gateways and hubs.

One of the most ambitious and most promising of these new towns is Watrous. It was in July the first house was built. Now it is incorporated, with a population of 460. The residential part consists of fully 100 houses, while there are stores, banks, two hotels, etc.

Watrous, which is the third divisional point on the G.T.P., is 408 miles from Winnipeg and 360 miles from Edmonton and sixty miles east of Saskatoon. It is located three miles from Little Manitou Lake. This lake is traditional amongst the Indians for its curative powers. Its water has been submitted to eastern Canadian and American analysts, who have pronounced it to contain splendid medicinal qualities. In all probability a sanitarium will be established shortly. The water is as salty as the famous Utah Salt Lake, while it has a splendid beach for bathing. There are many stories told of the cures which have been effected.

School Hard on Children.

Dr. Sheard of the Toronto Health Department is a believer in short school hours for children. In a recent address he said that it was a crime to detain them after regular school hours, or worry their tired brains with home work. They should not be required to reach school in the morning before 9.45, the recess should be twice as long as at present. The noon adjournment should afford ample time for a leisurely dinner. There should be several weeks' vacation at Christmas. School should close immediately hot weather began and not resume until the end of the summer. For children under 14 years of age their physical well-being is of vastly greater public importance than their literary culture.

Beats Canadian Record.

Mr. C. H. Cahan, now so well-known in connection with Mexican Light, Heat & Power affairs, when he was leader of the Conservative Opposition in the Nova Scotia House of Assembly, when the H. M. Whitney coal legislation was up for discussion, made a speech which, for length, was generally thought to have won the Canadian record. He spoke for nine hours. A case just finished in London, England, however beats all records, as far as long speeches are concerned, for an address lasting nine days, was delivered. The speaker was Mr. Rufus Isaacs in the case of Wyler et al. vs. Lewis et al.

A Strenuous Test.

"Darling," said the [illegible] youth, "can't you suggest some deed of daring that will enable me to prove my love for you?"

"Well," she replied, "you might speak to papa."—Pittsburg Post.

When They Are No Longer Kissable.

"Here's a woman doctor who says that nobody with brains will kiss in the days to come."

"Gee, I wonder what's going to happen to the women?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Just Think!

Pipkin—Are you going to ask Boumder to the dinner?

Mrs. Pipkin—Dear me, no! He is duller than a professional humorist.—New York Herald.

And No Anaesthetic.

"Talk about painful amputations"—

"Go ahead."

"Here's a wealthy doctor who cut off his son without a cent."—Kansas City Times.

Seattle's Most Famous Scientist Is An Old Peterboro' Boy---Friend Of Millionaire Savants

Life Story of Dr. Trevor Kincaid Who Is Well Known in This City —An Authority in Realms of Zoological Research.

IS AT THE UNIVERSITY.

The Examiner referred several days ago to the fact that the Seattle Sunday Times had a lengthy reference to Dr. Trevor Kincaid, the old Peterboro boy who has made a name for himself on the Pacific coast as a scientist. To-day we are able to publish the article which will be read with interest by Dr. Kincaid's many friends in Peterboro, who will remember both Dr. Kincaid and his father, who was physician here. The Times says:

"A friend of the foremost railway magnate in the United States, personally acquainted with millionaire savants and recognized throughout the world of science as one of its foremost scholars, Prof. Trevor C. D. Kincaid, zoologist at the University of Washington, is one of the most widely known men in the State of Washington. In fact, among British scientists, Seattle, with all its prestige as the gateway to Alaska and the Orient, is known almost entirely as the home city of Professor Kincaid.

Millionaire investigators of animal life have invited him to go on expeditions. He has been asked to take temporarily the chair of zoology in one of the greatest institutions in Europe. He has been entertained at the palatial home of E. H Harriman, in New York City. He has entertained at his home in this city some of the most eminent botanists and zoologists of the world.

Professor Kincaid has carried on investigations during four expeditions and has rejected opportunities for as many more. The Pribyloff Islands in Behring Sea, the Bermudas and Japan, have been the great natural laboratories for his research. The doors of Newfoundland, Borneo and Java have likewise been thrown open to him and proffers of all his expenses have been made, but Professor Kincaid has declined all, simply for the sake of his classes at the State university. After spurning all these golden opportunities for indulging his heart's greatest delight, the study of marine life and insects, Professor Kincaid has finally given way and will in May leave for Siberia to carry on operations similar to those which took him to Japan a year ago.

Prof. Kincaid is a graduate of the University of Washington—the institution he has made known in scientific circles throughout the world. While still an undergraduate at the State university he achieved world-wide fame. It was eleven years ago, when a junior at the University of Washington, that he went to the Pribyloffs as a member of the fur seal commission at the invitation of President David Starr Jordan, of Stanford. He left the campus practically unknown, and came back a recognized authority on Alaskan insects. His collection was remarkable—the first made since the time of the Russians years before.

This collection gave him entree to the penetralia of science. He was received as an authority on one branch of a broad subject. So it happened that when the famous E. H. Harriman party of specialists was made up for the expedition to Alaska, Trevor Kincaid was among the number. Harriman himself was leader of the party, and Professor Kincaid came to know the masterful railroad operator well on that trip. He describes Harriman as 'a kindly man, pleasing and sympathetic, a stickler for details, and a veritable czar as a leader.'

They had a committee constituted for the purpose of carrying forward the expedition, but before the party had gone two days Harriman was the supreme director as well as patron, his official title. The summer following the Alaska investigation, when Prof. Kincaid was in Washington City, he was extended an invitation to visit Harriman at his home in New York City. He declares he had a delightful visit with the railroad builder and his family. Some time afterwards he received an invitation to the marriage of Miss Cornelia Harriman.

Harriman has never told just why he equipped and carried on the expedition, but Professor Kincaid ventures the opinion that, knowing well the relation of pure science to its commercial application, he did so to learn the general resources of Alaska from a commercial and economic standpoint.

Probably because it was his first love, as it were, Professor Kincaid looks back with especial pleasure upon his first investigations—those made as a member of the fur seal commission in Bering Sea. The commission was made up jointly of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, and Canada, to learn of the seal industry with a view to enacting proper legislation to govern the same. Dr. Jordan was the commissioner of the United States. Prof. D'Arcy Thompson, the most famous British zoologist, was Great Britain's commissioner, and P. J. Macoun represented Canada.

While in Washington City after the Harriman expedition, Washington's greatest scientist met Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of entomology of the department of agriculture, who sent him to Japan last year, and is responsible for his projected trip to Siberia next summer. As a member of the Cosmos Club, the famous intellectual organization, as distinguished from the social and political clubs of the nation's capital, he met the most distinguished of contemporary savants. He became intimately acquainted with Owen Bryant, the millionaire bird fancier, who time and again since has tried to induce Prof. Kincaid to go on investigating trips to various parts of the world. First he invited him to go to Newfoundland; then it was Borneo; then Java. But Professor Kincaid has never been able to take advantage of these generous offers.

Just after he was graduated from the University of Washington and had written two volumes dealing with his great collection of Alaska insects, Prof. D'Arcy Thompson, of the University of Dundee, in Scotland, made him a flattering and unique offer. He urged Professor Kincaid to change places with Prof. R. Calman, of the Scotland University, each to fill the other's chair for one year. The idea appealed strongly to the Washington professor, but local conditions made it impossible for him to accept.

Upon the invitation of Dr. E. L. Mark, professor of zoology in Harvard University, Professor Kincaid went to the Bermuda Islands with a party of Harvard men in 1905. While there he made a valuable collection of fish and insects. Following this his next important mission was the now well-known gypsy moth expedition to Japan, the results of which have proved highly satisfactory to Dr. Howard of the bureau of entomology.

Professor Kincaid has ever been interested in his own State and its contiguous waters above all other places. He says he does not want to travel to remote corners of the globe; that there is a great enough work just at hand. The Friday Harbor Marine Station, where marine flora and fauna are investigated, owes its existence and development to Prof. Kincaid. It is in this work that the eminent zoologist is most keenly interested. His devotion to it repels seemingly more pleasant tasks, with better prospects of brilliant reward in fame.

He says Puget Sound is a magnificent repository of marine life, being the point of confluence of streams of fauna moving from Alaska southward and from southern waters northward. Here are to be found more varieties than at any other place on this side of the Pacific Ocean. Careful investigation of this life means much, he says, commercially as well as purely scientifically. For this reason he is content to stay at home.

And there is one other cause. Professor Kincaid loves his university. He is devoted to his class work. Many a brilliant chance he has rejected, solely for fear his going away would disrupt his department or decrease its efficiency. The University of Washington did much to make him, he thinks; but it is also true that he has done as much as another man, if not more than anyone else, to make the University of Washington what it is.

Personally Professor Kincaid is a most likeable man. Modest to a fault, he shuns publicity. Buried in his work, his life consecrated to the cause of science, he is oblivious of the esteem in which he is held throughout the scientific world. He simply has no time to think of his own achievements. It is work for work's sake with him. He wants to be left alone to his work and its own reward."

STRANGER CALLED AT HOUSE ON DRISCOLL TERRACE AND WAS ANXIOUS TO REMAIN ALL NIGHT

A peculiar incident occurred a few nights ago at the residence of Mr. Thomas Osborne, 470 Driscoll Terrace, Ashburnham, which has caused a considerable stir in the neighbourhood. Some man called at the above address, walked in and sat down, remaining about two hours. He asked if he might remain the night but he scared the women and children of the house so badly by his presence that he finally left.

An Examiner reporter called at Mr. Osborne's house this morning. They are an English family. Mr. Osborne was not at home. He is working for a farmer at Fraserville. They have lived in Peterborough for thirteen weeks. The reporter saw Mrs. Osborne and her four little children. She related her experience of a few nights ago.

It appears that it was shortly after seven o'clock when the stranger called. The family had just finished supper. The little girl opened the door to the man who without any salutation to her whatever, walked right through to the dining-room and sat down at the stove. He remained there conversing with the children and telling of his friends in England. All this time, Mrs. Osborne wondered what was his motive in calling. He had not asked for anything and had refused something to eat when it was offered him. Finally he asked if he might remain the night. Mrs. Osborne and her mother, Mrs. Voskey, who was stopping with her, and the children, became so frightened that they ran into an adjoining room. The stranger remained unmoved for a half an hour.

Mrs. Osborne then came out and speaking to the man said, "Have you not made some mistake?"

Whether he suddenly realized that he had made one, is not known, but he soon after left, hoping that he had not caused any offence.

"He was a tall, stout, light complexioned fellow, and wore a grey suit and overcoat," said Mrs. Osborne. "I thought he was a farmer who might, perhaps have wanted my husband to work for him. We were pretty badly frightened, but have not seen him since."

WATER IS RISING AT STONY LAKE

Smallpox Case Reported—Believed to Have Come From Cordova Mines.

Stony Lake, March 5.—Richard Dwyer, is getting a good run with his little saw mill at Gilchrist's bay. He is getting quite a run from the north side of the lake, as there is no mill nearer than Apsley. If he had a good engineer he could cut a good deal more as there is plenty of logs and a good demand for lumber. There is quite a rush for saw dust for the campers ice houses. They are even drawing saw dust back to Jack's Lake for ice houses there. There are several cottages on Jack's Lake.

The water in Stony Lake is rising very fast and heaving up the ice and there is quite a wide crack in the ice near the shore. It will not be long that teams will be able to get off and on, but the ice is still good away from the shore. Some of the parties bringing logs over to the mill have got horses and loads and all in near the shore, but none have been lost.

A son of Edward Lloyd has contracted small pox. Dr. Munro, of Warsaw, was up yesterday and quarantined the place. The boy was down in the vicinity of Cordova, in a lumber camp, and came home on Friday last. They say that the disease is quite prevalent down there.

The Faithfulworkers Mission Band of St. Paul's Church will give an entertainment on Friday evening, March 5th, at eight o'clock. A good musical programme will be provided. Home-made cakes and candies will be on sale. Admission 15 cents.

PORTLAND, MAINE, CHILD

Ill, Weak and Emaciated, Restored to Health by Vinol.

"Our little daughter, six years of age, after a severe attack of the measles, which developed into pneumonia, was left pitifully thin, weak and emaciated. She had no appetite, and her stomach was so weak it could not retain food. She lay in this condition for weeks, and nothing the doctor prescribed did a bit of good, and we were beginning to think she would never recover.

"At this time we commenced to give her Vinol, and the effect was marvelous. The doctor was amazed at her progress, and when we told him we were giving her Vinol, he replied, 'It is a fine remedy, keep it up.' We did so, and she recovered her health and strength months before the doctor thought she could." J. W. Flagg, Portland, Me.

Vinol cures conditions like this because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body.

VINOL is sold in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury, Druggists, corner George and Charlotte streets, also Payne's Drug Store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

Where the Heart Is.

By GRANT OWEN.

Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

The hansom rolled slowly up the avenue through the mellow sunshine of the Indian summer afternoon. Its sole occupant, a very broad shouldered young man, leaned back on the cushions and smoked a contemplative cigarette, abstractedly watching through half closed eyes the stream of traffic whirling past.

He was a good natured, indolent looking young man, one of the kind who very evidently enjoyed being at ease. Yet in the dark eyes was a certain light of determination, a certain hint of latent power that made one quite inclined to forgive his apparent laziness.

Suddenly the young man sat erect. He leaned far forward, peering intently at a figure on the crowded sidewalk. He watched it steadfastly for a moment, while his indolence fell from him like a useless cloak, and his eyes opened wider and wider.

Impatiently he flicked the cigarette to the pavement and stood up to open the trap above his head.

"Hi!" he called to the cabby. "I say, there, pull up to the curb and set me down, will you? And be quick about it."

The hansom swerved sharply and drew up at the curb. The young man scrambled out, quite forgetful of his usual slow dignity in his haste. He thrust up a bill to the cabby, and without waiting for his change he went briskly up the avenue in pursuit of the figure he had just seen.

He elbowed his way along, now sidestepping some group which blocked his headlong progress, now all but breaking into a run in his eagerness.

Ahead of him he caught fleeting glimpses of a large hat with a blue feather that seemed to serve as a necessary incentive to his hurrying steps.

When he had almost reached it the blue feather turned a corner into a quiet side street, and the young man in hot pursuit followed after.

Here the sidewalks, being less crowded, gave him better opportunity for speed. In a moment he had overtaken the blue feather and touched its wearer lightly on the arm.

She turned, and her eyes rested on him with a sudden eager light in them.

"Ted!" cried the girl happily. "Ted, of all the people in the world!"

"You have led me a frightful chase, Patty," he panted, with mock severity.

"I?" she laughed. "How?"

"I was in a hansom on the avenue, and I saw you passing," he explained. "I pulled up and gave chase afoot."

"What are you doing here?" she demanded, although her eyes told plainly that she knew very well the answer to her question. "And why are you here, anyway? Surely you are not up here with horses this time of year. I didn't suppose there was any power on earth that could drag a Northcroft from Virginia at this season."

"A little clipping from a morning paper early in the week is responsible for my appearance," said he. "It stated that you and your mother had just returned from abroad."

"Oh, really!" she mocked. "I suppose I should feel vastly flattered to be able to bring you up here. Think of it! The wild turkey shooting must be something wonderful now, to say nothing of the Redfields hunt. They're riding just now, of course."

"Yes, they're riding," said he. "But somehow it's pretty tame sport when you're not along, Patty."

She looked at him suddenly, and a faint red crept into her cheeks. "Oh, pshaw!" she laughed. "You Virginians certainly know how to pay compliments, don't you?"

She said it lightly enough, but her voice was not altogether steady. The young man's sudden and unlooked for appearance seemed to have disconcerted her somewhat.

"We Virginians," he repeated thoughtfully. "Then you don't count yourself one of us any longer, Patty?"

"Well, I fear I'm a bit weaned from the old place," she confessed. "You see, since father died and we came back here to live with my mother's people I've been made to feel that I, or a part of me at least, belongs up here. Father was the Virginian, you know."

The young man stiffened. "You've changed, Patty," he said flatly and with something like disappointment in his voice. "You used to say that you were Virginian to the backbone—that there was no place on earth like it."

"That was before I had seen the other places," said she.

"I see," said he, with a certain odd constraint, "of course."

Bit by bit he drew out of her an account of her travels and experiences during the past three years. He listened thoughtfully, but with clouding brows.

"Of course," he observed at length, "you'd find it all very dull back there. The old life wouldn't appeal to you now. There'd be no fun for you to go turkey shooting, as you used to do, or to ride to the hounds down the valley and over to Clark's.

"You wouldn't care about Tim Fairfield's geldings, nor would you be wondering where in the country we could find a hunter that could top a six rail fence and make a decent landing."

To his surprise, a look almost of pain came into the girl's eyes. She held out her hand to stop him.

"Don't!" she said. "Don't! I can't bear it."

Northcroft caught his breath sharply. "Eh? What's this?" he cried, rather dazed by this unexpected turn of things.

He looked at her more closely. He saw that her eyes were moist. She turned her head sharply from him and angrily brushed something from her cheek.

"I—I—suppose I'm ungrateful and unappreciative and all that sort of thing," she confessed lamely, "but, Ted, honestly, those very things you've just been saying I didn't care for are the very things I care for the most. I'm—I'm homesick, Ted; that's the trouble—just plain, honest, old fashioned homesick. I'm tired of all this. I was never fitted for it.

"This life up here—the life they say is eminently proper and fit for me—I simply can't stand. If you only knew how I longed to be back there—not for a day, as we go now and then occasionally—but forever, you'd never chide me again. You'd pity me instead. I try not to show it for mother's sake, but sometimes I can't help it. I suppose it is my father's blood in my veins. To him Virginia and paradise were synonyms."

Northcroft straightened himself. When he was thoroughly aroused he was a decidedly handsome man.

His brows were drawn together in a little frown; there were lines about the corners of his mouth. He was enjoying the unaccustomed luxury of thinking deeply.

Presently he turned to her. There was a great light in his eyes.

"Patty," he asked, "do you know why I came up here?"

She shook her head.

"I came," said he, "because ever since you left I have not had a moment's peace. You have dominated every thought, every action, every moment of my life. I couldn't stand it any longer. When I learned you were back from abroad I came up here to see you, to find you a changed and different Patty, and by so doing to quiet forever all the old uneasiness and unrest. I thought you'd laugh at the old life and make light of it—that probably you would have outgrown it and forgotten it. Do you mean what you have just said?" he ended suddenly.

"Every word of it," she said, with emphasis.

"Dearie," he said gently, "why don't you come back to it? Why don't you marry me? We'll live on the old place where the Northcrofts have lived ever since Jamestown was built. We'll ride with the Redfield crowd, and we'll have a stableful of timber toppers that can't be equaled in seven counties. We'll"—

A light touch on his arm interrupted him. She was looking at him with radiant eyes.

"Ted, I will," she said firmly. "When can we go?"

"Tomorrow, the day after—any time," said he.

"Tomorrow? Oh, that's ages in the future. Today, Ted, today. We'll be married this afternoon and start back tonight. Call a cab. We must drive up to the house and tell mother."

Prevent Freezing.

During the winter tonics and other liquids should be kept where they will not freeze, as with many of them the condition is changed and much of the good effect lost.

There is special need of care with milk of magnesia, which is much used as a dentifrice. Freezing precipitates the magnesia, and it falls to the bottom of the bottle and is greatly deteriorated in consequence.

Olive oil should also never be allowed to freeze, as it is not the same afterward and loses much of its taste. Connoisseurs will not keep it in the refrigerator.

Milk that has frozen is thin and watery and if intended for use by babies is never so beneficial afterward.

To Be Dyspeptic Is To Be Miserable.

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Constipation, headache, heartburn, sour stomach, distress after eating, belching of wind, faintness, and fullness and distention of the stomach are a few of the many distressing symptoms of the poor, weary dyspeptic. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach, stimulates the secretion of the saliva and gastric juice to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood, and tones up the system to full health and vigor, and thereby cures dyspepsia and all its tributary diseases.

Mr. Amos Sawler, Gold River, N.S., writes:—"I was greatly troubled with dyspepsia, and after trying several doctors to no effect, I commenced taking Burdock Blood Bitters and I think it is the best medicine there is for that complaint."

A FLAW IN THE LENS.

The Loss of Time and Money Involved in This Scientific Tragedy.

Probably few persons took much interest in the announcement that a flaw had been discovered in the great 100 inch lens for the Mount Wilson reflecting telescope. To scientific men this was no less than a tragedy, since it means an expense of $50,000 and a delay of a year, with the possibility that the second effort will be no more successful.

It is doubtful if many persons ever saw a reflecting telescope. When the term telescope is used we naturally think of an instrument with a long "barrel" and lenses at each end. These are the most common, but are not in many cases the most useful. They have defects which cannot be remedied in our present state of knowledge, and they have limitations put upon them by nature which perhaps may never be overcome. But the reflecting telescope, consisting of a single lens placed horizontally and without any "barrel," is in many respects the more useful instrument for astronomers, although it also has its drawbacks.

In this instrument the light falls directly on the lens and is reflected back to a focal point, which is distant from the lens according to its diameter. It is open to the objection that the light reflected back interferes with the falling rays, but ingenuity has overcome much of the disadvantage. The largest effective instrument of this sort is at the Yerkes observatory, but the one planned for Mount Wilson is to be more than twice as large and much larger than that of Lord Rosse, which was so famous fifty years ago.

The difficulty in constructing a lens more than eight feet in diameter arises from the fact that the glass must be absolutely flawless, or as near so as human skill can make it. To make such a lens is a long, expensive and difficult process, and many failures inevitably result before success is achieved even for small lenses. If the 100 inch lens is finally turned out normally perfect, we shall have an instrument which will greatly add to our knowledge of the universe about us. It is an interesting fact in this connection that for several generations the best glass has been made in France, but the best workmanship in grinding the lenses is done in this country. The latter work is, so delicate and difficult that it requires almost a sixth sense to accomplish anything like desirable results.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Far Sounding Steamboat Whistle.

What kind of sound travels farthest? A discussion of that question the other evening resulted in a unanimous verdict finally being returned in favor of the steamboat whistle, one instance being given by a man from western Kentucky who had heard a steamboat on the Ohio whistling for a landing when he was eighteen miles away from the river. The deep, resonant tones of the steamboat whistle seem to make the air vibrate as nothing else can. In that respect it is like many pipe organs in churches, the lower tones of which make the churches throb from floor to dome. The higher notes seem to penetrate better for short distances, while the lower ones carry better.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Workman and His Tools.

It is related in "Voice and Violin" that "a well known orchestral conductor was once much annoyed by the constant tuning of a violin, which continued long after the musicians were at their desks, whereupon he remarked rather sharply to a novice: 'My dear fellow, do please stop all that tuning! You ought to be able to play in tune when the strings are not exactly correct.'"

This calls to mind two occurrences in Washington. On one occasion a certain foreman of binding in the government printing office was compelled to call a bookbinder's attention to a poor piece of workmanship. The binder made some reference to his poor tools, whereupon the foreman made the epigrammatic remark that "a good workman can do good work with any kind of tools."

Not long ago the newspapers had a story of a certain old darky whose education was sadly neglected. He was employed in a cigar store on Pennsylvania avenue.

One day after finishing his chores the proprietor and several others saw him sitting on a box with a newspaper, apparently reading. The proprietor, knowing that he could not read, said to him:

"Why, Abe, where did you learn to read? I didn't know you could read, and, by the way, Abe, you've got the paper upside down."

"Dat's all right, boss, dat's all right. A good reader can read mos' anyways."

Foreheads.

Stand before a mirror and look at your forehead. Does it slope back? If so it denotes a fondness for art and a talent for music or painting—or both.

If your forehead is high it is a good sign, particularly if it is well developed about the eyebrows. Should these have a perceptible bulge you are a calm, cool, deliberate thinker.

You will probably be successful in business if, with bulging eyebrows, you have a short, narrow forehead.

Breadth of forehead indicates broad mindedness. Of course a broad forehead may be part of a weak face, and a weak face with a broad forehead is not so favorable as a strong face and a narrow forehead.

If your eyebrows bulge and your forehead slopes gradually back you are highly sensitive and—you are a poet.—London Answers.

A Cold Snap.

"Why did you name your dog Frost?" "Because he has such a nipping way about him."—Baltimore American.

will not have to bargain with fortune for successful baking.—It is made from the finest, selected Manitoba wheat, which contains more gluten (that quality which makes bread light) than any other wheat.

It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Constipation, headache, heartburn, sour stomach, distress after eating, belching of wind, faintness, and fullness and distention of the stomach are a few of the many distressing symptoms of the poor, weary dyspeptic. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach, stimulates the secretion of the saliva and gastric juice to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood, and tones up the system to full health and vigor, and thereby cures dyspepsia and all its tributary diseases.

Mr. Amos Sawler, Gold River, N.S., writes:—"I was greatly troubled with dyspepsia, and after trying several doctors to no effect, I commenced taking Burdock Blood Bitters and I think it is the best medicine there is for that complaint."

Prevent Freezing.

During the winter tonics and other liquids should be kept where they will not freeze, as with many of them the condition is changed and much of the good effect lost.

There is special need of care with milk of magnesia, which is much used as a dentifrice. Freezing precipitates the magnesia, and it falls to the bottom of the bottle and is greatly deteriorated in consequence.

Olive oil should also never be allowed to freeze, as it is not the same afterward and loses much of its taste. Connoisseurs will not keep it in the refrigerator.

Milk that has frozen is thin and watery and if intended for use by babies is never so beneficial afterward.

A FLAW IN THE LENS.

The Loss of Time and Money Involved in This Scientific Tragedy.

Probably few persons took much interest in the announcement that a flaw had been discovered in the great 100 inch lens for the Mount Wilson reflecting telescope. To scientific men this was no less than a tragedy, since it means an expense of $50,000 and a delay of a year, with the possibility that the second effort will be no more successful.

It is doubtful if many persons ever saw a reflecting telescope. When the term telescope is used we naturally think of an instrument with a long "barrel" and lenses at each end. These are the most common, but are not in many cases the most useful. They have defects which cannot be remedied in our present state of knowledge, and they have limitations put upon them by nature which perhaps may never be overcome. But the reflecting telescope, consisting of a single lens placed horizontally and without any "barrel," is in many respects the more useful instrument for astronomers, although it also has its drawbacks.

In this instrument the light falls directly on the lens and is reflected back to a focal point, which is distant from the lens according to its diameter. It is open to the objection that the light reflected back interferes with the falling rays, but ingenuity has overcome much of the disadvantage. The largest effective instrument of this sort is at the Yerkes observatory, but the one planned for Mount Wilson is to be more than twice as large and much larger than that of Lord Rosse, which was so famous fifty years ago.

The difficulty in constructing a lens more than eight feet in diameter arises from the fact that the glass must be absolutely flawless, or as near so as human skill can make it. To make such a lens is a long, expensive and difficult process, and many failures inevitably result before success is achieved even for small lenses. If the 100 inch lens is finally turned out normally perfect, we shall have an instrument which will greatly add to our knowledge of the universe about us. It is an interesting fact in this connection that for several generations the best glass has been made in France, but the best workmanship in grinding the lenses is done in this country. The latter work is so delicate and difficult that it requires almost a sixth sense to accomplish anything like desirable results.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Far Sounding Steamboat Whistle.

What kind of sound travels farthest? A discussion of that question the other evening resulted in a unanimous verdict finally being returned in favor of the steamboat whistle, one instance being given by a man from western Kentucky who had heard a steamboat on the Ohio whistling for a landing when he was eighteen miles away from the river. The deep, resonant tones of the steamboat whistle seem to make the air vibrate as nothing else can. In that respect it is like many pipe organs in churches, the lower tones of which make the churches throb from floor to dome. The higher notes seem to penetrate better for short distances, while the lower ones carry better.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Workman and His Tools.

It is related in "Voice and Violin" that "a well known orchestral conductor was once much annoyed by the constant tuning of a violin, which continued long after the musicians were at their desks, whereupon he remarked rather sharply to a novice: 'My dear fellow, do please stop all that tuning! You ought to be able to play in tune when the strings are not exactly correct.'"

This calls to mind two occurrences in Washington. On one occasion a certain foreman of binding in the government printing office was compelled to call a bookbinder's attention to a poor piece of workmanship. The binder made some reference to his poor tools, whereupon the foreman made the epigrammatic remark that "a good workman can do good work with any kind of tools."

Not long ago the newspapers had a story of a certain old darky whose education was sadly neglected. He was employed in a cigar store on Pennsylvania avenue.

One day after finishing his chores the proprietor and several others saw him sitting on a box with a newspaper, apparently reading. The proprietor, knowing that he could not read, said to him:

"Why, Abe, where did you learn to read? I didn't know you could read, and, by the way, Abe, you've got the paper upside down."

"Dat's all right, boss, dat's all right. A good reader can read mos' anyways."

Foreheads.

Stand before a mirror and look at your forehead. Does it slope back? If so it denotes a fondness for art and a talent for music or painting—or both.

If your forehead is high it is a good sign, particularly if it is well developed about the eyebrows. Should these have a perceptible bulge you are a calm, cool, deliberate thinker.

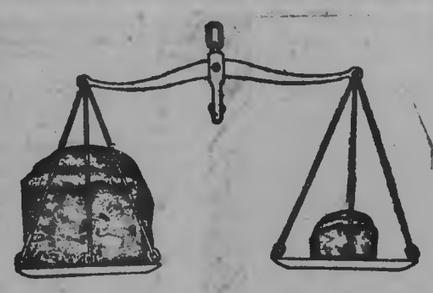
You will probably be successful in business if, with bulging eyebrows, you have a short, narrow forehead.

Breadth of forehead indicates broad mindedness. Of course a broad forehead may be part of a weak face, and a weak face with a broad forehead is not so favorable as a strong face and a narrow forehead.

If your eyebrows bulge and your forehead slopes gradually back you are highly sensitive and—you are a poet.—London Answers.

A Cold Snap.

"Why did you name your dog Frost?" "Because he has such a nipping way about him."—Baltimore American.



The light bread or the leaden loaf is a matter of choice—not luck. Choice of method—choice of yeast—but, above all, in the choice of the flour. She who chooses

Royal Household Flour

will not have to bargain with fortune for successful baking.—It is made from the finest, selected Manitoba wheat, which contains more gluten (that quality which makes bread light) than any other wheat.

It is milled under the most sanitary conditions—absolute purity is one very important quality which the Ogilvie System of milling guarantees. There is no other flour in Canada upon which so much is spent to insure its perfect purity.

Ask your grocer for Ogilvie's Royal Household—the flour that makes light bread.
